

An interview with Lorie Marsh, Writer. Speaker. Visual Storyteller. Awareness Igniter. Soul Booster.

Learn about Lorie's techniques to help you become the Hero and the Author of your own life story for getting "un-stuck" and experiencing self-discovery and personal growth.

In this episode, I had the pleasure of interviewing Lorie Marsh, Writer. Speaker. Visual Storyteller. Awareness Igniter. Soul Booster. Her mission is to show how to use your story to tap into your inner wisdom and move you forward on your path with more clarity, focus, and purpose.

After two decades in indie film, theater, multi-platform narratives, and "script doctoring," Lorie Marsh is steeped in Storytelling. Everything is a story to her. She developed her self-inquiry framework from a personal need, "I found myself at an undeniable dead end on a path I'd hacked at for almost 20 years. It was scary and overwhelming to feel I was in a free fall, having no 'map' anymore for myself. I came to realize, though, that I could find my way back to center by using the skills I'd developed over all those years: I needed to review my life as the epic story it is, and I'd find my answers." She writes, speaks, and creates workshops to guide others from their day-to-day Hero views to their higher level Creator/Author perspective in order to tap their inner wisdom, find center and focus, and map out their next chapters in purposeful ways.
