Jain Center of Southern California.
From the President....

Jai Jinendra!

Hope you all had a wonderful observance of Paryushan and DAS LAXANA Parva. In the true spirit of our Holidays, I wish to offer my MICCHAMI DUKKADAM. In trying to represent over 100, 000 Jains and in working with 67 Jain Centers, I may have knowingly or unknowingly hurt people known or unknown to me – I beg forgiveness of each one of you.

What a interesting time we are living in? Four Jain centers in America are celebrating their Pratistha Mahotsav before the end of this year. Jain Center of Southern California (LA); Atlanta, Jain Society of Tampa Bay (FL) and Jain center of Phoenix (AZ) are preparing for auspicious installations of Teerthankars Pratimajis, Panch Kalyanak Mahotsavs and Pratistha or Anjan Shalaka vidhi etc. They will also be welcoming various scholars and monks from India and visitors from all over the North America. With each such event at one of our Jain center, Jain footprint on North American soil is getting deeper and more permanent. Additional Pratistha Mahotsavs are planned for Chicago and Miami centers for the 2009. We can be rest assured that Jainism will keep marching forward here in North America. Everyone should consider attending these rare and and most pious events which will be remembrance for a lifetime.

JAINA is marching forward as well. Jain Center of America (NY) has generously offered office space for JAINA Head quarters in their center. Finally 27 years after the birth of JAINA, it now has a home. At the United Nations, JAINA has been granted NGO status in a consultancy status with Economic and Social Council - where most of humanitarian, economic development and educational projects by the community of nations are planned and completed. This prestigious organization confers upon JAINA a solemn responsibility to voice Jain opinion on issues most important to mankind.

In serving as your President, I consider it a privilege to meet many of you at various events and discuss issues of preserving and propagating our precious Jain heritage in this adopted land of ours. Over 300 JAINA volunteers all over North America - from the province of Alberta in Canada to Miami and from Boston to San Diego are diligently and quietly working to support JAINA activities. Most common issue that I hear is of concerns regarding our future generation. JAINA has taken a giant step towards addressing this issue by creating a Campus Outreach Committee. This committee will work with Jain kids on college campuses to link them with local Jain centers and with each other. If you have college bound kids away from home, please consider contacting the committee that is designed to energize our future generation.

I am sorry, due to unavoidable circumstances, we were unable to publish JAIN DIGEST for the last few months. This issue of JAIN DIGEST has been sponsored by Jain Center of Greater Phoenix. Thanks to the Jain community of Phoenix for their noble gesture.

JAINA Headquarters moves to New York

JAINA is very pleased to announce that the Jain Center of America, (JCA), NY has offered its premises to house the JAINA Headquarters. For the last 12 years, JAINA headquarters was the home of its Executive Director Kamlesh Amin in Getzville, a suburb of Buffalo, NY. After faithfully and efficiently serving all these years, Kamleshbhai has decided to spend golden years of his life in India. His resignation as Executive Director has meant a search not just for new Executive Director but also search for new Headquarters.

Search for new home for JAINA turned out to be much easier task than one would imagine. The first constitution of JAINA was discussed and adopted at Jain Center of America in 1983 under the guidance of Acharya Shri Sushil Kumarji and Dr. Goel Shri Chitrabhanuji. Jain Center of America became one of the 11 centers that signed the charter of JAINA. During the last 25 years numerous JCA members have served as Chairpersons of JAINA committees or served on JAINA Executive Committee. One of the founding members of JCA also served as President of JAINA. When JCA learned of the JAINA’s need for new headquarters it took their Trustees only 30 days to decide and offer the office space at no charge to JAINA. This really is a sweet home coming for JAINA.

JAINA’s office at a major member center is a powerful statement to the entire Jain community here and world wide. New York, a major gateway to the world will now be the center of Jain activities on this continent. It will also help to fulfill JAINA’s new status as NGO at the United Nations.

JAINA thanks the Board of Trustees of the JCA for this magnanimous offer to help JAINA. Together JCA and JAINA will undoubtedly reach new heights as both organizations strive to fulfill their respective goals.

JAINA receives NGO status from the United Nations

In July 2008, in recognition of the JAINA’s humanitarian work all over the world, JAINA has earned a special consultative status with the Economic & Social Council of the United Nations.

This prestigious designation by the world body will afford JAINA a platform to express Jain point of view in the areas of deliberations we choose to have our imprint on.

Getting the UN recognition is only the beginning our work. There are two other Jain organizations as NGO at the UN: Siddhachalam under the blessings of Acharya Sushil Kumarji and one Anuvibha under the blessings of Acharya Maha Prjnya. JAINA will join hands with these two fine organizations as we fulfill our mission. A 5 member delegation has been nominated to represent JAINA at the UN.

Dilip V Shah; President, JAINA
Dr. Dhiraj H. Shah; Chair JAINA World Community Service
Dr. Tansukh Salgia; Chair; JAINA Govt. & International relations Committee
Jawahar A. Shetti; Chairman, JCA BOT
Pramodaben Chitrabhanu; Chair; JAINA Jivdaya Committee

JAINA thanks Mahendra Mehta of Ratna Nidhi Charitable Trust of Bombay for his guidance and efforts as Dr. Tansukh Salgia and Dr. Sushil Jain worked tirelessly to get UN approval.

Farewell to a good Friend

For the last 12 years, Kamlesh Amin served JAINA as the Executive Director. From his home in Getzville, NY, he was the voice of JAINA as he cheerfully answered all queries to the JAINA headquarters.

Kamleshbhai has decided to spend his golden years in India. JAINA will miss his dedication and zeal as he enthusiastically provided courteous service to the entire Jain Community of North America. JAINA has grown considerably during his service and he deserves credit for managing the growth gracefully. We will miss him.

Thanks for the memories Kamleshbhai. It will not be easy to find someone to replace you as JAINA headquarters moves to Jain Center of America (NY). Good luck and happy retirement!
JAINA MARCHES ON.......

Dear JAINA Friend:

Having served one year in my position as President of JAINA, I am writing to apprise you of where JAINA is and where we are heading. Many exciting things have happened since the 2007 JAINA Convention. I have attached a list of various achievements made possible by our volunteers during the past year.

As you read about the different projects JAINA volunteers are working on, consider what the state of Jainism in North America would have been without JAINA. Think of how far we as a community have traveled since the founding of JAINA 27 years ago. We have two vibrant youth organizations, a uniform pathshala curriculum and recognition by various interfaith and humanitarian organizations. Our Conventions have been admired by Jain communities all around the world and more so for our commitment to Jain Unity. Prominent Jain organizations in India consistently seek collaboration with JAINA. Jain youths in UK and India have followed the YJA example and formed their own non sectarian youth movements.

