NOTE THAT THIS PROGRAM MAY STILL UNDERGO MINOR CHANGES AFTER PRINTING -- FOR THE COMPLETELY UP-TO-DATE VERSION, ALWAYS CONSULT <https://ipra2019.exordo.com>

This program contains four different types of events:

- Plenary lectures: 45-minute presentations; speakers may fill up the entire period or choose to leave a little time for questions.
- Lectures: individual presentations of 20 minutes each; lecture sessions typically contain 3 consecutive presentations that are followed by up to 5 minutes of discussion and 5 minutes to allow for changing between sessions; for (exceptional) 'underbooked' sessions with only two presentations, speakers are urged to stick to the 20+5+5 minute format so that participants know what is happening when; in the case of further cancellations, the scheduled order of presentation should be preserved; lecture sessions are chaired by the last speaker of the session. Unless a program change has been announced, the schedule should be followed, even if a lecturer does not show up and leaves a gap.
- Posters: put up on poster boards from Monday onwards, with an exclusive poster period in the afternoon on Thursday; authors are expected to be present at their posters during that period.
- Panels: pre-organized thematic events; the program gives an order in which presentations will be made, but the format may differ greatly from panel to panel (as the number of speakers varies within given 90-minute time slots, and the organizers may give an introduction and arrange for discussion time as they see fit); participants are therefore advised not to switch between panels, as this will most probably not get them what they are looking for at any given time.

The following publishers will exhibit books throughout the week:

- Bloomsbury
- Brill
- Elsevier
- Equinox
- John Benjamins Publishing Company
- Taylor and Francis
- Springer Nature Ltd

PRACTICAL

Wireless access via 'Wi-Fi.HK via PolyU'

To support the HKSAR Government's 'City-wide Wi-Fi for the Public and Visitors' initiative as set out in the '2014 Digital 21 Strategy', PolyU provides free Wi-Fi service to the public and visitors on campus. Visitors can enjoy free Wi-Fi service by selecting the WiFi SSID (Service Set Identifier) of 'Wi-Fi.HK via PolyU'. After accepting the terms and conditions, users can use the service for two hours, after which they have to accept the terms again to continue using the service.

The table below summarizes the wireless access service available to the PolyU visitors:

Wireless Service:	Wi-Fi.HK via PolyU
Service Locations:	PolyU Campus
SSID:	Wi-Fi.HK via PolyU
Login ID & Password:	N/A (2 hours per session free Wi-Fi access. Need to re-connect after 2 hours connection time.)

Wi-Fi.HK via PolyU

For reasons of sustainability, The Hong Kong Polytechnic University no longer sells or offers bottled water on campus. Conference participants are urged to carry their own drinking vessels for refilling with drinking water from the drinking water stations on campus.

Please visit PolyU Green Map (<https://www.polyu.edu.hk/greenmap/>) for locations of drinking water stations.

Poster presenters were urged to bring posters along. If that was not possible, there is a limited-capacity printing shop near campus which can offer next-day A0 size poster printing at around HKD 120. Service cannot be ordered by email, and the shop is closed on Sunday. When ordered and paid in cash before 18:30, the poster will be available at 14:00 the next day.

Pragmatic Interfaces

Pragmatic Interfaces

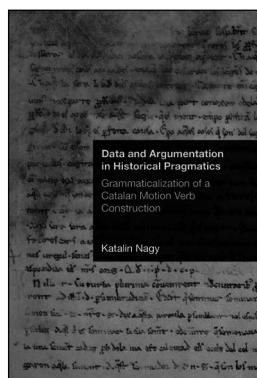

Edited by Enikő Németh T.
Dániel Z Kádár and Károly Bibok

Pragmatic Interfaces fills an important knowledge gap in the field of pragmatics. It is the first major publication project devoted to studying grammar-pragmatics interfaces and the merging of soft-pragmatics with hard-pragmatics. Through this merging many pragmatic phenomena could be essentially revisited. This series follows an interdisciplinary approach, allowing scholars from different areas of grammar and pragmatics to collaborate.

Data and Argumentation in Historical Pragmatics: Grammaticalization of a Catalan Motion Verb Construction

Katalin Nagy C.

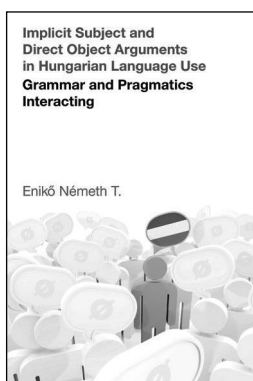

This book has two interrelated aims, one empirical and one theoretical. Its object-scientific aim is to provide a comprehensive analysis of the beginnings of a semantic change process in the grammaticalization of the medieval Catalan “anar ‘go’ + infinitive” construction, investigating it from a historical pragmatic perspective. Although this volume discusses a micro-level study on a grammaticalization process which, according to the previous literature, does not fit any universal tendency hitherto revealed, it will hopefully also provide new information about the macro-level process of semantic change of motion verbs in general.

