

Monika Klusáková, RN

Society for Treatment of Tobacco Dependence
Brno, Czech Republic

During her 25-year nursing career, she worked as a nurse in internal medicine and in the area of quality management at the University Hospital, Masaryk University, Brno, Czech Republic.

Since 2004 she has been active in tobacco prevention and cessation in the Centre for Treatment of Tobacco Dependence. She was preparing the University Hospital for the entry into the ENSH.

She works as a lecturer in the education of nurses. Currently she is a project manager of prevention programs for schools, "Prevention of Tobacco Addiction." She is involved in the implementation of information on the issue of smoking in nursing schools.