All of our accomplishments are due to hundreds of volunteers who give their time, treasures and talents in the noble cause of preserving our precious Jain heritage. They are assisted by one part time Executive Director who works from his home to manage routine office work. Most JAINA volunteers spend their own funds and never seek reimbursement from JAINA. But the volunteers can only do so much and rest of jains need to do their part too.

Let me share with you briefly how JAINA funds are collected and spent. Each JAINA committee manages its finances independently. Funds generated by any committee are used only for that specific committee purposes. General operations expenses are provided by JAINA General Fund. JAINA office expense along with one part time employee, printing and mailing of about 10,000 copies of Jain Digest every three months and all other functions of JAINA are paid from the General Fund.

General Fund of JAINA is generated by donations to general fund. 3% service charges to some of the income of JAINA Committees and surplus from JAINA Conventions. Please note that convention surplus is not a dependable source of revenue as some conventions have produced a surplus, some have broken even and some have lost money. In recent years, this translates into need for $100,000 from JAINA General Fund for the routine JAINA Expenses. This deficit of roughly $100,000 every year puts a constant fund raising pressure on the Executive Committee year after year as it tries to fulfill its role.

JAINA is the one and only organization representing all the Jains of North America irrespective of sect, language or place of origin. It is the largest such organization for Jains in the world. Unfortunately, for an organization of such a fine national and international reputation, JAINA does not have assured sources of funding. This lack of steady and reliable funding makes it difficult to make long term plans or to contemplate new initiatives.

Successful non profit organizations produce a budget and plan their programs based on support funds that they can count upon. As a religious organization, JAINA does have limitations on receiving funds from any traditional charities or foundations. As an Umbrella organization of various Jain centers, JAINA constitution does not permit individual membership even though JAINA is for all the Jains.

Our first generation of Jains, starting from scratch, built upward of 60 Jain Temples by investing almost 100 Million Dollars. For them, building Temples was a first step to establish a sense of belonging. Now the time has come for us to join hands with our second generation and build other institutions that will sustain our heritage. As we all move on with our lives we must decide on the legacy we want to leave behind. We should recognize that the next generation faces new challenges in maintaining our culture in their lives. In order to provide them best possible chance and hand them tools that can support their efforts, we need to give them a JAINA that is self sustaining.

As I try to fulfill my responsibility as President of JAINA and consider new challenges ahead, I need your input. JAINA was created by Jain Centers and it is owned by Jain centers. Together we must find a way to support JAINA. JAINA Executive committee alone can not find resources to run JAINA. Let me know how to strengthen JAINA - I know I can count on you for a better future of JAINA. I strongly urge you to write to me at (Dilip shahat@gmail.com) or call me at (215) 561-0581 with your suggestions.

Sincerely,

English Pratikraman Book

It is our humble attempt to bring together a simple Pratikraman ritual for the English speaking youth and adult community of North America and other countries. In this ritual, we have maintained the traditional flavor of original sутras along with their essence and meaning. The English Pratikraman Book includes the sутras from various Shvetāmbar traditions. The meaning of each Pratikramana Sутras is explained in simple English, which covers six... essentials. This way English speaking youth can perform this ritual with proper understanding. The following link to Jaina website has pdf file of English Pratikraman.

http://www.jainelibrary.org/educationcommittee/education-material/SSPathanashaalaBooks

You can buy the Pratikraman book Cost is $1.00 per book + postage ($2.00 + 0.50 per book). Just send an e-mail to education@jainelibrary.org with your postal address and telephone and we will mail it as soon as possible. Please send your check to Jaina Education Committee after you receive the book. This year we have sold more than 1500 copies of this book. The youth from many Jain centers used this book to perform their annual religious obligation. Please provide any suggestions you may have with regards to this book.

Jaina Education E-Library Project

The project was initiated about a year ago. During this time we have scanned more than 700 books (High resolution images) consisting of 200,000 pages of the ancient and modern Jain literature in English, Hindi and Gujarati languages. In addition we have received 600 scanned books (Low resolution images) from Digambar Acharya Suvidhi Sagarji Maharaj. We are in process of compiling this data in a usable form on our website. However as a temporary solution, we have created a temporary website http://elibrary.jainelibrary.org (do not type www in the front) and uploaded many of these books in their lower classifications

Interfaith Committee News:

On behalf of the Interfaith Committee, Anop Vora made a presentation to the JAINA EC on August 25, 2008 about sending a delegation to the interfaith event being organized by the Council of Parliament of World’s Religions (CPWR) in Australia in December of 2009.

The Parliament has been organizing major interfaith events that are of global and historical significance for many decades. The very first one was held in 1893 and became very well known especially in India because of the well publicized participation of Swami Vivekanand and of Virchand Raghubirji Gandhi. This was followed by a similar event in Chicago in 1993 and in Cape Town, South Africa in 1999 where Jains Participated but in small numbers.

The last event was in Barcelona in 2004 and was attended under JAINA banner by a delegation of about 20 prominent Jains. It was comprised of monks, nuns, scholars, JAINA leaders and committee chairs and others from USA, UK, and India, coordinated by Naresh Jain and Ilena Pokharna. This was a huge success in terms of making Jainism more visible to the outside world.

After the horrific episode that took place on 9/11, interfaith movement has gained a new momentum and entered into a new era. People all over the world have started opening up. The main stream America has also started realizing the importance of knowing the people, religions, cultures and values of other lands. This receptivity and openness have created a very favorable environment for sharing Jain principles and practices with the world. JAINA being the large, non sectarian organization representing our community across the globe, we have a special responsibility to promote our heritage of nonviolence and compassion and bring JAINISM to the forefront on the world platform and offer it as an option for the present day distress the world is facing.

The next Parliament event in 2009 is projected to bring in at least 10,000 people and expected to be attended by high level spiritual/religious people from all over the world. Dalai Lama has already accepted the invitation. Several other celebrity invitations are in the works. Australian government is supporting it with full gusto and enthusiasm. Interestingly the theme of the conference “Hearing each other and Healing the earth” is very much in harmony with Jain principles. In all, this is going to be a mega interreligious event Jain community must participate in actively. JAINA must strive to get Jains in larger numbers to share and showcase our principles, culture, people and practices on global platform.

JAINA EC was very supportive of this proposal and is planning to discuss further how best we make our participation most effective. The current plan is to form a global delegation by inviting prominent Jains from USA, Canada, Australia, Europe including England, India, Africa, Singapore and other countries and represent our community at the 2009 parliament event. If you wish to participate in this exciting event financially or otherwise, please contact Anop Vora at 585-473-9290 or Naresh Jain at (201) 933-8963.

Bhoomi Poojan of Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham

by Urmil Mehta

The time ticks and the moment arrives, and the divine designs bloom, thus making history Bhoomi Poojan (Ground-breaking ceremony) of Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham at Sunbright, Tennessee, USA.

