From the Editor

Twenty-twenty is off to a fast start

- Submissions are coming in for the PRS exhibition at the Commonwealth Club's beautiful San Francisco building. The space is great for large or small indoor or outdoor pieces. Don't miss the opportunity of this call-for-entry!
- The January Second Sunday Spotlight event was a smash hit with a visit to the exciting "No Spectators" exhibition of Burning Man art at the Oakland Museum.
- We include in this issue a new Review section for the PRS Newsletter; check it out below. PRS members who are interested in writing can submit reviews of sculpture exhibitions and they will be considered for consideration. Ideally (though not necessarily) these will be of exhibitions of other PRS members’ works, and submission of photographs is encouraged.

Now let's change the world for better with our art!

Best regards,