The theoretical aim of the volume is to examine some methodological questions in historical pragmatics and contribute in this way to recent metalinguistic discussions on data, methods and argumentation in linguistics. Methodological issues have not only been present in historical pragmatics since the beginnings – their resolution is seen as a crucial factor which will determine the future of this linguistic sub-discipline.

Implicit Subject and Direct Object Arguments in Hungarian Language Use: Grammar and Pragmatics Interacting

Enikő Németh T.

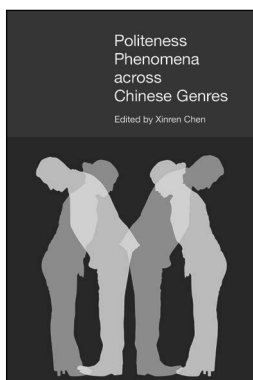

This book studies how Hungarian verbs can occur with implicit subject and direct object arguments in a complex approach. On the basis of the critical evaluations of the previous literature on implicit arguments, analyses of a wide spectrum of data from various direct sources, and theoretical explanations, all of which were supported by systematic metatheoretical considerations, it concludes that in Hungarian, verbs do not vary as to whether they can be used with implicit arguments or not, but they vary as to the manner in which they can occur with such arguments.

Politeness Phenomena across Chinese Genres

Xinren Chen

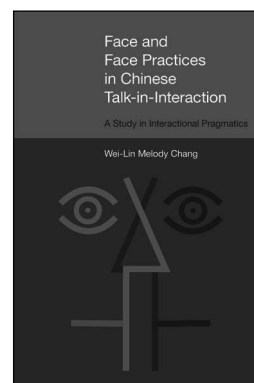

This volume is the first to survey politeness variations across different genres in Chinese. It fills a gap in politeness research in general, and in Chinese politeness research in particular. Unlike existing studies that treat Chinese politeness phenomena as non-varying, this study provides systemic evidence for how linguistic polite behaviour varies across genres in China. The volume offers those who read or write Chinese texts or engage in Chinese conversation an enriched knowledge of how politeness as the most important type of interpersonal meaning is communicated in different genres in that language.

Face and Face Practices in Chinese Talk-in-Interaction: A Study in Interactional Pragmatics

Wei-Lin Melody Chang

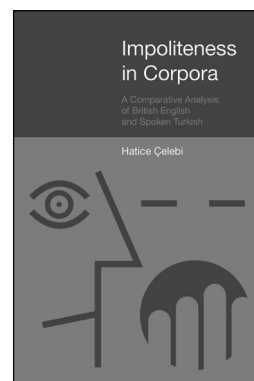

The first study to examine face and face practices in Chinese employing Face Constituting Theory (FCT) as the theoretical framework, this book provides empirical support for examining the cognitive and interactional aspects of face practices, as well as providing insightful perspectives on the complex interactional moves that participants employ in managing their interpersonal relationships within business interactions. It addresses key current debates on how ‘face’ should be conceptualized and theorized, demystifies Chinese communication, and illuminates some unidentified face practices, both culture-general and cultural-specific.

Impoliteness in Corpora: A Comparative Analysis of British English and Spoken Turkish

Hatice Çelebi

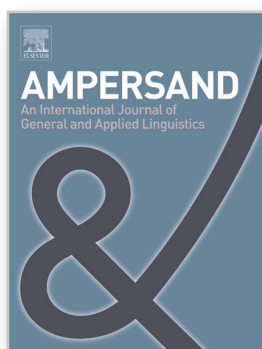

This book offers a methodological framework to analyse impoliteness in corpora. In doing so, it tackles the issue of the methodology of extracting and analysing impoliteness in general corpora in both British English and Turkish. The focus of the extraction and analysis is on informal conversation as a genre in spoken interaction.

Language, Culture and Society

General Editor: Li Wei
University College London

Managing Editor: Miguel Pérez-Milans
University College London

Language, Culture and Society provides an international platform for cutting-edge research that advances thinking and understanding of the complex intersections of language, culture and society, with the aim of pushing traditional disciplinary boundaries through theoretical and methodological innovation. Contributors are encouraged to pay close attention to the contextualized forms of semiotic human activity upon which social conventions, categories and indexical meanings are constructed, actualized, negotiated and disputed vis-à-vis wider social, cultural, racial, economic and historical conditions. The journal is open to analysis focusing on different spatio-temporal scales; it also welcomes contributions addressing such issues through the lens of any of the analytical paradigms stemming from the sociolinguistic and anthropological study of language, discourse and communication. Exploration of new communicative contexts and practices is considered particularly valuable, and research that breaks new ground by making connections with other disciplines is highly encouraged. Thinking-aloud pieces, reactions and debates, and other alternative formats of contributions are also welcome.
