Sports & Vision

30 Seconds

Is your child's sports performance inconsistent? Does she seem to be a few steps behind the soccer ball? Is he swinging early or late at the baseball?

An eye coordination problem could be at the root of your child's difficulties. Vision Screenings can be misleading because they are not designed to test ALL of the visual skills necessary for sports performance, or for reading and learning.

For more information on sports and vision, visit the website for the College of Optometrists in Vision Development at covid.org, that's COVD dot org.

The College of Optometrists in Vision Development is a non-profit 501(c)(3).
