ADVERTISING
 ACCEPTANCE POLICY

Prospective advertising material is accepted only after careful screening to assure that it is constructively consistent with the professionalism and purposes of the Journal and its publisher. All advertising must be in good taste and reflect positively and professionally on the financial services industry. The following are cited as guidelines to types of advertising that are not accepted: (1) comparisons with named or otherwise identifiable competitive products or companies; (2) references to specific compensation levels or other specific financial inducements; (3) advocacy of policy replacement as a general business method or philosophy unless justified by economic or tax advantage.

Opinions expressed in Journal articles are not necessarily endorsed by the Society of Financial Service Professionals or its members. The Journal assumes no responsibility for the accuracy of any claims made by advertisers. Publication of an advertisement in the Journal does not constitute an endorsement of the product or services advertised.

This Journal is published by the Society of Financial Service Professionals, a professional organization whose members are dedicated to the highest standards of competence and service in the financial services industry. The Society's purpose is to serve the public interest by providing continuing education, ethical guidance, and public recognition for its members.

It is the policy of this publication to both reflect and augment the professionalism of the members of the Society. Editorial and advertising materials are screened by responsible bodies to assure that they contribute to the continuing education of the members, to the advancement of professionalism in the financial services industry, and to the ultimate benefit of the public through sound and well-informed counsel.

This publication is designed to provide accurate and authoritative information in regard to the subject matter covered. It is provided with the understanding that the publisher is not engaged in rendering legal, accounting, or other professional advice or service. If such advice is required, the services of a competent professional should be sought.

Reproduction or use in whole or of any part of the contents without permission of the Society of Financial Service Professionals is prohibited. For permission to reuse material from the Journal of Financial Service Professionals (ISSN 1537-1816), please access www.copyright.com or contact the Copyright Clearance Center, Inc.
