

International Fruit and Vegetable Juice Association

Subscription Fees for Association Members

The IFU membership is based on the Articles of Association and yearly subscription fees contained therein. When you become a member, you subscribe automatically to various benefits, of which the most valuable one – from a financial perspective – is the possibility to use the IFU methods for all employees of your association and offer your members reduced subscription fees.

Other benefits include access to literature, the possibility to work in the IFU commissions, networking with IFU experts, discounts for events, suppliers and services, etc.

There are four categories of membership for Association Members:

All categories will be explained in details after this graphic, which should give you a first overview:

Category Type	I	II	III	IV
Association Members	EUR 1.100 6 votes	EUR 2.200 9 votes	EUR 3.850 12 votes	EUR 5.500 15 votes

Category I: countries which produce less than 250 million liters of juice and/or an equivalent of raw material or have an annual per capita consumption of less than 5 liters *

Yearly subscription fee: EUR 1.100

Votes in the Assembly of Delegates: 6

Category II: countries which produce from 250 to 750 million liters of juice and/or an equivalent of raw material or have an annual per capita consumption from 5 to 10 liters *

Yearly subscription fee: EUR 2.200

Votes in the Assembly of Delegates: 9

Category III: countries which produce from 750 to 1,500 million liters of juice and/or an equivalent of raw material or have an annual per capita consumption from 10 to 15 liters *

Yearly subscription fee: EUR 3.850

Votes in the Assembly of Delegates: 12

Category IV: countries which produce more than 1,500 million liters of juice and/or an equivalent of raw material or have an annual per capita consumption of more than 15 liters *

Yearly subscription fee: EUR 5.500

Votes in the Assembly of Delegates: 15

* If an association falls with production into one category, but with consumption into another one, it can choose its category and therefore the membership fee (for instance a country which produces 800 million liters and has a consumption from 5 to 10 liters/year/capita can pay a yearly subscription fee of EUR 2.200, eligible for 9 votes – or EUR 3.850, eligible for 12 votes).
