

National Association of Church Facilities Managers Code of Ethics

As a Christian called by the living God, I seek to honor Him and His ethical and moral standards in my entire private and public life, including my efforts to persuade others to believe the good news about Jesus Christ.

I will exercise honesty and integrity in all personal and business transactions, and promote a positive image of the organization I represent.

I will do my best to be knowledgeable of the Bylaws, Policies and Procedures governing the operations of the NACFM.

I will bring any action of condition that is contrary to the Bylaws, Policies and Procedures to the attention of the NACFM's Board of Directors.

I will treat other NACFM members with respect when dealing with matters that could affect our organization and/or their personal reputations.

As opportunities arise, I will continue to further my education so as to increase my value to my employer and our organization.
