The Colorado Green Building Guild is a non-profit trade organization representing a wide range of green building leaders, and enjoys a collective collaboration to serve the community at large. Based in Boulder, CGBG strives to ensure the widespread adoption of sustainable practices to increase the efficient use of resources, create healthier buildings, and support vibrant, sustainable communities throughout Colorado! Through community events, from educational workshops and themed seminars, to Happy Hours, Green Home Tours and networking opportunities, CGBG offers its members, sponsors and partners the chance to share their knowledge, increase their business opportunities, support a clean energy economy and make sustainable building common practice.
