

Biography – Sharron Dillon

Attorney Sharron Dillon has practiced law for over 26 years and has been involved in paralegal education for over 20 years. Her law practice focuses on small business formation and consulting, contract drafting and review, and legal research.

She is also the Program Manager for Paralegal Studies at the University of Hartford, where she teaches multiple courses, including Administrative Practice and Procedure, Business Organizations, Contracts, and Legal Ethics. She supervises student internships and assists with job placement. She also teaches online courses in Business Law for Tunxis Community College.

Sharron has had a keen interest in the topic of regulatory compliance for many years. She is currently completing a Certificate Program in Regulatory Compliance through the University of Pennsylvania School of Law and she is developing a course in this subject for paralegals.