

William Mendel Newman, ca. 1940

THE CARTULARY AND CHARTERS
OF NOTRE-DAME OF HOMBLIERES

edited with an introduction by THEODORE EVERGATES in collaboration with
GILES CONSTABLE
on the basis of material prepared by
WILLIAM MENDEL NEWMAN

THE MEDIEVAL ACADEMY OF AMERICA
Cambridge, Massachusetts
1990

*Copyright © 1990
By The Medieval Academy of America
Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 86-62270
ISBN 0-910956-88-X
Printed in the United States of America*

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface	vii
List of Figures and Tables	ix
Abbreviations	xi
William Mendel Newman (1902-1977), by Giles Constable	xiii
I. INTRODUCTION
1. History of the Monastery	1
2. The Abbots of Homblières	16
3. The Cartulary and Charters	20
4. Editorial Principles	29
5. Concordance of the Cartulary Manuscripts	32
II. THE CHARTERS 35
III. BIBLIOGRAPHY
1. Sources	253
2. Secondary Works	259
IV. INDICES
1. Index Rerum	263
2. Index Nominum	270

PREFACE

THIS EDITION of the charters of Homblières, like many posthumous publications, incorporates several stages of work, which were carried out at different times. The first stage, in 1936–1937, was the collection and preliminary editing of the texts; the second stage, in 1948–1950, was the annotation of the charters and the preparation of the introduction and index; the third stage was the checking of the texts, done in the 1950s by Jean-Baptiste Giard and perhaps by Newman himself, who may also have revised his introduction at that time; and the final stage, from 1979 to 1986, was the revision of the entire work by Theodore Evergates, in collaboration with me. The user of this volume must bear these stages in mind, since some inevitable unevenness has resulted from our desire to preserve as much as possible of Newman's work while bringing it up to date in a way he would have wanted. With reference to his first two collections of charters, for instance, Newman wrote in 1973 to the Executive Secretary of the Medieval Academy that "Maurice Prou, Actes de Philippe I" is my model. I have always followed Prou and wish to continue to do so. Unless something is really wrong one should not change my ms." We have tried to bear this in mind, though the changes resulting both from the appearance of new works and the re-collation of manuscripts may be more extensive than Newman envisaged.

In the same letter Newman wrote:

More serious is the question of the introductions. When in the 19th century the French scholars began to edit cartular[i]es, it was proper to have an introduction. But so many monastic histories have been published that the situation has changed. Thinking now of small houses, why do we publish their charters? The history of the monastery is of only local interest in as much as we know few facts not contained in the charters. . . . These charters should be used to help understand social, economic and institutional problems rather than for [the] local history of the house.

The present introduction, which is essentially the work of Professor Evergates, is based more on these principles than on what Newman wrote almost forty years ago. He also had strong views on indices, especially linguistic indices, and in a review written in 1965 he remarked severely "that the two indices are worthless," because they were incomplete. In 1972, in a personal letter, he wrote:

I believe it a mistake for an indexer to be too learned and to group names in a linguistic fashion. . . . People don't name their children with linguistics in mind. . . . And how about identifying people? I did so whenever it was possible in my unpublished cartularies and finally decided that few scholars would undertake editing if they were obliged to do genealogical research of any extent. Is it not more realistic to get the documents published with an index, and hope that someday someone will publish an article on their genealogies?

It is in this spirit, which we believe is also the spirit of Newman, that we offer the present collection to the public, with a consciousness of its unevenness but a confidence that it will advance both the knowledge of the region on which Newman worked and the understanding of the broader problems in which he was interested, though he rarely addressed himself to them in his published works. The memoir, in addition to placing the cartulary of Homblières in the context of Newman's life and work, likewise throws some light on his general historical thinking and on the influence upon him, which he generally concealed, of the great scholars under whom he studied.

Giles Constable

FIGURES AND TABLES

FIGURES

William Mendel Newman, ca. 1940 frontispiece

1. Newman's Research Interests, ca. 1937 facing p. xlii
2. Possessions of Homblières, Tenth Century facing p. 6
3. Localities Cited in the Charters facing p. 10
4. (A) Charter Issued by Abbot Baldwin and the Chapter of Homblières (Act no. 118) facing p. 26
(B) Abbot Baldwin's Seal facing p. 29
(C) The Chapter's Seal facing p. 29

TABLES

- | | |
|---|----|
| I. The Family of Eilbert of Florennes | 4 |
| II. The Counts of Vermandois | 5 |
| III. Filiation of the Cartulary Copies | 22 |
| IV. Classification of Texts by Originator of Document | 24 |
| V. Classification of Texts by Date of Issue | 25 |

ABBREVIATIONS

A.D.	Archives Départementales
A.N.	Archives Nationales
B.M.	Bibliothèque Municipale
B.N.	Bibliothèque Nationale
Coll.	Collection in the B.N.
d.	denarius or denarii
GC	Gallia Christiana in provincias ecclesiasticas distributa. 16 vols. Paris, 1716–1865.
H 588	Aisne, A.D., H 588
l.	libra or librae
lat. 13911	B.N., lat. 13911
Matton	Matton, Auguste. Inventaire sommaire des Archives départementales antérieures à 1790: Aisne, Archives ecclésiastiques, séries G et H. Laon, 1885. Citations are to pt. 2 (Série H).
MGH SS	Monumenta Germaniae Historica: Scriptores. In fol. 32 vols. Hanover, 1826–1934
PL	Patrologiae cursus completus . . . series Latina, ed. J. P. Migne. 222 vols. Paris, 1844–1864.
RHF	Recueil des historiens des Gaules et de la France, ed. Dom Martin Bouquet, Léopold Delisle, et al. 24 vols. Paris, 1738–1904.
s.	solidus or solidi
Wyard	Wyard, R. “Humolariensis monasterii historia.” Saint-Quentin, B.M., MS 95 (see p. 20, n. 106)

WILLIAM MENDEL NEWMAN (1902-1977)

By Giles Constable

INTRODUCTION

THE REPUTATION of William Mendel Newman rests entirely on his publications. He was an active researcher for less than half his adult life, taught for only three years in three different institutions, and received none of the honors dear to the hearts of academics; but as a publishing scholar he ranks among the leading American medieval historians of the twentieth century.¹ In his first book, which was devoted to the French monarchy in the eleventh century, he was able, according to F. M. Powicke, who reviewed it when it came out in 1929, "to modify and define more closely the conclusions of Luchaire and other scholars."² His two Strasbourg theses, on the royal domain in France from 987 to 1180 and the acts of King Robert II, were widely praised when they appeared in 1937 and are both standard works. By the time Les seigneurs de Nesle was published in 1971, Newman was a well-known scholar and was described as "the very image of a great historian" by Guy Fourquin and as the peer of the seventeenth- and eighteenth-century genealogical and archival giants by John Benton. Léopold Genicot said that his method was "classic, exacting, sure," and Georges Duby called the book "of the very first importance" and "a model of method and an inexhaustible mine."

Among Newman's unpublished works at the time Les seigneurs de Nesle appeared were four collections of monastic charters, including St-Fursy of Péronne, which came out in 1977, the year of his death, and Homblières, which is published here.³ An unpublished work of another type was the diary which he kept from 1919 until 1950, with a gap from 1925 to 1930, and which fills nine volumes with a total of about a million and a half words.⁴ It is no accident that he began keeping it when he left home to go to boarding school, or that it ends on the eve of his departure for France, which marked the beginning of a busy and relatively happy period of his life, since the diary was a companion in his loneliness and an alleviation for his unhappiness. In 1932 he considered giving it up because he might then be less moody, and in 1934 he admitted that he preferred writing his diary to working. In an isolated supplementary entry written in September 1967 he wrote that he stopped keeping a diary because "it seemed to have a bad effect upon me—of finality," and writing it undoubtedly encouraged him to dwell on his troubles, both real and imagined. But for the years it covers the diary gives a vivid account of Newman's life, especially when he was a student working under Marc Bloch, and of his attitudes towards himself, his family, his teachers, and his work.

¹ See the list of Newman's printed works on pp. lv-lviii, where the reviews which are quoted below are cited.

² Newman copied this review and inserted it into his copy of The Kings. Ferdinand Lot was more severe in his review of Le domaine, which he considered "très supérieur au livre précédent du même auteur, The Kings, the court and the royal power in France in the eleventh century (1929), lequel n'ajoute rien d'essentiel aux Institutions de Luchaire."

Writing in January 1925, when he was twenty-three years old, Newman described the diary as "a record day by day, not of solid, infallible truths, but of myself as I thought fit to record—some intentional omissions as to my thoughts, none as to my deeds, and no intentional untruths." This description by and large fits the entire diary, which is a personal record of Newman's thoughts and actions, though it includes a few references to public events. He usually wrote the entries every day, and sometimes more than once a day, but there are some collective entries and a few considerable gaps.⁵ In October 1944 he wrote that he seldom kept his diary: "I don't know

³ He made arrangements before his death for the publication of Mont-St-Quentin. The typescript of Arrouaise is deposited with Professor L. Milis of the University of Ghent.

⁴ See the description below, pp. lviii-lx. There is no diary for 1925-1930, but the facts that he referred to getting a new diary in a letter dated 1 January 1925 and that he picked up in medias res on 1 October 1930 suggest that it is lost rather than unwritten. Owing to the method in several volumes of devoting a single page (or part of a page) to a day, long entries are frequently broken up into continuations written in blank spaces elsewhere (usually earlier) in the diary. The entry for 29 September 1934 has nine extensions. Except for a few entries for 1930, the diary is written in English but French words and constructions creep in from time to time. The quotations in this memoir are exactly as Newman wrote them (without "sic" for misspellings or errors) except for the expansion of abbreviations such as "+", ". . .", "ex.", and "yr.", the standardization of the spelling of "medi(a)eval," and some extra punctuation. Newman occasionally put "me" where he meant "him" (as in a letter of 23 November 1971, when he wrote "you are free to tell me what I have written"). Among his characteristic spellings were "dispair," "hugh" (huge), "icecycle," "incite" (insight), "indescent," "ritch," "suspitioned," "suf-sicited," and "tuitor." Among his favorite terms of like and dislike were "dandy," "pretty" (of clothing), "disgust" ("discust"), "fool," "peculiar," and "ugly."

⁵ There are significant gaps in 1936, 1938, 1939, 1943, 1944, 1945 (a very sparse year, filling only thirty-four pages), and 1947. He usually made collective entries for trips and voyages, as he did for 25 November to 11 December 1943, after his mother's death.

why . . . only I am more cheerful." And in June 1949 he attributed his lack of interest in his diary to the fact that he was "very busy" and "unusually happy." He made no changes in what he had written, aside from eight small ones in the first volume, which may refer to youthful peccadilloes, and he only rarely consulted it, mainly to find the names of friends, though earlier entries on a single page occasionally reminded him of past troubles. The amount of detail and specificity of the quotations at times stretch the reader's credulity, but the letters Newman wrote to his mother about two lectures he heard in 1922 and 1923 show that he had a remarkable memory, and there is no serious reason to doubt either the diary's accuracy or its honesty.

Newman's diary was sent to me after his death, together with the cartulary of Homblières, which he wanted me to publish, and his other surviving papers, and it forms the basis of this memoir. My initial hesitation to use it, owing to its intimacy, was overcome by three considerations. First, the fact that Newman kept the diary, although he destroyed most of his personal and scholarly papers, and left no instructions concerning it in his will, shows that he wanted it to be preserved. Second, a few passages suggest that he expected the diary to be read by others. Notably, on 4 May 1942 he wrote:

If one read this diary, one might think my judgments changed rapidly and violently. That is really not the case; I record sometimes the surface, and only later give my real thoughts, that is natural, for one wishes to believe and so records what favors belief even when in the back of one's head there is clear disbelief.

Third, without using the diary, it would be impossible to write more than half a page about Newman's life, principally on the basis of entries in his school and college class reports. He was a very private man and during his lifetime concealed many of his achievements as well as his grievances from the world. Yet he considered himself ill-treated and misjudged, and his diary, although much of it is not to his credit, is ultimately an apologia. To understand all is to forgive all, and by justifying Newman his diary helps to explain why men like him behave as they do.

Very few scholars, furthermore, have left such a detailed record of their lives, especially during their formative years. It may be argued that scholarly works, like works of art, should be allowed to speak for themselves, without reference to the lives of their creators. It is important to understand how a scholar's life is related to his or her work, however, and to appreciate the cost, as it were, paid by society for the achievements it prizes. Many outstanding artists and writers have been a source of misery to themselves and their families and of difficulties to people who admire their creative works. Newman as seen in his diary was an unhappy and often unattractive man, and some readers of this memoir will be put off by the strength of his dislikes, especially of his family, teachers, and colleagues, and by the harshness of his language, which contrasts with the somewhat austere character of his published writings and with his retiring, even diffident, external behavior. Yet whether his story repels or simply saddens the reader, it must be remembered that Newman's historical works were to a great extent the products of his personal problems. He turned to scholarship largely because he despaired of finding elsewhere the happiness for which he yearned and of which he felt unjustly deprived.

LIFE AND CHARACTER

THE MAIN FACTS of Newman's life are quickly told. He was born in Pierce City, Missouri, on 31 January 1902, the second son of Milton Newman and his wife Lenna, born Mendel. Their only other child was William's older brother Joseph. In 1922 they moved to Enid, Oklahoma, which remained their home till they died in 1943. William went to school in Pierce City and at Phillips Academy, Andover, and entered Harvard in the fall of 1921. After graduating, in 1925, he spent another year at Harvard and took an M.A. in American history. He taught for two years, one at the University of Iowa and the other at the Ohio State University.⁶ In 1928 he went to Europe in order to study medieval history, and he earned two doctorates, one under Joseph Calmette at Toulouse in 1929, and the other at Strasbourg in 1937, where he worked under Marc Bloch and Charles-Edmond Perrin. He was Bloch's only American doctoral student, and perhaps the only student of any nationality who both began and completed his doctoral work under Bloch's direction.⁷

He returned to the United States in 1937, after nine years in Europe, and taught for a year as an instructor at the University of Michigan. He was in Cambridge from 1938 until 1942, when he went to St. Louis in order to do war work in his brother Joseph's factory. After the war he moved to Seattle and lived there until 1950, when he visited France and gave up keeping the diary. Much less is known, therefore, about his life after 1950 than before. In August 1952 he went to France and remained there for eleven years, returning in 1963 to the state of Washington, where he lived first in a rented house on Lummi Island and then (from 1968) in his own home—the first and last he ever owned—near the town of Bellingham, where he died on 27 April 1977. It is significant, I think, that he went to live in one of the most distant corners of the United States, far from colleagues or a major university, and that he spent some of the happiest and most peaceful years of his life there.

⁶ Since the diary for 1925-1930 is missing, very little is known about Newman's life during these years. In the preface to Le domaine he thanked Edgar H. McNeal "pour les heures si agréables que nous avons passées en toute intimité avec lui sur des textes du moyen âge, lors de notre séjour comme 'instructor' à Ohio State University," and he referred in the diary more than once, sometimes with pride, to his teaching at Ohio State. He never mentioned his time in Iowa, but in a letter dated 16 March 1956, when I myself was teaching in Iowa, Newman wrote, "I enjoyed my year there and found both faculty and students very human and refreshing, more so than anywhere else I have taught." For information concerning Newman's appointments at these universities, I am indebted to Professors Donald Sutherland of the University of Iowa and Joseph Lynch of Ohio State University.

⁷ Newman wrote after hearing of Bloch's death in March 1947: "I wonder whether I am not his only doctoral student; I know I was the first and that was 1937, the war came soon and I doubt anyone's having completed a thesis in the meantime, of course he may have inherited candidates from his predecessor but that is another thing." Enquiries in several quarters have failed to clarify the question of Bloch's students. Various scholars, including André Déléage and Robert Boutruche, mention Bloch in the prefaces to their theses, but not in such a way as to indicate that he was responsible for the initiation and direction of the work.

Because the diary for 1925–1930 is missing, it is impossible to say why Newman gave up the beginnings of an apparently conventional career teaching American history in order to embark on a new life of solitary research into the history of medieval institutions, for which he was suited neither by temperament nor by training. In principle he preferred a life of involvement rather than of withdrawal, and after he left Michigan and gave up teaching, which he disliked, he more or less abandoned research for almost a decade. Aside from working for his brother, he liked St. Louis and threw himself into his work first in the purchasing department and then as personnel manager of the White-Rodgers Electrical Company. "I am another person . . .," he wrote in November 1943. "It may be OK to write history but it seems futile." When he moved to Seattle he hoped to continue a career in business (and put two advertisements in the Seattle Times seeking a position as a personnel manager)⁸ and even considered entering public life. He served on the school committee of the Municipal League and the scholarship committee of the Harvard Club, which he enjoyed. He returned to historical research only when he found no other employment and could not face doing nothing, and he wrote his most important book during his second stay in France. His return to America in 1963, according to the supplementary entry to the diary written in September 1967, "was the close of a long chapter in my life—I would no longer be able to do research in Medieval History for which I had lived." He burned many of his old notes with relief—"Somehow I felt a load off of me; the past was gone"—and although he built a library for his books in his new house, and completed some work, including the booklet on the personnel of the cathedral of Amiens, he did no more serious research.

Five considerations emerge from the diary which help to explain why Newman was a medievalist malgré lui, who never really enjoyed historical scholarship and was driven to it only because he could find nothing else to do. The first of these was his health; second, his relations with his family; third, his financial position; fourth, his perception of prejudice; and fifth, his temperament and personality. Had any one of these been different, he might have followed another course in life, and perhaps have been happier, although scholarship would have been poorer. Each of them therefore deserves to be considered here as a factor shaping his life and work.

⁸ The texts of these advertisements, which make no reference to his European degrees or published books, have been verified through the kindness of Professor C. W. Bynum of the University of Washington. Newman described himself in the first as "Also experienced in research in economic history," presumably because he hoped it would appeal to businessmen, and perhaps because he was interested in business- and labor-history and thought of teaching in the Business School or Industrial Relations Institute of the University of Washington. He also considered entering the tourist business, running a camp for summer vacationists, and buying and selling china.

Throughout his life Newman believed that bad health kept him from doing his best work and excluded him from certain occupations. Whether or not he was really below par physically is hard to say, but even at Andover he attributed his disappointing academic performance to his lack, as he put it later, of "a good body and good mind," and the diary is filled with details about his various medical symptoms. He rarely visited a doctor, but his suspicions were confirmed when he was rejected by the army on 22 July 1942 "for mental and physical reasons . . . for manic depression psychosis and for 'pulmonary tuberculosis suspect.' . . . Then other defects were eyes, moderate hemorrhoids, etc." The following day he wrote that "Life now seems divided into 2 periods—before and since July 22." The rejection was a blow both because enlistment would have fulfilled his desire to serve during the war (and to find something to do other than history) and because it convinced him that he was unsuited for a normal life, though in fact his health seems to have improved when he was in St. Louis. In his Fiftieth Harvard Class Report he wrote that "Health forced me in 1963 to cease research."

Had his relations with his parents and brother been better, he might in spite of his health have entered a business career or worked in one of the department stores his family owned in Missouri, Iowa, and Oklahoma. He disliked almost all members of his family, and his many aunts and uncles and cousins remain shadowy figures in the diary.⁹ He said at one point that he had one English and three German grandparents, who came to the United States presumably in the mid-nineteenth century and settled in the South and Midwest. His father was born in 1872 and his mother in 1874; they were married in 1897; and both died in 1943. When they moved from Pierce City to Enid in 1922, they expected to encounter some hostility because they were Jewish, but they were socially as well as financially successful. They visited Florida and Asheville when Newman was in school and regularly went to Charlevoix in the summer. Milton was president of the Lions Club and of the Chamber of Commerce and when he died, leaving an estate of over $200,000, several ministers offered the use of their churches for the funeral, though the family decided on a Jewish service. When Lenna was invited to join the Board of the Y.W.C.A., William remarked, "The Jews will have a fit," and he later commented on their desire to know "the nicest people," meaning not only Jews. William's brother Joseph was four years older than William.¹⁰ He went directly into business and became president of Emerson Electric in 1933, when he was only thirty-five. He was described in a later article in Fortune as "aggressive, with strong ideas about both the electrical industry and labor relations," but after Emerson experienced one of the longest sitdown strikes in labor history, he lost his job and set up the White-Rodgers Co., which manufactured heating and refrigeration equipment and later merged with Emerson. He was also concerned with the Automatic Controls Corporation, which he planned to merge with White-Rodgers in 1946, but the details of Joseph's business career are unclear. He married in 1922 and divorced in 1945, after adopting three children. William disapproved of both the divorce and the adoptions, and his sympathy for his sister-in-law, with whom he kept in touch for many years, was one of the factors which alienated him from his brother.

⁹ Among Newman's papers is a printed slip dated 16 May 1931 to be inserted into "your copy of Genealogy of the Newman Family," but I have been unable to find this work. The account here is therefore reconstructed from numerous entries in Newman's diary and a few letters written after his parents died.

The progressive deterioration of Newman's relations with his parents and brother is a leitmotif in the early volumes of the diary. As early as 1922 he felt he had been happier in the past because he had been on better terms with his family. He kept as far apart from them as possible, because of quarrels when they were together, and referred to them in increasingly harsh terms when they were apart.¹¹ When he was in Europe he frequently refused to answer, read, or sometimes even open his mother's letters because they so enraged him. His relations with his father were better in the early 1930s, but in 1939 he wrote "he and I are as far apart as 2 people can get." His dislike for his brother, for whom he previously expressed affection, and to whom he dedicated Le domaine, came to a climax when he was working for him in St. Louis and especially during the disputes after their parents died. In a supplementary entry to the diary written on 1 January 1968, after Joseph's accidental death in 1967, Newman wrote, "We had ceased to have anything to do with each other. He was impossible and everyone who had to do with him knew it. I did not attend the funeral held in Enid, Okla."¹² These feelings not only cut Newman off personally but also influenced his views on families and life in general, since he was convinced that parents invariably sought to control their children for selfish purposes. His remarks in Les seigneurs de Nesle on the strength and importance of medieval families, whose influence he regarded as greater than that of the church or custom, may have reflected his personal experience.

¹⁰ In addition to entries in Newman's diary and fragments of letters among his notes, I have made use of "A Yaleman and a Communist," Fortune 28/5 (November 1943), 146-148 and 212-218, which primarily concerns Joseph's successor as president of Emerson. Requests for information from Emerson Electric have not been answered, but I am indebted to Professor Steven Rowan of the University of Missouri-St. Louis for information on the various companies with which Joseph was concerned.

¹¹ On 24 December 1932 he wrote that he had not been home for Christmas "since 1918 until I went to work for myself," that is, in 1926 in Iowa, when he was presumably so close to home that he could not refuse, without openly breaking with his parents. Newman expressed more affection for them after they died than when they were alive. Among other things, he put up their photograph in his room, which he had not done for years (24 December 1943).

Newman's resentment of his parents' desire to control him either through kindness and concern for his welfare or especially through money fostered his desire for independence and his careful, even frugal, management of his own finances. The diary contains many interesting details about his expenses, especially in Europe, where he spent less than $50 a month in France and about $35 a month in Belgium.¹³ He recorded with dismay that an out-of-work man with four children in France received an allowance of twenty francs a day in 1933, when the franc was worth about four cents, and a cleaning woman in Brussels in 1934 earned twenty Belgian francs a day, "very very little." It is uncertain whether he had any income of his own at this time, and he was supported primarily by his savings during the two years he taught in Iowa and Ohio and by occasional gifts from his parents and brother, which he found useful but resented and increasingly tried to refuse. In January 1942, just before his fortieth birthday, he wrote that he had decided not to accept any money his parents might send, especially since he had spent less than $1,500 of what they had given him during the previous five years. "I have reached the place where I want to be independent (i.e. free from the tantrums of my family) at any cost. . . . When I am financially independent of them and live far away (as I do), they will keep still."

When he wrote this, he was back in Cambridge after his year at the University of Michigan, where his salary was $2,500, and before starting to work at White-Rodgers, where he earned $3,000 a year. He achieved financial independence after his parents died in 1943, when he inherited, after endless wrangling with his brother, $104,000. His total worth in February ¹² Some fragmentary letters from Joseph among Newman's notes are signed "With fondest love," "Devotedly," "Affectionately, as ever," and show not only that the brothers remained in touch (and on better terms than William suggests) until at least 1960 but also that Joseph was responsible for some of William's financial affairs when he was in France.

¹³ This covered everything, including books, clothes, presents, and travel. He estimated at one point that he spent 7 percent of his income on books. He regularly sent his mother presents of embroidered handkerchiefs, of which a dozen cost 174 francs, about as much as the monthly rent of his room in Strasbourg: see 14 December 1931 and 28 September 1932. When traveling he rarely spent more than $2 a day. At Orléans in 1932 he spent 15 francs for a room, 19 for lunch (which he considered too much), and 12 for dinner. The 86 francs he spent for the cartulary of Ste-Croix of Orléans (including binding) represented his living costs for two days. The cost of printing his two theses ($740) would have supported him for two years in Belgium.

1944 was about $150,000 and in August 1945 about $171,000, including his holdings in White-Rodgers (about 5 percent of the total shares), the Automatic Control Corporation, and the Newman Mercantile and Realty Companies. The post-war problems of these companies cut his income by almost three-quarters in four years, from $18,268 before taxes in 1946 to $4,800 in 1949.¹⁴ This helps to explain his desire to protect his capital and constant worry over his own finances and those of the nation. In fact he lived well within his means and usually managed to save at least half his income, even in the years when he bought furnishings for the home he planned, including silver, china, and rugs, and later also books. He always lived carefully and took some pride in looking less prosperous than he really was. "I think people assume that I have very little as I put up no front," he wrote in 1947, "—no car and obviously live simply—so much the better." He complained of expenses to those who knew him in Paris in the 1950s and who assumed he had barely enough to get by, when he was in fact a comparatively rich man. At his death he left an estate of about $1,200,000, most of which went to Andover with smaller legacies to Harvard and the Medieval Academy.¹⁵

His private income allowed Newman to devote himself to research, without having to earn a living, but it also imposed upon him a degree of isolation which was heightened by the two other, more personal factors which help account for his withdrawal into medieval history. The first of these was his awareness of being a Jew, for although he was not a religious man, and rarely went to temple, he had a strong sense of Jewish identity.¹⁶ He made no effort to conceal that he was Jewish, without advertising the fact, disliked name changing, and opposed marriage "out of the faith," as he called it. As a youth and young man, in spite of two references to anti-Semitic experiences (one in grammar school and one in Paris), and a nagging concern that most of his friends were Christian, he seems to have been comparatively at ease with being Jewish, and he more than once expressed his own low opinion of eastern European and New York Jews.¹⁷ His attitude changed sharply after he returned to the United States, since he was convinced, and made no secret of it, that he lost his position at the University of Michigan because he was a Jew.¹⁸ It is impossible to say what truth, if any, lay in this charge, since Newman's diary shows that he was a poor teacher and an uncooperative colleague, and his views were certainly to some extent influenced by his keen sense of personal failure; but from this time on he firmly believed that as a Jew he would never get a teaching position in America.¹⁹

¹⁴ In a single year, 1946–1947, the labor force at White-Rodgers declined from 1,400 to 500, or by a later estimate from 1,700 to 200. Automatic Control paid nothing in 1947, 1948, and 1949: see 29 November 1946, 13 August 1947 ("This business decline means that I overestimated my income by about 12 or 13 thousand dollars"), 30 November 1947, and 3 January 1950. When the Newman Mercantile Company paid off a note, he called it "a severe cut in my income" (29 December 1947), and on 3 January 1950 he wrote, "Checks came from Newman's; they did not declare any common stock dividends in the store."

