14:01:34 From Dan Petrak: Hi Michael, thanks for being here.
14:02:20 From R. Michael Darrell to All panelists: Hello! I am glad that you are recording. A colleague of mine registered, but is unable to attend.
14:02:33 From Roxy Peck to All panelists: HI Dan. Long time no see!
14:02:50 From Dan Petrak: Hi Roxy, honored to have you with us.
14:03:55 From Timothy Mayo: Pat: Mizzou Rah - my graduate alma mater!
14:05:28 From Pat Riley - Webinar Coordinator: Timothy Mayo.....M-I-Z!!
14:06:44 From Michael Heeren: Yes it does.
14:08:32 From Jennifer Reeb: What proctoring service is worth using?
Honorlock is deplorable.
14:08:38 From R. Michael Darrell to All panelists: And they are expensive!
14:10:06 From Michael Heeren: Have you tried texting/calling?
14:10:40 From Alana Tuckey: I use REMIND
14:10:49 From Alana Tuckey: instead of texting from my own number
14:10:57 From Taylor Kilman: Piazza is great for Q&A
14:12:39 From Keisha Brown: @Jennifer Reeb - We have used ProctorU which is an additional $25 fee per student. We have also used Respondus Monitor and Lockdown Browser. That one we use through our LMS, but I have to look individually at the videos to see what they are doing. For me, these tools will not stop cheating, but it may cause students to think twice about it.
14:12:49 From Timothy Mayo: I have students schedule virtual conferences with me in advance if they desire live interaction with me. So far this has worked out the best for my courses.
14:13:44 From Paul Zachlin: Sign-up Genius has worked fine for me to schedule interviews with remote students.
14:14:09 From Timothy Mayo: I have used BigBlueButton and Zoom. I prefer Zoom!
14:15:05 From Alana Tuckey: I prefer Zoom also.
14:15:17 From Alana Tuckey: I used Doodle Poll to find a time that most can meet
14:16:43 From Rachel Cywinski: I am wondering to what extent institutions have analyzed and provided online platforms; it seems as if many instructors have been left to locate their own ways to meet with students online. This creates many Internet security concerns.
14:17:57 From R. Michael Darrell to All panelists: Our college has a service/product called Navigate. It syncs with our records system (Banner). I set my office ours in there, so students can easily see them. I can email my classes and/or text message them too. The texting feature is very effective. They do not see my phone number...they see it coming from the college. I always identify myself. Responses come to navigate and me email, so I see those easily. All of our classes this semester are online through our LMS or using Zoom. I am also offering office hours in Zoom...both drop in and some hours by appointment. Hope it works well.
14:18:30 From Timothy Mayo to All panelists: Duane - that result looks practically significant!
14:18:32 From Lisbeth Cordani to All panelists: sample size of test?
14:18:57 From Rachel Cywinski: The online environment removes the peer dynamic in regard to physical set-up so students can start equal distance from instructors. Some do participate more than they would in a classroom.
14:19:15 From Michael Heeren: Do you save sessions from semester to semester to build a repository of help?
14:19:22 From Elizabeth Leavy: Duane: Was Q&A session in lieu of office hours?
14:19:53 From Michael Minic: What about the first day or first week? Do you require students to meet together (if possible) at the beginning of the semester so you can present a sort of introduction?
14:20:17 From Patrick Wilcher to All panelists: Are there any websites or software that any of you use for simulations in statistics?
14:20:21 From Lisbeth Cordani to All panelists: sample size for the test?
14:21:08 From Michael Heeren: Does your intro video also put in a plug for the Q & A sessions?
14:21:10 From Lisbeth Cordani: sample size?
14:21:15 From Elizabeth Leavy: Thanks!
14:21:25 From Rachel Cywinski: Are any institutions providing resources or stipends for instructors busing resources at their homes due tomorrow campuses closed, or are instructors bearing all the cost?
14:22:24 From Marian Frazier: Rachel, my institution is buying equipment up to $200/person.
14:22:58 From Alana Tuckey: Our college provides some resources, it depends on what's needed, etc.
14:23:11 From Keisha Brown: @Rachel Cywinski - Our institution has Webex and it's built into our LMS. We use D2L - Brightspace. They also sent us headphones and a document camera.
