

Angela Dukaric - Page PT, CLT

Angela Dukaric-Page, PT, CLT, Board-Certified Oncologic Specialist

Angela Dukaric-Page is a nationally board-certified specialist in oncologic physical therapy with over 25 years of clinical experience. At Woman's Hospital in Baton Rouge, where she serves as Adult Therapy Manager and Site Coordinator for Clinical Education, Angela has pioneered programs that address the complex rehabilitation needs of cancer survivors.

Her expertise in oncology rehabilitation includes certification in Cancer Survivorship Training & Rehabilitation, advanced lymphedema management, and comprehensive breast cancer rehabilitation. Angela's clinical approach integrates evidence-based interventions, helping patients navigate the side effects of treatment, optimize recovery, and improve long-term quality of life.

A recognized leader in cancer rehabilitation education, Angela has presented at numerous professional meetings, including the Woman's Hospital Tumor Board, the Medical Fitness Association, and the Baton Rouge Oncology Nursing Society. Her research on exercise outcomes in cancer survivors was featured at the 2025 APTA Combined Sections Meeting.

Committed to advancing multidisciplinary care, Angela actively contributes to the Woman's Hospital Cancer Committee and the Our Lady of the Lake Regional Medical Center Cancer Committee. She remains deeply engaged in continuing education, completing specialized training in head and neck lymphedema, bone health, survivorship fitness transitions, and pelvic health for oncology patients.

Currently pursuing a Master of Health Administration at Louisiana State University Shreveport, Angela combines clinical excellence, leadership, and advocacy to transform cancer rehabilitation services and ensure that survivorship is not only about living but thriving.