Located in the picturesque surroundings of Tennessee with hills and dales, rocks and valleys, forest and trees, Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham is a project awaited, expected and urged by many people for a long time in the United States. Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham will be an institute where everyone will experience peace and bliss every moment. A pristine location with a flowing creek and ponds was selected as the site of a retirement and vacation resort on a sprawling 560 acres of land in the vicinity of Sunbright village, between Knoxville and Nashville. The area is known for its moderate temperature and unspoiled wilderness. The Smokey Mountains and Mammoth Cave National Park are unique nearby attractions.

Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham is a concept of holistic living wherein the way of life is a manifestation of inner peace, bliss and tranquility. Based upon the Jain principles of non-violence and vegetarianism, as taught by Bhagwan Mahaveer, the resort community will be a gathering of like-minded individuals of all ages. The profound natural beauty at the site in Tennessee will not only provide solace to body, mind and spirit but also enable the seeker to awaken the spark of divinity within. This is a resort for all ages.

In July 2007, Puja Acharya Shri Chandanaji envisioned the establishment of Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham in America. Inspired by the vision of Shri Chandanaji, Dr. Harsha and Mr. Vikram Mehta undertook the uphill task, utilized their own resources and dedicated themselves unconditionally to the project. All the formalities for the acquisition of land were fulfilled and the land was acquired with complete legal documentation within one year. On the auspicious date of August 16th 2008, Bhoomi Poojan was performed under the holy presence and guidance of Puja Acharya Shri Chandanaji, the embodiment of love, purity and spirituality.

The Bhoomi Poojan began with prayers by Sadhvi Shri Shubhamaji, followed by rituals and blessings by Puja Acharya Shri Chandanaji. The program was attended by distinguished guests, patrons, well-wishers and dignitaries from various parts of the United States. Some of the special attendees were: State Senator Tommy Kilby, County Administrator Becky Ruppe, the City Council Person, members of the Sunbright Utility Board, Dr. Mahesh and Mrs. Pramila Shah from Maryland, Drs. Mahendra and Chandra Varia from Kentucky, and the Project Developers Dr. Harsha and Mr. Vikram Mehta, their daughter and son-in-law, Ms. Ameen Mehta and Mr. Ted McCaughan, and their granddaughter, Asha McCaughan, all from Chicago.

During the ceremony, special thanks were given to Dr. Harsha and Mr. Vikram Mehta by Mr. Deepak and Mrs. Sampurna Shah of Atlanta for their relentless efforts in the execution of a project of such magnitude in the short span of nine months. They specifically mentioned that such dedication is a model to be emulated. With his personable style, Mr. Mehta gained the support of local people. In fact, his hard work and constant motivation are inspiring in their own right. Mr. Vikram Mehta expressed his gratitude, and informed those present that the concept of Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham, as visualized by Puja Acharya Shri Chandanaji, will begin to be transformed into reality with engineering of the resort's layout and finalization of floorplans within one week's time. He is hopeful that the project will progress at a rate such that Parvushan Parva of 2009 may be held at the resort. More information regarding this celebration will be forthcoming and will be available on the website, www.veerayatan.net.

Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham has generated a tremendous amount of enthusiasm, joy and the full-hearted participation of members of the Veerayatan International family. Hundreds of emails and phone calls of support and good wishes continue to pour in. Countless words of congratulations and appreciation were conveyed at the ceremony, yet Mr. Mehta maintained his usual modesty and emphatically expressed that Veerayatan Sarvoday Tirtham is but a divine grace of Puja Acharya Shri Chandanaji.
Jain Center and You

Ramesh Doshi

Did I raise your interest? Hope you will slow-walk with me to the end of this page!

We all have an expert opinion about what is wrong with our Jain Center the way it is organized, the way it operates, and more importantly, the way it is managed. Most of us are convinced that we know a better way to organize, operate and manage our center more efficiently and competently. And yet, how many of us have shown the courage and conviction to join the Executive Committee (EC) and/or the Board of Directors (BOD) and lead the center? Unfortunately, not many and the reasons are varied:

Some of us stay away from being a member of EC or BOD even when we know we have the people and managerial skills Jain Center badly needs in order to excel. Our reasons may be:

• Staying away from politics? Sure, there is politics, but it is not the bad kind! People just have different opinions, and they are passionate about them; some more than others! At the end of the day, there may be ‘Mut-bhed’ (difference of opinion) not ‘Mun-bhed’ (being personally at odds with each other).
• Donation alone does not cut it. We may be thinking only money gets the most respect. Maybe true, but perspiration will get us at least some respect with others, and most importantly, it will get us the utmost respect with our inner selves and with the people near and dear to us who know what we have done selflessly. Is that not worth something? Maybe a lot?!
• Do not want to fight an election? I cannot blame you. However, with this thinking Jain Center does not get good people who shy away from an election. Do you not think some times we have to take personal risk in order to do the right thing for our Jain Center? Election does not have to be dirty! Just state our skills and willingness, and let people decide. Not elected? So what have we lost? We would have gained self respect if we did it with our principles inline with the Jain Way of Life.

Let’s assume we are in the EC or BOD. Now what?

• Full of ideas of corporate efficiency? The three-hour meeting should have been only two-hour? Agreed, but wake-up! We do not have hiring/firing authority, Jain Center does not pay salary to our fellow committee siblings, and people including you and me have egos! People skills are of the utmost importance here for conducting efficient meetings without upsetting people. It is a fine line it is a compromise a little ‘waste’ of time listening to someone’s repeat ideas is much better than the PR nightmare our leaders will have to go through later in order to make sure our Jain Center does not suffer!
• Staying late at the center can be a burden for us and our family, but meetings are usually once a month excepting special events like Pratishtha. Do we not stay up late once in a while to watch a movie or shooting the breeze with our friends?! There are so many issues that need our attention where do we stop?!!!
• Are we getting in the habit of coming to the meetings unprepared? Now, that wastes a lot of time in meetings to bring us up to speed; and worse, if we have already staked our position without enough information or due thinking, it takes even more time to reverse our position we all have egos!!

What? We did not get the well deserved recognition for what we did for our Jain Center?!! Or worse, someone else got recognized for our hard work??? Should not happen, but sometimes it does a downer, for sure! Jain Way of Life is our rescue here what seems unfair may really be fair if we knew of our baggage from the past lives! We, Jains, do thoughtful actions, leaving fruits to the Karmic theory! Please come forward; risk it if you have to, be proactive, take it to greater heights after all it is OUR organization!

Paryushan Parva in Pittsburgh

The Jain Community of Greater Pittsburgh celebrated the most auspicious Paryushan Parva and Das Laxana from August 27 to September 14.