¹⁵ I am indebted for this and other information about Newman's finances to Donald Bade, the comptroller of Phillips Academy. Andover used $640,000 of its bequest to establish the William M. Newman Teaching Foundation. Some fragments of documents among Newman's notes from the 1950s show that he also owned stock in Crown Zellerbach and Harbor Plywood.

¹⁶ In 1934 Newman said that he was "of no church" but by race a Jew. He referred to "the absurdity of religion" while he was still at school (1 May 1919) and disagreed with his mother on the subject when he was in college (28 July 1924). "The modern world must creat a modern religion," he wrote on 14 December 1932. He once wanted to go to temple when he was in Strasbourg but felt it would be wrong to take a place on a holiday, and on 12 September 1942 he wrote that he attended no services because he was not "raised in the Church."

The fifth and final factor which tended to isolate Newman and exclude him from a normal career was his dislike of women, which amounted almost to misogyny, and his preference for men as friends. He decided "never to have anything to do with women," he wrote in 1936, "one terrible night many years ago" after a quarrel between his parents. "I think the western world has made a mistake in the exalted place it has put women. I have very little faith in men, none in women. A woman is always selfish, some men are sometimes unselfish." Almost the only woman in the entire diary of whom he spoke well was a medievalist from Bryn Mawr whom he met several times in Paris in 1931 and whom he described as "a very superior young lady, a very rare thing. She has brains, culture, looks, and apparently a good disposition."²⁰ He showed no desire to improve the acquaintance, how-

¹⁷ He apparently suffered from no prejudice at Andover or Harvard, where he refused to attend a smoker at a Jewish fraternity because he disliked fraternities and smokers, not because it was Jewish. While he was a student he accused Harvard of snobbishness and exclusiveness (cf. 31 May 1924), but not of anti-Semitism. The entry of 14 October 1932—"I despise the group of N. Y. Jews who are in this house"—is characteristic of a number of entries when he was living in Paris in 1931–1932, but see also the opinion on Marc Bloch in 15 November 1940 (see n. 54 below). In an interesting entry on Jews in America written on 4 May 1940 he wrote, "It is simply a minority question and all minorities everywhere in the world are in a like situation," and went on to stress that Jews should be something more positive than simply non-Christians.

¹⁸ The first reference in the diary to "race prejudice" at Michigan was on 15 February 1938, and it is mentioned in at least eight other entries in February, March, May, June, and December 1938. He told a student "that one must belong to the right church to get a job here," and at the 1938 meeting of the American Historical Association he told two colleagues that the members of the history department at Michigan "simply don't want Jews or Catholics."

¹⁹ In 1939 he told a student that "his being a Jew would cut him off from most places," and he cited in his diary a letter from an educational placement agency "saying it was impossible for them to place a Jew" and the report of a professor who, when he tried to place a student at Princeton, "was told that they could not take another Jew." In Seattle he inquired from Henry Lucas about the possibility of teaching at the University of Washington, but he gave up when he heard that other appointments had been made, commenting that "It is probably the same thing as at Michigan; he probably doesn't want a Jew."

²⁰ It has proved impossible to identify this paragon, in spite of the help of Professor Charles Brand of Bryn Mawr.

ever, and he invariably rejected the idea of marriage when it arose, though once, in 1947, he remarked with seeming regret that he was too old and that his "disposition was not suited for it."

He was desperately lonely, and longed more than anything else in the world for the companionship of a sympathetic, gentle, intelligent—and preferably young and good-looking—man.²¹ He described himself in 1934 as "a Puritan in many ways," however, and except for one short period in his life, he did not want a physical relationship, aside from what he regarded as innocent gestures of affection. He was indeed repelled by any specifically sexual contact with either a man or a woman, as he was by even a shadow of indecency in a book, play, or piece of music.²² He was often attracted to men whom he met, or even just saw, and of whom he entertained extravagant hopes at first but with whom he was bitterly disappointed when they turned out to be uninterested in him or in some other way unsuitable.²³ In spite of many complaints, he had no difficulty in meeting people, and the records of his conversations with casual acquaintances are among the most interesting passages in the diary. A student who saw him talking outside Widener Library in 1941 said, "I think you spend more time outside than inside." He attributed his liking for personnel work, and his success at it, to his sincere interest in people,²⁴ though he tended to have better relations with men who were in trouble or less fortunate than he was. After the war he gave some sensible advice to several ex-servicemen who were tempted to re-enlist because they were having difficulty in finding jobs. "The proper placing of a man is the biggest benefit one can shower upon him," he wrote in 1946. But these casual meetings led to no lasting friendships. He had a few friends who went back to his days at Andover and Harvard and who occupied a special place in his affections, but they could not fill his need for a sensitive and loving comrade. His eagerness often put excessive demands on new acquaintances, while his self-doubts led him to expect of them more than was reasonable, especially that they should seek him out after a first meeting.²⁵

²¹ The diary includes countless references to young men who are variously described as "handsome," "clean-cut," "cute," "nice," "good-looking," "nice-looking," "fine-looking," "well-built," "nicely-built," "fine-built," or "athletic" and whom Newman longed to meet and befriend. He was thrilled when a handsome man pressed against him in the Métro in 1933 and when a stranger whom he admired in a train steadied himself by putting his hand on his shoulder in 1936: "That was little, but it was wonderful to me, it seemed to [?] so gentle and kindly."

²² He rarely smoked and drank—he had his first cognac in 1932—and repeatedly expressed his disgust for the human body. "I have no desire to have sexual intercourse with a man any more than with a woman," he wrote in 1934, adding "and doubt very much if I could do so even if I tried." He resented the inhibitions of which he felt himself to be a victim, however, and envied the greater sexual freedom of men in Europe than in America. When on 17 February 1939 he copied "some unusually frank expressions of sexual desires" in the men's room of Boylston Hall at Harvard, he commented: "It is notable that none mention women. In France, these boys would do what they wanted and therefore less of that would occur, though some such writings I have seen in French U's also." It is clear from several entries that he questioned his acquaintances at Harvard about their private lives.

²³ "Fortunately at least women do not interest me," he wrote at a moment of depression in 1931, "and even with men I want a wholesome clean sort," and in 1942, "I always like men who turn out to be very normal and like the society of women." On the other hand, he was inevitably attracted to some men of bad character. "A bright Irish boy of 25" whom he met in St. Louis assumed "that since he steals and sleeps with women, everyone does," and "a nice enough lad" whom he met in a park in Seattle "turned out to be not so much a gentleman. That is the trouble with almost all one meets in a park." He was twice mugged in St. Louis (29 April 1945 and 23 June 1946), the second time as a result of an injudicious conversation in a park.

Some friendships lasted a few weeks, others a few months, and one a couple of years, but they all ended in disillusionment and unhappiness for Newman. One of the most intense, which ran its course in just over a month, was with an Austrian student at the hotel school in Strasbourg, who was almost eighteen, and engaged to be married, but who allowed Newman to kiss and caress him "in an honest, affectionate way, just as we would to a brother." Newman gave him presents and lent him money, which he knew was unwise, and his affection cooled as he began to feel he was being taken advantage of, and ended in bitterness.²⁶ Newman had several similar friendships in Belgium, but the most serious were in Cambridge with two students, one named Paul, who appears in about sixty entries in 1940 and 1941, and the other Dick, who appears in about a hundred and fifty entries in 1941-1943, and two dozen more in 1946-1948, and who seems to have taken

²⁴ He wrote on 9 January 1946 that his "1 and only satisfaction" out of his work at St. Louis was having employed "some mighty fine men in office and plant," and on 23 March that "The men seemed to like the way I treated them, because I was actually interested in them. It is in line with the help I tried to give a certain number of young men around Harvard, only as an individual it is too difficult." In a letter dated 30 March 1972, stressing the importance of personality, he referred to his work as a personnel manager: "It seemed easy enough to obtain men competent to do many jobs but their personality was so against them that they could not coöperate with others. . . . Not a few people get their heads turned because they have mastered a little technical knowledge (that applies to all walks of life)."

²⁵ "He attracts me very much," he wrote in 1931. "Only I must not lose my head, people never admire it." The following year he met an Englishman (with whom he was to keep in touch for years), of whom he wrote, after their first meeting, "I like him entirely too well; he knows it even though I try not to show it." With time he learned both to control his feelings better and to understand the reactions of others. To a man whom he met in a park in Seattle in 1947, and who hesitated when asked to dine with him, he said, "You understand, Roy, this is without any obligations of any sort. I am simply alone and will enjoy your companionship."

²⁶ He regretted in mid-June that he had "even mentioned the matter even casually in my letter [to his parents] but I did say that I had refused and did not think it proper to room with a boy of 18." He seems never to have associated this letter with "a terrible letter from Mother" which arrived in early July and told him to return at once with all his things. Newman's parents, whatever their faults, lived more in the world than he did, and their knowledge of his proclivities doubtless heightened the tension between them and their son.

shameless advantage of Newman's affection for him, borrowing several thousand dollars which he never repaid.²⁷ Paul, on the other hand, rejected Newman's offers of friendship and help after only two meetings, and Newman adored him from afar, holding "long, silent imaginary conversations" with him for sometimes as long as an hour and a half.²⁸ Newman contrasted these two friendships, one based on closeness and receptivity and the other on distance and rejection, in an interesting entry on 26 June 1941.

I still worship him [Paul]; his courage and determination to do right and get well caused me to admire him almost beyond reason, even while my reason told me it was exaggerated. And the one [Dick] went away to have a good time and the other [Paul] to suffer in silence (that in itself is enough to explain the difference in my attitude). . . . Human sentiment is peculiar.

The struggle between Newman's ethical principles and his emotional and physical needs runs through these and many other entries. In 1939, after holding hands with a student under the partition in a lavatory, but refusing to do more, he wrote, "My reaction later on was (1) I was of course glad I left him, (2) a decided feeling of pleasure out of merely holding his hand." His most severe crisis came in Enid and St. Louis between October 1942 and August 1943—a period of extreme emotional turmoil, following the failure of the friendships with Paul and Dick, his rejection by the army, and his decision to leave Cambridge in order to work for his brother in St. Louis. His mother, whom he had hated and loved for many years, died in February 1943, and his father in November. His extensive reading in psychiatry and psychology at this time may also have encouraged his sense of the need and legitimacy for self-expression when he felt attracted "in undesirable ways" to a young man who worked (of all places) in his father's department store. In mid-November 1942 he wrote that "In the past ethical ideas have tormented me but in the future (not with a youngster of course) I'll go to the limit (and there will be no limit)." But though he went further during this period than ever before, or after, and used language in the diary which appears in no other entries,²⁹ he never seriously crossed his own self-imposed boundaries, or really wanted to. After one incident, in January, he wrote, "It taught me one thing, that I had desire only to kiss and caress his face and chest." He still felt attracted to young men, and admitted to being "set on fire again by a handsome soldier" during one of his last evenings with his father, late in August, but the limit he wanted to cross was always there, and references of this type were rare during his later years in St. Louis and almost vanished after he moved to Seattle.

²⁷ Newman described him as "not very honorable" within a few months of meeting him and a year later called him "a perfect little crook," but he continued to help him. Dick left Harvard (which has no record of his later life) and went to Mexico, St. Paul (Minnesota), and later Portland (Oregon), where Newman last heard of him working, he thought, at a golf club. He clearly had both intelligence and charm, if not many scruples, and he is said to have appeared in Dorothy Baker's Our Gifted Son (Boston, 1948), as Theodore Carpenter, who was depicted as a combination of enterprising plausibility and insensitive selfishness. He is the only one of Newman's friends, to judge from the diary, who was prepared to have a physical relationship with him.

²⁸ Newman was aware that this image was to a great extent of his own making: "He still remains the strongest emotional force in my life" (24 December 1941); "To me he is a faith" (21 April 1942); "His memory is still magic, still the most powerful guide that I have" (12 December 1942).

He never lost his feeling of loneliness, however, or his desire for an ideal friend. Even at Andover his friends were almost more important to him than his academic work, and at Harvard he deplored the fact that Friendship, with a capital F, meant so little to the students there. He described his loneliness in Belgium in 1933 as "not a fact but a state of mind, in my case usually caused by not being with someone I like," and in May 1934 he saw himself as made up of the opposites of "a love of solitude [and] a longing for an ideal companion." In 1935 he wrote, "I always feel strong in isolation with a tinge of loneliness that comforts me," and in 1937, "I dread being part of a community, above all, a small one." This was one reason he was unhappy in Ann Arbor, though in St. Louis he liked his colleagues at White-Rodgers, except for his brother, and two days before he left for Seattle in 1946 he wrote, "That group has certainly been wonderful to me." He began to feel lonely again in Seattle, and wrote in June 1947,

I am so lonely I do not know what to do, but I do not drink, do not play golf, nor go to movies, nor play cards, and can't stand the sort of conversation most men indulge in, so how could things be other than they are.

These passages, and especially the reference to the "loneliness that comforts me," suggest that Newman's sufferings, though doubtless real, were also a consolation to him. "Depend upon it," Dr. Johnson said, "that if a man talks of his misfortunes, there is something in them that is not disagreeable to him: for where there is nothing but pure misery, there is never any mention of it."³⁰ Newman had a romantic view of himself as disorderly and irrational, and in 1941 he contrasted the conflict within himself of "calm, quiet, stillness" and of "suffering, pain in order to understand, sacrifice and struggle with and for a definite hope."³¹ "Without pain life would not be worth living," he ²⁹ These include not only several terms which Newman used nowhere else (and which I would not have thought he even knew), but also some euphemisms, such as "personal" as a noun, and to "party" and "cut loose" as verbs, and occasionally "talk," of which the precise meaning is uncertain, since he continued to have nonsexual meetings with men throughout this period. The frankness of these entries suggests that he concealed nothing in other entries concerning his relations with men.

³⁰ Boswell's Life of Johnson, ed. G. B. Hill (New York, 1891-1904), 4:36.

³¹ Newman copied on a slip of paper inserted into the diary for 1932 a passage from an article by Henry Adams in the Yale Review for October 1915 contrasting the two lives men must lead, wrote in 1934, and the year before he described a personal disappointment as "somewhat like a purification."

He had no doubts about the purity of his own motives, and many entries in the diary express his sense of outrage at the insensitivity of other people towards him. His own chief strength was his uprightness, he declared in 1937, and he described his life as "meant so well, lived cleanly, forcefully, honestly, and yet all those troubles." He was only dimly aware of how many of these he brought on himself. He knew that he was competitive, touchy, and retiring,³² but tended to see these not as faults but as the concomitant aspects of a praiseworthy desire to succeed, independence, sensitivity, and modesty. He was jealous, suspicious, and often ungenerous, especially to people whom he regarded as more able or successful than he was,³³ and usually attributed any disagreement with his views to ill will or jealousy. He believed that happiness was possible only in a competitive environment and through achievement and success, and he invariably felt blue, as he put it in 1937, "after talking to someone who seems to know a lot," meaning more than he did. His skin was so thin as to be almost nonexistent, and he never forgave a personal slight, which was probably the real reason he disliked Marc Bloch and many other professors.

Yet he was genuinely well disposed towards mankind in general, and at times went out of his way to advise and assist men who were in trouble. This sympathy, in addition to his learning and retiring personal disposition, so at contrast with his seething inner feelings, called forth a response in others and gave him an unobtrusive charm which was attractive though not memorable. Several living people who are mentioned in the diary, and with whom I have been in touch, have little or no recollection of Newman now. Though he rarely went to museums or concerts, he was fond of art and music and once wrote that he would have liked to have been a professional musician if he had only been more talented. He admired beauty in objects and formed a considerable collection of china, rugs, silver, furniture, and glass, of which he left three pieces to museums in his will. He began to be interested in flowers in the 1940s, and his garden was a source of joy in his later life. His real love was books, however, and there are many references in his diary to read-

"one in the world. . . . The other in ourselves, behind a veil. Not to be raised without disturbing both."

³² He never gave the benefit of the doubt in the case of error. When Fernand Vercauteren told him that the Bollandists had a new edition of Gams, and they denied it, he was convinced they were lying, and when he later discovered the new edition was only a reprint, he called Vercauteren a liar and "a mere bluff."

³³ "I am very sensitive, very proud, very, very independent," he wrote in July 1932, after receiving three letters from his parents, "—a mere suggestion that I need any suggestions or aid ruffles me beyond measure." "It is unfortunate that I make a bad impression on everyone who does not know me well; I think Ganshof has taken exception to my aloofness" (14 February 1936).

ing. Among poets he liked Mansfield and Bridges, and he kept papers concerning Robert Hillyer, Petrarch, and Rabindranath Tagore. Among prose writers he admired Henry Adams, Pierre Loti, and Walter Pater, and especially in 1943-1944 he read extensively in Chinese literature, which he thought exercised a greater influence on French and English thought than on German. "European culture is not so united as we usually like to pretend," he remarked in this connection in 1944. He disliked most modern writers, including Galsworthy and Eliot, and any work that touched on sex.³⁴ Over the years he formed a considerable collection of books, of which over half were of literature and on general subjects. His zeal in buying books on medieval subjects paralleled his enthusiasm for his research and was at its height in the early 1930s in France and again in the 1950s, when he found some books for me in Paris. In 1932 he wrote that "My life here is my work and my library, and I am very happy that I have the extra money with which to buy books. As Ziegler [Aloysius Ziegler, the historian of Visigothic Spain and future professor at the Catholic University] said in Paris, 'one's books are always faithful, one's friends are uncertain.'"

Newman was conservative in his political views. He leaned as a young man towards authoritarianism, and later expressed great concern for personal freedom. While still at college he cited with approval Randolph's dictum that "I love liberty; I hate equality." He feared "irresponsible democracy" in the United States and in 1931 wrote, "We may have to come to a Mussolini someday; the wonder is that we have not come to it sooner." He voted a straight Republican ticket when he voted for the first time in 1940, and he hated Roosevelt and mistrusted Truman. "To survive in America one must be positive," he wrote after returning from France in 1937, admitting his own negative feelings and his dislike for materialism and crassness. He was loyal at heart, however, and not without a sense of public service. He listed social service under "Activities" in his Harvard Freshman Red Book and worked in a settlement house in 1921-1922. He felt that "Everyone should take part" during the war and served in the Red Cross and as an air raid warden in Cambridge before he was turned down by the draft and went to St. Louis. In Seattle he worked for both the Harvard Club and the Municipal League. Throughout his life he remained grateful to both Andover and Harvard, in spite of occasional criticisms,³⁵ and remembered them both generously in his will.

³⁴ He found the Roman de la Rose "vulgar and disgusting in passages, in others very interesting" and Gide "pure filth and nothing else." Other books he disliked were Santayana's Last Puritan ("one of the most awkward things I have read in a long time"), Waugh's Brideshead Revisited ("a cheap serial for a trashy periodical"), Bromfield's Few Brass Tacks ("worthless"), and Sitwell's Left Hand, Right Hand ("a peculiar volume of pretentiousness").

³⁵ In 1933 he thought that the people at Andover were "giving themselves too many airs," and in 1934 he objected to the new four-year history curriculum: "One needs solid mathematics and languages at that age." See n. 17 above on Harvard.

The profound contrast between the realities of Newman's life and character and his fantasies about himself make it hard to see the man as a whole. He tended to swing between moods of optimism and despair, with periods of relative resignation and contentment in between. Among the reasons for his rejection by the army in 1942 was "manic depression psychosis," and while there is no reason to believe this was more than the hasty judgment of an army doctor, based on Newman's description of himself, he certainly suffered from bouts of depression. He became convinced at school that he lacked the mental and physical abilities to achieve the success he hoped for,³⁶ and as a young man more than once contemplated suicide. Though he wrote in 1932, "Suicide no longer appeals to me; I draw back with timidity and sentimentality at the thought that all thought and my place in the world would be wipped out," the temptation returned after a severe disappointment in 1934.

The tendency to withdrawal comes out in another passage, written in 1932 in the middle of his affair with the Austrian student:

I shall in fact drifted along to be an old man—very lonely, a very empty life, rich only in the efforts on my books, possibly be a good teacher, a mediocre scholar, a friendly, gentle old man who fears the sins of the world and who encourages youth to be brave—because he sees what is ahead of it. And my nature is just the opposite of all that—except for gentleness.

As early as 1934 he began to dream of "a little house, logs, and rock chimney, rustic but modern and comfortable, in a quiet spot," where he could "live cosily with my books," and in 1936 he listed his desires in life as "(1) a few good intellectual friends who are gentlemen, (2) quiet, (3) peace of mind, (4) good music, and (5) living out away from people except on occasion." After returning to the United States he was increasingly given to daydreaming,³⁷ as in his imaginary conversations with the Harvard student Paul, and in the 1940s his dreams increasingly concentrated on a small house "in some small community in America where I can have a big yard."³⁸

³⁶ The summaries of each of his years at Andover, in spite of his real love for the school, make sad reading. The first year proved that he "was not capable of honor work"; the second was "filled with the bitter disappointment that my ability is absolutely below that desired"; and the third "ended with deep depression and discouragement which was brought on by lack of higher success in school work." On his graduation day in 1921 he wrote that "I have waited 3 years in vain for success," and at the end of his first year at Harvard, "I wish to God I had a few brains."

³⁷ "I remarked that someday I would fall into a dream and never come out of it, for I dreamed, day dreamed more and more" (15 August 1942).

³⁸ When he was living in St. Louis he thought of many places where he might live in the future, including Cambridge, a small New England town ("a peculiar place for a Jew"), the Midwest, and the far West, and he only gradually decided on Seattle. When he first went to Bellingham in 1947, he wrote, "this is no place for me, I am better off in Seattle," but he liked it more when he went there later.

The mood of peace and contentment in Newman's later life may be more apparent than real, owing to the absence of the diary in which he recorded his inner feelings, but it can also be attributed to the realization of his dream for a peaceful house in the country, the achievement of financial security, the solution of his personal worries, and strengthening of the streak of resignation that had always been in his character. While he was still in St. Louis in March 1946 he remarked, without rancor, after looking through his diary, that "Most of the names did not recall anyone to me, even names which appeared a number of times." In spite of occasional bouts of loneliness, he was happier in Seattle than at any previous time in his life. "The cruel depression of spirit is gone since I have been out here," he wrote soon after arriving, "and that perhaps for the first time in my life."³⁹ His few friendships of the old type were less intense and therefore caused him less pain when they broke up. Scholarship played a comparatively small part in his life at first, when he was seeking other employment.⁴⁰ But it re-emerged in the late 1940s and was the motivating force behind his visit to France in 1950 and return there in 1952. As late as April 1949 he wrote, "As time passes I wish less and less to go to France—perhaps it is chiefly inertia and all the work involved of packing up my belongings," and early the following year, just before leaving he wrote, "Somehow life seemed softer, gentler this evening; I have somehow feared the trip I am to take; if I never come back, it would not be a surprise."

This trip in fact inaugurated the busiest and most productive period of Newman's life, though less is known about it than the earlier periods because he kept no diary. In a letter written in 1972, after Les seigneurs de Nesle had been published, he said, "Putting modesty aside, I think it was worth the long seven years of work from 9 A.M. to midnight and that it opens up a new approach, but no one will emulate it because too much labor is involved for a few pages of text." These years were presumably 1952 to 1959, when he was something of a mythical figure at the Bibliothèque nationale and the Archives, where he worked every day except for a few visits to provincial archives and a week in London in 1959. His only occupation other than research was buying books. He lived in a series of rented rooms which sound unutterably dreary from the descriptions he gave of them to his friends. His complaints, as of "the woman—not a lady—" who "literally put me out" of a room in 1957, are reminiscent of his housing problems in the 1930s and suggest that the old Newman was still there and that his diary, had he kept one, might have shown a different man than appeared to the world.

³⁹ Early in 1947, after he had been there for less than a few months, he wrote, "I am happy out here, and if the cheques come through as I hope, I will continue to be independent and happy." Later that year he described his first year in Seattle as happy, "though a bit lonely and totally unproductive," but he could not forbear adding, "It could have been much better had people cared to make it so." He liked some of the people with whom he worked on committees of the Harvard Club and Municipal League and once remarked, concerning his work for the Harvard Club, "Gosh, how lucky I am."

⁴⁰ In August 1945, when he was still in St. Louis, he wrote, "I do not have to return to scholarship, on the other hand I must think of the future and in 15 years I'll be too old to do much in business, and I would still have my pottering around in scholarship if I kept it up." He knew "how impossible my research in French History would be out there [in the state of Washington], yet I wish to go and resolve my problem there. If I could make friends and find a pleasant occupation, I would abandon the research." A few months later, early in 1946, he wrote, "The years spent in History research were thrown away as they do not lead to anything."

He was therefore in many ways glad when he finished his work and returned to the United States in April 1963. "After years of living on my nerves and determination," he wrote at the end of May, when he was staying in a motel at Anacortes, "I have been able to relax completely. It has done me a world of good." He then rented a house on Lummi Island, which "promises extreme quiet and isolation—my dream seems to be materializing," he wrote before he moved in June. In December he wrote, "Some weeks I don't even go to town for groceries, just stay to myself as a faithful hermit—at least I am in the medieval tradition." His chief occupations were reading and gardening, and in March 1967, though he was in doubt whether the lease on the house would be renewed, he wrote that "with healthy human optimism I have nevertheless ordered some 63 dahlia roots to enlarge the collection I already have." When he bought his own house a few months later, he was faced with "a huge job of transplanting my innumerable flowers" and later wrote that his "chief interest" in the house was "the view and the yard."

