WELCOME TO UFVA 2019!

Greetings, attendees of the 73rd University Film and Video Association conference!

Your Conference Host and I would like to welcome you to Augsburg University and the vibrant city of Minneapolis. The friendly Auggies are pleased to share this adventure in the Land of 10,000 Lakes, or Tales, with all of you. We would like to acknowledge the tireless efforts of HD Motyl as our UFVA Conference VP. His commitment to this event is truly impressive so be sure to thank him for his attention to every detail of this wonderful conference. We must also thank Dia Kontaxis, UFVA’s Editorial VP, for her beautifully-crafted reminders throughout the months of planning. She has artfully conveyed the specifics to all of you with carefully constructed messaging and impressive design skills.

This is the Association’s 73rd conference and, as in the past, is organized to further the study and teaching of media and cinematic arts. Panels, screenings and events have been carefully arranged to stimulate creative approaches to pedagogy, build new relationships with one another and foster previous conference connections. You will be able to explore innovative filmmaking practices, read freshly minted scripts, wander the terrain of new media visions and watch fascinating stories unfold on the screens of AU. This will culminate in our new Red Carpet Event, co-sponsored by the Twin Cities Film Festival, with awards, comedy, and much more. We want you to leave energized and wishing for more!

I encourage you to come to our plenary session scheduled for Tuesday from 4:00-5:30 (Foss Center’s Hoversten Chapel). We will hear from the multi-talented E.G. Bailey who was recently named one of Filmmaker magazine’s 25 New Faces of Independent Film. His latest works include the co-curation of America Now!, a special film project which has taken place at the Tampere Film Festival in Finland, Latvia and others; and his film, New Neighbors, which premiered at the 2017 Sundance film festival and has been shown at over 100 festivals worldwide.

Immediately following the plenary session at 5:30, join us for our Welcome Reception in the Foss Atrium. Despite our commitment to being busy and active, we cannot forget the importance of camaraderie, relaxation and fun.

There will be new initiatives announced at the Membership Meeting on Wednesday from 4-5:30 in Foss Center’s Hoversten Chapel and the agenda includes, rumor has it, a new name to reflect our ever-expanding artistic expertise. We want your input and need your ideas to keep UFVA the kind of organization we all want to be a part of, so please hold off on the fun until after the meeting. And after the meeting, cross the hall for the New Media Reception.

From July 30th to August 2nd, we will keep the ideas flowing with energy and enthusiasm for fellow scholars, teachers, creators and other contributors to the exciting field of media and cinematic arts.

Augsburg University educates students to be informed citizens, thoughtful stewards, critical thinkers, and responsible leaders. The Augsburg experience is supported by an engaged community that is committed to intentional diversity in its life and work.
In the Land of 10,000 Tales, E.G. Bailey reflects on Minnesota film moments of celebration, set back and deep inquiry. His keynote centers on his own filmmaking journey including access and inclusiveness, resistance to the single story, and the art of making films by any means necessary.

E.G. Bailey recently named one of Filmmaker magazine’s 25 New Faces of Independent Film; is an Ivey award-winning artist, filmmaker, director and producer. He is the recipient of a regional Emmy, Lin travel grant, and the Hughes, Diop, Knight Poetry Award from the Gwendolyn Brooks Writers Conference. His work is featured in the Target Art Connects commercial, now archived at the Museum of Modern Art (NYC). He was an editor for the film, Petting Zoo, which debuted at the 65th International Berlin Film Festival. Bailey has directed and assisted plays for well-known production houses, such as: The Guthrie, Pillsbury House, and Children’s Theater. Titles include: Othello, Amiri Baraka’s Wise Why’s, Juno and the Paycock, The Brother Size, and Sha Cage’s N-Word and U/G/L/Y. He is the co-founder of Tru Ruts Endeavors, MN Spoken Word Association, and the Million Artist Movement. Bailey’s written works have been published in Solid Ground, the millennial issue of Drumvoices Revue, Warpland, a publication by the Gwendolyn Brooks Center, and Blues Vision: African American Writing from Minnesota, an anthology. His latest work includes the co-curation of America Now!, a special film project which has taken place at the Tampere Film Festival in Finland, Latvia and others; and his film, New Neighbors, premiered at the 2017 Sundance film festival and has been shown at over 100 festivals world-wide.

