

Aaron Aday, MD, MSc, FAHA, FSVM

Dr. Aaron Aday graduated from the Yale School of Medicine and trained in internal medicine, cardiology, and vascular medicine at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts. He holds a Master of Science in Epidemiology degree from the Harvard School of Public Health. He is currently an Assistant Professor of Medicine and Co-Director of the Vascular Medicine Section at VUMC. In addition to his clinical practice, he is an investigator in the Vanderbilt Translational and Clinical Cardiovascular Research Center. His research interests include the epidemiology, pathophysiology, and treatment of lipedema.

Disclosures: I have no financial or non-financial interests.