LAW DAY PROCLAMATION

Proclamation issued by President Dwight D. Eisenhower on February 3, 1958.

WHEREAS it is fitting that the people of this Nation should remember with pride and vigilantly guard the great heritage of liberty, justice and equality under law which our forefathers bequeathed to us; and

WHEREAS it is our moral and civic obligation as free men and as Americans to preserve and strengthen that great heritage; and

WHEREAS the principle of guaranteed fundamental rights of individuals under the law is the heart and sinew of our Nation, and distinguishes our governmental system from the type of government that rules by might alone; and

WHEREAS our government has served as an inspiration and a beacon light for oppressed peoples of the World seeking freedom, justice and equality of the individual under law; and

WHEREAS universal application of the principles of the rule of law in the settlement of international disputes would greatly enhance the cause of a just and enduring peace; and

WHEREAS a day of national dedication to the principle of government under law would afford us an opportunity better to understand and appreciate the manifold virtues of such a government and to focus the attention of the World upon them;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, May 1, 1958 as Law Day - USA. I urge the people of the United States to observe the designated day with appropriate ceremonies and activities, and I especially urge the legal profession, the press, and the radio, television and motion picture industries to promote and to participate in the observance of that date.

REALIZING THE DREAM

Equality for All

In 1958, President Dwight D. Eisenhower proclaimed the first Law Day as “a day of national dedication to the principle of government under laws” and as a day of national remembrance of “the great heritage of liberty, justice, and equality under the law.” Every president since has issued a proclamation each year recognizing Law Day, and, in 1961, Congress passed a joint resolution officially establishing May 1 as the Law Day celebration date.

Each year, a law day theme is designated nationally by the American Bar Association. The year 2013 marks the 150th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln’s issuance of the Emancipation Proclamation and the 50th anniversary of the March on Washington and Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King’s “I Have a Dream” speech. The legacy of the Civil Rights Movement can be seen today in the progress that has been made against discrimination based on race, gender, ethnicity, national origin, religion, age, disability, and sexual orientation.

Law Day 2013 provides an opportunity for reflection on the struggle for civil rights in America and the impact that the struggle has had in promoting the ideal of equality under the law. It also provides an occasion to consider the work that remains to be done in rectifying injustice and eliminating discrimination. As Dr. King observed in his Letter from a Birmingham Jail, “Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.”
