O’GRADY NAMED SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT

ACEC New York’s staff promotions and new hire

ALBANY, NY – ACEC New York has promoted the following team members:
- Hannah O’Grady has been promoted to senior vice president. She will take on additional strategic planning initiatives in this role.
- Gina Potfora, CMP, has been promoted to vice president of membership services. She will have an expanded leadership role in membership-related programs and will retain her meetings and programs responsibilities.
- Natasha Burns has been promoted to chief communications officer and will have expanded oversight and responsibility in the digital and communications areas.
- Erica Lavigne has been promoted to director of member services and will be expanding her responsibilities in membership and education.

Additionally, Jennifer Waterbury has been promoted to senior vice president.

“O’Grady, a 2016 ACEC Tri-State35 Under 35 honoree and a fellow 2016 ACEC Tri-State Leadership Academy Scholar, is an excellent choice to fill this role due to her strong leadership and excellent communication skills,” said ACEC New York president & CEO Jay Simson upon announcing these promotions.

“Through these promotions and adjustments in responsibilities, ACEC New York is adapting to changing member firm needs to ensure that vital support services are being provided to the industry.”

ACEC New York is a proactive coalition representing nearly 300 member firms who engage in every discipline of engineering related to the built environment including civil, structural, mechanical, electrical, environmental, and geotechnical. Their shared goals are to further the business interests of their member firms, promote the profession, advocate for a better association for the industry,”
