Re: Nomadix, Inc.'s Intellectual Property Position

Dear Doug:

In view of HTNG communications this year regarding workgroup policies, we are writing to reiterate something we have previously made clear to HTNG: namely, that DOCOMO interTouch's subsidiary, Nomadix, Inc., retains all rights to its intellectual property. Neither Nomadix nor DOCOMO interTouch has played any role in the development of any HTNG workgroup standards, such as HTNG's Hotel Property Basic Gateway Specification. Moreover, neither Nomadix nor DOCOMO interTouch has made any contributions to an HTNG workgroup that would require a disclosure of Nomadix's intention to retain all intellectual property rights. However, out of an abundance of caution, to the extent that Nomadix's or DOCOMO interTouch's involvement in HTNG might be perceived as somehow tacitly contributing to the standard, we have previously made it clear, and today reiterate, that Nomadix retains all intellectual property rights without limitation, including the right to collect damages for any infringement of such rights, and has at no point given a license to any of its intellectual property through any of its HTNG activities.

The exhibit to this letter provides a listing of Nomadix's issued United States patents and the foreign jurisdictions in which Nomadix has obtained counterpart patents. Related patents are grouped together. Nomadix also has a large number of applications for additional patents pending in the United States and in other foreign jurisdictions.

If further clarification of Nomadix's intellectual property position would be helpful, please do not hesitate to contact our General Counsel, Kelly Hughes, at +852-9743-1878.

Sincerely,

Charles Reed
