

Farrell Jackson, Senior Product Marketing Manager, Global Payments

Farrell Jackson is the product marketing lead for a multi-national portfolio of payment products at Global Payments. She managed all of the product marketing work streams for multiple high-profile product launches in the US, Canada, and the UK this year alone. She has led the mobile go-to-market efforts across the regions and has finalized the brand strategies working with the various regional product and marketing leads. Farrell is seen as a subject matter expert in mobile payments and product marketing for the company.

Farrell is actively involved on the Wnet Atlanta Chapter Leadership team, and serves as one of Global Payments' Corporate Champions. Farrell is also a valued member of Global Payments' internal women's network and is an active member of the network's Communications Committee. Her hard work, dedication and strong commitment to improving the payments industry naturally position Farrell as an emerging leader with a very bright future!