

Steel Founders' Society Foundation Scholarships

Recruiting students to join our industry and grow into leadership positions remains a critical need in the steel casting industry and a strategic initiative of the Society. The Steel Founders' Society Foundation remains devoted to helping members by encouraging companies to hire student interns. We want to recognize these student interns at our SFSA National T&O Conference.

The Foundation offers $1000 scholarships to interns that have worked at a SFSA member foundry during 2020.

- The Schumo Scholarship was established in memory of Robert M. Schumo, a former president of SFSA and Pennsylvania Electric Steel, in recognition of his generous gift to SFSA that formed the basis of the Foundation.
- The Peaslee Scholarship was established by the SFSA Board in honor of the late Dr. Kent Peaslee, the Chair of Steelmaking Technology and Curators' Teaching Professor of metallurgical engineering at Missouri University of Science and Technology.

The intern should be responsible for a particular project and not simply used as an extra pair of hands during their employment with the company. To qualify for the Peaslee Scholarship, the intern's project must be in the area of melting or refining.

The scholarships are competitive. Each applicant is required to submit a paper and PowerPoint presentation on a project they have completed during their employment. The submissions will be judged by the SFSA Scholarship Selection Committee. Committee members are individuals who have held both technical and operating positions and who have served within other SFSA committees. The winners of the scholarships will present their papers at the SFSA National T&O Conference in Chicago in December 2020.

The schedule for candidates competing for the scholarships will be:

7/06/20 Registration of intern candidate by completion of Intern Registration Form.

9/14/20 Submission of paper and presentation to SFSA Research Manager

10/05/20 Completion of review and recommendation of winners by selection committee.
