Several changes have occurred with respect to the Missouri Sunshine Law. Some of the changes are legislative and some judicial. Senate Bills 732 and 765 made significant changes with regard to mobile video recordings and crime scene photographs. This has always been a difficult subject to handle. Obviously, the press is often interested in video recordings. The new statute directs that a mobile video recording that is recorded in a non-public location is a closed record. There are some exceptions. Anyone whose voice is on the recording or parents or family members or attorneys may obtain a complete copy of the recording once the investigation becomes inactive.

The changes with regard to crime scene photographs and video recordings provide that such recordings which depict a deceased person in a state of dismemberment, decapitation or mutilation or where a deceased person’s genitalia are exposed are considered closed records unless otherwise ordered by the court. This section shall not prohibit disclosure to the deceased’s next of kin.

There have also been interpretations based on court opinions. In the case of Laut v. City of Arnold, No. SC95307, filed June 28, 2016 (Mo. banc. 2016), the Supreme Court of Missouri clarified whether a party is entitled to a civil penalty or attorney’s fees under Section 610.027 RSMo for a knowing or purposeful violation of the Sunshine Law. The Supreme Court of Missouri split on this issue. This case has been a long running dispute over certain employees who had allegedly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improperly improper