

ANJRPC PAC CANDIDATE RATINGS AND PREFERENCES

For the New Jersey Primary Election Tuesday, June 6, 2017

Below are the candidate ratings and endorsements of the ANJRPC PAC in the 2017 New Jersey Primary Election. The only races shown are races in which there is a primary (where there are more candidates running within the same party than there are available elected positions in that district). For example, if there is a Democratic primary race in a district but no Republican primary race in that same district, the only candidates shown here will be the Democratic ones. Conversely, if there is a Republican primary race in a district but no Democratic primary in that same district, the only candidates shown here will be the Republican ones.

Bold typeface with a check mark (✓) to the left of a candidate's name and party affiliation means that the candidate has been endorsed by the ANJRPC PAC. An asterisk (*) immediately to the left of the name means that the candidate is an incumbent.

Ratings (A+ through F) and endorsement decisions were made based on a thorough review of the candidate's questionnaire (if submitted), voting record (to the extent applicable), long and short-term commitment, if any, to the Second Amendment, past interaction with the ANJRPC PAC, and other miscellaneous factors.

An AQ to the right of the name indicates a pro-gun candidate whose rating is based solely on the candidate's responses to a candidate questionnaire and who does not have a voting record on Second Amendment issues.

A question mark (?) under the rating column means that the candidate failed to return the candidate questionnaire by the deadline and/or there was insufficient information about the candidate to assign a rating at the time of the grading session.