He described his new house in the first supplemental entry to his diary, dated 18 September 1967, as "a small house on almost 10 acres situated 800 feet high on a hillside with a superb view of Puget Sound."⁴¹ The difficulties of remodeling it were considerable, and at one point he wrote, "If I had it to do over, I would tear it down and build a new one, but one always learns too late." It was not easy to move and later to find help in the garden. In a letter in March 1972 he complained of the incompetence of a young man, but added, "Of course pleasing a 70 year old is not so easy either," showing that though the old spirit of discontent was there, it was lightened by a touch of self-knowledge which almost never appeared in the diary. The delays and difficulties in publishing Les seigneurs de Nesle, which will be mentioned later, also cast a shadow over the first few years in his new house, but on the whole he was happier there than in any other period of his life, though his diary, had he kept it, might have told another story.

In the first two additions to the diary, however, written in 1967 and 1968, before he moved, he wrote, "I believe I can have a happy last chapter of my life" and "All in all I am very, very lucky and look forward to a good year in my new home." Though he was occasionally lonely, lack of friends no longer tortured him, and in the third and final entry, dated 13 January 1968, he remarked after hearing that an old friend had forgotten him, "Anyhow I now know he is alive. One should not try to hold on to one's youth." The appearance of Les seigneurs de Nesle, and later of the charters of St-Fursy of Péronne, and the professional recognition and admiration of younger scholars these works brought, all added to the happiness of his final years. In 1975, he wrote, in his Fiftieth Harvard Class Report,

⁴¹ He went on: "The house is very modest, not at all what I would have built, but it cost ever so much less." He then described some of the changes he had made, and clearly derived satisfaction from finally having a place for his books and the furnishings he had bought and inherited from his parents.

My life has been a very simple one devoted almost entirely to research in Medieval French history as an independent scholar. I spent about twenty years in France and Belgium for my work. Health forced me in 1963 to cease research. Since then I have lived quietly in the country growing flowers and reading. I still have some manuscripts to be published. I have had a happy life in my work and feel that I have been fortunate in being able to devote full time to it.

It is hard to recognize in this picture of bucolic peace and scholarly satisfaction the sad and troubled young man of the diary, though the failure to mention his Strasbourg degree in the rest of this entry shows that some of the old bitterness remained. He seems in his old age to have more or less successfully drawn a curtain over his earlier confusions and disappointments, and in his last letter to me, written in February 1977, just two months before he died, expressing pleasure at the prospect of a visit from me and my family, he wrote, "Recently I celebrated my 75th anniversary. I can look back on a long, happy life. Life has been good, very good to me. Crowded in my memories are the friendships of so many inspiring people; I have a deep faith in the potentialities of the human race." To read this is pleasing for his friends and admirers, and especially for those who know the desperate turmoil he came through before reaching this state of relative peace and contentment. But for historians it is important to remember that Newman's achievements as a scholar, to which I now turn, were the product not of peace and calm but of difficulty and misery.

INTELLECTUAL AND SCHOLARLY FORMATION

NOTHING in Newman's family background or early life prepared him to be a professional historian, and he had no innate bent towards scholarship or pleasure in it. He was a mediocre student at both preparatory school and at college, and the grades he recorded in his diary confirm his own gloomy view of his academic ability.⁴² At Andover most of his work was in French and

⁴² His seventh-grade report card shows that he did better at grade school, where he got A's in all subjects except writing, arithmetic, and drawing. This may have misled him, and his parents, with regard to his abilities. At Andover he was apparently held back after his first year

Latin, though he belonged to the Scientific rather than the Classical Department, and the earliest reference to history in the diary was in May 1920, though during the previous summer he had read Prescott's Conquest of Peru and some historical novels, including The Three Musketeers and Westward Ho. In the summer of 1920 he read Plutarch's Lives, and during his senior year he did his best work in history. The principal influence steering him in this direction was his teacher Archibald Freeman, of whom he wrote, after Freeman's death in 1948, that "He was one of the few, very few, great teachers I have had . . . I respected him deeply," though earlier in the diary even Freeman did not entirely escape the lash of disapproval.⁴³ The basis of Freeman's influence on Newman, as might be expected in a man of his character, was personal encouragement rather than intellectual stimulation, and he deeply appreciated the fact that Freeman described him as "able" and asked him to tutor some students in history.

Towards the end of his first term at Harvard, in January 1922, Newman thought that he was wasting his time and would do better studying on his own, but on the whole he was happy there. He particularly enjoyed the lectures (which he graded according to his own system) of Wilbur Abbot, Bliss Perry, Charles Homer Haskins, Kirsopp Lake, Charles McIlwain, and Frederick Jackson Turner, and to a lesser degree those of Edward Channing, Charles Copeland, George Edgell, George Lyman Kittredge, and William Munro.⁴⁴ At one point he referred to Haskins, McIlwain, and Turner as "the three great historians of Harvard." He later considered himself a pupil of Haskins and thanked him in the preface to Le domaine for "tant de bonnes directives et de sages conseils," but this was primarily in order to impress his French professors and to minimize his debt to Marc Bloch. In fact he took only one half-course on intellectual history from Haskins (in which he wrote a paper on William of Malmesbury) and met him only a few times.⁴⁵ Most of but rejoined his class as a senior, when his work improved. His grades at Harvard were mostly C's, with a few B's. The first A he received was in Frederick Jackson Turner's course on American history in the spring term of his junior year, when he was also put on probation for failing French—the language in which he later published three books.

⁴³ Newman castigated Freeman (to whom he dedicated the Actes de Robert II) when he failed to write and especially when he married: "Of course I disapprove, at his time of life it is disgusting to me" (10 November 1934).

⁴⁴ He also mentioned Maurice de Wulf, whose course he did not take. He later met E. K. Rand in Paris and saw him in Cambridge in the late 1930s. At that time he turned against McIlwain, whom he found "certainly not hospitable" (23 August 1939). He never liked Frederick Merk, one of whose lectures in the spring of 1924 he called "crazy" and of whose promotion he disapproved.

⁴⁵ He wrote on 7 March 1937, after hearing of Haskins's death, that "To me he was always kind and on the few occasions which we chatted, he put me at once at my ease and I could laugh and chat as with any older friend." He went on to say, with a characteristic note of envy emphasized by a slip of the pen, that, "Great as his brain was, he owed much, very much, to his early education which gave me a sound knowledge of latin. . . . Many of us would be better than we are, if only we had been taught correctly the right things in our youth."

his work was in American history, and he wrote his senior thesis on James Mason of Virginia and his M.A. thesis on the election of 1800. At Iowa he taught in the introductory course in modern European history. There is no record of his teaching at Ohio, but it may have been there, in conversations with the medievalist Edgar McNeal, whom he also thanked in the preface to Le domaine, that he decided to get a doctorate in medieval history. It is unknown whether he applied to any American graduate schools or why he decided to go to Toulouse, except that he probably wanted to be as far away from Enid as possible.

In spite of the gap in the diary from 1925 to 1930, some entries shortly before and after these dates show that he was thinking about the nature of history at this time. In 1929 he explained to a classmate that in his view

There is no progress only change; every age works out its own problem and the ability of that age is devoted to solving that problem; the history of man is the history of how man has answered the various problems presented to him. Moreover man states the same thought in a new vocabulary each age.⁴⁶

Here as in his later discourse "Man's Place in Institutions" the stress on the problems of men in each differing age may have paralleled his own experience, as when he wrote in 1945 that he had to "resolve my problem." In March 1931 he speculated whether the neglect of the period of youth in classical biographies was attributable to the lack of female writers in antiquity,⁴⁷ and in the same entry he raised some questions about what is now called counterfactual history. In studying historical heroes and villains he said, "One should always ask 'what would one say if the other party had succeeded?'" He may have been thinking of himself when he asked, later that year, "Why doesn't someone explain history in the terms of inertia? That explains much—too much of human conduct." And on Columbus Day 1932 he thought of how much the world had changed since 1492.

I wonder if there is less romance than then, surely there is more comfort and individual liberty and opportunity for the average. Romance is a peculiar thing; it probably never existed save for a few and those few find it still today. Wish I could see Russia, Siberia and China.

His views of himself and of history are mingled in this passage, which suggests that for him the medieval past and exotic lands went together in his search for romance.

By the time the diary begins again late in 1930, Newman already felt that he had made a mistake.⁴⁸ "As I grow older, I seem less able to bury my-

⁴⁶ Two days later, he wrote, "The past ages were influenced by what they knew, the present by what it does not know—my idea."

⁴⁷ He returned to this idea in a conversation on 12 April 1942: "I brought up the topic of childhood and youth—the ancients and medievals did not write about it; the 19th C. did."

⁴⁸ In November 1930 he wrote, "I think I made a mistake to leave U.S. history; I shall never be good in M[iddle] A[ges], though it interests me," and in October 1931 he repeated that "I self in my work and crave more the companionship of someone who pleases me," he wrote in February 1931.

By nature I am not the slightest bit fitted for the work I have set out to do. . . . [I] might well change to modern History, but I feel it necessary to finish this thesis in Mediaeval in order to keep at least some of myself respect—enough for working purposes, otherwise there might be total demoralization.

This is the tone of many entries over the next six years, while he was working on the theses for his degree at Strasbourg and living first in Strasbourg and later in Paris and Brussels, where he went in part to get away from the professors whom he disliked and by whom he felt neglected. Late in 1933 he wrote, "Up to the present no professor has given me any aide," and in February 1936, "There is not a single professor in Europe with whom I have really gotten along. . . . They all want to make use of one."⁴⁹

The list of Newman's dislikes reads like an academic Almanach de Gotha of France and Belgium in the 1930s, headed by Bloch, Charles-Edmond Perrin, Louis Halphen, and Ferdinand Lot and, in Belgium, by Paul Bonenfant, François Ganshof, and Fernand Vercauteren. Even Joseph Calmette, who Newman thought treated him with courtesy, was for this reason not above the suspicion of hypocrisy. His opinions of scholars whom he knew only through their writings were equally harsh, and the diary includes many deprecating references to Achille Luchaire, Philippe Lauer, Charles Petit-Dutaillis, Léon Levillain, and others. He was enraged when Bloch and Perrin asked him to soften the tone of some criticisms in his theses, especially of Christian Pfister, who had been dean at Strasbourg, and he believed that these requests were motivated by a desire to protect their academic self-esteem.⁵⁰ He had better relations with some younger scholars, both Europeans and Americans, who were studying in Strasbourg, Paris, and Brussels at the same time as he was.⁵¹ After his return to the United States he kept in made a mistake from the practical point of view to enter Medieval History; it interests me but the language is too much for me." Six years later, after taking two doctorates in the field, he still felt, "I certainly made a mistake to go into medieval history due to languages and to the lack of teaching places."

⁴⁹ He considered more than once the possibility of transferring from Strasbourg to another university, especially on 11-12 July 1935. There is a list of universities and colleges (inserted in the diary for 1932) to which he sent copies of his Toulouse thesis and where he may have considered applying.

⁵⁰ Bloch particularly objected to Newman's criticisms of Lot and Luchaire but not of Flische, who he said "had never done any good work."

⁵¹ Among these were Philippe Dollinger, Maurice Rey, and Jean de Sturler, though he lost touch with them after he returned to the United States, and George Flahiff, who became a professor at the Pontifical Institute of Mediaeval Studies in Toronto (and later cardinal archbishop of Winnipeg) and who is one of the very few people of whom Newman had only good to say. In Brussels he met the Austrian Byzantinist Kurt Schweinburg, who was nine years older than he was and who in Newman's opinion was badly treated by Henri Grégoire. As a Jew, he was unable to get a job in Germany and eventually went to England where, according occasional touch with Aloysius Ziegler, who has already been mentioned, and Dayton Phillips, who later taught at Stanford. But on the whole he envied and mistrusted his colleagues and had close relations with none of them. Not until many years later, when his interest in medieval history revived in the late 1940s, did he have any good words to say of Bloch and Halphen.

The fault for this situation was doubtless to some extent divided. In part it was the result of cultural differences which led Newman's professors to take him less seriously than he expected, in view of the facts that he had an M.A. from Harvard and a doctorate from Toulouse and had taught history in the United States. While there is no reason to believe that he was worse treated than other research students, his professors may not have devoted much attention to a somewhat unprepossessing American who showed no special talent for medieval history and who, as time went on, increasingly kept his distance. Bloch in particular, who was never the most considerate of men, was at a critical stage in his own career in the mid-1930s, just before he moved to Paris, and behaved with a lack of civility which Newman felt amounted to rudeness. They got off to a bad start even before the diary recommences in 1930, since there are angry references to Bloch from the beginning: "he is always impolite and has nothing helpful to say" (3 December), "Bloch was punk today" (10 December), "I cannot tolerate him" (7 January), and so on. Occasionally there are favorable references after a more friendly encounter or a useful discussion, but on the whole Newman had no respect for Bloch either as a scholar or as a teacher. He regarded the subject of his principal thesis, which Bloch had proposed, as both impracticable and ill-conceived.⁵² "I expect Bloch to snicker and refuse my work," he wrote in 1934. "I believe he will be pleased at the chance of refusing me. He dislikes me."⁵³ Two years to the last reference to him in the diary, he was writing a book on Photios.

⁵² He laid the blame entirely on Bloch in 1934 when Louis Halphen refused to take him as a student and said that both theses were unacceptable: the catalogue because it was already being done and "The thesis principle because there could be nothing new in it from the angle I approached it." He believed that the Domaine was badly conceived and should be restricted to the Ile-de-France and based on more manuscript material. "He finds 1180 a stupid date, must go on to about 124- (the end of regency of St. Louis). 1137 — hopelessly impossible he finds." Halphen apparently added injury to insult by saying that the theses might be acceptable for a degree at Strasbourg but not at Paris.

I took care to say little of Bloch yet was forced twice to say frankly that he had given me the subject and never helped me to work on it. It is obvious that H. dislikes him. He bitterly condemned my having worked alone and thus knew nothing of what was going on.

Halphen's refusal to accept the theses was a particular disappointment because he had referred to The Kings as a "consciencieuse étude" in his Essor de l'Europe (Paris, 1932), p. 178.

⁵³ "The only thing is," he continued, "he would like to have a student publish." Newman was so discouraged at this time that he considered completing his theses "as independent pieces of work."

My desire to escape the nasty black future grows stronger. My escape cannot be through work later, in July 1936, when the thesis was nearing completion, he again expected "that Dam fool Bloch" would demand changes, and later that month wrote, "All my trouble has come from Bloch's incompetence and dishonesty — harsh words but true."⁵⁴

The situation with regard to his minor thesis was little better, though he chose the subject himself, after discovering the deficiencies in the catalogue of acts in Pfister's book on Robert II. He was at first pleased when Perrin agreed to direct it, praising his helpfulness and patience, but he was rapidly disillusioned with both the thesis and the director. "I wish I had never begun that catalogue," he wrote in May 1933, "I had no idea how much time it would take." Some justification is given to his charge of academic neglect by the fact that he found out only in August 1934 (and then not from his professors but from a work by Carl Stephenson published in 1926) that Eugène Martin-Chabot had been working on the same project for many years.⁵⁵ About this time Newman began to turn against Perrin and soon came to consider him no better than Bloch. "How I dislike those men," he wrote in June 1936, and referred a few days later to "their dishonesty and nonsense."

on history de Moyen Age. Can it be through other history? Or should I abandon the thing entirely and work in an office! That terrible idea of mediocrity and failure mock louder, beyond even hope or attempt to escape. . . . I am beaten. I know it. I almost admit it. But I'll go on ⁵⁴ With time Newman's opinion of Bloch mellowed, and he came to regard him more highly as a scholar, though his personal memories remained bitter. There is no reference to him in the diary from July 1937 until November 1940, when Newman heard from Charles Taylor at Harvard that Bloch was being brought to the New School for Social Research in New York: "I was not pleased; he is a good scholar but a fool otherwise and will just make enemies for the Jews." On this episode see Carole Fink, "Marc Bloch: The Life and Ideas of a French Patriot," Canadian Review of Studies in Nationalism 10 (1983), 245–246. Newman's comment marks an important change of attitude both in his recognition of Bloch's scholarly ability and in his allusion to Bloch as a Jew, which he had barely mentioned previously and stressed now undoubtedly as a result of his own experience at Ann Arbor and his contacts with Jewish refugee scholars. He presumably felt that Bloch's temperament would heighten the anti-Semitic prejudices in American institutions of higher learning. He made no comment, however, when he heard from Lynn White in May 1941 "that Marc Bloch has a job with the U. of California—whether at Berkeley or at Los Angeles he does not know, but he has not gotten out of France yet." The news of Bloch's death in June 1944 did not reach Newman until March 1947, when he noticed a reference to "the late Marc Bloch" in Speculum: "So he is dead. I felt sorry even though I did dislike him intensely personally." On 9 April 1948, after reading the eulogies of Bloch in Annales, he wrote that "he as thousands of other Jews was a victim to the Germans, horrible but I still don't like the eulogy."

⁵⁵ Halphen refused the topic for precisely this reason when they met in October 1934, though he admitted that "M.-C. would never live to see the work completed," which later proved true. Newman felt with some justice that he had been let down by his Strasbourg professors, but the fact that he was purposely out of touch with them and living at that time in Paris and Brussels may explain the situation.

He was delighted when he found a few mistakes in Perrin's Séigneurié rurale en Lorraine: "It would give me great pleasure to publish a note correcting his work as he has been so impolite and so sure of himself." In later entries he described Perrin as a "damn fool," "that idiot," and a "hypocrite" who "tried to delay and to 'sabotage' my work" and "is nothing less than a dishonest, ill bread upstart who has acquired a certain technical knowledge."

Newman's years in Europe, and especially from 1933 to 1937, were filled with unhappiness and self-doubt, and he took little satisfaction in his two doctorates and three books. His failure to mention the Strasbourg (unlike the Toulouse) degree in his Twenty-Fifth and Fiftieth Harvard Class Reports shows his abiding bitterness. His growing dislike of France and the French, towards whom he was initially well-disposed, is amply documented in his diary. "Dante should have had a trip to France," he wrote in May 1935, "the contact with the french would have given fresh material for l'Inferno." Almost his only source of pleasure was buying books. "When I am not working on my documents," he wrote in April 1932, "I dream about books," and his diary at this time reflects his excitement in studying and ordering from book catalogues. But even this enthusiasm waned with his declining interest in his research. Towards the end of the period he almost altogether stopped buying professional books, and did not begin again until his interest in medieval history revived in Seattle in 1948.⁵⁶

The most profound source of Newman's scholarly discontent during these years was his awareness that he had embarked on a course for which he was intellectually and temperamentally unsuited,⁵⁷ combined with his constitutional inability, owing in part to pride and independence, to obtain the help he needed from either his professors or his contemporaries. It is hard to believe that a scholar who studied under such eminent teachers was in reality more or less an autodidact. Already during his freshman year at Harvard he wrote that he would do better studying alone than in college, and he rarely took advantage of the many opportunities for learning which were presented to him. When he came to Europe in 1928 his only known preparation for the study of medieval history was Haskins's course, taken in his sophomore year, and a rusty knowledge of Latin and French. He was keenly aware of these deficiencies yet took no systematic steps to remedy them. Complaints at his ignorance of palaeography and of Latin and other languages run through the entries for these years. Although he wrote in 1973 that "I think in French for medieval history," he always had difficulties in writing it, while resenting the efforts of those who tried to correct it. When problems arose in preparing his theses, he refused to turn to the people who might have helped him but whose criticisms he considered inspired by jealousy or ill-will, and he blundered on by what he called "the direct method," "without any plan," saying that "Little by little it will get done, that is the only method I have ever known." The only criticism which he took seriously at the defense of his thesis (while resenting that it had not been made earlier) was Bloch's comment that he found the documents "very bad—and I suppose he is correct; I have always been much afraid of it."

⁵⁶ The acquisition list of books which he kept shows that his rate of buying was at its height in 1931-1932 and fell off sharply in 1933, when he was deeply discouraged about his work, though he still occasionally expressed a bookish enthusiasm, as when he discovered the rare supplement to the Ordonnances des rois de France, published about 1854. "I feel that I must have the 2 things I crave today," he wrote on 25 March 1933, "that book and that man as a close companion."

⁵⁷ In 1936 he tried "not to think of the real future, for I dread the years of teaching that lie ahead of me." "I get in a panic when I think of trying to teach," he wrote early in 1937. "I know next to nothing outside of my theses." Later that year, when he had been teaching at Michigan for just over a month and was working hard on his courses, he began to doubt whether he should continue teaching: "I dislike it and it will probably be worse as one repeats year after year." In later years he referred more than once to the routine and repetitiveness of teaching, which reinforced his reluctance to seek an academic position.

Newman's work on the theses included not only doing the research and writing them (in French) but also printing and publishing them, which was done at his own expense.⁵⁸ The diary includes some interesting details on his difficulties with the printers—and on their difficulties with him—and on his search for a distributor before settling on the Recueil Sirey in Paris, with which he shared the responsibility of sending out review copies.⁵⁹ The defense took place on 13 February 1937 in the Salle Pfister of the University of Strasbourg (which was ironic in view of Newman's low opinion of Pfister's work) before a committee of six professors, including Bloch and Perrin, each of whom Newman, to his dismay, had to visit on the previous day. The defense went smoothly, in spite of some criticisms of his work, and he was awarded the doctorate with a "mention très honorable," which Newman attributed to Perrin's "nervousness" and Bloch's determination to prevent "all unpleasant remarks on either side," which might reveal the scandalous misdirection, as Newman believed, of the theses.⁶⁰ He left the luncheon after the ⁵⁸ Seven hundred copies of the Domaine and five hundred of the Catalogue were printed, of which six went to the members of the degree committee, eighty-five to the University of Strasbourg, and sixty-eight of the Domaine and forty-four of the Catalogue were sent out by Newman himself. The distribution lists he kept show that copies of each work went to his brother Joseph (to whom the Domaine was dedicated), to two former teachers, Calmette and Freeman (to whom the Catalogue was dedicated), and to Harvard and the Royal and Free University libraries in Brussels. Twelve copies of the Domaine and six of the Catalogue went to personal and professional friends, and the remainder to professors of medieval history at universities in America and England, most of whom were strangers, presumably in the hope of finding a position. He took a keen interest in the letters of thanks and copied many of them verbatim into his diary.

⁵⁹ He himself sent copies to two American, two English, three Belgian, and one Dutch journal, and Sirey apparently sent out ten more to eight French and two Italian journals.

⁶⁰ It would have been interesting to know what Newman would have thought of the letters written by Bloch and Perrin to the dean of the Faculty of Letters of the University of Strasdefense "in a most unhappy mood," in spite of his satisfaction at obtaining the degree, and later that evening he felt oppressed by his lack both of the "knowledge necessary for latin editing" and, more seriously, of "enough courage to get away from Medieval History." A few days later, on 18 February, he described his feelings in greater detail:

The 2 books I have just done are unfair to any beginner; the Domaine demanded too wide a knowledge, yet gave no chance to show it, and the 2nd part demanded too much hunting, too much criticism of documents . . . and too much work on identifications of place names. The Catalogue was for a period very difficult and a region too diverse. Yet my work though in places contestable is far from bad. . . . We all make our mistakes. I had to do all my work alone, without guidance or the little received after the work was done was for the most part very bad.

This passage reflects a combination of insecurity, defensiveness, and self-satisfaction which characterized Newman's attitude towards his personal life as well as his scholarly work. By expressing an awareness of the faults of his own work, and blaming them on others, he prepared himself for the criticisms which he believed ill-wishing and envious colleagues would direct at his work.⁶¹ The books were in fact very well received, and their lasting value has been confirmed by time. They are the products of hard work and patient investigation, and like his later work, they eschew generalizations, of which he wrote in 1941, "I see so little in history except its uniqueness that such conceptions are difficult for me."⁶² It is hard to assess Bloch's influence on these works, especially since Newman ostensibly denied and even concealed it, owing to his dislike for Bloch and contempt for him as a scholar and teacher. Only in 1947 and 1948, after his death, did Newman recognize that Bloch was "France's outstanding scholar on Economic History and gave the impulsion so badly needed to many studies" and that "His real contribution was to raise questions in the light of much knowledge and understanding." This is probably true of Newman's own work, where Bloch's contribution bourg in October 1936, approving the printing of the theses. Bloch wrote that Newman had carried out his search "avec beaucoup de conscience, de méthode et d'esprit critique," and Perrin described the Catalogue as "une oeuvre vraiment neuve; de dimensions imposantes et qui rendra les plus grands services." I am indebted for copies of these letters to Professor Carole Fink.

⁶¹ In fact the only unfavorable review was that by Lot in the Journal des savants, which Newman attributed to personal spite. He considered the generally favorable review by Strayer in the American Historical Review "as nasty a thing as a person could do" on account of its brevity and mild praise. On the whole he took less interest in the reviews than might be expected, and he did not even mention Bloch's favorable notice in the Annales. But he was intensely annoyed with the Medieval Academy, and considered resigning, when he discovered that Speculum, which had not even listed his first book, had given away the Domaine and the Catalogue "without any intentions of a review."

⁶² He was probably pleased by the final sentence in Genicot's review of Les seigneurs de Nesle, cited below, p. xlviii.

was more to raise questions (including that of the royal domain) than to offer solutions or make substantive suggestions, so that Newman felt he was working entirely on his own. While in 1934 he feared that Bloch would insist on his adding "chapters on comparative history that I cannot give," five years later back in Cambridge he wrote, "I must do more comparative study; it awakens one to problems."

The influence of Bloch and the incipient Annales approach to history is more apparent in Newman's diary than in his published works. Already in April 1935, when the theses were nearing completion and he was beginning to look around for other subjects on which to work, he wrote a long entry—by far the longest of its type in the whole diary—showing the direction in which his historical ideas were moving:

While eating supper I composed a discourse on "Man's Place in Institutions", assumed that he created institutions to solve as best he can his actual problems as he sees his problems. To what extent has he usually accepted willingly the customs of the past and been willing to apply them. All through the Middle Ages, he was proud of his modernity yet he was conscious that he lived by custom. Did he apply les coutumes blindly? To what extent has he ever been willing to reopen continually the eternal question of his relations with his fellow man (political, economic, etc. institutions). The new method of harnessing animals made a big change in the XI-XIIth century, to what extent did he try to readjust his institutions and himself? To what extent are the more liberal leaders in communities, little towns, big towns, etc. trying to solve problems that no longer have a real importance? For example the transportation problem and good roads in the USA for short distance travel; it has ceased to be of importance yet gets great attention. Was that always so? To what extent has man ever been able to see the real problem that confronts him and not just its result without knowing what caused the result? The history of institutions should not merely be descriptive but should try to place the man's mind (attitude and thought) in the change. Has he ever tried to be a liberal in face of his institutions, has he created them frankly as a modus vivendi or as a system to which one must conform. Institutions show the solution arrived at, under certain specific conditions to solve a specific problem, conditions were always changing and what was man's place before the fact?

