Section Representation at National AIPG Meetings

• Regular Executive Committee Meetings (2 or 3 of these per year)
  • Advisory Board Members of Executive Committee are selected from the delegates that attend the AIPG Annual Meeting
    • Have full voting rights in Executive Committee Meetings
    • May be chair of standing or ad-hoc committees provided they meet other requirements (e.g. hold a CPG credential).
  • No two members of the AIPG Executive Committee may be from the same state
    • Exception: Editor and Early Career Professional positions do not count in this proscription
• Open to all AIPG members
• Executive Session is a closed session in which matters that may contain PII or which are not yet ready for public discussion are discussed
Section Representation at National AIPG Meetings

• Monthly Executive Committee Check-in Meetings (6 or 7 of these per year)
  • Advisory Board Members of Executive Committee perform the same function as in the full Executive Committee Meetings
  • These meetings tend to focus on one or two specific issues
  • May also be used to conduct voting on specific Executive Committee issues
  • Fertile ground for the discussion of new topics and generation of new ideas to move AIPG forward.
• Open to all AIPG members
• May also have an Executive Session if necessary
Section Representation at National AIPG Meetings

• Annual Transition Meeting
  • Shorter meeting (1 to 2 hours) designed to aid in the transition from one set of officers and Advisory Board Representatives to the next
  • Outlines responsibilities of each position
  • Introduces the Executive Committee Handbook
  • Outlines ongoing initiatives that will continue into the next year
  • Gives an opportunity for the President to outline their objectives for the coming year
  • Gives an opportunity for a Q&A session to assist incoming Executive Committee Members to better understand the roles and responsibilities they will be expected to perform
  • Is not used to conduct voting on specific AIPG issues, policies, or governance
  • Does not have an Executive Session
  • Is not open to the public
Section Nominees to the Advisory Board

• Each Section nominates a delegate to the National Advisory Board
  • Typically is the President of the Section
  • May be another representative appointed by the president or selected by the Section Executive Committee

• Delivers the Section Activities Report at the Annual Meeting

• May stand for election as one of four Advisory Board Representatives to the National Executive Committee

• No two members of the Executive Committee may come from the same section, with the exception of the National Editor and Early Career
  Professional Representative

• Only the section delegate to the National Advisory Board may stand for election as an Advisory Board Representative to the National Executive Committee
What to Know About Banking

• Establishing A Bank Account (WENDY)
• Establishing a Colorado DBA (WENDY)
Section Officers-Targets for Scammers

• Most commonly targeted are section President and Treasurer
• Scams take many forms
• Requests that ask for payment of a specific account with an attached ‘bill’ (DO NOT CLICK ON ATTACHMENT)
• Requests for gift cards.
• Requests to wire money to officer that is traveling
• Often appear to originate from National Office
• National will NEVER ask you to buy a gift card, pay a bill, or wire money to a national officer.
• Check return email address
• When in doubt, call.
Section IRS 990 Filings

• The National Office accounting firm files the IRS 990 on behalf of the section.
  • National provides this service at no charge to the Section

• The Section Treasurer is responsible for providing the information necessary for IRS 990 filings

• If a section becomes delinquent with respect to IRS filings, the section may lose its 501(c)6 designation.
Insurance and Section Activities

• AIPG Section Officers are covered under a policy carried by the AIPG National Office
  • Rider coverage is invoiced to the sections ($100 per year)
  • Coverage consists of a $1 million liability umbrella
• All section officers are covered as are other AIPG members who are performing services on behalf of or at the direction of the Section or the National Office
• Leading field trips, attending student chapter meetings, representing AIPG at meetings or with not for profit groups (e.g. BSA, museum groups, etc.)
Insurance FAQ’s

• What happens if I use my personal vehicle to carpool for an AIPG field trip and I am involved in an accident?

  Your personal insurance would be the primary insurance coverage for this incident. Once your personal insurance coverage limit was reached, the AIPG insurance would kick in.

• I carry personal liability insurance. How does that insurance work if I am found liable for work I did for AIPG?

  The AIPG liability insurance will most likely be the primary policy in that case. If the coverage limit was reached, your personal liability insurance would kick in.

• If the section rents a van or car to conduct AIPG business, should we take the coverage offered by the rental company?

  Yes, you should take that coverage. AIPG insurance may not cover damage to the rental vehicle and loss of use.

• Should I carry personal liability insurance?

• This is a decision best made in consultation with your insurance agent and/or your attorney. However, if the nature of your volunteer work with AIPG routinely places you in a position where you are responsible for the safety of others (e.g. driving), personal liability insurance can provide a substantial level of protection.

• Is it better to hire a transportation company or to rent a van and have an AIPG member drive?

• While the cost of a professional driver may seem prohibitive, doing so shifts liability from you as the driver to the company providing the service.

• Will I be covered if I am volunteering with another organization at the direction of AIPG?

• Yes, if you are directed by AIPG at the National or Section level to volunteer with another organization (e.g. leading a workshop for the Geological Society of America on behalf of AIPG), you will be covered under our current insurance policy (subject to change...check with National for most recent guidance).
