

John D. Harris II

Vice president and GM, Raytheon Intelligence,
Information and Services
Raytheon Company
2010 Black Engineer of the Year

John Harris joined Raytheon in 1983 as a member of the Contracts Leadership Development Program. Over his 30-year career he has served as the deputy division manager of contracts for Electronic Systems and vice president (VP) of contracts for the Raytheon Technical Services Company. He was previously VP of contracts and supply chain at Raytheon's headquarters in Massachusetts, where he was responsible for the performance of both organizations, and development and implementation of global supply chain solutions. He also served as VP of Operations and Contracts for Raytheon's former Electronic Systems business. He served as Raytheon's Executive Diversity Champion, leading the Diversity Leadership team and providing direction for the company's diversity and inclusion efforts. Currently, he is on the NextGen Advisory Committee, the Board of the USO of Metropolitan Washington, D.C, and the National Advisory Council on Minority Business Enterprise with the Department of Commerce. He received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Boston University.