Screening 1D

Trump Dump. Jennifer Zaylea, The University of the Arts, EXP, 2 mins.
MIMODERATOR
Questioning the ability of the American people to, once again, rise above the many differences that exist in the USA to maintain the dream of democracy.

Representative. Kelly Wittenberg, Western Michigan University, EXP, 9 mins.
1. typical of a class, group, or body of opinion. 2. a person chosen or elected to speak and act on behalf of others in a legislative assembly or deliberative body. 3. serving as a portrayal or symbol of something.

The Perfect Dancer. Shaun Clarke, Emerson College, EXP, 17 mins.
Exploring perfection in dance bodies and performance. An homage to Jørgen Leth's short film "The Perfect Human."
Respondent Vincenzo Mistretta, University of Southern Mississippi.

The Cage of Sand. Edward Rankus, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, EXP, 11 mins.
If asked to say what this work is about in one word, the answer—which is woven into the soundtrack—would be a Joycean one: it's a "collideorscape."

Light of Its History. Alex Ingersoll, University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point, EXP, 7 mins.
Mapping time with geological media. Fumbling to reach through time to the things themselves. Constructed using boulder stereograms, martian landscapes, mutable pixels, and glacial erratics. Subtitles from The Story of an African Farm (1983) by Olive Schreiner.
Respondent Gregg Perkins, The University of Tampa

Panel 1J
Documentary Evolution & Revolution
Jonathan Olshefski, Rowan University
MODERATOR

"Manifestations: The Excruciating Evolution of a Film"

The documentary QUEST endured a winding, ten-year journey through different cuts, versions and even formats before it achieved its definitive form. QUEST developed from a photo essay to a short film to a feature length documentary. Though many edits and approaches were incorporated and later discarded, this pile of experimental wreckage was essential to the realization of the final film.

G. T. Keplinger, Stevenson University
"Non-traditional scholarship: From documentary to book and back"

I did a documentary on The Seldom Scene for my MFA thesis film and between 1999-2006. I screened a work in progress of my film at the 2013 UFVA conference and I posted some excerpts online. An author saw them and contacted me about the book he had started; after several chats, we decided to collaborate on the book. Now, my co-author and I plan to complete the documentary and the release it. In my paper, I elaborate on my methodology of working on the book from a documentary film project and back.

Panel 1K
CHRIS Augsburg Room

Not Joking Around: Humor and Social Change in Mediated Storytelling
Giovanna Chesler, George Mason University
MODERATOR
"Can We Laugh at This? Comedy in Social Issue Storytelling"

Nico Opper, Santa Clara University
"Humor: A Dose of Medicine, A Coping Mechanism, A Storytelling Hook"

Caty Borum Chattoo, American University
"Funny Bedfellows: How Comedians and Social Justice Leaders Collaborate for Social Change"

Script 1L
HAGFORS 104

The Shoot
by Rani Crowe, Ball State University

When an up and coming actress is violated during the filming of a sex scene, she must decide whether to pursue truth and justice against her violator or reap the success from the public witness of her own assault.

Love as Practice for Dying
by Shayna Connelly, DePaul University

At the end of his life, Jack attempts to reconcile with his daughter in hopes that she will deliver the eulogy at his funeral.

I, Sphere
by Andrew Gay, Southern Oregon University

When John brings home the new iSphere, a technology that promises meaning to those who suffer from existential despair, his wife Tressa is skeptical.

Each of the writers will respond to the other authors' scripts.

Workshop 1P
CHRIS Riverside Room

Sticks & Stones, Tablets & Phones: Stop-Motion Animation with Mobile Devices

Lynn Tomlinson, Towson University
Jo Meuris, Nevada State College

Natural objects and recycled materials can come to life through stop-motion animation. Apps for mobile devices help make animation portable and accessible for faculty and students alike. Animators Lynn Tomlinson and Jo Meuris lead this environmentally-oriented hands-on workshop. Participants will work quickly and collaboratively crafting short animated sequences.