Just as the problems of man in history are largely unconscious, and have to be studied below the level of observable events, so such questions about the nature of medieval institutions and the conflicting claims of custom and innovation, especially technological innovation, rarely appear in Newman's published writings. They are reflected, however, in a list of "Possible Subjects" which is inserted into the volume of the diary for 1935-1937 and was probably written soon after he received his Strasbourg degree, though it incorporates earlier ideas.⁶³

⁶³ The list, the recto of which is reproduced on Figure 1, is written in different inks and corresponds in places with entries in the diary early in 1937. It is printed here verbatim, with the addition of numbering and a few changes in punctuation.

Possible subjects

1. The relation of royal abbayes to the King 1180-1226 (ou 1250).
2. The Meaning and history of Vicaria, viaria, advocatio in the Région of Ile-de-France 987-1226.
3. Recueil des Actes des Comtes de Vermandois à 1185.
4. A History of the Counts of Vermandois à 1185 (or to 1081).
5. Studies in the history of Agriculture in the régions Laonnais, Vermandois, Picardie in the XIth, XIIth and XIIIth centuries.
6. A study of the military service due Ph. Aug. et Louis VIII, from the point of view of the difference between the lists published by Audouin (Moyen Age 1912 and 1913) and the information drawn from Charters, such as those of Hornblières.
7. A Study of villes-neuves en Picardie, Vermandois, etc. An essay to show that the new method of attelage concorde with the defrichments and new towns chronologicly.
8. A study of agriculture words [and] institutional words—placitum, major villae, etc. in the actes of same region XII-XIIIth century (to 1250 [1226 crossed out]?).
9. The Cartul. of Corbie should furnish lots of technical information and because of what is known of that abbay for the IX^e s. should be especially interesting.
10. The XIth century kings of France and La Picardie—followed by many pièces justificatives.
11. A Collection of Charters of the bishops of Laon, Noyon and Soissons for the XIth century (Eleventh century episcopal charters for Picardie).
12. Some forged charters for Picardie in the XIth century.⁶⁴
13. Terms concerning roads (semita etc.) found in Picardian Charters.⁶⁵

Taken together, the “Discourse” and the list of “Possible Subjects” show that Newman had a more wide-ranging and speculative approach to history than appears in his books, where he tended to stick closely to the documents. His interest in men’s minds is shown as early as 1932, when he wrote after a discussion with Dayton Phillips that

He accepts whole heartedly the modern psychology (I should read some to be in line with what or how people are thinking) and also history of thought, both seem superficial to me. If one could write the history of thinking OK. but the history of expressed thought is likely to get merely the shell.⁶⁶

⁶⁴ “I wish I could find enough forgeries of the XIth century to publish a long study or short book about them” (27 February 1937).

⁶⁵ This is the first reference, aside from one on 3 April 1935, to Newman’s interest in medieval roads and communications. He discussed the topic with Carl Stephenson at the meeting of the American Historical Association in 1940, and mentioned it in 1947 among the projects he hoped to complete. In 16 September 1948 he decided that it could only be continued in France and wondered whether his material could be used for “a general economic view of France XI^e-XII^e c.” His “notes on Medieval Roads and Bridges” were among those burned in 1967.

⁶⁶ Newman then discussed his differences from Phillips, who wanted to make money, marry,

Possible subjects

The relation of royal abbeyees to the King 1180-1226 [or 1250]

The Meaning & history of Vicaria, viraria, advocatio in the Région of Nord-France 1187-1226.

Un Recueil des Actes des Comtés de Vermandois à 1185.

A History of the County of Vermandois à 1185. [or to 1081]

Studies in ~~agricultural~~^{the} history of Agriculture in the régions Lavoirs, Vermandois, Picardie in the XIth, XIIth & XIIIth centuries.

A study of the military service due Ph. Aug. et Louis VIII.

from the point of view of the difference between the lists published by Audouin (Major 1172 & 1173) & the information drawn from Charters, such as those of Honfleur.

A Study of ville-names in Picardie, Vermandois, etc.

An essay to show that the new method of attelage concorde with the definants & new towns chronology.

A study of agricultures ^{comme} ^{institutional mode - plantation} } in the acts of same regions ^{major villes} } XII-XIIIth century (to 12th c?).

The Cart. of Corbie should furnish lots of technical information & because of what is known of that abbey for the IX^c.
should be especially interesting.

The XIth century kings of France & la Picardie — followed by many pieces justification.

A Collection of Original Charters of the Bishop of Laon, Noyon & Soissons for the XIth century (Eleventh century original charters for Picardie)

Some forged charters for Picardie in the XIth century (Eleventh
c.)

1. Newman's Research Interests, ca. 1937

Like the reference to comparative history, this one was prophetic since in 1940 he began to read extensively in psychology. In April 1940 he wrote, "Although I work at history during the day, my interest is in psychology—to which I devote each evening."

By this time his interests had largely moved out of the Middle Ages into other fields. His growing disillusionment with medieval history and his sense that he was incompetent to study it were reinforced after his return to the United States both by his great difficulty in finding an academic position—he wrote 128 letters in 1937, 41 in 1938, and 77 in 1939—and by his failure at the University of Michigan, which confirmed his dislike of teaching and also his distrust of colleagues who were more successful than he was,⁶⁷ though he was still on friendly terms with contemporaries and younger scholars who presented no threat to his own career or self-esteem. He attended his last meeting of the American Historical Association in 1940,⁶⁸ and was relieved that he did not have to attend the meeting of the Medieval Academy in Princeton in 1941.⁶⁹ During the years in Cambridge, from 1938 to 1942, he continued to read books on medieval subjects and for the most part to judge them very severely.⁷⁰ Almost the only books of which he expressed real approval at this time were Joseph Strayer's Normandy under Saint Louis, which he and become a dean or college president—"The exact opposite of what I think" (12 July 1932). Phillips was almost the only friend who knew anything about Newman's private life, including his affair with the hotel student.

⁶⁷ "How does [Charles] Taylor who has never published a book become Associate professor at Harvard!" he asked in May 1937, and later when Taylor became a captain in army intelligence, "How did he get it? Through influence undoubtedly." Others whom he met, some at meetings of the American Historical Association and the Medieval Academy, he described as "mediocre," "loud and crude," "a snob and show off," "that fool . . . openly hostile . . . far from polite," and "very reserved and brief."

⁶⁸ There is a long and interesting account in the diary of the meeting of the American Historical Association in Chicago in late December 1938, when Newman met (in addition to his old friends Ziegler and Phillips) Gray Boyce, Florence and Raymond De Roover (whom he had met in Belgium), John La Monte, Henry Lucas (whom he later saw in Seattle), Loren McKinney, Gaines Post, R. L. Reynolds, Joseph Strayer (whose review he had so disliked), Palmer Throop (who later taught at Michigan), and Lynn White. He admitted that people were nice and that he enjoyed the meeting (28 and 31 December 1938), unlike the previous meeting, which was "a failure so far as I am concerned" (29–30 December 1937). He also attended the meetings in 1939 and 1940 (see n. 65 above), but no others in the period covered by the diary or, in all probability, ever.

⁶⁹ He maintained his membership in the Academy, but he wrote on 19 February 1946, "I never look at the publications and yet think it best to belong to something."

⁷⁰ He found Ernst Kantorowicz's Frederick II "painted too much and sometimes inaccurate" and "good but too long and one wishes he would leave Napoleon out of it," and he said of David Knowles's Monastic Order in England that "it seems as though I shall never finish it." Other works, some by well-known scholars, he found "the worst piece of its kind I have ever seen," "most disappointing," "a thin study," "a very disappointing bit of editing," "superficial," "a curious book," "long winded and so far nothing new," and "another of those hopeless Columbia products."

called "a nice clear piece of work without bluff," his friend Dayton Phillips's Beguines in Medieval Strasbourg ("a nice piece of work"), and "the excellent study" by the Danish historian Johan Plesner on thirteenth-century Italian roads. From August 1942 until early in 1948 Newman is not known to have read any book on medieval history. His only sign of interest in the Middle Ages during his years in St. Louis was to attend a lecture on medieval music in July 1943. He still read general works on history, but as an amateur rather than as a professional. In May 1946 he wrote that "I really have not lost faith in history for it should furnish the background for parallel social studies to that I just read for China—but it is so much more difficult for the period in which I work."

Newman returned to the study of medieval history only when, after moving to Seattle, it became clear that he could find no other type of employment. In March 1947 he considered returning to France "to publish 2 volumes and gather more material for my work on roads," and he wrote after hearing of Marc Bloch's death, "I plan a lot on finishing the 3 books I began—the cartulary, the bibliography of printed cartularies, and the study of communications Xth century to 1250." Early in 1948 he took the important step of ordering fifteen scholarly books, and on 31 January, his forty-sixth birthday, he wrote:

I wish very much to publish 2 of the books I worked on and push my work on the 3rd one (the one on roads and bridges). I may have to spend a fair sum of money each year for books and also spend a few months in U. of Calif. library but the real work must await a trip to France.

The book catalogue he received in March was "the first I've seen in 10 or 12 years. . . . It was like old times to look through it." He stopped buying rugs because "French books are more important," and his acquisition list shows that he spent almost $600 on books in 1948.⁷¹ He sent for the books which were in storage in St. Louis and wrote in June, "Since my books came I have not wanted to be with anyone." On 1 July he wrote, "My work has become very interesting to me once again, and I think I'll be able to acquire enough books to work here."

He also began again to read serious works on medieval history and judged them in a more generous spirit than before. On 9 February 1948, two days after borrowing Powicke's Henry III and the Lord Protector from the University of Washington library, he described it as "a very able work" and said, "I wish I could write a real work for France, but Luchaire did it for the XI-XII centuries." He even relented towards some of his old enemies and expressed a high opinion of Halphen's Charlemagne and of Bloch's Caractères originaux, of which he wrote in 1932 that "I don't think much of it" but now found "really good," adding later, "I get more out of it now than formerly when I was too critical because I disliked him." In June he wrote, "The more I read of Déléage's book [La vie rurale en Bourgogne] the more I marvel; it makes most French books on rural conditions seem like child's play." Some of his old venom remained and was used for books he disliked, such as Lemarignier on homage and Oursel on the origins of commerce in Dijon. Although he was pleased to be asked to review Dhondt's Naissance des principautés territoriales for Speculum—"This is the first time I have been recognized"—he was unfavorably impressed by the book and its author, who struck him as "a conceited ass of the worst sort." The first version of the review sounded "more like an attack on the man than the book," but after revision, "It is very different and relatively mild."

⁷¹ He was particularly pleased to obtain volume 2 of the cartulary of St-Corneille at Compiègne, of which volume 1 had been the first cartulary he had bought, seventeen years earlier, in 1931. This enthusiasm continued in Paris in the 1950s and early 1960s, and at the time of his death he had almost a thousand works on medieval history.

The important point for Newman was that he was again at work, and taking pleasure in historical research for almost the first time since 1933. In two entries written twelve days apart in October 1948 he said, "It is paradise to live this way and have so much—books and the time to read them and plan to write" and "This is near heaven, to live this way—will it last? He felt an urge to write on a new topic, since the project on medieval roads seemed increasingly impracticable. In mid-November he wrote, "I must get to work on an article or book and stop just reading etc. I have now gotten back into the work for enough for that. But what subject?" In December of the following year, shortly before he went to France and near the end of the diary, he was still worrying:

If I could only find a topic to work on, all would be well with me; it is peculiar I can never find any, other people do. It must not require archival work of any length. I may continue on bridges but that does not suit me; it would probably have to be an article and I want to write a book.

Newman's visit to France in 1950 and above all his extended stay there from 1952 to 1963 allowed him to do the archival work upon which his most original and important book was based. This was his second and most successful period of sustained scholarly activity, though it is less documented than the first because he no longer kept a diary. A slip dated 29 July 1950 shows that he was going through the charters of the Collection Moreau at that time, and by 1954 he had completed the collections of the charters of Homblières, St-Fursy of Péronne, and Mont-Saint-Quentin.⁷² During the following nine years he not only completed the Seigneurs de Nesle and gathered the material for his study of the personnel of the cathedral of Amiens (to which he referred in a letter dated 11 March 1962) but also collected the charters of Arrouaise and made copies and analyses of literally thousands of other documents from many of the principal churches and monasteries in the dioceses of Amiens, Beauvais, Laon, Noyon, Senlis, and Soissons.⁷³

⁷² See the letter dated 21 July 1973 to Paul Meyvaert at the Medieval Academy. The statement in the preface to St-Fursy, p. vii, that Newman prepared these editions "in the decade after World War II" is misleading, since much of the work on the charters of Homblières was done before the war, and there is no evidence that he worked on St-Fursy or Mont-Saint-Quentin before 1950.

Although Newman seems to have been happier at this time than during his previous stay in Europe, owing to a measure of financial security and professional recognition, he was still pursued by doubts about his work. On 16 March 1956 he wrote,

I get side-tracked on copying documents that I hope (?) will someday help me and the weeks fly by and nothing is accomplished on the subject on which I am working. Then I get blue about the fact that I make no headway!

In September of the same year he wrote, "I enjoy the work and that's a lot, but I would enjoy making a little progress." Later he said of the Seigneurs de Nesle that "like Topsy it just grew and grew, and ended by being something I never dreamed of when I began. I let the subject lead me where it would." In spite of his doubts, his notes show that the work advanced steadily, and the text was completed by June 1961.

The process of publication took longer than that of preparation, and his letters over the next decade, until 1971, when the book finally appeared, are filled with remarks showing that the thin-skinned Newman of the diary, quick to take offense and to assume bad will, was still alive within the outwardly reserved scholar. "The whole idea of my doing the work was absurd," he wrote in October 1963, "but one always learns too late." Three years later he believed the book would go to press early in 1967, and he expressed his gratitude to Pierre Legendre and Jean-François Lemarignier, who successively handled the French end of the matter. But as time went on, and delay followed delay, he became embittered both with them and with Joseph Strayer, who acted for the American Philosophical Society in co-publishing the work with the Société d'histoire du droit des pays flamands, picards, et wallons.⁷⁴ He "blew up" at the society early in 1970 and in April of 1971 had a lawyer write on his behalf "demanding exact information and adding that I intended to take legal action unless the book was printed in the near future." This drastic step fortunately proved unnecessary, since the book was published later that year.

⁷³ He thus fulfilled his dream of November 1936 "to someday have copies—photographs or ms.—of most of the important cartularies and fonds of the region around St-Quentin." Aside from a very few copies made for him in distant libraries, these are all in Newman's own hand and show that he did not use assistants for his primary research, though a note at the beginning of St-Fursy (p. xxii) and of his typescript of Hornblières thanked Jean-Baptiste Giard for collating the texts of these charters and those of Mont-Saint-Quentin.

⁷⁴ In letters dated 22 March and 2 June 1971 he described the conduct of Strayer and Lemarignier as "dishonorable" and called Legendre "dishonest." What the real difficulties (aside from Newman's impatience) were is uncertain, but he believed that the publication had been deliberately held up and part of his work stolen.

The Seigneurs de Nesle is undoubtedly Newman's most important historical work and was recognized as such at the time it appeared. The only regret expressed by reviewers, aside from minor points, was the absence of any real generalizations outside the fifteen-page introduction, and even this absence was praised by Genicot as showing the real diversity of life in the Middle Ages. "Certainly [there were] parallels, seen here in the place of the aristocracy in the ruling circles of the church. But beside or underneath them, what divergences! Let this discourage you from still seeking to discover general traits." The book really consists of two works: one a collection of documents drawn from fifty-five collections, and the other a series of genealogical studies and charts based on the documents. In some ways the work appears to be almost as far as could be from what might be expected from a student of Marc Bloch and the Strasbourg school of the 1930s, and Newman doubtless went out of his way, as in his previous books, to minimize the debt. His book owed its success not only to its detailed scholarship, however, but also to the fact that it was inspired by a largely tacit sense of the importance in the study of medieval history of local societies, noble prosopography, and the close interrelation of family and institutions in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries.

Newman in his published writings was a nominalist, and he found it easier to confront big questions in private than in public. Among his papers is a small sheet written on both sides, like the "Possible Subjects" cited above, entitled "Some Ideas for a study of 'noblesse de l'église' au XII-XIII^e s." Much of the first side is crossed out with two large crosses, perhaps because he felt the points listed there were covered in the Seigneurs de Nesle, but it is still of interest.

Take just 2 diocèses Noyon and Soissons.

What abbeys and chapters were especially patronized by what families?

Were there several families as benefactors at the same period?

Did these families consistently put their sons and daughters in these monasteries? And did some of their children enter other houses?

Was there a difference in this matter between abbeys and chapters of canons?

Remember that canons were more [crossed out] (?) important in the XI-XII c. than abbeys.

The same question regarding the bishops and the cathedral chapter.

After a series of particular questions he continued:

This should be viewed as a chapter in the history of the noblesse. There was a lay noblesse and an ecclesiastical noblesse. What relationship?

What light does this throw on the monarchy and its relation to bishoprics and abbeys? Was it different or parallel to that of the "petit noblesse de province"?

Was there a difference between the role of the grand noblesse and le petit noblesse? In England in the XII and early XIII^c s. monasteries were founded chiefly by le petit noblesse.

Les grand familles de commerce—comme à Arras—avaient-elles un rôle dans la noblesse de l'Eglise?

La noblesse de l'Eglise et l'erudition—did any or many of the great minds come from them?

Basis of such study is correct genealogy of many (?) families or only a few. How many families for a bishopric?

This should also throw light on the extent to which the church and political life was local. If the monasteries and bishoprics were under local control or not. Even when the king or the duke or count—depending upon the region—had the right to refuse the elected candidate as bishop, did he accept on the whole the local candidate? When he did not do so, what was the reason—family ties or politics in the larger sense, or—?

Men such as Saint Bernard used their influence to have certain men selected as abbots. Did this really upset the picture of local family control or did they act within the sphere, recognizing the legitimate and necessary role of powerful families.

When one has made such a study does it show that monasteries recognized the "necessity" for local protection?

It is customary to say that the monarchy—and probably the dukes and counts—recruited their principal advisers from the clergy—bishops and abbots. There was also (especially after about 1160) the permanent lay (civil) servants, who knew the law and who as baillis, prévôts royaux, etc. administered the law. From what families were these people recruited? Ex. Beaumanoir etc. Did they represent—as is generally thought—a conscious force against localism in favor of centralization? If so was this a revolt against the local families (I doubt it, for local families were accepted as the normal thing).

A document like this makes the reader regret that Newman did not address these questions in the Seigneurs de Nesle. His published works, like his visible life, were marked by a reticence which gives an appearance of calmness and solidity, but it was the product of an inner questioning and speculation which give his works a broader significance than appears on the surface.

Newman was certainly gratified by the success of the Seigneurs de Nesle, though the struggle over its publication reopened some old wounds and left its own scars. In July 1971 he wrote, "If it had not been for my ms. life would have been nearly ideal here except a little lonely, as I know almost no one." In the long run he felt both relieved and encouraged, and in his 1972 Christmas letter he said that "once my Sgs de Nesle was published, I relaxed and became a different being." Earlier that year he wrote:

Since my book arrived on Feb. 1st, I got up enough courage to haul down from the top closet shelf my ms. on "The Dignitaries of the Cathedral of Amiens". The research was completed before I left Paris in April 1972 [recte 1963] (that seems like ages and ages ago). And with much effort succeeded in revising the 120 notes and typing them, then did likewise for the genealogy of the Heilly family which played such a big rôle in the chapter in the 12th century, and thirdly I somehow hammered out a few pages of introduction. Ah! After 9 years of not writing French except in a few letters, it was tough going.

This work was published, at Newman's own expense, under the supervision of his friend Nicolas Huyghebaert. Presumably at about the same time he wrote his article on the charter from St-Crépin-le-Grand at Soissons, which appeared in the Revue Mabillon in 1973. This was his last scholarly work, aside from the cartularies of St-Fursy, Homblières, and Mont-St-Quentin, which were all completed many years before his death.

THE CARTULARY OF HOMBLIÈRES

CHARTERS LAY at the basis of all Newman's historical writing, and there was no type of source he loved more than a cartulary. At times he was a bit fearful of the attractions of collecting charters. "I don't get down to really study enough anymore," he wrote in May 1931, "that business of copying charters and looking through books for them developed a bad habit of semi-attention to what I was doing." Soon after taking his degree, in February 1937, he said that working on the chronology of the charters for the Catalogue was bad "both for reputation and for imagination," though he thought it was what he did best. Anyone who has worked on medieval charters will understand what Newman meant, and also why he succumbed so easily to their charms. "A cartulaire is always welcome," he wrote in January 1932, after buying two that he did not particularly need.

I am quite convinced that documents are the thing to buy; one reads a book and seldom rereads or refers to it—unless it is something special and one is working on the same field, and usually one can take full notes and be done—but one rereads documents 10 or 15 times and refers to them again and again.

When he began buying books again, in November 1948, and received some volumes of uninteresting memoires, he wrote, "It is the old story; they are nice to have and one learns something but the money would have been better spent on Latin texts."

Newman's interest in charters inevitably brought him to the study of forgeries, upon which he later hoped to write an article or monograph. A discussion about some charters with Bloch in February 1932 aroused, or re-aroused, his suspicions about other charters: "I feel it necessary to investigate. But that takes time." In December of that year he for the first time expressed a desire to edit a cartulary. "I wish I could edit the charters of one of the important monasteries of Loiret as La Cour Dieu, Micy St Mesmin, St Euvert, St Liphard de Meung." Almost the only moments of scholarly pleasure which he had during his years of work on his theses were from charters, and these included some pure joy in addition to the satisfaction of scoring off other scholars. In February 1933 he commented,

Had good luck. Found a copie (XI^e ou XII^e s) of a charte published by Prou—he did not know the copy. Found a fine copy of a charter I had been working on and wish to publish—the copy unknown to Luchaire. Found a charter unknown to Luchaire. Quite a day's work!

Later that year, when he began working on the original charters of Robert the Pious, he simply commented, "It was a joy to have them in my hands."

As time went on Newman became increasingly convinced that his scholarly forte lay in cataloging and studying medieval documents, and he developed more positive plans for editing a cartulary. In October 1934, after his depressing interview with Halphen—when he was considering publishing his two books independently if no university would accept them as theses for a degree—he wrote, "I'll let the future take care of itself—may go into modern history, may edit a cartulaire." In conjunction with "Man's Place in Institutions," which he composed in his mind in April 1935, he also "composed a discourse to myself on the value of indications of lost charters for history,"⁷⁵ and in June of that year he expressed a rare note of satisfaction with his own work when he said, "Catalogues can be very important, they are seldom well done" and, a few days later, "My catalogue, I consider a good piece of work." His most serious hesitation about editing a cartulary was his fear of linguistic and palaeographical inadequacy. "If ever I learn enough latin to edit easily; I shall have no more trouble," he wrote in October 1936. By the mid-1930s Newman's interests had begun to concentrate geographically in northeastern France, and especially the regions of Picardy, Vermandois, and Laon. Ten of the thirteen "Possible Subjects" on the list compiled about 1937 dealt with this area, and three of them were collections of charters. In March 1937, when he was touring provincial libraries looking for charters before returning to the United States, he wrote,

I have a tendency to forget my real object here and lose myself in all sorts of interesting charters of the period. . . . I cannot understand why someone has not published and worked on these precious actes of the XIth century—it is a great neglect and I may find my real life's work right there.

The cartulary of Homblières is first mentioned in the diary in late February 1936,⁷⁶ when he referred to copying the charters of Homblières published by Melville and by Collette and remarked, "I don't know whether it is worth reediting them or not. . . . I must count how many are inédit and to what degree they offer a real study."⁷⁷ He returned to the subject at the end of this entry, much of which dealt with "a very disagreeable letter from Mother," a painful memory of a quarrel between his parents, and his bitterness against Vercauteren, for misleading him about the new edition of Gams, and against his professors. He concluded, "Tomorrow I can decide whether it is worthwhile studying the chartes of Homblières," but he in fact remained in a state of indecision for several days, during which he estimated the number of unedited charters and looked especially for forgeries, of which he thought there must be many among the charters from the second half of the tenth century.⁷⁸ On 2 March he was still doubtful in view of the number of published acts, but the following day, when he found a few more early unpublished charters, he decided to go ahead, remarking that "anyhow I need something to keep me busy just now." It was a settled matter by 7 March, when he was in a hopeful mood after finding that his finances were in better order than he feared: "The next year will be excellent for me—if all goes well—I shall print 2 books, prepare the small cartulaire, gather material for another study and also try to learn more latin and German."

⁷⁵ Such a work, he thought, would render "real service for géographie historique, etc., though not for institutions."

⁷⁶ One of his working notes on the charters of Homblières is date-stamped 5 October 1935, but this may be a slip Newman already had.

This feeling of euphoria evaporated as the extent and difficulty of the task became clear. The work on the cartulary so wore Newman out that on 10 March he went to bed with a headache, and on 25 March, after discovering that two more acts were published, he wrote:

It is good for me that I have this work that I can do and so divert my mind from my theses, but I am nevertheless a bit tormented at not having found a real subject in history. I like editing but I am not as well fitted for it as I am for history. It is well to edit this small cartulaire; I have long wished to do such a piece of work but I should have some subject in history at the same time.

In the following weeks he puzzled over the sources of the published texts, which he believed Halphen had got wrong, and the never ending problems of place names, especially Caviniacus, and on 5 April he commented that "The cartulaire will take much more work than I had counted on, but that doesn't make any difference." At that time he was waiting for photographs of the manuscripts, which he had in hand by 24 June, when he recorded that their total expense was 2,118 francs.⁷⁹ There are occasional further references to the cartulary during his final year in Europe. Most of them deal with the amount of work and the problems encountered, especially in dating the ⁷⁷ He remarked in particular on one which he believed Lauer had missed in his collection of the acts of Louis IV.

⁷⁸ In the entries for 29 February and 2 March 1936 he examined Lauer's opinion of Louis IV's act of 947, which he was "inclined to think" was a forgery.

⁷⁹ This was a substantial sum in view of the fact that his total living expenses for June and July were 1,720 francs.

charters, and occasionally with his doubts over the wisdom of spending his time editing, as he wrote on 7 March 1937, instead of writing history, certainly it is very difficult to make a reputation in that way—reputation does not interest me but with it comes less teaching, more pay and more time for research.

