

Assistant Director of Development for the College of Liberal Arts
Colorado State University, Fort Collins, CO

This is the best time to join Colorado State University. Over the past eight years, CSU has consistently surpassed fundraising records and closed two of the largest gifts in the university's history.

The Office of Development in the College of Liberal Arts builds and maintains relationships with alumni and friends to garner financial support for students, faculty, programs, and facilities that are integral to a quality education and advance the College's research, teaching, and artistry efforts. The development office works with the dean of the College of Liberal Arts, Liberal Arts faculty and staff, and various campus partners to lead, create, and implement successful development strategies that are a framework for future growth.

The ideal candidate for this position will be a consummate professional and will thrive in a fast-paced, metrics/results-driven fundraising environment. The candidate will have a demonstrated ability to maintain focus and employ adaptability while working collaboratively with donors, prospective donors, alumni, colleagues, faculty, staff, and students. Eligible candidates will understand how they can make a difference in supporting the future direction of both CSU and CLA, while also meeting targeted timelines.
