

Bruce Byron – summary biography

Bruce Byron leads public engagement for the Austin District of the Texas Department of Transportation. He is currently focused on Loop 360 and RM 620 development projects.

He grew up in New York, California, Pennsylvania, and Richardson, Texas. Upon graduating from the University of Texas, he was commissioned in the U S Navy serving on ships in both the Atlantic and Pacific. After graduating from the LBJ School of Public Affairs, he worked in city management for Plainview and Sugar Land, TX.

As a former city manager with over forty years of experience in the public, private and non-profit sectors, he has developed land, conducted government relations, consulted in public finance and infrastructure development and managed the Capital Area Transportation Coalition, a business association supporting regional mobility.

He has been with TxDOT since 2013.