A month later a crisis arose when Newman discovered that he had lost some notes at Beauvais three days before he sailed, and the shadow this cast over his spirits lasted until he almost miraculously recovered them in June. "This is the best thing possible, much better than getting a job."⁸⁰

There is no further reference to the cartulary for almost ten years, but in late February 1947, after he had moved to Seattle and began to realize that he would not find employment there, he wrote, "If I had my notes, I could at least put the cartulary in shape for publication but there is no way to get them." Three weeks later, in mid-March, he again wrote, "If I had my library and notes, I could at least work on my cartulary and also get the ms for the bibliography of cartularies into tentative shape." The cartulary was in the front of his mind as his interest in historical research revived, and after his books and notes had arrived in October 1948 he "began looking at my notes gathered for the Cartulary of N.-D. d'Homblières and other material of the diocese of Noyon, Laon etc." His heart clearly sank, however.

As I looked at some transcriptions of mss charters with unresolved abbreviations, I felt that I could never go back to that sort of thing. I never was 1st rate at paleography, and I felt a beaten old man. . . . I would probably be happier away from scholarship in an active life.

But the following day he decided to go ahead with the edition, perhaps getting someone to check the more difficult abbreviations, and a month later, on 21 November, after looking at some of his notes on roads and on the charters he "decided I must work each day on Homblières and thus finally finish it, and never again try to edit." Two days of this strict regime proved enough, however, and on 23 November he wrote, "Sometimes I wonder why I feel obliged to go on with this sort of work—chiefly because I have never found anything else to do."

The cartulary of Homblières is mentioned in at least twenty-five entries between November 1948 and January 1950, which reflect the progress of the work and Newman's feelings about it. In mid-December 1948 he wrote, "This is hopelessly slow work and in fact it will take me a year at this rate and I cannot keep at it so steadily for it will get stale on me." He was working in January on a charter "that has been giving me much trouble," in February on the bull of 1124, in May on the bull of 1169 ("which I have dreaded for months"), in August on the charter of 1251 and another late charter in which he was not particularly interested, and in September on a troublesome charter of 1285 (of which he decided to publish only an analysis, in order to save time) and on the 1291 charter. "I shall be relieved when this editing job is done," he wrote on 4 September, and two days later he expressed a common feeling of scholars when he said, "It is warm tonight, the full moon is beautiful from where I write but I must stick to transcribing the 1292 [1291] charter — just why I do not know." Later that month he discovered a new eleventh-century charter which had to be dated and inserted in its proper place, but by mid-October he had done all he could before going to France, and he began to think of new projects.

⁸⁰ On the following day, 11 June 1937, he sent rewards of 50 and 60 francs respectively to the two officials at Beauvais "who saved and found my notes."

Meanwhile he had been working on a series of special problems arising out of the charters. In July he was puzzled by a single abbreviation which he found in four charters, and in August he examined a list of mansi on which he could not comment "for regardless of how I analyze it, its purpose is not clear to me." Even after he had done what he could with the texts, he had to study general questions, such as how the cartulary was compiled and when it was written. Late in October

I sat down at my desk and worked until 1:15 studying the order in which the charters had been copied in the cartulary; heretofore I had not been able to make head or tails of it; the thing became clear as I made a list of the chief object of each document; they were grouped by subject matter, i.e. altars together, tithes together, etc. It all requires hours of work to determine; so much of human life is just that.

When on the following day he studied his work "on the order in which acts were copied in the cartulary, it didn't prove much of anything, so I typed about 3/4 of a page about it, and that is that." He worked on the tables until mid-November, and finally, after a month of worries over his own health and a friend's dishonesty, he got to the index, which he typed up in January. "Early this evening finished typing the index," he wrote on 21 January 1950, "heaven be praised." Since the diary ends two weeks later, when Newman left Seattle for France, it throws no further light on his edition of the cartulary of Homblières. It is possible that the edition was destroyed in the bonfire of "notes, copies of medieval documents, etc. all taken before August 1952 (date when I left Seattle for good for France)" and that the work was redone while he was in France and then survived the bonfire of September 1963, which included "a huge pile of notes concerning Med. Hist. — everything I had except the many transcriptions of charters taken since Sept. 1952." More probably he kept the material because it was so nearly ready for publication.

Two considerations may explain why he failed to take the final step of publishing it himself. The first is that in spite of the long period between the inception of the project and its completion, he in fact worked on it only during the two periods from March 1936 until April 1937 (when he was also completing, publishing, and defending his theses) and from October 1948 until January 1950, and this may have been too little time given the size of the job. The second and related consideration is Newman's doubts about his ability to carry out a task requiring a high degree of technical training. Though Newman enjoyed editing and dating charters more than most types of historical research, he was acutely aware of his lack of formal preparation and of the deficiencies in his knowledge of Latin and of palaeography. The project to publish the cartulary of Homblières was therefore to some extent a paradigm of Newman's other historical undertakings, into which he felt he was drawn to some extent against his will and by circumstances beyond his control. While he started with enthusiasm, partly because he needed something to do, the project rapidly became an incubus, and he was not fully satisfied with the result.⁸¹ He stuck with the project, however, which was in effect the springboard for his work on the lords of Nesle and the cathedral chapter of Amiens. In publishing the cartulary at this time, therefore, almost exactly fifty years after Newman began to work on it, we are presenting a work which was close to his heart for over forty years, and one which forms the principal link between his early work on the royal domain and the acts of Robert II and his mature work on northeastern France in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries.

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF WILLIAM MENDEL NEWMAN

Printed Works

1929

The Kings The Court And The Royal Power In France In The Eleventh Century. (Université de Toulouse: Faculté des Lettres Année 1928–1929.) Toulouse: Imprimerie Henri Cléder. Pp. xix, 162.⁸²

Review:⁸³ F. M. P[owicke], in English Historical Review 47 (1932), 149.

⁸¹ One of the few criticisms of his thesis which Newman accepted was with regard to the documents (see p. xxxix above), and he was doubtless aware of the imperfections in his edition of the charters of Homblières, which did not in every respect come up to the high standard he expected of himself as well as others.

⁸² This reproduces the capitalization and punctuation of the original. On the cover of Newman's own copy the title is printed: The Kings, the Court and the Royal Power in France in the Eleventh Century.

⁸³ The lists of reviews are based on Newman's own records, the indications in the Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique, and (for St-Fursy) on the publisher's files. Only significant reviews, more than simple notices, have been mentioned.

1937

Le domaine royal sous les premiers capétiens (987-1180). Paris: Recueil Sirey. Pp. xxiii, 276, 5 maps.

Catalogue des actes de Robert II roi de France. Paris: Recueil Sirey. Pp. xxxii, 211.

Reviews: Marc Bloch, in Annales d'histoire économique et sociale 10 (1938), 260-261 (Domaine).

J. W. Bosch, in Tijdschrift voor Rechtsgeschiedenis 15 (1936-1937), 482-485 (Domaine).

Jan Dhondt, in Revue belge de philologie et d'histoire 17 (1938), 323-326 (Catalogue) and 326-331 (Domaine).

Philip Grierson, in English Historical Review 53 (1938), 691-694 (Domaine and Catalogue).

Louis Halphen, in Revue historique 187 (1939), 115-116 (Catalogue).

Robert Latouche, in Revue des questions historiques 66 (1938), 103-105 (Catalogue).

Jean-François Lemarignier, in Le Moyen Age 49 (3 series, 10; 1939), 49-54 (Domaine and Catalogue).

Emile Lesne, in Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique 34 (1938), 108-109 (Domaine and Catalogue).

Ferdinand Lot, in Journal des Savants, 1938, pp. 5-15 (Domaine).

B. A. Pocquet du Haut-Jussé, in Revue d'histoire de l'église de France 24 (1938), 78-79 (Domaine).

Joseph R. Strayer, in American Historical Review 43 (1937-1938), 186-187 (Domaine and Catalogue).

G[aston] Z[eller], in Revue d'Alsace 84 (1937), 467-469.

1949

Review of Jan Dhondt, Etudes sur la naissance des principautés territoriales en France (IX^e-X^e siècle), in Speculum 24:117-119.

Review of Louis Dupraz, Le royaume des Francs et l'ascension politique des maires du palais au déclin du VII^e siècle (656-680), in Speculum 24:427-428.

1953

"Pontlevoy et le domaine royal," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 111:234-235.

1965

Review of George T. Beech, A Rural Society in Medieval France: The Gâtine of Poitou in the Eleventh and Twelfth Centuries, in Speculum 40:123.

Review of Sydney M. Brown, trans., The Register of Eudes of Rouen, in Speculum 40:493-496.

1966

Review of Jean-François Lemarignier, Le gouvernement royal aux premiers temps capétiens (987-1108), in Speculum 41:551-553.

1967

Review of Charles T. Wood, The French Apanages and the Capetian Monarchy, 1224-1328, in Speculum 42:217-218.

1970

Review of Robert Fossier, La terre et les hommes en Picardie jusqu'à la fin du XIII^e siècle, in Speculum 45:467-470.

1971

Les seigneurs de Nesle en Picardie (XII^e-XIII^e siècle). Leurs chartes et leur histoire. (Bibliothèque de la Société d'histoire du droit des pays flamands, picards et wallons, 27.) Paris: A. et J. Picard. (Memoirs of the American Philosophical Society, 91, pt. 1.) Philadelphia: American Philosophical Society. 2 vols. Pp. 359, 431, 36 genealogical charts, 1 map.

Reviews: John Benton, in Speculum 49 (1974), 135-138 (with Personnel).

Jacques Boussard, in Journal des Savants, 1973, pp. 303-305.

Luc Dubar, in Cahiers de civilisation médiévale 17 (1974), 174-175.

Georges Duby, in Revue historique 252 (1974), 483-484.

Jean-Marie Duvosquel, in Revue belge de philologie et d'histoire 52 (1974), 468-469.

Guy Fourquin, in Revue du Nord 56 (1974), 101-104.

Léopold Genicot, in Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique 67 (1972), 436-442.

Roger Howell, Jr., in Erasmus 25 (1973), 821-823.

Jean Lestocquoy, in Revue d'histoire de l'église de France 67 (1972), 365-367.

Dietrich Lohrmann, in Deutsches Archiv 29 (1973), 562-566.

1972

Le personnel de la cathédrale d'Amiens (1066-1306). Paris: A. et J. Picard. Pp. 55.

Reviews: See Benton above.

Jacques Pycke, in Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique 69 (1974), 272-273.

1973

"L'acte de Téulf pour Saint-Crépin-le-Grand de Soissons (1135)," Revue Mabillon 58:165-175.

1977

(with Mary A. Rouse) Charters of St-Fursy of Péronne. (Mediaeval Academy of America, Publication 85.) Cambridge, Mass.: Mediaeval Academy of America. Pp. xxiv, 173.

Reviews: Michel Bur, in Annales de l'Est, 5 series, 31 (1979), 86-87.

Bernard Delmaire, in Revue du Nord 61 (1979), 706-707.

Alain Dierkens, in Revue belge de philologie et d'histoire 62 (1984), 886-887.

Lucie Fossier, in Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 138 (1980), 120-121.⁸⁴

Antonio García y García, in Revista española de derecho canónico 35 (1979), 218.

A[lfred] G[awlick], in Deutsches Archiv 36 (1980), 224-225.

Frederick Hockey, in Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique 73 (1978), 798-799. (See also Nicolas Huyghebaert, ibid., 75 [1980], 197.)

Attilio Bartoli Langeli, in Studi medievali, 3 series, 20 (1979), 683-685.

Jean-Loup Lemaître, in Revue d'histoire de l'église de France 14 (1978), 271-272.

Dietrich Lohrmann, in Historische Zeitschrift 229 (1979), 414-415.

D[aniel] M[isonne], in Revue bénédictine 88 (1978), 332-333.

W. Prevenier, in Le Moyen Age 87 (1981), 131-133.

Posthumous Publications

(with Theodore Evergates and Giles Constable) The Cartulary and Charters of Notre-Dame of Homblières. (Medieval Academy Books, 97.) Cambridge, Mass.: Medieval Academy of America, 1990. Pp. lx, 308.

(with Mary A. Rouse) Charters of Mont-Saint-Quentin. In preparation.

Manuscript Works

Diary in 9 volumes:

1. 1 January 1919-31 December 1924 (3½" by 6") "A Line a Day: A Condensed Comparative Record for Five Years."
2. 1 January-31 December 1924 (4¼" by 5¾") "Year Book 1924."

⁸⁴ Madame Fossier informs me that the study of Newman's works by Louis Carolus-Barre, mentioned here, has not appeared.

3. 1 October-31 December 1920 (at end) and 1 January-31 December 1931 (5¾" by 8¼") "Agenda de Bureau 1931."
4. 1 January-31 December 1932 (5¼" by 8") "Agenda de Bureau pour 1932."
5. 1 January 1933-31 December 1934 (6" by 9½") "Agenda de Bureau pour 1933" (two years entered one above each other.)
6. 1 January 1935-31 December 1937 (6½" by 10¼") blank lined paper with 1935, 1936, and 15 March-31 December 1937 entered approximately above each other and 1 January-14 March 1937 at end.
7. 1 January 1938-17 February 1943 (7¼" by 11½") "Standard Blank Book" of 500 pages, with 1938-1941 entered above each other and 1941-17 February 1943 at end.
8. 18 February 1943-11 November 1947 (7½" by 12") "Standard Blank Book" of 500 pages with consecutive entries and three entries for 18 September 1967, 1 January 1968, and 13 January 1968.
9. 12 November 1947-3 February 1950 (7½" by 12") "End-Bound Account Books" of 500 pages, with consecutive entries on pp. 1-220.

5 packages and 1 folder of Notes for the Seigneurs de Nesle:

Bibliographies

Charters

Genealogies

Miscellaneous notes and transcripts (3)

36 envelopes of transcripts of monastic charters and analyses of cartularies, primarily for the twelfth and thirteenth centuries:

Abbaye-au-Bois	Ourscamp
Amiens, St-Firmin	Péronne, St-Fursy
Hôtel-Dieu	Péronne, Hôtel-Dieu
Arrouaise (2)	St-Acheul-lès-Amiens
Bertaucourt	St-André-au-Bois
Cantimpré	St-Fuscien-au-Bois
Cercamp	St-Jean-au-Bois
Eaucourt	St-Josse-sur-Mer
Fervaques	St-Martin-aux-Jumeaux
Foigny	St-Paul-aux-Bois
Hornblières	St-Quentin, St-Prix
Laon, St-Martin	St-Quentin-en-l'Isle
Laon, St-Vincent	Soissons, St-Crispin
Lihons	Soissons, St-Gervase
Longpont	Soissons, St-Medard
Nogent-sous-Coucy	Tronquoy
Noyon, St-Bartholomew	Valloires
Noyon, St-Eligius	Vauclair

7 envelopes of notes on dioceses:

- Amiens
- Beauvais and Senlis
- Laon
- Noyon (2)
- Soissons (2)

1 envelope each:

- transcripts of charters of the châtelains of Noyon and Thourotte
- lists of charters in the Collection Moreau
- lists of bishops and members of chapters
- lists of abbots
- notes on cathedral chapters
- genealogies
- miscellaneous notes taken when Newman was in Brussels
- charters of Archbishop Samson of Rheims (and a folder of photostats)

Materials for the cartulary of Homblières:

- typescript
- photostats of H 588
- photostats of B.N. lat. 13911
- photostats of charters 117-119, 124, 126-128, and 130-132 and 3 other charters not for Homblières

Typescript of cartulary of Arrouaise

6 packages of slips (2½" by 4") of bibliographies, notes for Seigneurs de Nesle and Homblières and for Italian and Belgian cartularies

1 package of miscellaneous material mostly from Newman's youth

This memoir is based primarily on Newman's papers listed above, pp. lviii-lx, especially his diary, which is deposited in the Houghton Library at Harvard University, MS Storage 243, together with an annotated copy of this memoir showing the dates for each reference to the diary. He destroyed many letters in 1945, when he moved to Seattle, and had two big bonfires of notes, one in 1952, before going to France, and another in 1967, after his return. His only surviving personal papers are a few letters (including eleven written between 1918 and 1926) and odd notes and bills preserved in the diary or in books from his library. Among his scholarly papers (which remain in my possession and are at the disposition of interested scholars) are several fragments of letters used as scrap paper, which throw some light on his life in the 1950s and early 1960s. For his later life I have also used some personal letters to myself and to Professor John Baldwin, of The Johns Hopkins University, who has kindly put them at my disposal. A few printed sources have been used, including several Harvard class reports, of which copies were sent me by Dr. Harley Holden, the curator of the Harvard University Archives. I am indebted for reading the manuscript and for helpful comments to John Baldwin, Theodore Evergates, Ann and Paul Meyvaert, and members of my family. A shortened version of this memoir was presented at the meeting of the Medieval Academy of America in Albuquerque, N.M., on 18 April 1986.

I. INTRODUCTION

1. HISTORY OF THE MONASTERY

IRISH MISSIONARIES were largely responsible for the Christianization of northern France in the seventh century. Their example of spreading the Gospel and establishing small rural retreats sparked the foundation of over eighteen monastic communities in Picardy, including four along the Somme River: Saint-Riquier, Corbie, Mont-Saint-Quentin, and Homblières.¹ The founder of the future Notre-Dame of Homblières was a young noblewoman named Hunegund (d. ca. 690), a native of Lambay in the Vermandois. We know about her only from a tenth-century biography based on stories popular long after original memory of her had faded beyond recall, by which time she had become a local cult figure.² According to her biographer, Hunegund was raised as a Christian by her parents and at a very young age, under the influence of Saint Eligius, bishop of Noyon, committed herself to celibacy and a life dedicated to God's service. When her parents, disregarding her wishes, betrothed her to the nobleman Eudold, Hunegund convinced her fiancé to accompany her on a pilgrimage to Rome. There they met Pope Martin I (649–655), who confirmed her decision to remain celibate in service to the church after learning that she had been promised in marriage against her will. Her fiancé, at first enraged to the point of threatening violence with his sword, likewise committed himself to a celibate life; later he apparently transferred Hunegund's intended dowry of several estates to the monastic community she founded around 650 near the site of Homblières.³ Although nothing is known about Hunegund's sanctuary during the next three centuries, perhaps a small community survived there until the ninth century when, in the face of Viking raids, it buried Hunegund's bones and abandoned the place.⁴

¹ On the Christianization of Picardy, see Robert Fossier, La terre et les hommes en Picardie jusqu'à la fin du XIII^e siècle, 2 vols. (Paris, 1968), 1:167–174.

² There is evidence for the existence of a cult of Saint Hunegund from the ninth century; see Joseph Van der Straeten, "Sainte Hunégonde d'Homblères: Son culte et sa vie rythmique," Analecta Bollandiana 72 (1954), 39–49. Abbot Berner wrote the Vita of Hunegund shortly after his Benedictine monks replaced the nuns at Homblières (1 October 949; act no. 2), probably in late 949 or in 950 (see also Van der Straeten, p. 52). Text of the Vita in Acta sanctorum, 3rd ed., 62 vols. (Brussels-Paris, 1863–1925), Augustus 5:227–232, and in Jean Mabillon, Acta sanctorum Ordinis Sancti Benedicti, 9 vols. (Paris, 1668–1701), 2:1018–1025. A verse rendition of the Vita was composed in the eleventh century; see Van der Straeten.

The monastery of Homblières (Humolarias, from humulus = hop field) is first mentioned in the 940s as a community of nuns in need of reform because of lapsed morals. The archbishop of Reims assigned Bertha, a nun from the abbey of Saint-Pierre of Reims, to restore the community. Abbess Bertha set out to locate and exhume the body of the founding patroness and on 3 October 946, after a night charged with the prayers of the local men and women and much digging, the remains of Hunegund were unearthed.⁵ Miraculous healings occurred at once, and the bishop of Noyon was summoned to celebrate Mass.⁶ But the discovery of the saint's body was insufficient to redeem the reputation of the community; after Bertha's death in 948 or 949, King Louis IV authorized the expulsion of the nuns and their replacement by monks from Saint-Remi of Reims who were required to live at Homblières under the Benedictine Rule.⁷ It was their first abbot, Berner, who wrote the Vita of Hunegund from stories that he had heard locally. He also composed an account of the discovery of Hunegund's body in a tract

³ There is no evidence that the site of Homblières was settled before the founding of the monastery. The Vita simply states that Hunegund's dotalia (with villulae) from Eudold was used to establish a monastery. The pagan and Gallo-Roman graves discovered in the northern sector of Homblières in 1882 might have belonged to the Gallo-Roman villa of Marcy, located a few kilometers to the east of Homblières, which was destroyed in the early fifth century; see H. Leclercq, "Homblières," Dictionnaire d'archéologie chrétienne et de liturgie, ed. F. Cabrol, H. Leclercq, and H. I. Marrou, 15 vols. (Paris, 1907-1950), 6:2738-2739.

⁴ This conclusion emerges from a study of the church architecture and evaluation of the later transfer of Hunegund's remains; see Pierre Héliot, "L'abbaye d'Homblières et la châsse de Sainte Hunégonde aux X^e et XI^e siècles," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 119 (1961), 232-233.

⁵ According to Abbot Berner's Translatio (see n. 8), the body was found on the 5th Nones of October.

⁶ Act no. 1 (dated 10 April 947, but perhaps subsequently modified, see the comment to act no. 1) refers to the recent discovery of Hunegund's body, in commemoration of which the bishop of Noyon remitted the annual payment owed by Homblières for the parish church there.

⁷ The archbishop of Reims, Arnulf (931-940, 946-961), a vigorous reformer who recovered many church lands usurped by laymen, seems to have had a hand in the expulsion of the nuns (act no. 2); see Auguste Dumas, "L'église de Reims au temps des luttes entre Carolingiens et Robertiens (888-1027)," Revue d'histoire de l'église de France 30 (1944), 5-38. There is a long and not entirely clear history of relations between Homblières and Saint-Remi of Reims. The transfer of nuns from Homblières was enacted at Saint-Remi in the presence of many dignitaries but of only one abbot, Hincmar of Saint-Remi, shortly after that abbey had become independent of the archbishop in 945; see Françoise Poirier-Coutansais, "Saint-Remi de Reims," in her Gallia monastica, 1: Les abbayes bénédictines du diocèse de Reims (Paris, 1974), pp. 23-24.

(Translatio) that was partly intended to justify the eviction of the nuns.⁸ In his version of the recent history of Homblières, Berner included the story of a knight named Magener who used to visit the monastery in order to seduce the nuns but who reformed his habits after an apparition of Hunegund, an account that subtly reinforced the official explanation for the removal of the nuns.

The reform of Homblières was one incident in a larger monastic reform movement led by centers such as Cluny and Gorze in the first half of the tenth century. In the Vermandois and neighboring Lotharingia the 940s were an especially intense period of reform in part because of the efforts of Eilbert of Florennes and his wife, Hersend.⁹ Eilbert was a direct descendant, perhaps the grandson, of Emperor Lothair's vassal Ebro, who had received imperial lands that Eilbert later transferred to several monasteries.¹⁰ Although he never held high office, Eilbert was a wealthy man with properties scattered throughout northern France and Lotharingia, and his stepson and successor, Arnold, had a castle (castrum) at Florennes ca. 1000.¹¹ Eilbert and his wife were responsible for founding Saint-Michel-en-Thiévrache (945), Waulsort (946), and Bucilly, as well as for refounding Homblières. In 949 Homblières was located on land Eilbert held as a benefice from the count of Vermandois (it is not known what became of the land on which Hunegund originally established her retreat).¹² The charter of expulsion states that Eilbert and Hersend had requested the reform of Homblières and that Eilbert surrendered the land to his lord, Albert, count of Vermandois, who in turn transferred it to King Louis IV. Ultimately it was the king who authorized the reform and who at the same time freed the monastery from all secular control, in effect granting an immunity. If Homblières was not already a proprietary abbey from its origin in the seventh century, it might have come under secular control in the ninth century, when the lands of many monastic houses were expropriated by kings and magnates.

⁸ Text in Acta sanctorum, Augustus 5:232–237, and in Mabillon, Acta sanctorum, 5:213–221. The date of composition is not firmly established. Traditionally it is placed shortly after the Vita of Hunegund, that is, around 949 and 950 (Van der Straeten, pp. 51–52). However, one of the miracles occurred in 964 (ch. 2, no. 19). Abbot Berner remained at Homblières until 982 (act no. 17); it is possible that he wrote the Translatio in the 960s or 970s, although it seems more likely that he wrote it originally ca. 950 in order to justify the Benedictine takeover of the institution and that he added new miracle stories later.

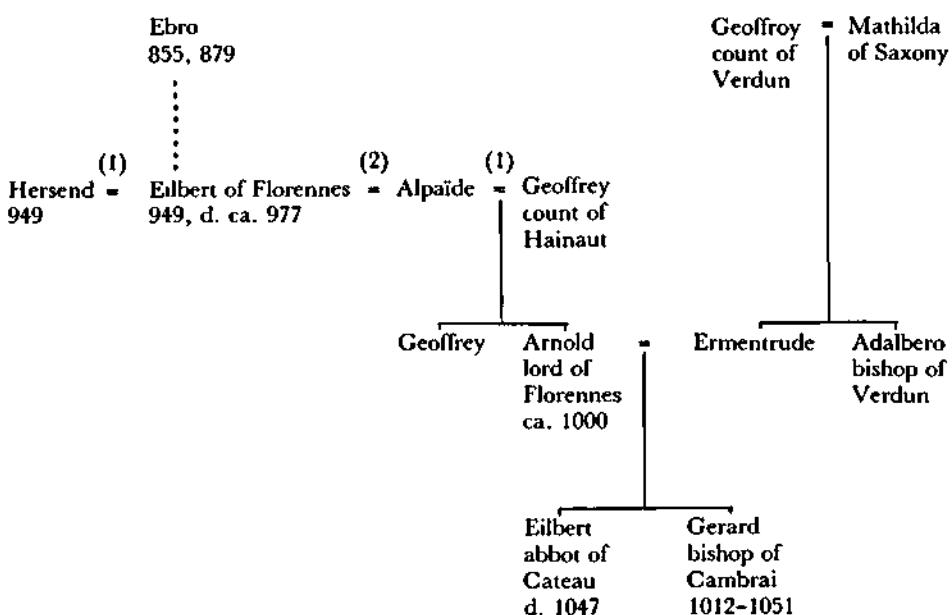

⁹ The much-debated identity of Eilbert has been worked out in a model study that clarifies a number of historiographical questions, including those regarding the origin of the twelfth-century chanson de geste "Raoul de Cambrai." See Daniel Misonne, Eilbert de Florennes: Histoire et légende, la geste de Raoul de Cambrai (Louvain, 1967).

¹⁰ Misonne, pp. 2–3.

¹¹ Arnold was stepfather to Gerard, bishop of Cambrai, whose writings on the social order of the eleventh century are analyzed in Georges Duby, The Three Orders: Feudal Society Imagined, tr. Arthur Goldhammer (Chicago, 1980).