Pujiya Pramodaben Chitrabhanu from Jain Meditation International Center, New York gave discourses from August 26 to September 3 and talked about five duties of Jains namely A-mari Pravartan (Ahimsa), Sadharmik Vatsalya, Kshamapana, Tapa and Chaitya Paripatih (Tirth Yatra). She also talked about Bhagvan Mahavir’s teachings of Ahimsa, Compassion for all forms of life, Anekantvad (multiplicity of views), Karmavad, and Aparigrah (Nonpossesiveness). Discourse on Bhagwan Mahavir’s teachings was also attended by about 15 American friends of Pramodaben and Gurudev Chitrabhanu. We saw a video of cruel treatment of cows in India taken by PETA. Pramodaben wanted to convey the message that we should try to give up milk and other dairy products and become vegan.

Shwetamber Jains celebrated Paryushan from August 27 to September 3. In addition to daily group Puja, Swadhyaya and Pratikraman, Swapna Darshan and Bhagwan Mahavir’s Janma Vanchan was performed on 5th day and the Samvatsari Pratikraman on the last day of Paryushan. After Samvatsari Pratikraman, everyone asked for and granted each other forgiveness by saying “Michchhami Dukkadam”, which means please forgive me and I also forgive you if we have hurt each other by our thoughts, speech or action. Swapna Darshan and Mahavir’s Janma Vanchan was attended by approximately 200 people and was followed by Sadharmik Vatsalya.

Digamber Jains celebrated Das Laxana from September 4 to 14 by observing ten virtues of soul namely Kshama, Mardav (humility), Aarjava (straight forwardness), Shauch (contentment), Satya, Sanyam, Tapa, Tyag, Brahmacharya, and Akinchanya (Aparigrah). In addition to Das Laxan and Anant Chaudas group pujas, Kshamavaani puja was preformed on September 20. After the Puja they asked for and granted each other forgiveness.

It was a very joyous and enlightening experience during the entire Paryushan and Das Laxana Parva. Our Sangh also did Panch Tirth Yatra from May 02 to May 04, 2008 by visiting Detroit, and East Lansing, MI and Toledo, Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio temples. Sangh was well received by Jain community of all five cities. The Panch Tirth Yatra was a great success and Detroit and Columbus Sangh are planning a visit to Pittsburgh Temple in the near future.

Jain Society of Pittsburgh elected the following new committee in June 2008 for a period of 2 years.

President - Anil Parikh, Vice President - Harshad Mehta, Secretary Ketan Shah, Treasurer Mahendra Gajawala, Members Dipen Shah, Chandrakant Shah and Mira shah, Immediate Past President Bhupendra kamdar.

SAMYAG DARSHAN

Anup R. Vora, Rochester, NY

Dansam Mooho Dhammo.......................................................... Lord Mahavir
Samyagdarshanajāthābhūtāni Mokshamārgaḥ......................... Unaeswati
Tattvārthahrodāhī tum Samyagdarshanaḥ................................ Unaeswati
Tulā Sammatte Laddhe...Jīvā Ayavāmanam Thānam...........Uvasagghahāram Suttam

Many of us who have been brought up in the Jain tradition have heard the term "Samyag Darshan (Right Perception)" or its equivalent quite often while listening to the monks or to our parents, or while reciting prayers or hymns or while reading the religious books. They all contain one central message: Until we succeed in acquiring the virtuous state called "Samyag Darshan", there can be no liberation. In this article, I would like to discuss this unique Jain concept by answering questions such as: What is it? Why is it so important? What is the process of acquiring it? How do we know whether we have acquired it? If we have acquired it, how do we maintain and reinforce it? How does it relate to the 14 stages of spiritual elevation (gunsthanaks) outlined in Jain scriptures?

Judging from the width and depth of thought that has been given to the subject of Samyag Darshan by Jain seers over many centuries, it is clear that they have held it in high esteem and treated it as the most important goal of human life. They have asserted very emphatically that since Samyag Darshan puts the soul on the path of liberation for the first time, it must be looked upon as a very valuable spiritual achievement. Because of its very high significance, they have described Samyag Darshan in metaphors such as dawn before sunrise, lightening, sudden glimpse of self-realization, swift flash of insight, spiritual awakening etc. and regarded it as an indicator of inner spiritual transformation. They have said that without its presence, scriptural knowledge remains merely the information in one's memory bank; neither does this knowledge nor conduct transform into the instruments of liberation. With Samyag Darshan, knowledge becomes Samyag Jñāna (Right Knowledge) leading eventually to Samyag Chārita (Right Conduct) and finally to liberation.

Meaning:

Samyag Darshan (synonymous with Samkṣit, Samyaktva, Bodhi, Samyag Drusti etc) is described as the total faith in the teachings of Tirthankaras and in the truth explained by them about the soul and the laws governing it. Samyag Darshan also means having right perception/vision of these core tenets and genuine interest in them. At the very simplest level, it means having an insight as well as conviction to recognize "truth as truth and untruth as untruth" regarding the soul and body and their true nature.

Studying the scriptures, performing rituals, and listening to the sermons are useful steps to get to the initial stage of Samyag Darshan but not sufficient. Until we have clarity about the fundamental truths and unwavering faith in what was enunciated by Jain seers, our scriptural knowledge and other religious activities provide only a limited benefit. Once the truth is known, the vision is clear and the conviction is there, other things start falling in place. Perhaps this can be better understood through the example of a potter who has a diamond in his possession but is unaware of its worth because he is regarding it as just a stone. When he finds out the truth about what he has, its nature and value, and believes in it, his behavior and his actions change naturally and for good. In other words, once his vision and his belief are straight and he has realized the true value, he starts doing the right things.

In the same manner, once Samyag Drashti is obtained, one becomes clear about his goal or focus in life (diyeya) and then the right conduct falls in place. The clarity of "What" leads to the knowledge of "How" which in turn leads to the "right actions".

Stage before Samyag Darshan:

The stage before the onset of Samyag Darshan is defined as Mithyatva (first gunsthanak). This stage is considered as one of darkness, soul being under the dark cloud of Darshan Mahāniya (perception clouding) karma. Under its influence, the soul remains spiritually ignorant, possesses wrong beliefs about the reality and lacks a sense of discrimination. He may be knowledgeable but acts with a distorted vision. His thoughts and actions are permeated with attachment and aversion (Rag and Dvesth) most of the time. The resulting emotions of anger, arrogance, deception, greed, etc. keep adding additional layers of karmic particles on the soul. Under this condition, the knowledge acquired or religious activities such as temple worship, rituals, charity, fasting, etc. performed remain at the superficial level and does not contribute much to the spiritual advancement. Unfortunately, most of the human souls remain in this stage during their entire life span without being even aware of their deluded condition.

