

Michele Fischthal, Senior Client Manager, American Express

Michele Fischthal is a Senior Client Manager at American Express. She leads the Wnet NYC chapter and is the Corporate Champion for American Express. She has been a Wnet member and advocate for 10+ years, being part of the mission to accelerate the potential for women to reach their ambition. Michele is involved in Network of Executive Women and is on the Board of Temple Beth Shalom, Manalapan NJ as a co-chair for programming, community service and communication/retention strategies.

Michele is an accomplished leader and life learner who has greatly benefitted from being part of Went. Her dedication and engagement in the mentor program, Social Link, attending Leadership Summit and leading programming for the Went NYC chapter showcases her energy and passion in bettering herself and others. Her focus continues to bring relevant networking events to support and build a community that encourages learning and leaning in for women in the workplace.

In March 2020, Michele moderated a NYC chapter Panel of senior leaders from PaySafe, Heartland and Global Payments on Leadership in COVID 19 which brought in a record number of attendees. There were numerous great take-aways such as giving people grace, serving instead of selling, crisis as opportunity to focus on what is important, showing up as your authentic self and interaction is winning.

We thank Michele for her strong leadership and contribution to Went across the years by driving mentorship, content, comradery and care to her chapter and the entire Wnet community.
