As a Military Transition Assistance Program (TAP) manager, community readiness consultant, or professional primarily working with military members or veterans, we recommend the following pathway to validate your expertise and advance your programs with modern techniques and strategies that will benefit transitioning military members and veterans.

Why This Path Works For You

• This targeted pathway provides you with the full spectrum of tools and teachings needed to best assist transitioning military members and veterans.

• You'll obtain advanced résumé writing skills as well as new ideas for content, résumé designs, and layouts.

• You'll gain an understanding of what is needed to support military members and veterans as they transition from service to civilian life.

• You’ll learn the newest interviewing skills, strategies, and techniques that will help your clients obtain job offers.

• You'll acquire the latest trends and approaches for utilizing LinkedIn, with regular updates from the program instructor even after the course is completed.

• You’ll attain in-depth training regarding new coaching competencies, goals and value exercises, assessments, and other tools to enhance your career coaching services.