Workshop 1Q
FOSS 22B

Experience ‘The Three Wells of Screenwriting’

Matthew Kalil, Michael Wiese Productions

Learn how to inspire your students to access their unique wells of creativity in order to write the kinds of screenplays and make films that only they can. In this experiential workshop, participants will learn entertaining exercises and powerful workshop tools to help their students be more effective and conscious creators of content that matters.

| 1045A-1230P| Workshop 2Q       | CHRIS East Commons
Why bother teaching lighting?
David Landau, Farleigh-Dickinson University
Cameras are so sensitive now why do we need to teach anyone lighting? A lot of reasons actually. Students can shoot with fewer lights, even sometimes without lights, but they still need to compose and utilize the lighting to better enhance the picture and tell the support they are trying to tell. |
| 1230P-145P | LUNCH             | Christensen Center 2nd floor                                                        |

| 145-330P   | Screening 3B      | FOSS 42
Burton Before and After, Courtney Hermann, Portland State University, DOC, 15 mins. Fifteen years after Burton’s gender-affirming transition, his longtime friend uncovers a cache of home video and invites him to go on-camera to revisit the old footage. Concerned about outing himself to co-workers unaware of his gender reassignment, Burton declines, until he has a change of heart.
American Fumble: The Story of RJ Soward, Carolina Posse, Columbia College Chicago, DOC, 30 mins.
Record-setting USC wide receiver and NFL First Round Draft Pick RJ Soward, shares his accounts of the compulsions that drove him out of the league and threaten to end his life. |
|            | Screening 3C      | FOSS 19B
Through the Cracks, Ben Scholle, Lindenwood University, DOC, 99 mins.
In July 2002, Johnny Johnson was arrested and charged with the abduction and murder of 6-year-old Cassandra Williamson in Valley Park, Missouri. A juror described the killing as “the worst possible crime.” This film seeks to answer the question: Does the worst possible crime deserve the worst possible punishment? |
|            | Screening 3D      | FOSS 21A
Firebones (WIP), Bart Weiss, University of Texas at Arlington, FIC, 70 mins.
An eight-episode serial intended for mobile devices. In the story, a poet and filmmaker travel to the Arkansas Delta in search of ice cream and get engrossed in the mystery of how a Pentecostal preacher disappeared. Along the way they meet a YouTuber from Lebanon, a beekeeper spaceman, and many other colorful characters.
Respondent Sarah Hogencamp, Asbury University |
Screening 3E  FOSS 21B

The Bishop Massacre, Jay Sykes, Ohio Wesleyan University, FIC, 10 mins.
The film centers around a team of three student investigative journalists who try to find clues to the whereabouts of three students and one professor who all lacked one thing: school spirit.
 Respondent Calisto Lemashon Olol-go-jine, Independent.

Dakota, Brian MacNeel, Independent, FIC, 17 mins.
When Dakota's transgender identity is finally revealed, Jace is confronted with a decision: betray his cousin or stand up to his friends and lose face in this small community.

The Drone, Wojciech Lorenc, Sam Houston State University, FIC, 14 mins.
Written by BAFTA Nominee John J. McLaughlin (Black Swan, Hitchcock, Carnivale, and many more), The Drone tells a story of DJ - a small quadcopter who is simply trying to fit in.
 Respondent Michael Mulcahy, University of Arizona

In Transit, Harlan Bosmajian, Emerson College, FIC, 21 mins.
Jay, an editor at an astronomy magazine, is filming the rare celestial event, a Venus transit. Right as the event, is about to take place, Jay receives a call from his estranged father, Madhu, telling him that Jay’s grandmother is on her deathbed. This leads to a meaningful encounter between father and son at an airport restaurant.

“What’s in the Box? Breaking down the dramatic narrative”

Rick Shepardson, Eastern New Mexico University

Script 6L    HAGFORS 104
Hawthorne: Betrayals
by Scott Bastedo, Kutztown University
Hawthorne follows the life of a Midwest family, focusing on the matriarch and her duties as a social worker.

How to Hunt an Angel
by David Carren, University of Texas Rio Grande Valley
A young woman discovers the most dangerous thing in life is to be named Angel.

Step-Angels
by Anna Weinstein, Auburn University
A precocious 12-year-old girl and her soon-to-be stepbrother devise an ingenious plan to break up their parents before it’s too late.

Each of the writers will respond to the other authors’ scripts.