¹² Papal bulls of 955 and 956 (acts nos. 5, 6) identify the land as a benefice.

TABLE I. THE FAMILY OF EILBERT OF FLORENNES

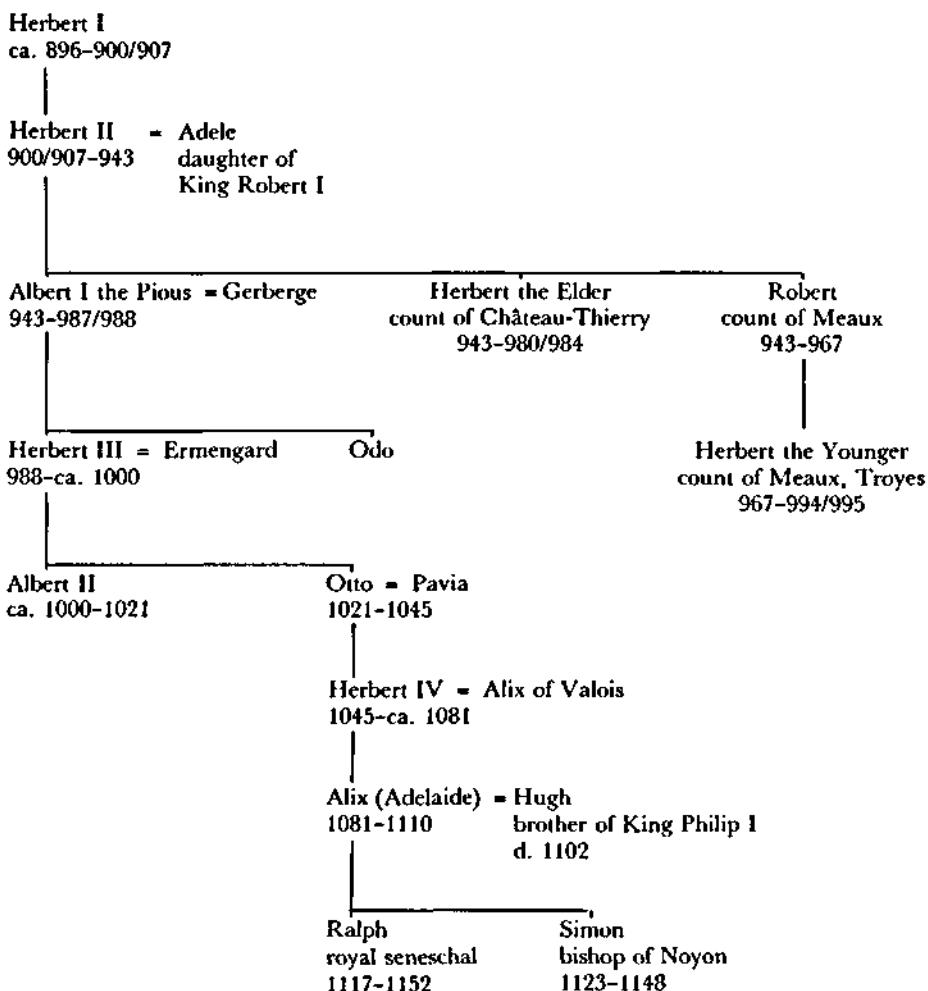

As a proprietary monastery for women in the tenth century, Homblières must have had a very small endowment.¹³ The act transferring the institution to the Benedictines fails to mention any property at all, and Abbot Berner (949-982) obviously wrote the Vita and Translatio of Hunegund in order to generate interest in the abbey. The papal confirmation of 956 lists individual manses in several locations in addition to the estate (villa) of Homblières that Eilbert of Florennes had conveyed with the abbey. During the next three decades the monks acquired three small estates (mansioniles),¹⁴ additional manses both within other estates and as independent plots, vineyards in the Laonnois, and distant fishing rights on the Somme. Some of the manses were uninhabited, perhaps abandoned lands in need of restoration.¹⁵ The more important possessions were located in two areas: around the source of the Somme, about seven to twelve kilometers directly north of Homblières; and in several localities twelve to fifteen kilometers south of the abbey. Abbot Berner attempted to concentrate the holdings by solicitation and exchange, ¹³ The count of Vermandois called the abbey a parvus locellus (act no. 20).

¹⁴ Fossier, Picardie, pp. 225-226, defines these as small, independent units of land, perhaps fragments of larger estates.

¹⁵ There is no mention of tenants in the tenth-century acts except at the villa of Saviniacus (act no. 10). Quessy also probably had resident tenants, for it had a mill (act no. 11). But the ten manses in the villa of Cugny were overgrown and had to be restored (act no. 15).

TABLE II. THE COUNTS OF VERMANDOIS

and by the end of the tenth century the monks had accumulated a modest endowment sufficient for a small, independent monastery (Fig. 2).¹⁶

The monastery's acquisitions were located within the county of Vermandois whose count, Albert I the Pious (943-987), readily permitted gifts from his vassals.¹⁷ In consenting to the alienation of benefices, the count

¹⁶ An example of Abbot Berner's attempt to concentrate holdings: in 956 Homblières received four manses at Remigny; in 959 Berner asked the queen for three manses there, and in 963 he purchased two additional manses (acts nos. 7, 8, 12). The monks still collected rents from these manses in the twelfth century (act no. 88). Fossier, Picardie, pp. 440-443, discusses the abbey's tenth-century holdings.

¹⁷ For recent work on the counts of Vermandois, see Michel Bur, La formation du comté de Champagne, v. 950-v. 1150 (Nancy, 1977), pp. 87-125.

acted in the presence of his chief subordinates, the castellan of Saint-Quentin and the lay advocate of the chapter of Saint-Quentin, and of his direct vassals some of whom were later identified as knights.¹⁸ In fact, the count's charters for Homblières are among the earliest in medieval France to refer to knights (milites)—from 954.¹⁹ Moreover, a tenurial hierarchy appears to have been firmly established at that time: knights held benefices from the count's direct vassals (his fideles), who in turn held their benefices from the count.²⁰ While the intermediary vassals consented orally to the transactions of their knights, only the count could authorize the formal grants of alienation. Some knights, of course, continued to hold freely transferable allodial properties as well as benefices. The knight Wallo, for example, gave Homblières four allodial manses with the approval of only his immediate family. His act of 956 is the earliest for which a knight authorized and validated his own charter.²¹

While northern France experienced a difficult transition between royal dynasties during the late tenth and early eleventh centuries, Homblières is cloaked in darkness.²² Count Albert I of Vermandois, a strong supporter of the last Carolingian kings, Lothair (954–986) and Louis V (986–987), responded to the election of Hugh Capet in 987 by open revolt; for that indiscretion he was compelled to surrender hostages to the new king. The count's successors, Herbert III (988–ca. 1000) and Albert II (ca. 1000–1021), preoccupied by immediate political and military concerns, left neither gifts nor confirmations to Homblières. It was precisely during their rule that substantive changes occurred to and around the monastery. Several of the count's vassals usurped the abbey's distant possessions of Cugny (ten manses) and Quessy (eight manses), imposing protection taxes on their inhabitants. Abbot Waleran (1021/1027–1043) later complained that his predecessors had brought the abbey to ruin by neglecting to obtain written confirmations of ¹⁸ The knight Anser who donated to the abbey was called a vassal in the witness list (act no. 3). Budo (or Dudo) and Gerbert appeared both as knights (act no. 20) and as vassals (acts nos. 3, 18). On the count's court, see Fossier, Picardie, pp. 488–490.

¹⁹ Act no. 3. Excluded for this purpose is act no. 1 of 947 because that witness list containing knights may have been added later. Knights first appeared at Chartres about the same time; see André Chedeville, Chartres et ses campagnes, XI^e–XIII^e siècles (Paris, 1973), pp. 310–311. For early references to knights elsewhere (from the 970s), see Georges Duby, "The Origins of Knighthood," in his The Chivalrous Society, tr. Cynthia Postan (London, 1977), pp. 158–170, and "La diffusion du titre chevaleresque sur le versant méditerranéen de la Chrétienté latine," in La noblesse au moyen âge, ed. Philippe Contamine (Paris, 1976), pp. 39–70.

²⁰ The charters from Homblières confirm the thesis of Bur (p. 399) that a definite hierarchy of tenures existed from the mid-tenth century. Indeed, Bur based much of his argument on these acts (especially act no. 12).

²¹ Act no. 7, which predates by half a century similar documents in Picardy and elsewhere.

²² See Dumas for events in northern France.

2. Possessions of Homblieres, Tenth Century

(oral) acquisitions,²³ but the problem was more general, the result of the breakdown of government in the Vermandois at the turn of the eleventh century. Although the counts managed to retain control of the county, they authorized or acquiesced in local usurpations of church lands under a variety of new terms—such as consuetudines and salvamentum—that signified the destruction of monastic immunities and the intrusion of laymen into monastic lands.²⁴ Although Abbot Waleran succeeded in checking, but not eliminating, the new impositions, the abbey's distant properties remained susceptible to harassment by unscrupulous knights and barons even in the twelfth century.²⁵

More serious was the threat to the monastery itself. In the tenth century the count as delegate of the king had protected the abbey by confirming its acquisitions and respecting its autonomy. Perhaps the change in royal dynasty accounts for the withdrawal of that protection and the resultant insecurity in the eleventh century. The few texts available suggest that the abbots had a hard time of it through the first half of the century; indeed, the second transfer of Hunegund's remains in 1051 and their placement in a new reliquary may have been related to the hazards of the time.²⁶ Count Herbert IV (1045-ca. 1081) attempted to become lay advocate of Homblières but was rebuffed by Abbot Henry (1059–1075/90), who produced a charter of immunity granted by the count's ancestors.²⁷ By the early twelfth century, however, the abbots recognized the count as advocate of the monastery and its villa, with responsibility for maintaining order whenever the abbot was incapable of controlling malefactors.²⁸ The count also exacted military service from all inhabitants of the villa, an obligation that King Louis VIII commuted in 1224.²⁹

²³ Act no. 25: Waleran referred indirectly to Abbot Alberic (982–988), who failed to obtain written confirmation of a grant from Count Albert I. The question at issue was not unimportant, as it concerned the districciones over lands attached to the villa of Homblières.

²⁴ For the general fragmentation of political units in northern France, see Fossier, Picardie, pp. 477–534. The survival of the county of Vermandois was exceptional. Bur, ch. 7, who reexamined the development of lay advocacies in this period, concludes that a new type of advocacy, distinct from the Carolingian one, emerged in the eleventh century under the count's authority. The evidence from the Vermandois seems to confirm that interpretation.

²⁵ In the early twelfth century knights usurped property at Lambay (act no. 54), and the lord of Ribemont had to be restrained from imposing exactions on Châtillon-sur-Oise (act no. 44, chap. 22). See also act no. 32.

²⁶ The second removal of Hunegund's remains is described in the second Translatio written after 1060 (the text refers to the events as occurring "in the time of" King Henry I [1031–1060]). Text in Acta sanctorum, Augustus 5:237–240, and in Mabillon, Acta sanctorum, 5:221–226. A description of the reliquary is in Héliot, pp. 226–227. See also Fernand Vercauteren, "Note sur un texte du cartulaire d'Homblières et sur un passage de la Vita altera sanctae Hunegundis," in Recueil de travaux offert à M. Clovis Brunel, 2 vols. (Paris, 1955), 2:651–659.

²⁷ Act no. 31, which refers perhaps to act no. 2.

²⁸ Acts nos. 44 (chap. 21), 53.

²⁹ Act no. 117.

In the course of the twelfth century the monastery developed extensive and mutually beneficial ties with local knight families. A number of knights and their wives sought burial rights at Homblières, while others simply offered gifts for the salvation of their souls. Financial exigencies might have compelled some knights to sell their fiefs under the guise of donations in return for life annuities: in two cases the monks acquired fiefs already heavily mortgaged to third parties.³⁰ The most generous gifts came from knights who assumed the monastic habit at Homblières. Most prominent among those were Oilbald Porell and Evrard Calvus, both domestici of the count; Lambert, castellan of Saint-Quentin; and Werric, a knight who claimed very noble lineage and who brought with him all his possessions, an entire estate, when he and his son entered the monastery.³¹ Knights of more humble origin were admitted into the community after 1150. Indeed, the number of knights entering Homblières suggests that it was viewed as a retirement community for aged and world-weary knights.

As the interests of the local knights and the monastery became entwined, the monks began to grant monastic lands as fiefs. Some knights already held fiefs from lay lords, but others seem to have held only monastic benefices or fiefs; in fact, the monks may have contributed to the enlargement of the knightly class by awarding fiefs to allodial proprietors not yet knighted. A Fulchrad, casatus, was mentioned in the 1130s, and an Eselin held a monastic benefice in 1147.³² After 1150 the abbey's knights regularly witnessed the abbot's acts, particularly those involving knights and local laymen. The knights continued to hold allodial properties, as they had in the tenth century, as well as other tenures in return for census. Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand, for example, paid a rent of three modii of wheat for his monastic fief, slightly less than what most peasant tenants paid for a single manse.³³ Such confounding of tenures, the strong survival of allods, and a late and incomplete feudalization of lands were characteristic of Picardy.³⁴

Homblières experienced an extraordinary growth of its economic resources in the twelfth century. Perhaps the recovery had begun earlier under Abbot Henry, whom Guibert of Nogent depicted as an outstanding administrator of practical affairs,³⁵ but the resurgence was most notable under Abbots Hugh I (1132–1143) and Hugh II (1143–1150). They attracted nu-

³⁰ Acts nos. 48, 83.

³¹ Act no. 35.

³² Fulchrad (act no. 44, chap. 11) was probably the same as Fulcard, a layman who witnessed the abbot's act in 1152 (act no. 66). Eselin was mentioned in act no. 59.

³³ Gerbert of Fresnoy's fief consisted of one-third of the tithe, lands, and fields of Gulvila (act no. 76).

³⁴ The weak feudalization of land and the persistence of allods in Picardy were noted by Fossier, Picardie, pp. 550–552.

³⁵ Guibert de Nogent: Histoire de sa vie (1053–1124), ed. Georges Bourgin (Paris, 1907), pp. 107–108.

merous gifts, cleared lands, developed new economic resources, and consolidated assets by exchange and purchase. Their goal was to exploit as extensively as possible the entire region between Saint-Quentin and the Oise River, primarily in the area where the monks had maintained a presence since the tenth century: from Homblières north to Fresnoy-le-Grand and encircling the source of the Somme River. As a secondary area of interest, they expanded along the right bank of the Oise River, from Bernot to Châtillon-sur-Oise. At the same time they withdrew from the area south of Homblières between Ham and La Fère, whose castellans had compromised the abbey's lands there by earlier usurpations (Fig. 3).

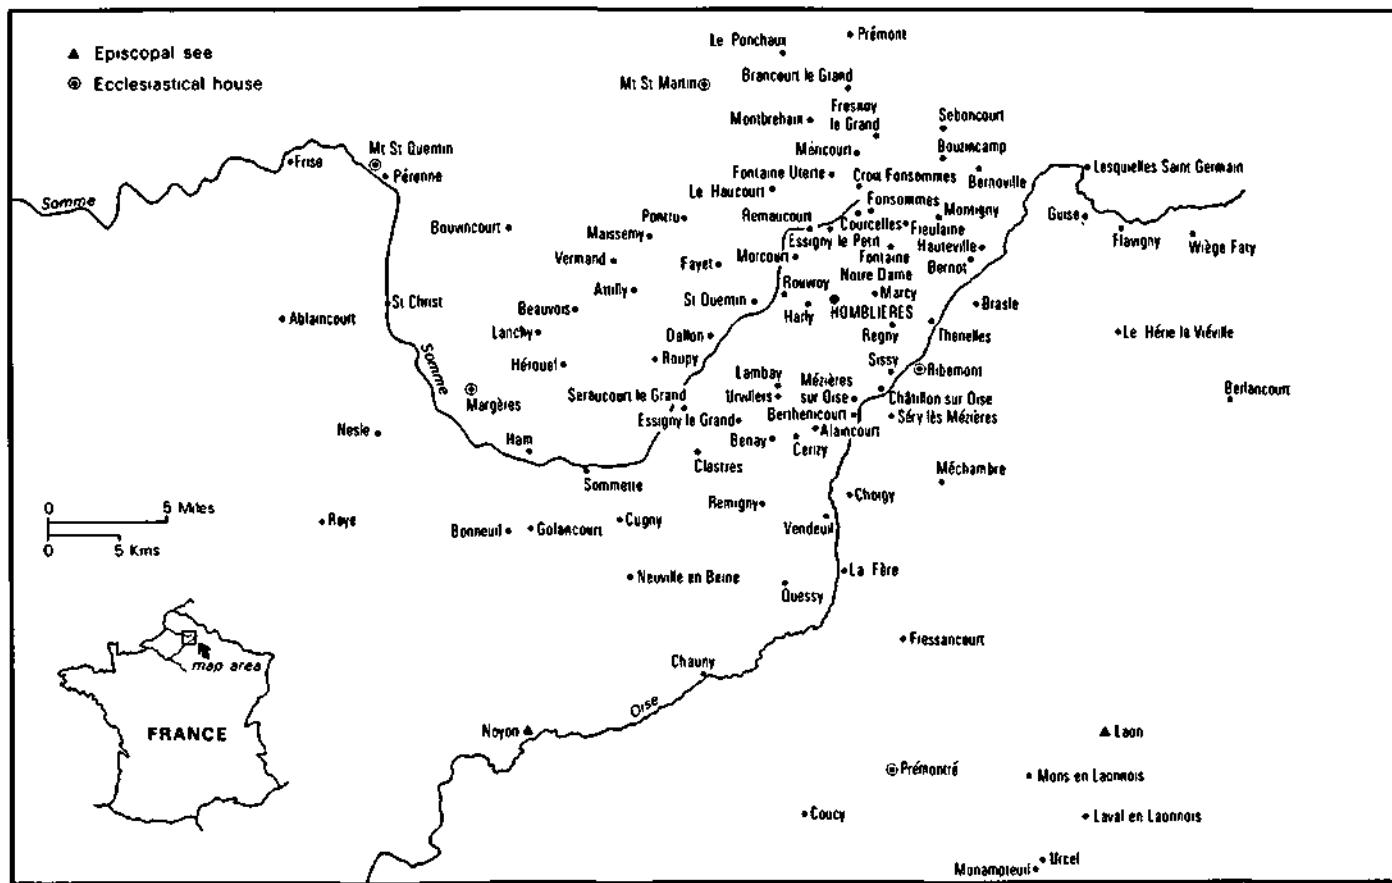

The monks created a network of estates (villae) and granges (curiae, curiae) for the production of grain, the region's chief commodity, under two quite different managerial regimes. On the estates, the oldest as well as the largest and most cohesive economic units, mayors supervised tenants who were still liable for labor services. The hereditary mayor of Homblières, for example, directed four annual corvées, the usual obligation on older estates in Picardy.³⁶ He was also responsible for maintaining order, establishing plot boundaries, and assigning tenures. The monks themselves cultivated some of their reserve lands at Homblières and had the rest, probably newly cleared areas, worked by coloni under their direct authority. On the abbey's five smaller estates, tenants were liable for "customs" (in lieu of corvées) and banalities, although in fact both obligations had been commuted to fixed payments by the 1130s. At Morcourt, an estate of fourteen manses, the servitium was 10 s. for the census, 7 s. for the customs, and 4 s. for the banal mill. The same fee schedule applied at Fresnoy-le-Grand, an estate of nine manses, except that there the banality was for use of the malthouse in the absence of a mill.³⁷

The greatest expansion of economic resources occurred on lands beyond the limits of the old estates, particularly on vacant plots, fields, and woods that were cleared and cultivated by coloni and hospites. In many respects the monks followed practices typical of contemporary Cistercians.³⁸ From the fragments of older estates, from newly cleared lands, and from special economic resources such as tithes, mills, and ovens, the monks created new ³⁶ Act no. 96. Fossier, Picardie, p. 465, notes that the typical obligation in twelfth-century Picardy was three or four annual corvées.

³⁷ The customs of Fresnoy-le-Grand were defined (act no. 44, cap. 25) as the same as those observed at Morcourt (act no. 106).

³⁸ See the study by Charles Higouenet, La grange de Vauclerc: Structure et exploitation d'un terroir cistercien de la plaine de France, XIII^e-XV^e siècle (Paris, 1965), and Richard Roehl, "Plan and Reality in a Medieval Monastic Economy: The Cistercians," Studies in Medieval and Renaissance History 9 (1972), 83-113.

3. Localities Cited in the Charters economic units centered around granges.³⁹ As collection points for the processing and storage of grain, the granges functioned quite unlike the closely supervised estates of tenants. The hospites who worked the five manses at Châtillon-sur-Oise did not owe corvées, customs, or banalities; they paid only four modii of grain and 6 d. for their manses.⁴⁰ The monks had a church there and collected the tithe, but the primary function of the grange with its two mills was to process and store the grain-rents due from lands scattered through the lower Oise River area, including the one-ninth of the crop from Méchambre and the twenty modii of grain owed from Ferrières.⁴¹

The development of the grange at Bernot illustrates how the monks extended their resources at selected sites. They first acquired one-third of the allodial land at Bernot ca. 1045, to which they added several fields later in the century. In 1142 Abbot Hugh I purchased the tithe over the remaining allodial land, and by 1144 the monks possessed additional uncultivated fields, woods, and a mill (probably recently built). By 1169 they had constructed a grange, partly on the land of the knight Gerard Hatterel, whom they compensated for trespass. Gerard held the villa of Bernot (that is, the rest of the allodial land) and had tenants clearing lands for him; he also had a mill and later acquired the oven that the monks had built in the villa. The monks had their own mill and oven at their grange.⁴² There is no mention of the monastery's tenants at Bernot; perhaps all its land was held in reserve and worked by day laborers from the villa.⁴³ Yet the purpose of Bernot was not to produce grain for the monks but rather to process and store the grain-rents collected from the upper Oise, just as Châtillon served the lower Oise.

The monks actively developed their nonlanded resources, especially parish churches and tithes, ovens, and mills that furnished revenues indexed to the volume of grain production. Several parish churches (Ablaincourt, Fresnoy-le-Grand) were gifts from laymen who held them as fiefs, while others (Marcy, Morcourt) had to be purchased. From 1130 to 1170 the monks themselves seem to have built a number of mills and ovens, assets they rarely relinquished, although they readily leased out the adjacent arable. For example, shortly after they acquired the ovens, arable, and par-

³⁹ The monks called their granges curiae and curtes, the same terms often employed by Cistercians and Premonstratensians; see Charles Higounet, "Essai sur les granges cisterciennes," in L'économie cistercienne: Géographie—Mutations du moyen âge aux temps modernes (Auch, 1983), pp. 157–158. The establishment of granges as new economic units in the Beauvaisis from 1130 has been studied by Dietrich Lohrmann, "Le rétablissement du grand domaine à faire-valoir direct en Beauvaisis au XII^e siècle," Francia 8 (1982), 105–126.

⁴⁰ Act no. 44 (chap. 22). Unlike early Cistercians, the monks of Homblières collected tenurial rents.

⁴¹ Act no. 88. Grain payments were specified for delivery at Châtillon-sur-Oise (act no. 101).

⁴² Acts nos. 30, 44 (chaps. 20, 21), 47, 53, 81, 88, 98.

⁴³ Fossier, Picardie, p. 345, notes that when lands were cleared next to an existing village, residents often continued to live in the village.

ish church of Harly and Rouvroy, they leased the arable to hospices.⁴⁴ The allod they received from a knight for burial rights at Homblières they soon leased to another knight for 4 s.⁴⁵ More extensive properties distant from the abbey were leased primarily to other monasteries, such as Prémontré, Saint-Fursy, Mont-Saint-Martin, Saint-Prix, Saint-Michel-en-Thiérache, and Montreuil-les-Dames.

In their quest for long-term economic security the monks invested most of their surplus income in land, but in doing so they incurred heavy current obligations because their more important acquisitions were subjected to annuities and rents. In 1137, for example, when they accepted a knight's fief, they agreed to pay him six modii of grain for the next thirty years.⁴⁶ When the opportunity arose to purchase the parish church of Morcourt, in one of their principal grain-producing areas where they already had a grange, they did not hesitate to assume a rent of ten modii of grain that so overcommitted them in census payments that they could not pay it from their direct revenues but had to assign it on less reliable tithe revenues elsewhere.⁴⁷ Four years later, however, they unburdened themselves of that payment by exchanging property with the monks of Mont-Saint-Martin, who would henceforth pay that rent.⁴⁸ Two years later in 1153, Homblières managed to pay 140 l. for the entire estate of Urcel in the wine-producing region of the Laonnois, thus consolidating its presence in the area where the monks already had a number of small vineyards.⁴⁹

Homblières was not the only monastery expanding into the valleys of the Somme and Oise. Competition for resources was evident in the first half of the twelfth century, although it was not yet serious in the 1130s when Homblières generously aided the foundation of Mont-Saint-Martin and Montreuil-les-Dames.⁵⁰ When institutions had interests in the same localities, they often avoided conflicts by exchanging properties so that only one institution would retain exclusive rights in each locality. This procedure allowed Homblières to increase its holdings in the area immediately north of the abbey in exchange for renouncing development rights in more distant territories: the monks withdrew from Bonneuil where Prémontré had a grange, and they traded away future interests in Regny for a similar concession at Marcy where they already had a grange.⁵¹

⁴⁴ Acts nos. 48, 88.

⁴⁵ Act no. 86.

⁴⁶ Act no. 43.

⁴⁷ Act no. 60. Saint-Prix still considered the altar of Morcourt as its own possession, leased to Homblières for ten modii censuales (act no. 93).

⁴⁸ Act no. 65.

⁴⁹ Act no. 67.

⁵⁰ Acts nos. 44 (chap. 4), 62.

⁵¹ Acts nos. 63, 69, 70, 82, 105.

