Unlocking the Lockdown: Keying Into Reopening Your Psychological Practice

Public Health and Medicine
Heidi Gullett, M.D., M.P.H.

Professional Practice
Virginia Fowkes Clark, Ph.D.
Matthew Capezzuto, Ph.D., LISW-C

Insurance, Billing, Practice Affairs
Jim Broyles, Ph.D.

Legal, Ethics and Practice
Bob Stinson, Psy.D., J.D., LICDC-CS, ABPP

Moderator
Richard Ashbrook, Ph.D., M.F.A.
Preamble

Psychologists are committed to increasing scientific and professional knowledge of behavior and people’s understanding of themselves and others and to the use of such knowledge to improve the condition of individuals, organizations, and society. Psychologists respect and protect civil and human rights and the central importance of freedom of inquiry and expression in research, teaching, and publication. They strive to help the public in developing informed judgments and choices concerning human behavior.

OPA Mission

To advance the creation, communication and application of psychological knowledge to benefit society and to improve people’s lives in Ohio.

The OPA Board
Erich Merkle
Katherine Hahn Oh
Cynthia Van Keuren
Brandon Kozar
David Hayes
Catherine Golden
Alexandra Smith
Cathy McDaniels-Wilson
Marc Dielman
Elizabeth Harris
Catherine Gaw
Virginia Fowkes Clark
Kimberly Burkhart
Alexandra Smith

The OPA Staff
Michael Ranney
Jim Broyles
Carolyn Green
Karen Hardin
David Savoia
Beth Wherley

The OPA Committees
Risk Stratification Modeling

- Assessment Validity
- Treatment Effectiveness
- Client Welfare

- Risk Management
- Professional Liability
- Contract Liability

- Health & Safety
- Legal & Regulatory
- Ethical
- Clinical Effectiveness

- Mitigation

- Patient
- Community
- Clinician

- Competence
- Privacy & Confidentiality
- Standards/Principles

OHIO PSYCHOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION TOWN HALL