

Teodora Ciolompea MD

Teodora Ciolompea MD. Master in Health Promotion, M.D. specialist in prevention and treatment on drug abuse, training in drug abuse research through NIDA (USA), Hubert Humphrey Fellowship Program.

Occupation or position held – National Coordinator of the Prevention and Treatment of Tobacco Addiction Program from Romania, Expert on the Centre of Management and Health Promotion, part of the National School of Public Health, Management and Professional Development.

Key qualifications:

- Technical assistance: to the Ministry of Health, Public Health Authorities, health insurance funds - related to design and implementation of health care reform (delivery and organization of services), quality assurance; to non-governmental organizations and health services providers -related to organizational management, capacity building, human resources management, quality management, monitoring and evaluation of national health programs: Mental health, Health Promotion and Drug addiction.
- Teaching at postgraduate level in the fields of Health Promotion, Drug Abuse Prevention and Treatment; project management, evaluation of health services programs, management of the GP practice.
- Research in the fields of health needs assessment, health care organization and finance, evaluation of health services and programs, allocation of resources, disease prevention in family medicine.
- Collaborative work with international organizations/experts on projects related to health sector (World Bank, PHARE, USAID, UNICEF, etc)
- Project management, curriculum development and organizational development activities in local or international projects.