

KARIN PATRIQUIN, AIA, LEED AP
PRINCIPAL – PATRIQUIN ARCHITECTS

Karin Patriquin is the founding principal of Patriquin Architects, an award-winning, full-service architectural design firm based in New Haven, Connecticut, with a broad range of experience in institutional, commercial and residential projects.

Karin directs the firm's overall strategies and leads the design effort of all projects in the office. Strongly believing in the power of excellent design, she strives to bring innovation and sustainability to all the firm's projects.

Prior to founding Patriquin Architects, Karin worked with Pelli Clarke Pelli (New Haven) on large institutional and mixed-use projects; and with HLW International (New York) on various corporate and institutional projects.

Karin is a graduate of the University of Waterloo and McGill University, with advanced studies at NYU's Schack Institute of Real Estate and McGill's School of Management. She is licensed in the states of Connecticut and New York. She is a member of AIA, is a LEED Accredited professional (USGBC), a Fitwell Ambassador and a Certified Passive House Consultant.
