

Kevin Jones
Manager, Risk Management Advisory
Chatham Financial

Kevin works in Chatham's risk management consulting practice where he partners with Chatham's corporate clients providing solutions to risk management challenges across FX, interest rates, and commodities. Prior to joining Chatham, Kevin spent seven years at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, focusing on foreign central bank FX reserve activity, policy initiatives, and fixed income market monitoring.

He earned his Bachelor's degree in international business from James Madison University and his Master's degree in Economics from Virginia Commonwealth University.