

INTRODUCING ISBER'S NEW CORPORATE MEMBERSHIP

CONNECT. ENGAGE. GROW.

The International Society for Biological and Environmental Repositories (ISBER) has long recognized that meaningful progress in biobanking is driven not only by scientific and operational excellence, but also by strong partnerships with the organizations that develop, supply, and support the tools and technologies our community relies upon. Vendors and suppliers play a critical role in advancing innovation, enabling quality, and strengthening the global infrastructure that underpins modern biobanking.

To further cultivate these relationships, ISBER is pleased to introduce the Corporate Membership, launching July 1, 2026. This program is designed to create a more intentional and mutually beneficial framework for engagement between ISBER and the companies that serve the biobanking sector. Through enhanced visibility, structured opportunities for collaboration, and deeper connection to subject matter experts and decision-makers, corporate members will be positioned to better understand emerging needs while contributing to the advancement of best practices across the field.

The Corporate Membership reflects ISBER's commitment to building a cohesive ecosystem where repositories and industry partners work together to address evolving challenges, accelerate innovation, and support the highest standards in biospecimen science and management. We invite organizations that share this commitment to join us as strategic partners in shaping the future of biobanking.
