NEW YORK STATE
DEPARTMENT OF FINANCIAL SERVICES
PROPOSED
11 NYCRR 228
(INSURANCE REGULATION 208)

TITLE INSURANCE RATES, EXPENSES AND CHARGES

I, Maria T. Vullo, Superintendent of Financial Services, pursuant to the authority granted by Sections 202, 301, and 302 of the Financial Services Law and Sections 301, 2110, 2119, 2303, 2304, 2306, 2315, and 6409 and Articles 23 and 24 of the Insurance Law, do hereby promulgate a new Part 228 of Title 11 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules, and Regulations of the State of New York (Insurance Regulation 208), to take effect 60 days after publication in the State Register, to read as follows:

(ALL MATERIAL IS NEW)

Section 228.0 Scope and purpose.

(a) The Department of Financial Services’ (“department”) investigation into practices of the title insurance industry revealed industry-wide practices that violate Insurance Law section 6409(d) and contribute to excessive rates and that constitute untrustworthiness and deceptive acts and practices. Many of these practices have flourished because consumers generally are unfamiliar with title insurance, as it is purchased typically once for the duration of the ownership of the real property. They usually rely upon the advice of real estate professionals, including attorneys or real estate agents, who order the policy on their behalf. Consumers typically pay any invoice presented at the closing because they lack the sophistication to challenge the invoice, and fear risking a delay in the closing in order to obtain clarification.

(b) The department’s investigation of the title insurance industry revealed that each year, in violation of Insurance Law section 6409(d), millions of dollars are spent by title insurance corporations and title insurance agents on inducements, which the industry has termed to be “marketing costs”, provided to attorneys and other real estate professionals who order title insurance on behalf of their clients, in the guise of meals, entertainments, gifts, vacations, free CLE classes to select individuals, and the like, in exchange for the attorney or other professional referring title insurance business to that title insurance corporation or title insurance agent. Title insurance corporations report these expenses in expense schedules submitted in response to the rate service organization’s annual data call. The expenses are then included in the calculation of the rates, resulting in consumers paying higher, excessive rates.

(c) The department’s investigation of the title insurance industry further found that certain title insurance agents and title insurance corporations mark up ancillary charges excessively. Charging onerous fees constitutes untrustworthiness on the part of title insurance agents, and engaging in unfair and deceptive acts and practices on the part of both title insurance corporations and title insurance agents.
(d) The department’s investigation further found that consumers are often encouraged at the closing to pay gratuities and pick-up fees to title insurance closers. These gratuities are routinely not disclosed to the consumer before the closing or otherwise reported and are unnecessary extra costs imposed on consumers that contribute to excessively high total closing costs.

(e) The purpose of this Part is to promote the public welfare by proscribing practices that are not in accordance with Insurance Law section 2303, which provides that insurance rates shall not be excessive, inadequate, or unfairly discriminatory. This Part provides guidance to the title insurance industry by clarifying, interpreting and implementing Insurance Law section 6409(d), which prohibits giving any consideration or valuable thing as an inducement for title insurance business, as well as Insurance Law section 6409(e), which states that title insurance premiums shall reflect the anti-inducement prohibition of Insurance Law section 6409(d).

(f) This Part further protects consumers, pursuant to the authority of Insurance Law sections 2110 and 2119 and Article 24 and Financial Services Law sections 301 and 302, by ensuring that the title insurance industry provides valuable products and services to consumers at reasonable rates and fees and does not overcharge consumers or charge improper and excessive fees that constitute engaging in untrustworthy behavior and unfair and deceptive acts and practices.

(c) If a title insurance corporation or title insurance agent charges a fee that is not specified in subdivision (a) of this section, the fee shall be reasonable.
(d) A title insurance corporation and title insurance agent shall prohibit any closer that it engages from receiving any compensation directly or indirectly for the closing other than the compensation paid by the title insurance corporation or title insurance agent, including any gratuity or additional payment by or on behalf of any applicant borrower, or seller; any pick up fee; or any other compensation not paid directly by the title insurance corporation or title insurance agent. The title insurance corporation or title insurance agent shall advise the applicant that the closer may not accept any payment from or on behalf of the applicant.

Section 228.6 Filings to demonstrate continued compliance with Insurance Law article 23.

At least once every four years, a rate service organization or a title insurance corporation that has submitted a rate filing that is in use shall submit a filing to the superintendent, supported by data and actuarial analysis, which demonstrates that the current rates continue to meet the standards set forth in Insurance Law section 2303.
