

LUCY THOMSON

Lucy L. Thomson, CIPP/US, CISSP, is the founding principal of Livingston PLLC in Washington, D.C. where she focuses her practice on cybersecurity, global data privacy, and compliance and risk management. A career attorney at the U.S. Department of Justice, she managed and conducted complex litigation in the Criminal and Civil Rights Divisions. She subsequently worked as a senior principal engineer and privacy advocate at CSC, a global technology company. Appointed the Consumer Privacy Ombudsman (CPO) in 35 federal bankruptcy cases, she currently serves as the CPO in one of the largest cryptocurrency bankruptcies, Celsius Network (S.D. N.Y.).

Ms. Thomson is the chair of the American Bar Association (ABA) Task Force on Law and Artificial Intelligence (AI). Past chair of the ABA Science & Technology Law Section (SciTech), she is a founding member of the Cybersecurity Legal Task Force and a member of the ABA House of Delegates (since 2004). She served two terms on the D.C. Bar Board of Governors and as Bar Secretary, and as President of the Women's Bar Association of D.C. and its Foundation. Ms. Thomson is a co-author of ABA policy resolution 604 (2023) on artificial intelligence (AI) calling for human oversight, accountability, and transparency, and the author of books/chapters on the security and privacy challenges of emerging technologies and critical infrastructure, including AI, the Internet of Things (IoT), bioinformatics, and elections.

Internationally, Ms. Thomson served as a Legal Advisor to the United Nations Centre for Trade Facilitation and Electronic Business (UN/CEFACT), the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC), and the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN). For APEC, she focused on implementing the APEC Privacy Framework in Peru, Chile, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Thailand, and Vietnam, and presented a report on her capacity-building privacy work at the senior officials meeting in Jakarta, Indonesia.

She received a Master's degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (RPI) and holds a J.D. degree from Georgetown.
