NEW SCHOOL NEWS

June 2016

Welcome

Dear New School Developers,

The decision to start a charter public school is a monumental one and indicates a commitment to taking the time necessary to research, build support, assemble a team and ultimately design a school that meets a need in your community. When asked what the most critical element is in developing a successful school, we have learned that it always comes back to TIME!

It typically takes 18 months to three years to bring a school from theory to reality.

The first phase alone, if done well, is very time consuming as you research charter school law and best practice, visit other schools, learn about the state accountability system, garner support in the community and build a team with a diverse set of skills. To learn more about the many steps involved in charter school development, please visit the Start a Charter Colorado Flowchart to gain quick access to many of the resources necessary to start a school.

No matter what phase of development you are in, this monthly newsletter will offer you critical resources, helpful tips and information about important events and trainings so that your school can have a solid foundation with a high likelihood of success.

If you haven't scheduled a face to face meeting with us yet, please do so at your convenience!

NEW SCHOOL SPOTLIGHT

Class of 2016: Parker Performing Arts School

Parker Performing Arts School will open in the fall of 2016 in Douglas County School District serving 900 students in grades Kindergarten through Eighth. PPAS will offer a unique combination of performing arts and innovative academic instruction that will fuel student engagement and passion while cultivating important 21st century skills such as creativity, critical thinking, collaboration, and communication.

The students of PPAS will participate in daily performing arts training in the disciplines of dance, theater, vocal music, and instrumental music while also engaging in rigorous academic instruction. PPAS will provide a data-driven blended learning academic environment which includes each student being issued a school provided iPad to transform the way PPAS students engage with academic course content, experience the arts, and collaborate with each other. PPAS is led by a talented school administrator, Principal Jennifer Burgess. Under her direction, the PPAS administration team will include an Assistant Principal, Academic Director, Artistic Director, Technology Integration Specialist, and Business Manager. PPAS will also employ a variety of academic and performing arts teachers along with support staff.

Parker Performing Arts School will be located at 15035 Compark Blvd. in Parker, CO. The school is currently under construction and will open its doors in a new 54,000 sq. ft. building. The school has been carefully designed to foster collaborative academic learning and performing arts instruction. In addition to academic classrooms and specialty rooms, such as a science lab, the school will open with a 350 seat mainstage theater, a 100 seat black box theater, instrumental music rooms for band and orchestra, vocal music classrooms, dance classrooms, and drama instruction classrooms.

Click here for more information about the Parker Performing Arts School.

If your school is opening in 2016 and you would like it to be featured in an upcoming edition of New School News, please send Lori Ventimiglia a brief school description, logo and/or any pictures that you'd like to share.

Planning Grants Update

Planning Grants are again available for developing schools in both the Planning Phase and the Startup Phase STATEWIDE!

The first four, incremental $2,500 Planning Grants are designed to directly align with the development of the charter application. The last three Planning Grants cover the costs associated with the application review, governance trainings, various professional development and miscellaneous expenses related to the Startup Phase of school development. In general, the following items are appropriate uses of grant funds:

- Hiring consultants to assist with development of various aspects of the program (e.g. academic research, development of scope and sequence, academic goals and objectives, selection and correlation of assessments, financial projections and budget, governance and by laws, application writing, performance management plan development, professional development plan, technology plan, etc.).
- Retaining professionals such as attorneys, accountants, or realtors to assist with planning.
- Renting temporary space for community information and recruitment meetings.
- Marketing to include website development, mailings, and advertising to inform the community about the school and recruit students.
- Travel, lodging and fees for visits to other charter schools, charter conferences and meetings.
- Designated services such as governance training and various professional development opportunities.

There are no deadlines associated with these planning grants; grant proposals are accepted on a rolling basis. Groups must contact Lori Ventimiglia 303-989-5356 ext. 113 to determine eligibility before submitting an application.

The League is able to offer developing groups planning grants thanks to two philanthropic organizations, the Anschutz Foundation and the Daniels Fund. The funding available to schools is limited to the amounts received by the League.

Tip for Schools in the Planning Phase

Application Review

If you are planning to submit a charter application to your district this fall now is the time to schedule an application review! Our extensive two-part application review process should begin 8 weeks prior to your district/authorizer application deadline. Stage 5 Planning Grants are available to cover the costs of the application review. These grants are available for groups that have most of the essential pieces of their charter application in place, including a sound budget, thoughtful academic and performance management plans, and a mission-aligned organizational structure.