After 1150 the area of conflict shifted to the newly cleared lands and their tithes. Again, negotiated settlements solved a number of minor conflicts, but from the 1160s the clashes became more violent. The monks of Ribemont presented the most serious challenge over the clearings and tithes of Abbeville and Montigny-en-Arrouaise, an area of vital importance to Homblières and a traditional preserve of the abbey. The most complicated of several disputes was a four-way controversy over the forest of Montigny between, on the one side, Ribemont and, on the other, Homblières, the nuns of Montreuil-les-Dames, and the knight Gerard Hatterel of Bernot.⁵² The first decision, made by Cardinal Odo of San Nicola in Carcere Tulliano probably in 1161, favored Ribemont. The other three parties appealed to Alexander III, claiming that the decision, having been made without their consent, was later annulled.⁵³ Since the prior of Ribemont denied this, maintaining that Cardinal Odo had settled the case, the pope in 1168/69 instructed Bishop Milo of Thérouanne and Abbot Hugh of Mont-Saint-Quentin to look into the matter and to arrange a friendly settlement or, if that proved impossible, to impose a just settlement.⁵⁴ It was during this period that the monks of Homblières, perhaps following the example of Ribemont, petitioned the pope to confirm their possessions.⁵⁵ Alexander's confirmation, dated 4 March 1169,⁵⁶ was placed at the head of their cartulary, which seems to have been created ca. 1170 as a direct consequence of the dispute with Ribemont.⁵⁷

The pope's directive to Bishop Milo and Abbot Hugh was written on 17 March 1168/69. Milo died on 14 September 1169, and Abbot Hugh apparently heard the case alone, reaching a settlement before 1172 when he became abbot of Corbie.⁵⁸ At about the same time, in 1172, Homblières and Ribemont settled a related dispute over the novales of Abbeville and Fontaine-Notre-Dame, both only a short distance from Montigny.⁵⁹ Perhaps in 1173, however, the pope designated two new arbiters, the bishops of Laon and Noyon, to verify Abbot Hugh's settlement.⁶⁰ As he stated in his ⁵² I thank Giles Constable for helping to unravel this convoluted controversy.

⁵³ Wilhelm Janssen, Die päpstlichen Legaten in Frankreich vom Schisma Anaklets II. bis zum Tode Coelestins III. (1130-1198) (Cologne-Graz, 1961), p. 72. There is no independent record of this decision, which is mentioned in act no. 89. See also n. 55.

⁵⁴ Act no. 89.

⁵⁵ Ribemont secured a papal confirmation of its possessions, including the villam que dicitur Montiniacus preter sextam decimam partem communis allodii, on 23 January 1168 (Henry Stein, ed., Cartulaire de l'ancienne abbaye de Saint Nicolas des Prés sous Ribemont [Saint-Quentin, 1884], pp. 85-89, no. 47).

⁵⁶ Act no. 88.

⁵⁷ See below, "The Cartulary and Charters."

⁵⁸ See act no. 92, n. 1.

⁵⁹ Act no. 91.

⁶⁰ The delegation was mentioned in the papal bull of 18 July 1173 (act no. 92).

letter of 18 July 1173 to Ribemont, Alexander wanted to be sure that the “friendly settlement” reached by Abbot Hugh had been agreed to by all parties. The bishops reported that in fact all had agreed, and the pope confirmed the settlement.⁶¹ At this point, unfortunately, a complication arose. The pope wrote to Archbishop Henry of Reims on 13 April 1174 that although the abbot of Homblières reported that the two bishops had settled the case, “a certain monk of Ribemont” who was handling some affairs of the treasurer of Laon asked the pope to commit the case to the bishop of Tournai, even though the case had been settled.⁶² Since the pope was uncertain as to the disposition of the case, he instructed the archbishop to enforce the decision of the bishops of Laon and Noyon, unless it was being appealed, and to prevent the bishop of Tournai from proceeding in the case. Ribemont’s diversion was unsuccessful, although it might have set the groundwork for a later forgery, perhaps after 1191, in order to reopen the case.⁶³ Abbot Hugh’s settlement of 1172, verified by the bishops of Laon and Noyon in 1173, was described in 1178 by Bishop Rainald of Noyon.⁶⁴ In that same year Hubert, the new abbot of Homblières, wrote to the abbot and chapter of Ribemont accepting the settlement and promising not to reopen the case.⁶⁵ Pope Urban III reaffirmed the agreement in 1186/1187.⁶⁶

In the absence of surviving archives or a later cartulary, the history of Homblières is difficult to trace after 1180. The charters and letters issued by the abbey and now preserved in the archives and cartularies of recipient monastic institutions provide an increasingly fragmentary picture, and after 1250 very little is known at all about Homblières.⁶⁷ Although the abbey seems to have remained economically viable until 1372,⁶⁸ it probably suffered damage during the later stages of the Hundred Years War, for the relics of Saint Hunegund were sent for safety to Saint-Quentin where they were later viewed by King Louis XI. With the Concordat of 1516 Homblières passed under royal control. In 1607 the abbey church collapsed and Homblières was abandoned, long after it had lost its vitality. The abbey’s

⁶¹ Act no. 92.

⁶² Act no. 92A.

⁶³ See act no. 99, comment.

⁶⁴ Act no. 94; this text was copied into Ribemont’s cartulary.

⁶⁵ Act no. 95.

⁶⁶ Act no. 102.

⁶⁷ The following summary of events after the thirteenth century derives from Charles Journel, “Sainte Hunégonde et l’abbaye d’Homblières,” Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin 51 (1935), 439–446.

⁶⁸ The compte de décimes for the diocese of Noyon (1372) records a higher taxatio for Homblières (2,090 l.) than for any neighboring monastic institution except the chapter of Saint-Quentin (3,100 l.). Homblières collected almost twice as much in tithes as Prémontré, Saint-Prix, or Mont-Saint-Martin (Auguste Longnon, ed., Pouillés de la province de Reims, 2 vols. [Paris, 1908], 1:201–208).

movables, including no doubt the archives and the cartulary, were transferred to another institution for safekeeping, probably to Saint-Remi of Reims.

In 1666 Antoine Thuret, a monk from Saint-Remi, became prior of Homblières and undertook its restoration. He rebuilt the abbey church and reestablished a community by 1679, when the remains of Hunegund were returned by the bishop of Noyon, who had guarded the reliquary during the long years of insecurity.⁶⁹ The priory of Homblières lasted a century until it was converted into a secular chapter for noble women in 1788. In 1791 the institution was secularized. The villagers were allowed to retain the eleventh-century reliquary of Saint Hunegund, but all other possessions and records were dispersed or destroyed. The monastic lands became a public park, and today only a stone archway and a small church, perhaps the one Thuret rebuilt, survive from the medieval period.

2. THE ABBOTS OF HOMBLIÈRES⁷⁰

1. Berner (949–982)

The first Benedictine abbot after the expulsion of the nuns in 949, Berner appears in a charter of 954 (act no. 3). He died on 6 or 8 March 982.⁷¹

2. Alberic (982–987/988)

Alberic appears as abbot in only one act the date of which is probably 987 or 988 (act no. 20). He died on 25 September.⁷²

3. Richard I (1018)

Hugh of Flavigny reports that Baldwin IV, count of Flanders (988–1035), placed Richard, abbot of Saint-Vanne of Verdun, in charge of many monasteries, including Saint-Pierre of Ghent, Saint-Amand, Saint-Bertin, Homblières, Mont-Saint-Quentin, and Saint-Wan-⁶⁹ The reliquary was returned to Thuret on 2 July 1679 (Coll. Picardie, vol. 302, no. 41, act of the bishop of Noyon). On that occasion three fingers were extracted from the reliquary, one each for the bishop, the monks of Homblières, and the nuns of Notre-Dame of Orléans.

⁷⁰ This list is based on Louis-Paul Colliette, Mémoires pour servir à l'histoire ecclésiastique, civile et militaire de la province du Vermandois, 3 vols. (Cambrai, 1771–1772), 1:239–242, and GC, 9:1076–1078, with corrections and additions.

⁷¹ The “Annales Sancti Quintini Veromanensis” puts Berner’s death in 982 (MGH SS, 16:508). The modern editor of the obituaries of Argenteuil and Saint-Denis identifies Bernerius abbas under 6 March as the abbot of Homblières; Obituaires de la province de Sens, I: Dioïcèses de Sens et de Paris, ed. Auguste Molinier, 2 vols. (Paris, 1902), 1:345, n. 5; 1:311, n. 5. Berner was also named in the necrology of Gorze under 8 March but identified erroneously as abbot of Cluny; see Michel Parisse, Le nécrologie de Gorze: Contribution à l’histoire monastique (Nancy, 1971), p. 73 and n. 2.

⁷² An Albericus abbas is mentioned under 25 September in the obituary of Saint-Denis; the modern editor identifies him as abbot of Homblières (Obituaires, 1:327, n. 2).

drille.⁷³ Richard was abbot of Saint-Vanne from 28 October 1004 and of Saint-Vaast of Arras from 1008; it is not known when he became abbot of the other monasteries.⁷⁴ Perhaps he was abbot of Homblières in 1018 (act no. 22).

4. Waleran (1021/1027-1043)

According to the "Gesta pontificum Cameracensium," the "monk Waleran [was] at that time [before the death of Albert II, count of Vermandois] provost of the monastery of Saint Hunegund under Abbot Richard [and] later became the worthy abbot."⁷⁵ Count Albert II died in 1020 or 1021, for his successor Otto was count in 1021 when he witnessed an act of King Robert II.⁷⁶ Colliette (and the GC after him) placed the beginning of Waleran's abbacy "shortly" after the death of Count Albert II.⁷⁷ Waleran's last act was in 1043 (act no. 28).

5. Bernard (1043)

He succeeded Waleran in 1043 (act no. 29), but it is not known when his abbacy ended.⁷⁸

6. Macarius (1051)

The only mention of Macarius is with regard to the transfer of the relics of Saint Hunegund in 1051.⁷⁹

7. Henry (1059-1075/90)

As abbot of Homblières Henry was present at the coronation of King Philip I in May 1059.⁸⁰ He became abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims in 1074 or 1075 and then of Nogent-sous-Coucy.⁸¹ He may have continued as abbot of Homblières until 1090, but acts nos. 31-32 suggest that he was no longer at Homblières after 1075.

8. Erlebold (1091-1094)

Act no. 33 states that 1094 was the third year of Erlebold's abbacy.

9. Richard II (1095)

The GC states that he was abbot in 1095.⁸²

⁷³ Hugh of Flavigny, "Chronicon Verdunensi," RHF, 10:208.

⁷⁴ Henri Dauphin, Le bienheureux Richard, abbé de Saint-Vanne de Verdun, †1046 (Louvain, 1946), pp. 84, 87, 175-176, 219.

⁷⁵ MGH SS, 7:473.

⁷⁶ Colliette, 1:239-240. Count Otto witnessed the royal act on 5 March-9 June 1021 (RHF, 10:603-604, no. 32); for the date, see William Mendel Newman, Catalogue des actes de Robert II roi de France (Paris, 1937), p. 71, no. 55.

⁷⁷ Colliette, 1:239-240, and the GC, 9:1076, date Waleran's abbacy from 1021, but elsewhere Colliette, 1:612, prefers a date of 1027. See also act no. 24 n. 1.

⁷⁸ Hémeré, p. 99, and Colliette, 1:240, claim, without evidence, that Bernard was still abbot in 1049.

⁷⁹ Colliette, 1:240, and GC, 9:1077.

⁸⁰ RHF, 11:32.

⁸¹ GC, 9:230, 1077; Guibert de Nogent, pp. 107-108.

⁸² GC, 9:1027.

10. Mazelin (1106-1123)

Mazelin's first appearance was in 1106 or 1107 (act no. 35); his last was in 1123.⁸³

11. Aldo (1123-1124)

Aldo witnessed an act of Lambert, bishop of Noyon in 1122 (perhaps the date should be 1123 N.S. so as not to conflict with the 1123 date for Mazelin).⁸⁴ He last appeared in 1124 (act no. 38).

12. Hugh I (1132-1143)

Hugh's first act was in 1132 (act no. 39). He was the first abbot of Homblières to use an institutional seal, and he seems to have been responsible for the reexamination of the abbey's financial accounts.⁸⁵ Innocent II appointed him cardinal bishop of Albano (26 February 1143); he died before 17 September 1143.⁸⁶

13. Hugh II (1143-1150)

Hugh was prior of Saint-Jean of Laon⁸⁷ before becoming abbot of Homblières, probably in late 1143, although the first explicit reference to a Hugo secundus was in 1147 (act no. 60). He later became abbot of Saint-Amand (after 1149) and perhaps resigned as abbot of Homblières at that time (see also Garin I).⁸⁸

14. Garin I (1150/1151-1159/1160)

Garin was abbot in 1150 or 1151 (act no. 65). At his death in 1159 or 1160, the former abbot of Homblières, Hugh II, wrote a letter of consolation to the prior and monks of Homblières (act no. 79A).

15. Rainer (1159/1160-1163)

Rainer appeared in acts of 1160 and 1163.⁸⁹

16. Peter I (1163-1175)

Peter's rule was dominated by legal conflicts with Ribemont. He was probably responsible for the redaction of the medieval cartulary ca. 1170. He witnessed acts in 1163, 1172, and 1175.⁹⁰

⁸³ Hémeré, p. 150.

⁸⁴ Act for Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île (B.N., lat. 12895, fols. 31r-32r).

⁸⁵ Act no. 44, the list of revenues and properties, dates from the mid-1130s to the mid-1140s.

⁸⁶ Johannes Matthias Brixius, Die Mitglieder des Kardinalkollegiums von 1130-1181 (Berlin, 1912), p. 44.

⁸⁷ Hermann of Laon, "Miracula Sanctae Mariae Laudunensis," RHF, 14:348.

⁸⁸ "Annales Elonenses," in Philip Grierson, ed., Les annales de Saint-Pierre de Gand et de Saint-Amand (Brussels, 1937), p. 168, line 8 and n. 3.

⁸⁹ 1160: Coll. Picardie, vol. 291, fol. 15 (original; a copy in Aisne, A.D., H 325, pp. 235-236, and incorrectly dated by Colliette, 1:241, to 1158). 1163: Amiens, B.M., MS 1077, Cartulaire d'Arrouaise, fols. 57r-58r (concerning a dispute between Arrouaise and Lihons over Ginchy).

⁹⁰ 1163: act of Walter, bishop of Laon (Coll. Picardie, vol. 255, fol. 251; vol. 257, fols. 121-122, 125; vol. 267, fol. 308). 1172: act of Peter, abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims (B.N., Coll. Baluze, vol. 75, fol. 175, in red). 1175 (GC, 9:1078). The reference in the obituary of Collinane for December actually refers to John I.

17. Hubert (1176-1192)
He witnessed acts in 1176 and 1192.⁹¹
18. Hugh III (1194-1209)
Hugh appeared in 1194 (act no. 105) and 1209 (acts nos. 108, 109).
19. Baldwin (1219-1237)
He appeared in several acts from 1219 (act no. 112) through 1237.⁹²
20. Thomas (1249-1253)
Thomas is known from several acts from 1249 (act no. 123) to 1253 (act no. 128).
21. Garin II (1255)
The only mention of Garin is by Hémeré.⁹³
22. John I (1259)
John is known only from a reference in 1259.⁹⁴ Colliette assumed that the abbot John mentioned in the obituary of Collinances for 2 December was John I of Homblières.⁹⁵ 23. Rainald (1272-1291)
Rainald declared obedience to the bishop of Noyon in 1272.⁹⁶ His last act was in 1291 (act no. 132).
24. Arnold (1304)
Arnold issued an act in 1304 (act no. 135) and died before February 1306 (see John II).
25. John II (1306-)
John II replaced Arnold after a disputed election.⁹⁷ It is impossible to determine when John ceased being abbot, since there were several abbots by that name in the fourteenth century. He was certainly abbot in 1310 (act no. 138) and 1311,⁹⁸ but it is not certain that he was the John of Sacrois of 1323.⁹⁹ Other abbots by the name of John appeared in 1338, 1351, 1391, and 1397.¹⁰⁰

⁹¹ 1176: act of Rainald, bishop of Noyon (Coll. Picardie, vol. 24, p. 158, no. 12; indicated by Colliette, 1:241). 1192: act for Bohéries (indicated in GC, 9:1078).

⁹² In 1237 he witnessed an act for Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île; Emmanuel Lemaire, ed., Archives anciennes de la ville de Saint-Quentin, 2 vols. (Saint-Quentin, 1888-1910), 1:31.

⁹³ Hémeré, p. 99; repeated by GC, 9:1078.

⁹⁴ Stein, Cartulaire, p. 166, no. 115: witness to an act of the royal bailiff of Vermandois.

⁹⁵ Obituaires, 4:203; Colliette, 1:242.

⁹⁶ Notice dated 27 March, in Oise, A.D., G 1984, fol. 366v; indicated in Gustave Desjardins and Armand Rendu, Inventaire-Sommaire des Archives départementales antérieures à 1790: Oise, Archives ecclésiastiques, Série G, vol. 1 (Beauvais, 1878), p. 381.

⁹⁷ Bull of Clement V of 27 February 1306, Regestum Clementis papae V, 8 vols. (Rome, 1885-1892), 1:77, no. 396; see also Bernard Barbiche, ed., Les actes pontificaux originaux des Archives Nationales de Paris, 3 vols. (Paris, 1975-1982), 3:19, no. 2274.

⁹⁸ He was called Iehan Coivrel and Iehan de Coivrel in 5 December 1311 (Lemaire, Archives anciennes, 1:493-494, no. 454).

⁹⁹ Act no. 141. Colliette, 1:242, thought he was the same John.

¹⁰⁰ 1338: A.N., LL 1016, fol. 61v. May 1351: act no. 142. 15 March 1391: Lemaire, Archives anciennes, 2:384, n. 1. March 1397: Colliette, 1:242.

26. William (? ca. 1351)

He is known only from act no. 143.

3. THE CARTULARY AND CHARTERS

HOMBLIERES possessed a comparatively large collection of documents in its archives at the end of the tenth century—at least twenty-one acts—and it is possible that the monks copied them into a cartulary as early as ca. 1000.¹⁰¹ More likely, however, the first medieval cartulary was drawn up ca. 1170 as a direct result of the protracted dispute with Ribemont.¹⁰² The original cartulary remained at Homblières until the abandonment of the abbey in 1607, when the archives and cartulary were sent elsewhere for safekeeping. Claude Hémeré, dean of Saint-Quentin from 1615 and later librarian at the Sorbonne and organizer of Cardinal Richelieu's manuscript collection (1638), saw both the cartulary and documents from the archives (probably at the abbey of Saint-Remi of Reims) from which he published selected texts in his Augusta Viromanduorum (1643).¹⁰³ Those printed texts were reproduced several times in the course of the next two centuries, most notably by Jean Mabillon in his Acta sanctorum Ordinis Sancti Benedicti (1668–1701)¹⁰⁴ and by Louis-Paul Colliette in his Mémoires pour servir à l'histoire ecclésiastique, civile et militaire de la province du Vermandois (1771–1772).¹⁰⁵

The resettlement of Homblières under Prior Thuret (1666–1716) rekindled interest in the abbey's past, and in 1673 one of the monks, Robert Wyard, extracted a number of texts from Hémeré's edition in order to reconstruct the early history of Homblières.¹⁰⁶ Although Thuret had been a monk ¹⁰¹ Newman speculated that a cartulary of ca. 1000 would explain why so many tenth-century acts survived (that is, as copies) to be copied into the later cartulary. It should be pointed out, however, that tenth-century texts are not unusual in northern French and Belgian ecclesiastical cartularies drawn up at a later date, and it is doubtful whether twenty-odd charters would have justified a cartulary in 1000, which is a very early date for a cartulary in northern France.

¹⁰² See above and act no. 99, comment, for the dispute.

¹⁰³ See n. 153.

¹⁰⁴ Mabillon had earlier printed one text (act no. 8) in his De re diplomatica (Paris, 1681) that was taken "ex chartario Hummolariensi a D. d'Herouval communicato" (p. 571), apparently a reference to an original charter. The texts in his Acta sanctorum all derive from Hémeré's edition.

¹⁰⁵ Colliette prints only the texts already found in Hémeré, although it is curious that he reproduces a seal that is not in either lat. 13911 or H 588 (act no. 5). Perhaps he, as well as Hémeré, saw some original charters from the archives of Homblières.

¹⁰⁶ Robert Wyard, "Humolariensis monasterii historia," part 2 of a volume that includes the histories of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île and Saint-Prix, dated 14 October 1673 (Saint-Quentin, B.M., MS 95). There exist two later copies of Wyard's manuscript. The first is a history of Homblières only, completed before 1715 (Aisne, A.D., H 589; a later hand added the names of five monks there in 22 July 1715 with the comment that Thuret "revived" the community). The second is a nineteenth-century copy of Wyard's three histories by Charles Perin (Soissons, B.M., Collection Perin, MS 3308; pp. 49–87 contain the part on Homblières).

at Saint-Remi where the original cartulary seems to have been stored in the seventeenth century, Wyard did not know of the whereabouts of that manuscript in 1673. Within the next several decades, however, two complete copies were made of the medieval cartulary. The first (lat. 13911) was at one time in the library of Saint-Germain-des-Prés and probably was commissioned by Jean Mabillon or produced by the scribes in his employ.¹⁰⁷ Mabillon, who joined the Maurists at Saint-Germain-des-Prés in 1664 and became the leading force behind the acquisition and copying of cartularies from all over western Europe, had taken his vows at Saint-Remi in 1654 and might well have known about the medieval cartulary of Homblières in its library.¹⁰⁸ The second copy of the medieval cartulary (H 588) has remained in the Vermandois; it seems to have been intended for the monks of Homblières, who may not have been able to regain possession of the original cartulary.¹⁰⁹ Both copies are in clear, uniform scripts and obviously the work of professional scribes. Although they seem to have been taken independently from the medieval cartulary, they do not differ significantly in their readings or organization.¹¹⁰

The fate of the medieval cartulary is unknown. It had certainly disappeared by the 1770s when the Benedictines systematically scoured the provinces for cartularies and charters, for they relied on H 588 for their own copies that later entered the Collection Moreau and Collection de Picardie in the Bibliothèque Nationale.¹¹¹ In the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the editors of papal and royal acts consulted lat. 13911 (conveniently located at the Bibliothèque Nationale), and since then both lat. 13911 and H 588 have provided several texts for other editions of charters. In 1936

¹⁰⁷ B.N. lat. 13911. A description is in Henri Stein, Bibliographie générale des cartulaires français ou relatifs à l'histoire de France (Paris, 1907), no. 1699. A later hand added on the first folio: "Bibliotheca St. Germani a Pratis Parisiensis." Newman dated this copy to the seventeenth century. See also n. 110.

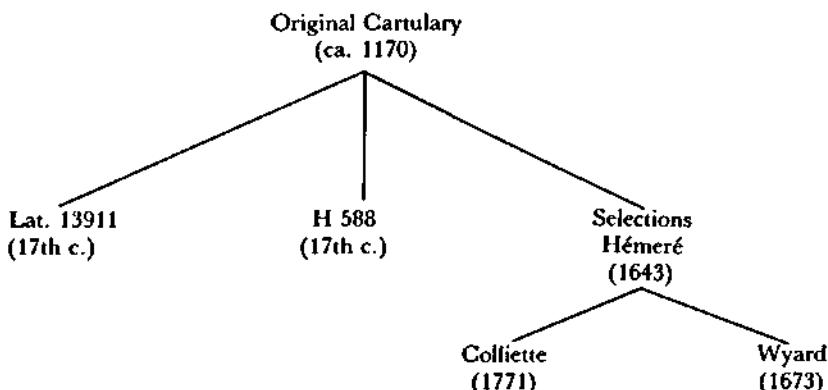

¹⁰⁸ See David Knowles, "Jean Mabillon," in The Historian and Character and Other Essays (Cambridge, Eng., 1963), and "The Maurists," in Great Historical Enterprises: Problems in Monastic History (London, 1964).

¹⁰⁹ Aisne, A.D., H 588. See the description in Stein, Bibliographie générale, no. 1699. Newman dated this copy to the eighteenth century. Van der Straeten, p. 50, n. 1, reported in 1954 that an anonymous note attached to H 588 stated that Thuret was the author of the cartulary; the note has since disappeared. See also n. 110.

¹¹⁰ Newman argued that each copy contains words and phrases not found in the other and therefore both were made directly from the original cartulary. Misonne, p. 149, considers H 588 to be a copy of lat. 13911, while Stein, Bibliographie générale, no. 1699, states that lat. 13911 (which he dates to the eighteenth century) is a copy of H 588 (which he dates to the seventeenth century). Another copy of the cartulary was known to Maxime de Sars, Le Laonnois féodal, 5 vols. (Paris, 1924–1934), 2:180, n. 5, who said that it was in the Château de Bourguignon. Newman assumed it was a copy of lat. 13911 or H 588.

¹¹¹ For these two collections, see H. Omont, Inventaire des manuscrits de la Collection Moreau (Paris, 1891), and Philippe Lauer, Collections manuscrites sur l'histoire des provinces de France: Inventaire, 2 vols. (Paris, 1905–1911), vol. 2.

TABLE III. FILIATION OF THE CARTULARY COPIES

Newman decided to prepare a complete edition of the medieval cartulary based on the two manuscript copies.

The present arrangement of lat. 13911 and H 588 reveals the general plan of the medieval cartulary.¹¹² It begins with a section of papal bulls headed by Alexander III's confirmation of the abbey's possessions in 1169.¹¹³ A second section contains the earliest charters of the abbey, from the tenth and eleventh centuries; it includes the acts of the counts of Vermandois who often appeared in the guise of lay abbots of Saint-Quentin.¹¹⁴ A third section includes various ecclesiastical acts of the twelfth century, many by the bishop of Noyon.¹¹⁵ A fourth section consists of minor grants from laymen and of internal administrative lists and notices.¹¹⁶ The final section contains mainly acts of the abbots of Homblières.¹¹⁷ The divisions are not absolute, and rarely were in medieval cartularies. It was not unusual for blank folios of a manuscript to receive additions inappropriate to the original order, nor for ¹¹² Newman remained puzzled by the order of the charters and failed to work out a solution that satisfied him. He analyzed very closely Dom Cassiaux's "Généalogies des familles de France avant 1400" (B.N., fr. 33085, fols. 275-281) that summarized a number of acts in a "Cartulaire de l'abbé de Homblières dont une copie chez Collette, curé de Gricourt." Cassiaux's references are in complete discord with lat. 13911 and H 588 (Collette probably had H 588, which he corrected from Hémeré's edition). Newman was unable to explain the discrepancies but did discover that Cassiaux was careless in a number of cases and even misattributed several acts belonging to the cartulary of Homblières (citing instead the cartulary of Mont-Saint-Martin). As Newman suspected, Cassiaux is not only unreliable but even misleading.

¹¹³ The first section in lat. 13911 (fols. 1-13; see also the "Concordance of the Cartulary Manuscripts," below, pp. 32-34) includes King Louis IV's expulsion of the nuns in 949 and Count Herbert IV's confirmation of the abbey's rights of justice in 1075.

¹¹⁴ In lat. 13911, fols. 14-32.

¹¹⁵ In lat. 13911, fols. 33-60.

¹¹⁶ In lat. 13911, fols. 61-78.