Journey from Mithyaatva (First Gunsthanak) to Samyag Darshan (Fourth Gunsthanak)

At the very early stage, humility, open mindedness and receptivity to religious concepts are a must. Deep respect and faith in the preacher as well as his message, and overcoming infinitely lasting emotions/delights (Anantamanbandhi Kashayas) are also other required prerequisites. Without these ingredients, no spark can ignite. Taking the example of Naysar, we can observe that being a son of a wood cutter, in all probability he did not have much scriptural knowledge at his first encounter with the wandering Jain monks but must have possessed these important virtues—most likely as a result of his spiritual progress in the previous lives. He displayed profound humility and respect towards the monks, listened to their sermon with a pure heart, experienced an inner change and the lightening of Samyag Darshan struck—the lightening that guided him until he became Lord Mahavir after only 26 more births. His innocence and pure feelings (Bhava’s) proved to be an excellent fertile ground for the spiritual seed only to blossom into a full blown tree in Mahavir’s life. Although he did not realize the full potential until he became Mahavir, his first step was a turning point. Naysar’s example proves that even when one gets a glimpse of Samyag Darshan for a short duration, he starts the beginning of an end of the journey from that auspicious moment.

Samyag Darshan is the beginning of spiritual awakening but achieving liberation is a long drawn out process for most souls and requires Samyag Darshan and Samyag Injan to be implemented into Samyag Charntra in a perfect form. Even after the lightening strikes, the soul goes through twists and turns along the way, advancing sometimes and retracting at other times. The soul may ascend spiritually from the first to the fourth gunsthanak but may fall back. The soul loops around under the primary influence of Mithyaatva Mohanya Karma for many births but the power of Samyag Darshan-acquired earlier and his own self-efforts-eventually propel him into the fourth stage of self realization for further progress.

In the 4th gunsthanak also called Avirat Samkit, as the grip of Darshan Mohanya Karmas loosens, the light of Samyag Darshan gets brighter and consciousness unfolds further. Brighter this light, faster one ascends spiritually. This light of Samyag Darshan has been classified in 3 states: (1) Aupashamik Samyaktra (2) Kshayopashamik Samyaktra (3) Kshayik Samyaktra. When the soul suppresses his mohanya Karmas but does not destroy them, he is considered to have acquired Aupashamik Samyaktra, meaning he has been able to change his external behavior but he is on a shaky ground because the Mohanya Karmas are still dormant and could overpower him at any time and slide him back.

Kshayik Samyaktra at the other end of the spectrum-only possible in human life-represents a state of soul where the Darshan Mohanya Karmas are totally destroyed and the soul moves faster towards the goal of reaching the emancipation (12th Gunsthanak). According to Jain scriptures, King Sichernik had achieved Kshayik Samyaktra during his life time. He is destined to be one of the tirthankaras in the future era, after destroying his remaining karmic particles. The 2nd state- Kshayopashamik is a mixed and wavering state, falling somewhere in the middle of the spectrum. At the 4th gunsthanak the soul could be in any of the first two states (rarely in the third state)-alternating back and forth for many years and then either moving up the spiritual ladder or falling back to the first gunsthanak depending upon his will power and motivation.

When a person starts making spiritual progress in the 4th stage, his behavior patterns show a remarkable change. He starts differentiating between body and soul (jiva and ajiva), becoming more introspective, staying close to his true self, showing deep interest in the spiritual matters, and begins acquiring more knowledge. As he ponders over the newly acquired knowledge, he changes his priorities, becomes detached from the superficial worldly life and begins moving away from it. He starts developing equanimity and stops reacting to the pleasant as well as unpleasant situations. He becomes a different person because he lives like a lotus-staying in the world but untouched by its dirty aspects.

Jain masters have said that the person who possesses Samnyaktra will exhibit the following attributes (virtues) the degree of which will depend upon his spiritual progress:

a. Upsham: Lessened intensity of the destructive emotions of anger, arrogance, deception, greed and related other passions, AND development of divine virtues such as forgiveness, humility, honesty, & contentment, equanimity (subdued reactions to life’s problems), peace and tranquility.

b. Samveg: Total focus on achieving liberation (Moksha) and detachment from the worldly matters.

c. Nirveg: Disinterest in worldly affairs, genuine interest to escape the cycle of death and birth, meditative
d. Antakṣaṃpa: Compassion towards all living beings, treating every one with respect, always thinking well of others, charity work (Dravya Daya) as well engaging in activities designed to show the path of religion to the people who are not on that path (Bhav Daya).

c. Āstha (Aṣṭikya): Total and unwavering faith in the teachings of Tīrthankaras. Always believing that Tīrthankaras who acquired perfect knowledge (Keval Jñān) had no reason to misguide or preach the wrong path. Their only motive was to guide the souls towards the path of emancipation by sharing their knowledge and experience.

Two important points are worth noting:

1. The sequence shown above is in the order of importance. These virtues in reality are developed in the opposite order. This means the starting point is Āstha—the total faith in the teachings of tīrthankaras and the ending point is Upādha.

2. The person with Saṃyag Darshān exhibits the above virtues implying that Saṃyag Darshān is the cause and virtues are the effect. But the reverse is also true! The efforts to develop the above virtues could also result in one acquiring Saṃyag Darshān.

These virtues do not manifest in their highest form until one achieves Keval Jñāna. The important point to remember is that what is needed is just a humble beginning with Āstha with the right attitude. Using this strong foundation as a spring board, one moves up as he perfects the other steps.

Steps to maintain Saṃyag Darshān

Jain masters have identified several ways to maintain and reinforce the virtuous state of Saṃyag Darshān. They have advised to resolve doubts in the teachings of Tīrthankaras soon after they arise and never to retain them. They have further recommended to stick to one’s own religion and use interfaith exposure only to strengthen one’s own faith, avoid suspicion in the outcome of one’s efforts, and suggested not praising any Mithyātī in public—albeit unintentionally—promoting his deluded path of liberation.

To reinforce Saṃyag Darshān, Jain sages have recommended continual self study and contemplation, participating in the religious rituals, staying in touch with monks, nuns, scholars and the like minded community members. They have also asked them to use their wealth and talents to help the Jain community and promote JAINISM actively in the public at large.

- Since total faith in the teachings of Tīrthankaras is the first critical step for Saṃyag Darshān and since Tatvarth Sūtra and Theory of Karmas contain the core teachings, it may be a good idea for us to start with a few very simple books on these two topics. We need to focus on the parts we can relate to in every day life and skip the parts that are difficult to comprehend in the first go around. We need to look at the real message instead of getting bogged down into the details.
- Most importantly, we need to contemplate on the material learned and try to integrate it with day to day life.
- If we put our heart and soul into the above steps and do so every day for a long time, our life will change and hopefully the lightening will strike one day!

Conclusion:

Through this article, I have made a humble attempt to address just the overall concept of Saṃyag Darshān and hope it inspires the readers to pursue further and study it in more details. There is a vast amount of knowledge available on each and every aspect of Saṃyag Darshān.

