Tuesday, July 22, 2025

12:00 - 1:00 PM ET

2045 Rayburn House Office Building

Virtually all Americans will be cared for by a nurse at some point during their lives. This high-quality, compassionate care is only possible by advancing nursing science.

Please join us for a briefing featuring a panel of nurse scientists whose innovative methods are changing the lives of those in their communities and hear from a patient and their experience with a clinical trial.
