Dear HomeCare Association of Louisiana Associate Members and Prospective Members,

Care at home will continue to evolve rapidly in 2026. Two Louisiana home health executives have active roles in the state legislature. Our new governor has very close ties to home health, as does Louisiana's new Surgeon General. The new Secretary of LDH is a former c-suite home health executive. HCLA was instrumental in getting Medicaid rates for skilled care and extended care significantly increased in 2023 and there is a need for another increase. Louisiana initiatives for the future of care at home are looking bright. Would you please join us as we continue to advance home health care in Louisiana?

Innovation is a must as the frenetic pace of change across the post-acute setting also brings threats for organizations. The rapid evolution reductions in reimbursement, benefits integrity oversight, quality metrics, and new payment models mandate that providers become much more astute. Consolidation is likely to accelerate at a more rapid pace across hospice, palliative care, home health, and other non-acute provider businesses. Closures, acquisitions, mergers, regulatory changes, and innovative care models are replacing the old silos with a blending and braiding of entities along the continuum of care. Other provider types have recently begun to engage in care at home, i.e. hospitals, health systems, managed care companies, ambulance service providers. And even more entities are now seeking entry into care at home. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), state governments, and managed care organizations, are all tightening payments. Those that navigate the multitude of unpredictable variables will see new avenues of growth opportunity as integrated care and value-based care models are more widely adopted.