It is possible that we may not be able to comprehend fully and/or achieve Saṃyag Darshān during this life time. But this should not discourage us from making a beginning. More we dig in, more enlightened we will become. The good news is that the time spent on this critical issue will never be a loss because the understanding we develop in this life will stay with us in the next life and beyond.

Another important point to remember is that to achieve the level of Saṃyag Darshān expected at the 4th Gunthānak, we do not have to have an in depth knowledge of scriptures, nor does it require a full compliance with the canonical rules of living a moral and ethical life. But it does require a total faith in the basic teachings and a dramatic shift in our thought process and feelings. Thoughts and feelings are important because they eventually lead to attitudes, attitudes become beliefs, and beliefs become the basis for actions. Fortunately, the Jain sages have discovered and documented this process in minute details and we are fortunate that they have shared with us their process knowledge which offers hope and promise for us all.

(This article reflects my current understanding of Saṃyag Darshān based upon interpretation of the material listed below and a review by a few Jain scholars. Please read it a few times and study it critically to get the most benefit. Although I have spent a fair amount of time in preparing it, I do recognize the limitations of my own comprehension as well as the limitations of language. Please contact me at Vira9900@yahoo.com if you have suggestions for improvement.)

Paryushana and Das Laxana Parva

Jains around the world celebrate Paryushana and Das Laxana Parva every year. The span of the period is during August-September, during which time there is heavy monsoon. The monks would like to stay one place to avoid hurting small insects during rainy season. They give Pravachanas to strengthen the belief, propagate knowledge and help purify conduct of the listeners. Eight days of Paryushana starts on 12th day of Shukla Bhadrapad and ends on 4th day of Krishna phase of Bhadrapad (and some times on panchami of Bhadrapad when Chatutarthi and Panchami combines).

During Paryushana Kalpa Sutra is read in the morning, Kalpa Sutra is one of the oldest scriptures describing the life of Bhagwan Mahaveer Swami. It depicts the coming of in human life (Garbh), birth, and life of Bhagwan. The scripture also talks about Lord Parshvanath, Neminath, Rishabhnath, and all other Thirthankaras. The story of past life of Lord Mahaveer is read with great respect. In the evening Samayik and Pratikraman is done and monks/scholars give Pravachanas to the audience. Fasting is done as much as possible including children. Usually on Sunday Bhagwan’s Janna Divas is celebrated with great vigor. Eighth day Samvatsari Pratikraman is done to ask forgiveness from all living beings in the universe. The Pratikraman has recitation of Navkaar Mantra (vanadan of Arhants, Siddhha, Acharya, Upadhyaya, and Saints) and Logassa (Vanadan of 24 Thirthankaras) done repeatedly. Navkaar Mantra is called Beef Mantra of all fourteen Parvas. It brings highest quality to a person because bowing down to highest level without any bias or name. Logassa, Navkaar recital, and repentance, also called Chatruvishitsva, Vanadan, and Pratikraman respectively are part of six necessary and required conduct of Jains. Recitation of 160 Navkaar Mantra or 40 Logassa is done by all, sitting in Samvatsari Pratikraman. Next day Parna is done by all who have been fasting. At the end of Paryushana everyone feels more purified due to fasting, keeping vows and listening to scriptures.

During Das Laxana Parva lasting for ten days starting on Bhadrapad Panchami (usually next day or same day of end of Paryushana), people do fasting, listening to Pravachanas each day for one Dharma, and do Samayik. It is said that on this Panchami the cycle of Charapani starts ending the Asarpani period which in the end persisted for 49 days of terrible disasters (in which everything is destroyed by wind, fire, rain, also called Praday). On Dasvi it is called Dhoop Dasam; people go to temple and light up Dhoop. (incense). Dhoop describes the burning of Karma. Last day of Das Laxana ends on Chaturdarshi (called Anant Chaturdarshi) with fasting and Pratikraman. Ten Dharma are part of Samvar (stoppage of incoming Karma), and Nirjara (Annihilation of Karma). We will use following sequence from Tattvartha Sutra leading to Das Laxana (Ten Dharma):

1. Samyaka Darshana Gyana Charitrani Moksha Marga: Right belief, right knowledge and right conduct are the path of Moksha.

2. Tatvartha Shraddhanam Samyak Darshanam: Belief in Tattva is Samyak Darshana.

3. Hjivajisraybandhamsamvarnirjaramokshastvam: Jiva, Ajiva, Ashrava (incoming of Karma), Bandh (Bondage of Karma). Samvar (stoppage of incoming karma), Nirjara (annihilation of karma), and Moksha (liberation) are seven Tattvas.

5. Mithyadarshanaaviratipramadkshayayogak Bandhahevatvam: Bondage occurs due to wrong belief, not keeping vow, carelessness, emotions and yoga (activity of mind, speaking, and doing).

6. Asravanirodha Samvar, SaGuptisamiti dharman uprekhaparishajaycharitre: Stoppage of incoming karma is Samvar and it is done through observance of three Guptis, five Samitis, Ten Dharma, twelve Auprekhsha, victory over twenty two Prosperity, and five Charitra.

7. Uttam Kshamamardava arjava shoohatya sayyam tap tyagak inchab ramheharvan hidharma: Forgiveness, no proud, straightforward, contended, truthful, keeping control, austerity, giving up, limiting material world, and living with own soul with Samyak Darshana is following of Ten Dharma.

8. Aushanav modryav ritiparisa kharina sparitaya gvyvik tashyasa yaksaha bahya Tapa. Praya bhita vinayavyavrittiya swaddhyay vyutsgadhyanyayuttra: Fasting, eating less, keep limit, not eating heavy food, spend time alone, and doing hard Asama are six outside Tapa (austerity). Feeling sorry for wrong things, respect, helping others, reading scripture, keep material limitation and meditation are inner Tapa. Meditations of two highest and positive qualities are called Dharma Dhyan and Shukla Dhyan.
9. *Agyäpayaya vipaksansthau navichyaya Dharma pramattsanyatsva*ya: Following Lords and scriptures guidance, teach right things to people doing wrong things, link results to karma, and keep wider view is Dharma Dyana (right meditation leading to Heaven and Moksha).

10. Pritiktvitark, Ekattvavitark, Sukshakriyapriftapati, and vyuparatkriyanivrati are four types of Shukla Dyana leading to Moksha (liberation)

During 8 days of Paryushana, this higher level of consciousness is achieved by reading of Kalpa Sutra, pravachana, Navkar Mantra and Logasa Uccharan, Deep Bhaktiy, austerity (Tap) and learning and staying with our pure soul. During 10 days of Paryushana (Das Laxana), this is attained by removing anger, deceit, ego, and greed from our conduct, be truthful. Keeping limitations on senses, austerity, giving up worldly things, keep restrictions on 14 internal and 10 external Parigrah, and staying with soul. By concentrating on our soul, removing impurities using 12 levels of austerities, the person can attain the stages of Pindastha, Padashta, Roopastha, and Roopateek.

