

Eva Kleinova

Ing. Eva Kleinova (1959) graduated from the Economic University in Bratislava in 1983. After a few years in a publishing house, she worked for the Slovak Academy of Sciences in Prague as deputy head of Department of International Relations. She went on to spend 20 years as deputy head of AMVIS, the Czech-American science and technology program, where her main role was to support joint projects between Czech and American scientists. Other than being the project manager for the ISNCC project, she is running a private pediatric cardiology practice with several doctors and nurses. Active member of the Society for Treatment of Tobacco Dependence. www.slzt.cz