1045A-1230P
Script 6M    CHRIS Riverside Room
Camgirl
by Warren Lewis, California State University Fullerton
Aida Rivas is a talented, ambitious, young filmmaker. She is about to make a name for herself in Hollywood if only she can finish her low budget film. Despite promises Aida uses her talent for image creation to raise funds on the web. Friends and a supposed mentor betray her, but an unusual relationship leads to growth and, finally, to the achievement of her goal.
Land Lord
by Remington Smith, Independent
A black woman moves into an aging apartment complex while tracking a stolen bag of money, but is forced to choose between her job as a bounty hunter and saving a young African American boy after his mother is killed by the sun-obsessed, white vampire landlord.

Picture Man
by Broderick Fox, Occidental College
April 1942. Adam Silver, a young 'by-the-books' FBI agent is sent up to an Alaska cannery town to investigate espionage charges levied against a Japanese fisherman. Silver arrives thinking this is a routine grunt assignment but quickly finds himself in way over his head, with no way to back out now.

Each of the writers will respond to the other authors' scripts.

New Media 6N MUSIC M2

I Never Told You
Aleem Hossain, Occidental College
Respondent: Zoya Baker, Hunter College

I Never Told You asks individual volunteers to speak directly into a virtual reality camera as if they are talking to a specific person in their life or from their past, and tell that person something they've never told them. Unlike a traditional doc where you might observe someone relating a personal message, in this project the user 'becomes' the recipient of the message. We are exploring a new relationship between audience and documentary subject.

New Media 6P MUSIC M2

Things That Want To Be Held...That I Want To Hold
Paul Echeverria, Western Connecticut State University
Bianca Echeverria, Independent Artist
Respondent: Lynn Tomlinson, Towson University

Things That Want To Be Held...That I Want To Hold examines the ritual of couvade, a process by which an expecting father accepts physical variation during the ongoing months of pregnancy. The project combines sculptural ceramic works, durational performance, and social media to establish an ongoing symbiosis that emulates the multiple stages of child-bearing.

Workshop 6Q CHRIS East Commons

Copyright and Fair Use for Filmmakers: Test Your Knowledge
Patricia Aufderheide, American University
Michael Donaldson, Esq.
Jack Lerner, University of California Irvine

Filmmakers have been leaders in developing clear thinking about copyright and fair use. Through their work, major innovations in business practice have resulted in the last decade. Insurers accept fair use claims; broadcasters accept work laced with fairly used materials; and filmmakers who understand fair use law have been able to get major media companies to pay them for use of their work that they previously and falsely claimed was fair use. Are you up to date? Do you think you know how to:

- Challenge someone’s fair use claim on your work?
- Get a DMCA exemption to break encryption?
- Decide when fair use is OK?
- Use fair use in fiction films?
- Take the copyright quiz!

Workshop 6R FOSS 22B

AI and Generative Sound Design for Film and Media
Woody Hood, Wake Forest University

The central goal of this workshop is to demonstrate the application of AI music composition and sound design hardware and software. AI music, or generative composition, offers several great opportunities that I think will improve the creative work or our peers and sound design pedagogy in our production courses.

Screening 7A  MUSIC M3

Making Montgomery Clift, Robert Clift, University of Pittsburgh, DOC, 88 mins.

Classic film star and queer icon Montgomery Clift's legacy has long been a story of tragedy and self-destruction. When his nephew dives into the family archives, a much more complicated picture emerges.

Respondent John Scott, Ithaca College

Screening 7B  FOSS 42

Citizen Blue: The Life of an American Filmmaker

Daniel Miller, University of Oregon, DOC, 90 mins

James Blue was a profoundly important and contributive cinema maker, scholar, teacher and director. He was, in every sense, a citizen of the world. This is his story and through him, the story of cinema, media and society in the transformative twentieth century, told by those who knew, loved, and were influenced by him, including George Stevens Jr., James Ivory, Sir Colin Young, and Adele Santos. It features his profoundly evocative, poetic, groundbreaking, and socially responsible films.

