

DARIUS A. CRAYTON

Darius A. Crayton is an attorney with the law firm of Farris, Riley & Pitt LLP in Birmingham, Alabama where he focuses on all personal injury matters, including car accidents, slip and falls, medical malpractice, and mass torts. Darius attended undergrad at Mississippi State University, where he received B.A. degrees in both Economics and Political Science. Darius procured his Juris Doctorate Degree from the University of Alabama School of Law in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, where he clerked for several prestigious firms and government agencies, studied comparative regulations in Australia and was a member of the school's trial advocacy team. Following law school, Darius worked as a Labor and Employment Attorney with Wilmer & Lee, PC in Huntsville, AL handling workplace discrimination suits for unions as well as municipalities. Darius subsequently transitioned into criminal law when he joined the Jefferson County District Attorney's Office in Birmingham, Alabama and prosecuted a myriad of crimes, from simple possession of narcotics and theft to robbery and even murder. Darius' move into Personal Injury came in September 2019, when he joined the firm of Farris, Riley & Pitt LLP. Darius is a trial attorney and has tried numerous cases, both criminal and civil, to verdict.

Darius currently serves on the Executive Committee for the Birmingham Bar Association Young Lawyer Section as well as The Executive Committee for the Alabama State Bar Young Lawyer Section. He also serves on the Board of the Alabama Head Injury Foundation and was a participant in the Birmingham Bar Association's Future Leaders Forum (2018). Darius has also been named to SuperLawyers by Thomas and Reuters, as well as the National Black Lawyer's Top 40 under 40 and the National Trial Lawyer's Top 40 Under 40.