Community Outreach

Last month's newsletter stressed the importance of building a strong team at the beginning of the school development process. Once that team (your "founding" or "steering" committee) is in place, it will be important to engage in a robust and sustained community outreach process. This process is one in which the founding committee actively focuses its development efforts with by using the following outreach practices:

- Adequately researches the community in which the charter school will exist; has knowledge of the demographics, cultural and academic needs; and has interviewed a variety of community members to verify that there is a need and desire for the charter school in the community.
- Adequately researches the student population to be served to understand their educational needs and what services are currently in place to meet those needs.
- Actively networks with community leaders, local legislators, and other key figures in the community in order to understand the community and to build ongoing relationships as well as garner support for the charter school.
- Proactively develops a relationship with the charter authorizer. This relationship is initiated by notifying the authorizer of the group's intent to apply for a charter and is maintained throughout the application process. The founding committee seeks guidance from the authorizer and actively works to understand the authorizer's expectations.
- Recruits additional founding committee and prospective board members in order to broaden the pool of expertise and the skill-base of those working to start the school.
- Actively educates families in the community about the school and solicits students for enrollment. The founding committee develops outreach strategies to ensure equitable access to a diverse group of families in the community. Enrollment is made available to all students.
- Understands its role in representing and advocating for the charter school movement. The school makes decisions and works in such a way that the charter school sector will be well-represented.

Tips and Resources for Schools in the Startup Phase

Conducting Sound Due Diligence for your Charter School

As you gear up to open your doors the spending begins! From curriculum materials, desks and art supplies to playground equipment and the building itself, you will need to be a savvy consumer! Below is a list of some steps you can take as you conduct your due diligence for purchases big and small:

- Consider the nature of your school, staff organization and the business opportunity under consideration to determine the parties involved in the due diligence process. Involve your team, including anyone with legal and financial expertise or expertise in the pertinent area (such as real estate or construction), where appropriate.
- Request that the company in consideration provide company information regarding their experience with charter schools, their activities, accomplishments, products, performance and/or results.
- Get pricing and detailed product/service specs in writing.
- Review financial statements, business plans and other related documents, if appropriate.
- Talk to other charter schools that have used the provider in consideration. The League can help you make connections.
- Collect third-party validation about the provider in consideration from stakeholders, donors, funders, and field experts (when such validation is both relevant and advantageous).
- Select random samples of projects and evaluate the selection for information, including performance, timeliness of completion, budget to actual, and any warranty service needed and performed.
- Check references of the provider in consideration.
- Contact Tiffany Kallevik at the Colorado League of Charter Schools to see if the provider in consideration has any involvement with the League's vendor programs. These include: 1) Group Purchasing Partners, 2) Preferred Service Providers, or 3) Marketplace participants, as many of these providers have been vetted.

As you prepare for contract negotiations with your authorizer the resources below will provide guidance for both you and your authorizer in writing effective charter school contracts. Because the charter contract is the foundational agreement that establishes a charter school's autonomy and accountability and the district's rights and obligations, it is essential that the contract meet legal requirements and adhere to best practices. The Sample Contract Language and Attachments have been recently updated and articulate rights and responsibilities of both parties.

Breakfast Matters Webinar: Building Strong School Meals Programs in Charter Schools

Date: Thursday, June 9

Time: 3:00 PM to 4:00 PM Eastern

Location: Webinar

Description: With 2.5 million students enrolled across the country, charter schools are serving many low-income children who need nutritious school breakfasts and lunches to be healthy and succeed academically. However, many new and existing charter schools face unique barriers to operating the federal school meals programs, including facilities challenges, unfamiliarity with programs, and limited administrative capacities. Many charter schools are overcoming these challenges and implementing thriving nutrition programs by utilizing best practices to offer meals at no charge to all students and boosting school breakfast participation by making it part of the school day. Join us to learn more about strategies to overcome some of the challenges charter schools face when implementing federal school meal programs and how state agencies and anti-hunger advocates can help support charter schools in this effort.

An Overview for Creating an English Language Development Standards Crosswalk for Curriculum Mapping, Lesson Planning, and Implementation of Best Language Strategies

Hosted by Colorado League of Charter Schools

Date: Thursday, July 28

Time: 9:00 AM - 3:00 PM

Location: Colorado League of Charter Schools Training Center, 4201 E Yale Ave, Denver

Cost: League Members: $175 and $100 for each additional attendee; Non-members: $225 and $100 for each additional attendee

Description: With the growing population of English Language Learners in your schools, it is crucial for the schools to be prepared with the best tools and resources that can be utilized to help with implementation of quality instruction. One of the of the most important tools needed is a Standards Crosswalk of the WIDA standards integrated with the Common Core Standards, Essential Questions, English Language Development Best Practices, and Vocabulary. Teachers need a tool that is user friendly, can be aligned to any curriculum for mapping, and can offer the benefit of alignment for assessment. This training will provide an overview of the process needed to create the Standards Crosswalk for pacing/mapping out the school year, aligning curriculum, and streamlining the lesson planning process for your teachers. This training will begin to build a foundation for clearer understanding of ALL of the standards, lesson planning and integration of language teaching strategies to best meet the needs of English Language Learners.

Outcomes: In this workshop, participants will learn:

- the key elements of an effective English Language Development Program with an aligned Standards Crosswalk
- integration of the WIDA standards with Common Core Standards incorporated into a Pacing Guide to build into daily learning objectives, curriculum mapping and lesson planning
- research-based strategies that you can use the next day in your schools.
