RCOO 2023 Date Change

On 8 September 2022, the Holm Center published Amendment 1 for the FY 23 Air University Programming and Production Schedule, impacting all Officer Training Courses, including MOTS 003, Reserve Commissioned Officer Orientation Course (RCOO). The course originally scheduled for 31 January-14 February 2023 slipped to 23 February – 8 March 2023.

This memo was sent to all Force Development Offices (FDO) by AID and published to the AID SharePoint. SG leadership was not notified & learned of the change in January 2023 and immediately began to address TLNs with AID to issue 35 seats to FDOs for RCOO.

DHA FY 23 Annual Training List

In October 2022, DHA published their Mandatory Training List for FY23 which was disseminated to FDOs by AID. The document listed training requirements for military, civilian and contract personnel and ultimately caused confusion, concern and frustration throughout the enterprise.

DHA J-7 has confirmed that DHA does not officially have Authority, Direction and Control over the ANGMS and therefore the ANG is not required to follow the listing. ANG units are to continue following current guidance in place; collocated units working in MTFs should contact their host MTF to identify any additional annual training requirements.

I hope that everyone enjoyed a happy, healthy, and restful break surrounded by family, friends, and lots of laughter!

Goodbye 2022, Hello 2023! Looking towards the New Year, I wonder, what does it mean to you? For some it means a fresh start, a chance to make new decisions or a chance to commit to something new about themselves. Some set resolutions, new ones, or the same ones from the previous year (note: I've been guilty of this). Some celebrate with fireworks, eat ring-shaped donuts, black-eyed peas or 12 grapes under the table at midnight for good luck. And to others it means nothing more than flipping over the calendar and correcting the date for the next six months on documents. (Fun Fact: did you know resolutions date back to ancient Babylon when people made good behavior promises to the gods?)

To me, it symbolizes both an end and beginning all in one. The New Year is an opportunity to evaluate what worked for me during the last year and purge myself of the attitudes, habits, mindsets and connections that didn't. As far as I'm concerned, that's pretty dope. In the New Year you decide what you take with you and what you leave behind;

From the Chief

CMSgt Janet Probst

Team ANGMS - Let me begin by saying how truly honored I am to accept the responsibility to serve as your CMEF and excited to begin working with Colonel Rohatsch and team SG and charting the course for ANGMS.

Happy New Year and Welcome to 2023 Medics!

2023 is a start line and you decide the attitudes, habits, mindsets and connections you take with you. It's entirely up to you how you use the lessons from 2022 and move forward. This year, I challenge you to leave behind the idea that you need to be a "new you" in 2023 and instead allow yourself to change and grow without the pressure of reinventing yourself.

What 2023 brings you will depend a great deal on what you bring to it. The New Year is like blank book and the pen is in your hands. There are 12 chapters and 365. You're the author.... what's it going to say?

However, you choose to look at the New Year, I hope you find passion for doing what you love, ambition to aim higher, kindness for yourself and others, courage to try again and bravery to be bad at something new. May this year bring you full-belly laughs, an abundance of amazing opportunities, positive actions and attitudes that inspire others and many incredible experiences in the ANG! Always remember, all good things start with you – you just have to try. We're so proud to have you on our team. Stay Golden. ☀

- 976H Divestment. The suspense for turning in 976H assemblage items and HAPSITE (to include all consumables, components associated with Inificon and Toughbook) was 31 December 2022
 - Instructions to accomplish the turn-in are available on CarePoint. If you have not turned in your equipment, it needs to happen ASAP.
 - NGB/SG is no longer providing funding for the items removed from the 976H Allowance Standard and will not support funding requests for equipment items not on the current Allowance Standard. It is imperative that these assets are turned into DRMO and your IEMP 10-2 reflect the current capability
- The ANG BE community is leading innovation! The first round of automated gas-mask fit test kiosks has shipped! This project started 2 years ago as a concept and is now fully operational and arriving at our units! Currently, nearly 30 units have received their fit test kiosk. As more funds become available, we will continue to order these for our BE flights. Please be patient as we lay in the fielding plan, but rest assured, these will become available to all ANG BE flights.

What: Public Health Emergency Management (PHEM) Basic Course

When: July 24-28, 2023

Where: Joint Base Andrews, MD

Who: State Air Surgeons AND any interested ANG service member who meets the education/qualification criteria listed in AFI 10-2519 and willing to serve as the installation PHEO.

AFI 10-2519 section 2.3.6.1.1. The primary PHEO must be a senior AFMS officer with a clinical degree (e.g., Medical Doctor (MD), Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine (DO), or Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (DVM) and must have either a Master of Public Health (MPH) degree or related.

AFI 10-2519 section 2.3.6.1.2. The alternate PHEO must be a senior Medical Corps or Public Health Officer and must have either a Master of Public Health degree or related.

Why: The ANG continually receives UEI discrepancies for currently assigned PHEO's not being current with the mandated DMRTI PHEM course training (AFI 10-2519 section 2.3.6.1.8.1.1.). This is due to chronic limited seating in the DMRTI course (ANG receives 1-2 seats per course). Arrangements have been made to host an ANG-specific course to accommodate the ANG and we have 40 seats available for State Air Surgeons and anyone at Base level who is qualified to serve as an installation PHEO.

“Let us all be the leaders we wish we had.”
-- Simon Sinek

On 4 January, Colonel Rohatsch held her first SG All Call sharing what she called “Col R’s User’s Manual” which outlined simple expectations for all. At the foundation of this easy-to-use manual, was the basics of the Profession of Arms, Airmanship at its core; be kind, respectful, punctual, think critically, advocate for yourself and others, be proud of what you do, etc.

Also covered, were ANGRC/CC, Maj Gen MacDonald’s Mission & Vision Statements, and the ANGMS Mission & Vision Statements. Do you know them? Well, in case you can’t recall them, let me help you out...

Vision: Ready to Provide Medical Support for Future Conflicts/DOMOPS.

Mission: Focused on Rapidly Implementing Resources, Policy & Guidance for Field Readiness.

Ah yes, that’s right... you remember now, don’t you?

So how about your unit’s Mission & Vision Statements? Do you know them? Do you understand them? Identify with them? Are you inspired and/or motivated by them? Are you working towards and supporting them? And what about your role? Do you know and understand the role you in play?

As a leader, are you bilaterally engaging and empowering your Airmen in a way that fosters inclusivity and teamwork which aligns with the unit’s mission and vision? Our medics crave connection and purpose. Setting a positive example, being accountable and helping to clarify their contributions to the mission can empower them to deliver purposeful work across the entire organization. Yes, it will take more than this, but that’s a great start!

And what about your personal Mission & Vision Statements, do you have them? If not, maybe this will help get you started...remember your why