How do we do together? One suggestion - by incorporating ten Dharma pravachana every day during eight days of Paryushana, and by including Kalpa Sutra reading (similar to 1st Anugraha - consisting of learning about 63 Salaka Purush), recital of Navkar Mantra and Logasa (prayer of 24 Tirthankaras) during 10 days of Paryushana. More better we can do together Paryushana and Das Laxana in 10 days from Friday, and concluding on Sunday of 2nd week, keeping last as day of Samvatsari Pratikraman and Alochana Path. Purna and Tapasya's Bahuman. All can celebrate Bhagwan's Birthday on 1st Sunday.

PRATISHTHA MAHOTSAV
26 SEPTEMBER – 6 OCTOBER, 2008

Chandrakant Parekh

Creating a temple does not entail creating a building. It means creating a sanctuary from where Lord Mahavir’s message can be learned and delivered to the world.

H. Jin Chandraji Maharaj

From a concept in 1994

To a reality in 2008

THE BEGINNING
Jain Center of Southern California (JCSC) located in the City of Buena Park, a suburb of Los Angeles, California, was established on 15 September, 1979 by thirty Jain families with one important mandate - to practice, promote and teach Jainism with no sectarian bias.

THE FIRST JAIN BHAVAN
A challenge posed by Gurudev Chitrabhanuji to build a Jain Center, and encouragement from Acharya Shushilkumarji inspired JCSC to build a custom-designed Jain Bhavan in the City of Buena Park. Built at a cost of about $1 million, the 11,500 sq ft facility with a Derasar and an auditorium addressed the community needs for organizing religious, cultural, educational, and outreach activities. Idols of three Tirthankars – Mahavirswami, Parshvanath, and Rushabhdev – and Ghantakarna Mahavir (Yaksha) and Padmavati (Yakshini) were installed in the Derasar.

JAIN CENTER MASTER PLAN
JCSC membership expanded fairly rapidly to nearly 1,000 families and 400 students are enrolled in the Pathshala. With such a phenomenal growth, a vision to expand the original Jain Bhavan began with the acquisition of several neighborhood properties. A "wish list" compiled from a survey of the member during the 1994 Paryushan overwhelmingly identified a need to expand the Derasar; and build a large meeting hall, more rooms for the Pathshala, Swadhyay and Aradhana activities, a larger kitchen, a library, and several other amenities including ample parking.

With a unified community consensus, JCSC developed a master plan to build a multipurpose Jain Bhavan complex in three-phases:
PHASE I: CULTURAL COMPLEX
The construction of the Cultural Complex began in 2002 and was completed in 2005. The 62,000 sq ft complex built at a cost of $11 million was inaugurated on 27 March, 2005. The state-of-the-art facility includes an auditorium, Pathshala and swadhayam rooms, a museum, a commercial-grade kitchen, a dining hall, and subterranean parking for 53 vehicles. An offsite parking lot with 50 parking spaces was also completed in Phase I. The construction of Phase I was financed through a combination of a bank loan and donations and interest free loans from the members. The bank loan was repaid from the funds – approximately $2.3 million - raised on the very first day of inauguration.

PHASE II: RELIGIOUS COMPLEX
Planning of the Phase II was initiated as the Phase I construction was nearing completion. The original Jain Bhavan was structurally inadequate to carry the weight of exterior limestone and interior marble structural elements. It had to be demolished to initiate Phase II of the master plan. The construction of the Religious Complex began in February 2007 and was completed in September 2008. The new 13,000 sq ft Religious Complex includes an Aradhana Hall on the 1st floor and a new Derasar (Jinalay) on the 2nd floor. Once again, the construction of Phase II was financed through a combination of a bank loan and donations and interest free loans from the members.

PHASE III: ATMA SADHANA KENDRA
Following the completion of Phase II, emphasis will shift to the construction of an Atma Sadhana Kendra as Phase III of the master plan. An existing facility currently leased to the United States Postal Service will be re-modeled to accommodate study rooms and the JAINA/JCSC Library - one of the largest collections of Jain literature outside of India. Accessible via Internet, the library is a valuable resource for researchers and students throughout the world. When completed, the Jain Bhavan will become a prominent international Tirth for pilgrimage and scholarly pursuits.

JAIN CENTER ARCHITECTURE: EXTERIOR
The design of the Jain Center was inspired by the temples of Delwada, Ranakpur and Palitana Tirths. Temple Architect Virendrabhai Trivedi of TCPL, Ahmedabad, designed the exterior of Phase I and Phase II buildings and the interior of Phase II building on the Jain traditions. In addition to all the exterior carved limestone and marble features, Virendrabhai also designed the Jinalay with Garbh Grah, bhamati, rangmandap, shikhar, dome, gokhalas, dwarapals, carved pillars, torans, floor medallions, mandovar, and the main entry.

The exterior of the two buildings is constructed of superbly carved Jaisalmer yellow limestone which was designed, manufactured and supplied by TCPL, Ahmedabad, and installed by MS International. Windows and roof parapets, designed and finished to match the exterior carved stonework, were fabricated locally.

The distinctive main entrance of the Religious Complex is made out of carved marble with an ornate zarukha and ornamental columns. Two Dwarapals on elephants welcome Shravakas and Shravikas to enter the auspicious sacred place. A Shankheshwar Tirth pat is displayed in the entry foyer.

JAIN CENTER ARCHITECTURE: INTERIOR
The entrance foyer of the Cultural Complex was designed to accommodate a priceless 104-year old wooden temple which is intricately carved from teak wood. Originally commissioned by the British Government, the 15 ft x 20 ft x 35 ft high wooden temple weighing nearly 10,000 lbs was first displayed in the United States at the 1904-1905 St. Louis World Fair. Subsequently it was displayed in a Las Vegas casino courtyard for several decades, and eventually donated to JCSC. The wooden temple has finally found an appropriate permanent home and is now proudly displayed at the Jain Center.

The interior displays of the Cultural Complex reflect the Jain Heritage and Jain Art that complement the wooden temple. Vipool Shah of Vee Design, Ahmedabad designed some of these artworks by consulting the Acharyas. The glass stair panels are etched with wavy floral design to reflect an ocean (Samsar Samudra) with a rising temple in its midst. This concept represents a spiritual evolution of one’s self. Eight beautiful Ashta Mangal symbols identify an auspicious place where Arihant Bhagwan is present. Beej Mantras - Om, Rhim, Arham etc. – are associated with meditation, poojas and Jain rituals. Ten principles (Dharma) in the form of rays originating from the center are displayed above the main entry door. A jali partition between the wooden temple and the dining area is a replica of the walls of Hasti Shala in front of famed Vimal Vashi Temple of Delwara.

