Cytopathology Program Directors Committee

Description: The Cytopathology Program Directors Committee develops tools to assist cytopathology fellowship program directors in improving the quality of fellowship education and complying with ACGME/RRC program requirements.

Responsibilities

- Develop resources for program directors related to the next accreditation system (NAS) and make them available on the ASC website.
- Review and update the existing residency and fellowship resources on the ASC website.
- Regularly engage Program Directors via the ASC Program Directors Listserv or other methods.
- Discover, develop, and share best practices in cytopathology fellowship education.

2018-2019 Initiatives

- Develop the Strategies in Cytopathology Education Course (aimed at resident/fellow program directors) at the ASC Annual Scientific Meeting.
- Engage institutions and organizations as partners to provide committed content to the CYTO CE website.
- Monitor and track number of fellows trained annually and provide feedback and make recommendations on work force issues.
- Work with the Membership Committee to ensure that ASC has a current list and contact information for all fellows in training programs.
- Propose new educational programs directed at fellowship training.
