

Example of email requesting corporate support of IAIP:

Dear <enter contact name here>,

If you have not already, you will be soon receiving an email from the International Association of Insurance Professionals with information on how a corporate partnership can be beneficial to <company name>.

I hope that you will take serious consideration in your decision to support IAIP. As a member I benefit greatly from the numerous educational, leadership, and networking resources available to me through this international community of thousands of insurance and risk management professionals.

As a non-profit association we rely heavily upon support of our corporate partners to perpetuate our growth.

Thank you for your support!
