2019-2020 Highlights

AIPG Student Chapter at UC Davis
Pinnacles Field Trip

- Camping trip to the Pinnacles National Monument with the UC Davis Geology Club. We looked for rocks in Clear Creak BLM land, and went on a day hike in the Pinnacles to foster relationships with fellow members and give members an experience outdoors.
Pinnacles Field Trip

• During this field trip, our members learned about the history of the monument, and got to get their eyes into the rock. As the saying goes, the best geologist is the one that sees the most rocks.
Our members participated in the Tabor Drilling Seminar, which spent a full day on the Tabor Ranch discovering the usefulness of geotechnical engineering. Our members learned about drill rigs, resistivity measurements, and workplace etiquette on the rig. They also had time to network with professionals in the field, and students from other schools that participated in the seminar.