Screening 7C  FOSS 21A

Premiere: DePaul University Film and Television Faculty Reflect on the Importance of an Internal Student Film Festival
Sunlight on the Banana Plantations
by Viviana Goelkel, Belmont University
Ruthless American businessman Thomas Preston moves to a primitive settlement in Colombia to produce bananas for export. Promising to bring wealth to the town, Preston cons local landowners into selling him their valuable lands for a pittance. However, town’s leader Domingo Navarro and his family suspect Preston’s intentions and start a feud that threatens both their lives and the future of the working class.

Foreign Encounters (Working Title)
by Maaman Rezaee, University of New Mexico
An Iranian woman, adopted by an American family, looks for her roots when her identity as daughter and filmmaker is challenged. Through her encounters with the Iranian diaspora, she explores her own life story as well as the story of a revolution.

The Pump
by Maria Gigante, Cleveland State University
When a 35-year old disillusioned, desperate-for-cash man abducts a young woman, she takes him to an underground society that could be the salvation he’s been searching for.

Each of the writers will respond to the other authors’ scripts.

This Is "I"
Jennifer Zaylea, The University of the Arts
Respondent: Sharon Mooney, Loyola Marymount University
Projection mapping (site specific) and audio installation questioning how we view ourselves in a public forum. Do we see ourselves as different from or the same as those we surround ourselves with? This question is being asked while simultaneously altering your view/sound of yourself (the viewer) as you see a distorted reflection of yourself projected into an architectural space that also speaks to this self-perceived image. Are we all immigrants? -- Are we all the exact same? -- When do we determine what difference is? -- Who has that right to proclaim such a category? Age old questions using new forms of media to implicate each of us in this system of categorization.

Memory Distrust
Sharon Mooney, Loyola Marymount University
Respondent: Jennifer Zaylea, The University of the Arts
This hologram project consists of a series of very short, very dark, formative personal experiences that happened to the artist growing up. The stories are so surreal and sometimes off-putting, so much so that the artist questions if they actually happened.

Score It! How to work with a composer for the results you want
Scott Hallgren, Kent State University
An exploration of practical scoring for picture, and how filmmakers and composers of all levels can work together to help achieve the best scores for student and professional projects.

Art of the Pitch: Pitching your Documentary Film.
Meghan O’Hara, California State University Monterey Bay
Mike Attie, University of the Arts
The “Pitch Forum” is an increasingly common event at film festivals and markets, especially within the non-fiction filmmaking community. What was once a primarily national/international market-based event has expanded to become increasingly local and issue based. This hands-on workshop will lead participants through the development of a live pitch of their documentary work-in-progress.
Workshop 7S  FOSS 22B

Resolve: The Cut Page
Bart Weiss, University of Texas Arlington
With the advent of Resolve 16, Black Magic design created a new interface for editing called the Cut page, a new way of editing quickly. This will be a hands-on workshop, where we use the program to learn how to create a quick edit or to make the first pass at a larger project. This was designed to work on a laptop, so bring yours with the FREE app already downloaded. Bring your own footage or I’ll supply some. If you want my files beforehand email me bart@uta.edu

Nadja, Vincenzo Mistretta, University of Southern Mississippi, EXP, 17 mins.
Inspired by the surrealist novel Nadja by Andre Breton, the film shuttles between everyday life, memory, fear, and longing—ultimately asking: what is reality, what is art, what is the self—and what is the nature of the veil that divides or fails to divide them?

Respondent Jessica Ynez Simmons, University of Dayton

Glitchtown 02: Texting With Ruth, Paul Echeverria, Western Connecticut State University, EXP, 9 mins.
Our future relatives will be able to access an ongoing narrative of our daily selves. Conversely, the present generation has limited access to documentation about family members who lived during the pre-digital era and our perceptions regarding mortality and renaissance are in a state of fluctuation.

Respondent Mark Freeman, San Diego State University.

In Glass Houses, Ariana Gerstein, Binghamton University, EXP, 8 mins.
Exploring methods used to facilitate a real research project whose aim it is to capture and analyze human micro-expressions for use by a variety of industries. This film takes a moment to touch on our use of technology and vice versa.