14:23:41 From Timothy Mayo: BigBlueButton is built into our LMS
14:23:53 From R. Michael Darrell to All panelists: I am lucky...my college is giving us all support. We all have professional Zoom licenses. They will help us get a document camera too. Other things can be obtained if needed. Students are even being supplied with laptops.
14:24:23 From Rachel Cywinski: Thanks, Keisha
14:26:22 From Duane Day to All panelists: I will say that our institution doe provide us with access to Microsoft teams, but they make the building of teams difficult for us. We also have access to Blackboard Collaborate, but it is not great. I ended up just using my zoom as I already had an account. I didn’t want to mislead, our school does give us some help!
14:28:34 From Michael Heeren: Is this run similar to a discussion board?
14:32:17 From Rachel Cywinski: I like that this does not reward a few students for answering questions and discouraging others from participating.
14:34:45 From Jennifer Reeb: How do you ensure they do their own submission before they meet as a group?
14:35:33 From Jennifer Reeb: Do you have requirements on participation>
14:36:29 From Rachel Cywinski: This is great emphasis on PROCESS rather than just answer
14:37:20 From Jennifer Reeb: This is great!
14:38:37 From Roxy Peck: how large are the groups?
14:38:37 From DORIS FONTES: How many students you have in a given class?
14:39:22 From S. Chen to All panelists: Can you show your weekly schedule again, please?
14:41:35 From Lisbeth Cordani: GREAT!
14:41:39 From Timothy Mayo: My online Stats this fall is getting close to 40 students!
14:42:51 From Elizabeth Leavy: thanks!
14:42:58 From S. Chen to All panelists: Thank you!
14:46:39 From Jennifer Reeb: Did you say this is half their final exam grade or their final course grade?
14:48:34 From Melissa Quigley: @Jennifer Final exam grade :)
14:49:12 From Jennifer Reeb: Thanks!
14:52:59 From Marian Frazier: Great use of the AAC&U rubric, Dan! I’m sure your Assessment people love you! :)
14:53:08 From Scott Horn: Can you share the final project and rubric?
14:54:47 From Roxy Peck: Are your projects individual or group projects?
14:57:27 From S. Chen to All panelists: How much weight does the project carry in course grade?
14:59:49 From Edward Nichols: Great ideas today! Thank you for sharing your experiences.
14:59:53 From Jennifer Reeb to All panelists: Thank you!
14:59:57 From Alana Tuckey: Thanks!
14:59:58 From Marian Frazier: Thank you all!
14:59:59 From Elizabeth Leavy: Thank you all!
15:00:00 From Michael Heeren: Thank you!
15:00:01 From Melissa Quigley: Thank you so much!
15:00:02 From tsrawford: Thank you!
15:00:03 From Julie Hanson: Thank you
15:00:03 From Mark Carlson: Thank you everyone!
15:00:03 From William Huepenbecker: Thanks to all for the insight
15:00:04 From Roxy Peck: Thanks. Great Ideas.
15:00:05 From Nicole Duvernay to All panelists: thank you! Lots of great ideas!
15:00:05 From Marcel Carcea to All panelists: Thank you!
15:00:06 From Michael Lanstrum to All panelists: Thank you!
15:00:06 From R. Michael Darrell to All panelists: Much thanks
15:00:07 From Brian Christopher to All panelists: Thanks
15:00:08 From Rick Pearce: Thank you!
15:00:09 From Scott Horn: Thank you!
15:00:16 From Andre Mathurin to All panelists: Thank you very much!
15:00:16 From Timothy Mayo: Thank you everyone!
15:00:17 From Rachel Cywinski: 😊🙌
15:00:17 From Beverly Vance to All panelists: Thank you!
15:00:20 From Diana Simic to All panelists: Thank you! Great webinar, and great ideas
15:00:28 From Mary DeHart: Great webinar! Thank you.
15:00:31 From Jing Xie: Thank you so much for the wonderful webinar!
15:00:40 From Nicole Duvernay to All panelists: Yes! I'm from Spokane and we are so very sad.
15:01:52 From DORIS FONTES: Thank you
15:02:05 From Fatima Prioleau to All panelists: thank you