Installation of the interior decorations for the Cultural Complex is an ongoing task. The story of Jhagdisha, a rich Shrvak motivated by an Acharya Maharaj to spend his wealth for compassionate causes, and Paanch Dan will be displayed in the Jhagdisha Dining Hall. Stories of Vardhman’s childhood will be depicted in the children’s room. The classrooms are named after various Acharyas whose stories and contributions will be displayed in the respective classroom. A Veena and a Ghunguru displayed on either side of the auditorium stage indicate the famed story of King Rawan and Queen Madodari, and their highest form of bhakti of Tirthankara in music and dance form. 2500-year history of Jainism, stories of the Acharyas in a chronological order, and famous Jain temples from around the world will be displayed in the Exhibition Hall using various media – artworks, antiques, tapestries, paintings, and pictures.

The Aradhana Hall located on the 1st floor of the Religious Complex is reserved only for religious and spiritual activities. A Navkar Mantra pat carved from ambaji marble is placed on the stage. Images of Acharyas and Granths - AtmaSiddhi, Samay Sar, Karpa Sutra, Acharang Sutra and other Agams - will be displayed on the walls. A deri of Rushabhdev's Padhus and a model of Samvosaran Temple installed in the 2nd floor Exhibit Area will complement the paintings depicting Bhagwan Mahavir’s life as described in the five popular Kalyanaks. The ornate ceilings in the entry foyer, the Exhibit Area, and the Derasar (Jinalay) were inspired by the famed carvings of the Delwara Temple. They were designed and fabricated exclusively for JCSC by Nipul Shah of Temple Arts, San Diego, California.

A sculptured marble Mandowar on top of the main Jinalay entry door was inspired by a carved lintel arch at the Palitana Tirth. Four Yakshas (Devis) - Ghantakarna Vir, Manibhadra Vir, Nakoda Bhairavnath, and Bhoomiyaji - and four Yakshini (Devis) - Padmavatidevi, Ambikadevi, Saraswatiyadevi and Chakreshwaridevi are installed in the entryway.

Ornately carved marble Torans provide a beautiful transition from the Dev/Devi area to an awe-inspiring rangmandap area. The rangmandap design was inspired by Vavour Vasahi Temple of Delwara and the Meghnaa Maha Mandap of Ranakpur. The dome is 22 feet in diameter. The first layer of dome displays 192 elephants. The second layer displays 108 Tirthankars. Additional layers depict exquisite designs. Sixteen Vidyadevi of different designs - in a dance posture and playing a musical instrument - are displayed around the rangmandap. Four pillars supporting the rangmandap - each with a different design - were specially carved to reflect the flavor of Ranakpur Temple. The rangmandap was designed and fabricated exclusively for JCSC by Nipul Shah of Temple Arts, San Diego, California.

Five Tirthankar idols are installed in a beautiful Garbha Grah designed with carved pillars and ornate Torans made of white marble. The main altar has Mahavirswami in the center. Rushabhdev on the right and Parshvanath on the left. Two additional idols - Mahavirswami (Anjanshala) and Neminath (Digambera Tradition) - are placed on two individual altars on the right and left of the main altar respectively. A bhamati with idols of 24 Tirthankars in individual Golaks surrounds the Garbha Grah. Marble pairs of four tirthas - Sammet Shikhar, Pava Piri, Girmar, and Shirunjay - and four Golaks with Simandharswami, Padmanabhswni, Guatamswami, and Sudhammaswami are installed within the Jinalay.

The remarkable design of the Jinalay truly reflects the graceful features of a traditional Jain temple. The sacred architecture inspires a splendid feeling of being in the midst of a famous Jain Tirth in India. A vision to build a fine Jain Tirth in Southern California has been accomplished.

JCSC AND JAINA

The concept to unite all Jain organizations in the USA and Canada was proposed and initiated in mid-1980 by the Jain Center of Southern California (JCSC). JCSC is one of the founding members of JAINA which was established at the first national convention of Jains in the USA hosted by JCSC from May 22-25, 1981 in Los Angeles. JCSC adults and youths continue to serve in leadership roles in JAINA and Young Jains of America (YJA) respectively. Their contributions and achievements have been duly recognized by JAINA with numerous awards and citations.

After its inception in 1981 in Los Angeles, JAINA is coming back to its place of origin. The next JAINA Convention will be held at the Anaheim Convention Center 2-5 July 2009. Once again, Jain Center of Southern California will have an opportunity to be a proud host for JAINA.

Jain Society of Greater Atlanta

History

Jain Society of Greater Atlanta is relatively young organization. Prior to 1992, families were getting together on informal basis for various Jain religious and social activities in greater Atlanta. The JSGA society was formed in 1992 and the constitution & by-laws of JSGA were established in 1993. The society grew significantly from 1993 to 1998 and there was an apparent need of building our own center. The society acquired approximately 3.8 acres of land in the fastest growing Gwinnett County with the largest population of JSGA membership in 1998. The land was purchased for building our center and future temple. During late nineties, conceptual design activities of Jain center took place and completed in 1999. The construction of main level of JSGA Center began in 2000 and completed in December 2000 and this was inaugurated in April 2001. In year 2002, the basement facilities were completed with full kitchen facilities.

Current centre has total area of 14400 Sq. ft on two levels and has following features.

Main Floor

- Front entrance foyer with granite floor and skylight
- Main floor hall with sitting capacity of 500 persons with stage and dressing area
- Meeting room, storage rooms and two rest rooms

Basement

- Dining area with sitting capacity of more than 250 persons
- Full kitchen facilities
- Four rooms for various JSGA activities (Pathshala, Adult swadhaya etc.)
- Two rest rooms for men and women with shower facilities
- Library and storage room

Temple Project

Momentum continued with initiation of building our own Temple. The Temple Committee was established and the activities for building our own Temple were started. The design activities took place between 2003 and 2005 and construction started in late 2006.
Features of Our Temple

- Floor Space Approximately 4200 Sq. feet on each level
- Three main Moortis – Main Mulnayak Adinath Bhaghvan and two side moortis: Parshvanath Bhaghvan and Mahavir Swami Bhaghvan surrounded by 24 Tirthankaras. Ten additional Dev and Deviyas in front and main area
- Sitting capacity of more than 200 persons

- Lower level will have two main areas: Digamber temple with three Moortis: Main Mulnayak Mahavir Swami and two side Moortis: Shantinath and Sheetal Nath Bhaghvan and Upashrai

For more information on our temple and pictures, please visit our website www.jsgatemple.org

Costs of Building and Fund Raising

Our total estimated costs of building the temple will be approximately $2.7 million. We had very successful fund raising events during Mahavir Janma Kalyanak day celebration in April and Paryushana Parva in August. During Paryushana Parva, we collected more than $660,000 towards construction of the temple by conducting gheeobolis for Mulnayak, Murti Bharaman and Swapanas.