Script 9L HAGFORS 104

The Black Lens

by Jonathan Anderegg, George Fox University

* Aidan Taylor is back home in La Pine, Oregon working as a reporter for the local paper. But he dreams of journalistic greatness while he’s trapped in a dead-end job and a struggling marriage. Zoe James is just your typical small-town Oregon girl making her way through high school. Sure, her dad is a deadbeat and her younger sister, Camille, is mentally challenged, but her life is turned upside down as she becomes the next mark of the local sex and drug ring.*

Journey to Questica

by Cristina Pippa, Missouri State University

Philip Reed is a noble knight – if only in the world of Questica, an online role-playing game. In real life, he’s a lonely kid with an over-worked single mom. When Philip discovers a hidden level to the game, a pixelated princess begs him to free her from the Questica Theme Park. He sneaks onto an airplane and into the park, where he makes his first real friend—the park owner’s daughter—and they team up to stop the game master from bringing a real dragon into our world.

Playing House

by Wenhwa Tsao, Columbia College Chicago

A character-driven thriller told through the innocent and observing eyes of Lily, a toddler, as she takes a stand against the dysfunctional behavior of her mother. Lily’s father also has to learn how to lead his wife and children out of physical and psychological danger that are triggered by Phoebe’s past abuses.

The Crying Man

by Emily Edwards, University of North Carolina Greensboro

In this fantasy adventure, a captured highwayman’s only escape from prison and torture is a gallows wedding; though his cruel government allows him to marry, his enemies are determined the convicted man will not escape execution.

Each of the writers will respond to the other authors’ scripts.

New Media 9N MUSIC M2

Behind the Wall

Marc May, Towson University

Francisco Menendez, University of Nevada, Las Vegas

Respondent: Scott Schimmel, University of Hawaii Manoa

A 9-minute, 360 video, story experience. In the desert of the American southwest, ICE raids a construction job and 17-year old undocumented Antonio secretly hides in the panic room of the house he’s building. The owner? An infamous, anti-immigrant Sheriff who moves his family in. But as Antonio surreptitiously watches the family, he falls in love with the sheriff’s gay teenage son.

New Media 9P MUSIC M2

Goodby Paradise

Scott Schimmel, School of Communications UH Manoa

Respondent: Marc May, Towson University

Journey to the Maskelyne Islands in Vanuatu, a tropical paradise on in the Pacific Ocean. Through this immersive experience learn firsthand the devastating effects that climate change is having on this community and reflect on our deeper responsibility to our fellow human beings.
Workshop 9Q
CHRIS East Commons
Moments of Truth: A classroom tool for discussion
Chuck Workman, Chapman University

This workshop will screen Moments of Truth, Workman’s 10-minute film that includes clips from about 150 different documentaries, with comments by documentary filmmakers including Barbara Koppel, Agnes Varda, Werner Herzog, Michael Moore, Ken Burns, Ava DuVernay, and others. In montage form, it tells the story of the documentary. Film scholars and professionals could use Moments of Truth as an introduction in classes. Workman will discuss how and why it was made, the particulars of its construction, and the method of selecting the films, in the context of a discussion about the relevance of the documentary today, its importance in various social and political movements, and its impact on students and younger audiences.

Teaching the Acting-Focused Filmmaking Class
David Tarleton, Columbia College Chicago
Adria Dawn, Tarleton/Dawn Productions

Most filmmaking classes focus on students learning to work in production: as directors, DPs, etc. We have now taught eight filmmaking classes for students who are principally actors, rather than crew. We will demonstrate this alternative model used in both “Filmmaking For Social Change” and “REEL Class”: where students help ideate and act in films that the instructors produce, write and direct.

Session 10

Screening 10A
MUSIC M3

18 Years In, Jonathan Mabee, Missouri State University, FIC, 20 mins.

As a Navy veteran who helped start both the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, 18 Years In explores the realities I would have faced as a father, had I had a daughter at age 20 (instead of 34) who wanted to join the military - just like her father, uncles, and great-grandfathers.

Respondent: Joseph Brown, Marquette University

Reunion, Megan Fitzgerald, Ohio University, FIC, 18 mins. Amidst a deadly epidemiological outbreak, Eve performs a treacherous feat to protect her child and is abducted. Thereafter, two skilled professionals are hell bent to deliver Eve from the mercy of a researcher on the verge of inhuman vengeance.

I Am, But I'm Not, Barry Thornburg, Emerson College, DOC, 30 mins. Is about three women from the same orphanage in India who were raised separately by white Americans in the Western United States. Though they share common experiences, each of these Indian American adoptees choose a different way to grapple with the tug-of-war between their birth heritage and the culture in which they were raised.

Respondent: Ryan Murray, Towson University

The Snow Leopard
by Charles Dye, Virginia Tech

The Roadie for Varmint Wraith: A Rock Story
by Teddy Champion, Birmingham-Southern College

After seeming to miss their window for success, an aging alt-punk-country band finds new fame when a young roadie joins the group. But the path towards celebrity and fulfillment is littered with lingering signs of death for everyone.

The High Road
by Troy Perkins, Southern Methodist University

A socialite loses everything and runs away, only to stumble across an old Pueblo man who helps her and just happens to be a ghost.

Each of the writers will respond to the other authors’ scripts.

Tim Wojcik, Fitchburg State University and Emerson College
Guy Dupont, Tufts University

Respondent: Kevin Roy, Eastern Oregon University

As you chart the course that Thoreau traveled in 1839, allow pollutants of mind to layer the surface you see. Submerged in the sounds of these waters, you see degrees of distress in the current—as caused by chemical pollution and driven by the individual’s own brain wave activity. Along the way, you are encouraged to listen without association, to see without attachment, to breathe, and to be. Real-time experience.

Kevin Roy, Eastern Oregon University

Respondent: Tim Wojcik, Fitchburg State University and Emerson College

Two figurative compositions, composed as a diptych, dynamically juxtapose as they animate in response to participant-viewer input. Programmable controllers connect to each separate panel to scroll, and thus activate each screen independently. The work explores the intersection of new and traditional media, inviting participant-viewers and a wider audience into a scrolling dialogue, a conversation.

Dog Walker, Susan Skoog, University of the Arts, FIC, 17 mins.

After losing custody of her children in a contentious divorce, Jill who now works as a dog walker and lives in the low-income section of her upscale town, takes revenge on a privileged client.
Runaway (WIP), Meg Knowles, Buffalo State College, DOC, 59 mins.
In the summer of 1973, my sister disappeared from a New England riding camp at age 14. My family (and police) could find no trace of her, and lived for months with traumatic uncertainty before discovering her in San Francisco where she was living in a White Panthers collective/commune. Since the day of her return, our family has never discussed our dramatically different experiences of that summer – until now.

Respondent Kate Raney, Ohio University

Quest, Jonathan Olsheski, Rowan University, DOC, 104 mins
Filmed with vérité intimacy for nearly a decade, QUEST is the moving portrait of the Rainey family living in North Philadelphia. Beginning at the dawn of the Obama presidency, Christopher "Quest" Rainey, and his wife, Christine’s "Ma Quest" raise a family while nurturing a community of hip hop artists in their home music studio. It’s a safe space where all are welcome, but this creative sanctuary can’t always shield them from the strife that grips their neighborhood. Epic in scope, QUEST is a vivid illumination of race and class in America, and a testament to love, healing and hope.

Respondent Jeremy S. Levine, Hunter College

Stranger from Within (Etranger de l'Interieur), Sonja Bertucci, University of Richmond, DOC, 77 mins.
After years of absence, the filmmaker returns to Kosovo, the birthplace of her Serbian mother, to come to terms with what has happened to a place that she knew from her childhood memories. She embarks on this personal journey for a little girl in Serbia, Kristina, who is afraid to go to Kosovo, and records her encounters with the Kosovars, their daily struggles and joys, their fears and their hopes, their memories and their outlook for the future in a region grappling with a history marked by war, trauma, and poverty.

| Workshop 12Q CHRIS Riverside Room | Workshop 12Q CHRIS Riverside Room | Being Creatively Limited
William Pace, Seton Hill University
All too often student filmmakers bemoan the lack of their institution’s equipment and resources, thus “limiting” their creativity. However, very often it’s the lack of specialized resources that sparks filmmakers to become truly creative. This workshop aims to show how by providing students with a precise set of limitations and restrictions teachers can help them tap into true creativity.

This workshop will introduce you to a three-dimensional interface and the tools associated with simulating cinematic experiences. These techniques can be used as an introduction to cinematic space, for pre-visualization, generating computer graphics, as well as in the animation and new media classrooms. Issues related to integrating these techniques into curriculum models will be addressed.