¹¹⁷ In lat. 13911, fols. 79-90.

some folios to be lost and others rearranged in a rebinding of the manuscript. In this instance a hasty redaction occasioned by the conflict with Ribemont in the 1160s may explain some of the disorder.

The papal confirmation of 1169 was the latest act in the original cartulary. The fact that none of the documents relating to the litigation between Homblières and Ribemont, nor the final settlement of 1178, was included in the cartulary suggests that the manuscript was completed under Abbot Peter (1163–1175) shortly after the receipt of Alexander III's bull dated 4 March 1169. In 1180 two items were added to blank folios of the completed manuscript.¹¹⁸ Thereafter the cartulary remained untouched, save for the insertion of a royal act in 1224, until the fourteenth century when several brief items were added to the last blank folios.¹¹⁹

This edition includes the texts of all acts in the cartulary as well as the acts issued by the abbots of Homblières or relevant to the abbey that are found in the archives or cartularies of other monasteries.¹²⁰ Of the 156 items identified, 151 texts are edited in full, including all 94 in the cartulary.¹²¹ Over half (81) of the 151 texts are published here for the first time, 18 of them from the original charters. Most of the remaining texts have until now been available only in partial or defective editions.

Almost all of the texts in this collection are classified as charters, a generic term for documents that served a variety of purposes.¹²² Over 70 percent of the charters here are in fact title deeds. The earliest ones simply record previous oral transactions that were themselves the legally constitutive acts, such as the donations to Homblières "by branch and turf" on the altar of Saint Hunegund. Commemorative documents seem to have been prepared only for the more substantial acquisitions and the more important donors. As the texts themselves explain, the written record preserved mem-

¹¹⁸ In lat. 13911, fols. 91–92 (acts nos. 97, 98, neither of which is rubricated). An administrative notice on the rights of the mayor of Homblières (act no. 96) can be dated to 1176–1180. It too was probably a late entry to a completed cartulary (lat. 13911, fol. 74). Two undated acts of the twelfth century (nos. 106, 107) appear earlier in the cartulary (lat. 13911, fols. 62, 69); the first belongs to the list of revenues of 1136–1146 (see act no. 44, comment); the second certainly should be dated before 1180.

¹¹⁹ The royal act of 1224 (act no. 117) was inserted immediately after the first item in the cartulary, Alexander III's bull of 1169. Several brief notices were added to the last folios of the cartulary in the fourteenth century (acts nos. 128C, 140–143). H 588 contains an undated ordo of the episcopal synod of Noyon (act no. 144).

¹²⁰ A brief notice from 1585 on the last folio of lat. 13911 (fol. 98) is omitted here; it contains an extract from act no. 128C.

¹²¹ There are seven extracts from texts in which Homblières is mentioned: acts nos. 45, 46, 90, 93, 100, 120, 133.

¹²² See A. Giry, Manuel de diplomatique (Paris, 1894), pp. 6–10, and Robert-Henri Bautier, "Caractères spécifiques des chartes médiévales," in Lucie Fossier, André Vauchez, and Cinzio Violante, eds., Informatique et histoire médiévale (Rome, 1977), pp. 81–83.

TABLE IV. CLASSIFICATION OF TEXTS BY ORIGINATOR OF DOCUMENT

	Texts in Cartulary	Other Texts
I. Laymen
Kings	5
Counts
Château-Thierry	2
France	1
Vermandois	15
Others	3	4
II. Ecclesiastics
Popes	6	8
Bishops
Cambrai	1
Laon	4
Noyon	8	4
Abbots
Anchin	1
Homblières	40	35
Prémontré	2	2
Saint-Amand	2
Saint-Prix	1
Vicoigne	1	1
Others	2	3
	94	57

ory of the oral act for future generations after living memory had lapsed, at which time the charter became the sole proof of legal possession. When Abbot Waleran in 1027 sought a charter from the count of Vermandois to confirm a donation made in 982/988, he complained that the failure of his predecessors to obtain written records was responsible for the disasters that beset the abbey; in that case Homblières was fortunate that the original donor, the castellan of Saint-Quentin, had become a monk at the abbey and could still testify about the donation.¹²³ The guarantors of the earliest charters were the witnesses to the acts. They placed an "x" (signum) by their names on the charter or traced an "x" ("by my own hand," as they often remarked) already provided by the scribe.¹²⁴ In the twelfth century, authenticating seals of important personages gradually displaced witnesses as validators of acts, and signum before a name came to mean simply that a witness had been present. Except for the finger seal (annulus) used by King Lothair, ¹²³ Act no. 25.

¹²⁴ Pierre Gasnault, "Les actes privés de l'abbaye de Saint-Martin de Tours du VIII^e au XII^e siècle," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 112 (1954), 33-34.

TABLE V. CLASSIFICATION OF TEXTS BY DATE OF ISSUE

Period	Previously Edited	Newly Edited (Original Charters)	Total
947-1000	17	4	21
1001-1100	12	1	13
1101-1150	16	13 (1)	29
1151-1200	16	31 (2)	47
1201-1300	9	22 (12)	31
1301-1400	-	10 (3)	10
	70	81 (18)	151

the earliest reference to a seal in this collection was by the bishop of Noyon in 1124.¹²⁵

When properties were exchanged or when both parties desired copies of agreements involving reciprocal obligations, a charter could take the form of a chirograph. Usually a single piece of parchment with two identical texts was divided in half through the word CHYROGRAPHUM, with one part to be retained by each party.¹²⁶ In some cases identical texts contain different witnesses and seals.¹²⁷ Most of the 22 chirographs in this collection are from the middle decades of the twelfth century, and the most interesting ones are those naming laymen as the second party.¹²⁸ Indeed, the earliest chirograph in the cartulary—from the 1130s or 1140s— involves the exchange of land with a knight, who must have received a chirograph for his own keeping.¹²⁹ Several other chirographs were given to knights in the 1150s; all involved fiefs, including one held from the abbey itself.¹³⁰ To what extent laymen, particularly feudal tenants far below the baronial level, retained chirographs and perhaps other documents as early as the mid-twelfth century remains an ¹²⁵ Acts nos. 4 (Lothair) and 37 (bishop of Noyon).

¹²⁶ Act no. 47 states that the bishop of Laon ordered the document written and divided as a chirograph between the two parties; acts nos. 46A and 60 also state that they were divided as chirographs.

¹²⁷ Although the text of act no. 58 does not refer to a chirograph, the original document is in fact a chirograph. The half with the seal of Homblières was preserved in the archives of Prémontré, while the other half with the seal of Prémontré was given to Homblières (it survives only as a copy in the cartulary of Homblières). See also acts nos. 69, 70.

¹²⁸ Chirographs involving ecclesiastical institutions: acts nos. 47, 58, 60, 62, 63, 65, 69, 70, 74, 75, 78 (one of the cartulary copies refers to a chirograph, although the text itself refers only to a scriptum with separate seals), 82, 91, 101, 101A. Chirographs involving laymen as one party: acts nos. 42, 46A, 49, 50, 66, 71, 76.

¹²⁹ Act no. 42 of 1136-1145 clearly states that it is a chirograph with the names of witnesses and abbey's seal; the text calls it a conventio, that is, a mutual agreement. The layman involved is identified as a knight in 1136-1146 (act no. 44, chap. 26).

¹³⁰ Acts nos. 66, 71, 76 (a feudal tenant of Homblières transferred his fief to Mont-Saint-Martin). See also acts nos. 49 and 50.

open question, but the fact that 7 of the 22 chirographs here were probably the reciprocals of copies given to laymen suggests a greater familiarity with written records than we have suspected.

Seven charters are confirmations of the abbey's possessions: 1 royal and 2 papal confirmations from the 950s, after the reform of the abbey, and 4 papal confirmations from the twelfth century.¹³¹ In addition, 21 charters are legal judgments or letters of notification of legal matters.¹³² The earliest adjudication was against a layman.¹³³ All other cases involved neighboring monastic houses and were concentrated in two periods, 1170–1180 and the late thirteenth century.

The abbot and chapter of Homblières issued all four types of charters: title deeds, chirographs, a confirmation,¹³⁴ and legal notifications.¹³⁵ The earliest known act from Homblières is a title deed of 1124 by which the monks ceded an allog to Saint-Fursy of Péronne in return for a 4 s. annual payment.¹³⁶ The charter was not sealed by the abbey but rather was presented to the bishop of Noyon for confirmation and probably his seal, although the text does not refer to any seal.¹³⁷ Another deed issued by Homblières in 1132 was witnessed but not sealed.¹³⁸ The first act to carry the abbey's seal appeared in 1135, and several of its chirographs of the 1140s were sealed.¹³⁹ It would appear that Homblières acquired a seal in the mid-1130s during the rule of Abbot Hugh I (1132–1143). A separate seal for the abbot appeared ca. 1186, and from 1219 the seals of the abbot and the chapter regularly appeared together.¹⁴⁰ An act of 1224 still bears both seals intact (see Fig. 4).¹⁴¹

In addition to charters, the cartulary contains several internal administrative records. There are nine notices (unofficial memoranda) in which oral transactions were noted for future reference but apparently not formalized in charters.¹⁴² The notices are neither dated nor sealed. Seven of them involve knights who had donated property to Homblières or who had at-¹³¹ Acts nos. 4–6, 38, 53, 59, 88. There are also 2 charters of the vidimus type: acts nos. 119, 128 (see also act no. 110A).

¹³² Acts nos. 56, 89, 91 (a chirograph), 92, 94, 95, 99 (forged), 100A, 102, 103, 123, 125, 126, 127, 128A, 128B, 128D, 130, 131, 132, 134.

¹³³ Act no. 56.

¹³⁴ Act no. 128 (vidimus of a legal judgment).

¹³⁵ Acts nos. 95, 100A.

¹³⁶ Act no. 36.

¹³⁷ The bishop of Noyon refers to his seal later in the same year (act no. 37).

¹³⁸ Act no. 39.

¹³⁹ Acts nos. 41, 42, 58, 60, 63.

¹⁴⁰ Act no. 100A of ca. 1186 (earliest example of the abbot's seal); act no. 112 of 1219 (first reference to both the abbot's and the chapter's seals together).

¹⁴¹ Act no. 118.

¹⁴² It is of course possible that these internal notices corresponded to formal charters, now lost, that were given to the interested parties.

4. A. Charter Issued by Abbot Baldwin and the Chapter of Homblières (Act no. 118)
Service philologique des Archives Nationales

4. B. Abbot Baldwin's Seal
Service photographique des Archives Nationales

4. C. The Chapter's Seal
Service photographique des Archives Nationales

tempted to usurp the abbey's rights.¹⁴³ Four of the texts simply state the provisions of the oral transactions, two furnish the names of witnesses as well, and one contains the signa of laymen who witnessed and confirmed the act. Two other internal memoranda are formal contracts stating the rights of the mayor of the village of Homblières and the revenues of the abbey's master cook,¹⁴⁴ and one records the execution of a local man by the royal bailiff. Finally, there are fragments of an eleventh-century inventory of manses, a mid-twelfth-century and a fourteenth-century list of revenues, a description of the duties and payments owed to the village curé of Homblières in 1262, and a fourteenth-century ordo of the episcopal synod of Noyon.¹⁴⁵

4. EDITORIAL PRINCIPLES

THIS EDITION evolved from Newman's typescript of ca. 1954. All transcriptions have been verified, and new information has been blended with Newman's own notes and comments. Although Newman's order of the acts has been retained in order to facilitate cross-reference to his other studies that refer to these acts by number, one act has been reclassified,¹⁴⁶ and nineteen others have been added: six acts indicated but not transcribed by Newman,¹⁴⁷ and thirteen entirely new acts.¹⁴⁸ The English summaries have been rewritten in the hope that the material will be more accessible to nonspecialists, and the indices have been expanded to be more serviceable to scholars. Newman's editorial conventions likewise have been modified in order to make this edition more compatible with current editing standards.

The Texts

When an original charter exists, the variant readings of later copies and editions are generally ignored here.¹⁴⁹ In like manner a text known from a ¹⁴³ Acts nos. 26, 34, 83, 84, 86, 87, 97.

¹⁴⁴ Acts nos. 96, 107, 141.

¹⁴⁵ Acts nos. 44 (n. 1 and comment), 106, 128C, 140, 144.

¹⁴⁶ Newman attached act no. 110A (a vidimus) to act no. 58, but act no. 110A contains modifications of the earlier act and rightfully deserves a separate identity. However, act no. 106, which should be part of act no. 44, has been left in place so as not to disrupt the sequence of the acts.

¹⁴⁷ Acts nos. 132, 137, and 138; and three acts from Saint-Feuillien (numbered here 128A, 128B, and 128D). Newman thanked M. Gabriel Wymans, archivist at the Archives d'Etat of Mons (Belgium), for bringing these items to his attention and for collating act no. 103A. In the summer of 1980 M. Wymans most graciously helped me to complete the collation of the texts from Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx at Mons.

¹⁴⁸ Acts nos. 46A, 79A, 91A, 92A, 92B, 100A, 122A, 128C, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144.

¹⁴⁹ In a few cases, variants are of interest for the light they shed on scribal practices at Homblières. For example, the variants in lat. 13911 and H 588 to act no. 62, which still exists in the original, derive from the scribe of the medieval cartulary of Homblières, whereas the medieval cartulary other than the cartulary of Homblières is presented here without the variants of later (generally seventeenth- and eighteenth-century) copies. Most of the texts in this edition are known only from the lost medieval cartulary of Homblières, of which there are three direct and independent copies from the seventeenth century: lat. 13911, H 588, and Hémeré's partial edition of 1643.¹⁵⁰ All other copies and editions are entirely derivative.¹⁵¹ Therefore their variants—invariably errors, omissions, and stylistic changes— are ignored except when a modern editor suggests a better reading.

All three primary copies of the cartulary contain errors and omissions and none consistently offers the best reading. Newman regarded lat. 13911 as the base copy, although he often preferred the more clearly written and less abbreviated reading of H 588. In fact, both lat. 13911 and H 588 were corrected by a later hand (perhaps by Colliette) that attempted to reconcile some of the discrepancies and to correct the marginal dates of those copies.¹⁵² In this edition all three copies are accorded equal weight except where Hémeré indicates that his text came from an original charter in the archives of Homblières.¹⁵³ Emendations and editorial notations are placed in brackets.

variants in Hémeré's version of the same act (he probably saw the original charter) were introduced by him. See also act no. 58.

¹⁵⁰ Hémeré published thirty-four texts from both the medieval cartulary and original charters (see n. 153).

¹⁵¹ Wyard, Colliette, Mabillon, and the RHF derive from Hémeré, while the Collections de Picardie and Moreau derive from H 588. Colliette might have seen H 588 (his version of act no. 5 is longer than the text printed by Hémeré) and was perhaps responsible for the corrections in H 588, but he did not publish anything beyond what Hémeré had already printed. Modern editions of papal and royal acts are based on both lat. 13911 and H 588.

¹⁵² Most of the corrections to lat. 13911 and H 588 appear to have been made by hands other than those of the original copyists, although it is often difficult to distinguish between original corrections and changes by later hands. Hémeré's edition was the basis of many changes (probably by Colliette) in H 588 (see act no. 4 variant b; act no. 23 variant d; act no. 27 variant n), but whoever assumed that Hémeré offered the better text was mistaken. In fact, Hémeré often misread texts, and he omitted entire phrases and the names of witnesses that were not pertinent to his interests. Whenever the scribes of H 588 and lat. 13911 corrected their own errors, the variants are ignored here.

¹⁵³ Hémeré states that he took his texts from a cartulary ("e chartulario eodem Humolar," "ex chartul. monaster.") as well as from charters in the archives of Homblières ("chartae Humolariens," acts nos. 12, 52, 116; "chartae eiusdem loci," acts nos. 30, 40, 48, 55; "ex archivis," acts nos. 19, 21). While the reference to a cartulary might have been to one of the copies of the medieval cartulary (but see the argument below), his readings of the items that he claims were in the archives are quite divergent from both lat. 13911 and H 588, and appear to be defective transcriptions that he made from the original acts. For example, his version of act no. 62, which survives in the original, is defective and certainly not taken from any other known copy. Moreover, he gives the text of a forged act (no. 116) that he claims was made from the original charter in the archives of Homblières but which is not known from any other reference. Clearly, Hémeré had access to some original documents from the abbey's archives, and Misonne was justified in recognizing the independent authority of Hémeré's edition.

Orthography

In order to minimize the number of variants from the three primary copies of the cartulary, the following conventions are observed:

ae/e/oe. The three primary copies usually have ae (e.g., praesentium) where the original charter and perhaps the medieval cartulary would have had e. In the absence of original charters or medieval copies, the ae of the three primary copies is retained here, and abbreviations are expanded to ae for the sake of consistency. When the primary copies differ in the use of ae and oe (e.g., coenobium), oe is preferred here.

i/j/y. Although some modern editors change the i preceding a vowel to j, neither the original charters nor the primary copies of the cartulary distinguish linguistically between i and j; therefore i and ii are retained here. Lat. 13911 and H 588 often employ y for i in certain words (e.g., chyragraphum) but not consistently; the reading of lat. 13911 is generally preferred here. In the cases where Hémeré uses i in lieu of e (e.g., quatinus for quatenus), the e is retained here.

u/v/w. The u and uu of the charters and the primary copies of the cartulary are retained with these exceptions: u preceding a vowel becomes v (e.g., villa) and uu becomes vu (e.g., vulgas). In proper names u often becomes v (e.g., Evrardus), while uu becomes w (Walterus) except in the case of Cauviniacus.

c/d. Lat. 13911 and Hémeré generally give c (e.g., quicquid) where H 588 and the original charters have d (quidquid); d is preferred here.

m/n. H 588 usually has n (e.g., quacunque) where the original charters, lat. 13911, and Hémeré have m (quacumque); m is preferred here.

doubling. Hémeré's practice of doubling the letters l, m, and n (e.g., Hunnegundis) is ignored here.

numerals. All three primary copies give Arabic numerals, particularly in dates, for what must have been Roman numerals in the original charters and the cartulary. Arabic numerals are changed here to Roman numerals except when one of the primary copies spells out or abbreviates (e.g., 4^o) a number, in which case the written form is retained.

abbreviations. All abbreviations are expanded to conform to the orthography of the texts (e.g., fsenti to praesenti) in the cartulary copies. Domns (or domnus) is rendered dominus.

apostrophe. In French texts an apostrophe is inserted only to clarify (e.g., desterpenig becomes d'Esterpenig), not for common elisions (e.g., quil).

capitals. Capital letters are used only at the beginning of sentences and for proper names.

Punctuation

Since medieval charters were punctuated to aid someone reading the text aloud, grammatical rules were not always observed. All three primary copies of the cartulary are erratic in their punctuation and in many places, in fact, misleading about the sense of the text. Except where indicated in the original charters, punctuation in this edition has been inserted to aid the modern reader: a period generally separates two distinct subjects, a semi-colon separates long but related clauses, a colon announces a list, and a comma simply clarifies.

Dating

The dates of several acts of the tenth and of the late twelfth and thirteenth centuries depend on when the year began. It is assumed here that Christmas or the first of January commenced the year in the tenth century, and that either Annunciation (25 March) or Easter, depending on the locality, commenced the year in the thirteenth century.¹⁵⁴ In 1215 the royal chancery adopted Easter as the beginning of the year, and Homblières seems to have followed that convention soon afterward.¹⁵⁵ All dates are converted to new style (N.S.).

5. CONCORDANCE OF THE CARTULARY MANUSCRIPTS

lat. 13911	H 588	Hémeré	Edition
1-3	1-4		88
3	4-5	R 52-53	117
4	5-6		38
5-6	7-9		53
7	10-11		59
8	11-12		6
9	12-13	R 29	2
10	13-14	R 30	4
11	14-15	R 37	31
12	15-16		13
13	16-17	T 95-96	5
14	17-18		15
15	18	T 112	23

¹⁵⁴ In the thirteenth century Annunciation marked the beginning of the year in the diocese of Reims, in the county of Ponthieu, and in Arras and Amiens. See G. Robert, "Le style usité pour les actes depuis le XIII^e siècle," Le Moyen Âge 15 (1911), 252, n. 3; Clovis Brunel, ed., Recueil des actes des comtes de Ponthieu, 1026-1279 (Paris, 1930), pp. lxii-lxiii (for the years 1226-1262); and Joseph Estienne, "Usage du style de l'Annonciation à Arras et à Amiens au début du XIII^e siècle," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 98 (1937), 217-220.

¹⁵⁵ Georges Tessier, Diplomatique royale française (Paris, 1962), p. 227. The act of King Louis VIII dated February 1223 (no. 117) should be dated 1224 (N.S.) because he became king in July 1223. The abbot of Homblières and the bishop of Noyon followed that date in their own confirmations (acts nos. 118, 119). In a later example, act no. 125, dated 28 January 1252, is followed by three related acts (nos. 126-128) dated May 1253; the first act should be dated 1253 (N.S.).

lat. 13911	H 588	Hémére	Edition
16	19	R 30	11
17	19-20	R 34	19
18	20-21	R 33	12
19	21-22		14
20	22		8
21	22-23	R 38-39	30
22	23-24	R 35	24
23	24-25		17
24	25	R 35	25
25	25-26	R 31	10
26	26-27	R 31	9
27	27-28		20
28	28-29	T 111	27
29	29	R 32	18
30	29-30		32
31	30-31	R 33-34	21
32	31		7
33	32	R 41	37
34	32-33	T 131	33
35	34	R 42	40
36	34-35	R 43	55
37	35-36	T 94-95	1
38	36		86
39	37		22
40	37-38	T 111-112	28
41	38		34
42	38-39		26
43	39-40		61
44	40-41		67
45	41-42		68
46	42-43	R 40-41	54
47	43-44		71
48	44-45	R 42-43	48
49	45-46		60
50	46-47		72
51	47-48		74
52	48		57
53	49	T 160	52
54	50		73
55	50-51		78
56	51-52		58
57	52-53	T 97-98	35
58	53	R 30-31	3

HOMBLIERES

lat. 13911	H 588	Hémeré	Edition
59	53-54		13
60	54		39
61	54		79
62	55		106
63	55-56		16
64-67	56-60		44
68	60-61		80
69	61		107
70	61-62		87
71	62		84
72	62-63		83
73	63-64		81
74	64-65		96
75	65-66		49
76	66		50
77	67	T 160-161	56
78	67-68		69
79	68		65 ^a
80	68	R 35	29 ^a
81	69		63 ^b
82	69		36 ^b
83	70		43
84	70	R 40	64
85	70-71		66
86	71		47
87	72	T 160	51 ^c
88	72	T 152-153	62
89	72		42 ^c
90	73		77
91	73		97
92	73-74		98
93	74		140
94	74-75		128C
—	75		139
95	75-76		141
—	—	T 213-214	116
96	76		142
97	76		143
—	76-77		144
99	—		79A

T—text R—regestum

a, b, c: the sequence of each pair is reversed in H 588.

II. THE CHARTERS

1

Laon (Forged or remade) 947 April 10¹

Transmar, bishop of Vermandois and Noyon, grants the request of Bertha,² abbess of Notre-Dame of Homblères, for the altar of Saint-Etienne in the villa of Homblères. This was done at the urging of King Louis [IV] and on the advice of Artold, archbishop of Reims, and his suffragans. In commemoration of the recent discovery of Saint Hunegund's body, Transmar remits the annual payment of 2 s. due from the altar.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 37r-v, with the title “De altari sancti Stephani dato huic ecclesiae a Transmario episcopo Noviomensi.” C: H 588, pp. 35–36, with the same title as B.
D: Wyard, pp. 16–17, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, pp. 94–95, copy of a “charta.” (b) Mabillon, Acta sanctorum, 5:213–214, copy of a. (c) Collette, 1:561–562, copy of a. (d) Misonne, pp. 150–153, no. 17, based on BCa.

Trans.: Charles, 2:80–81.

Ind.: Mabillon, Annales, 3:451. Bréquigny, 1:414. Matton, p. 94. Lauer, Le règne de Louis IV, p. 157, n.2.

Ego⁴ in Dei nomine [chrismon] Transmarus, sanctae ecclesiae Vermandensis ac Noviomensis indignus⁵ episcopus, notum facio sanctae ecclesiae fidelibus in nostram venisse praesentiam dominam Bertham, Humolariensis monasterii abbatissam, humiliter deprecantem ut altare sancti Stephani ecclesiae quae est in eadem villa Humolarias,⁶ in qua⁴ sedet praefata abbatia, loco sanctae Mariae et sanctae Hunegundis daremus ad usus congregationis ibi Deo militantis. Cuius humillimam petitionem intimando domino Ludovico regi, simulque domino Artoldo archiepiscopo ecclesiae Rhemensis suisque suffraganeis nostris coepiscopis praefati regis imperio, dominique metropolitani caeterorumque episcoporum consilio petitioni tam humillimae decrevimus libentissime parere. Dedimus ergo ad praefatum locum sanctae Mariae et sanctae Hunegundis praefatum altare congregationi eiusdem monasterii in perpetuum habendum sine ulla contradictione, ea videlicet ratione ut omni anno duos solidos denariorum persolvat secundum quod iubet authoritas propter honorem cathedrae episcopaloris; et quia corpus sanctae Hunegundis tam venerabilis virginis hoc anno, Deo volente, coruscantibus miraculis de terra levatum est, praefatum altare dedimus libenter. Iubemus itaque ut defuncta persona ante episcopum adducatur, altera cui idem episcopus altare praescriptum^f sine pecunia donet, et curam animarum commendet. Et ut hoc donum inviolabile permaneat et inconvulsum, hanc chartam^g scribere praecepimus et signo sanctae^h Crucis insignivimus, autoritatequeⁱ sanctae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti excommunicamus^j et a liminibus sanctae ecclesiae separamus^k illos omnes qui praefatum altare a loco sanctae Hunegundis vi aut ingenio abstulerint. Signum^l Ludovici regis. Signum Gerbergae reginae et Lotharii filii eius. Signum Hugonis ducis. Signum Heriberti comitis. Signum Arnulfi^m marchisii. Signum Adelelmiⁿ militis. Signum Rainaldi militis.^o Signum Theodaldi^p militis. Signum Helberti^q militis.^r Signum Evrardi^s militis. Signum Gerberti militis. Signum Artoldi^t Rhemensis archiepiscopi. Signum Rodulfi^u Laudunensis^v episcopi. Signum Transmari Noviomensis episcopi. Signum Abonis Suessionensis episcopi.^w Signum Stephani Morinorum episcopi. Signum Geraldii^x Ambianensis episcopi. Signum Ingerrani^y Cameraicensis episcopi. Signum Gildieri^z Meledensis^{aa} episcopi. Signum Evagrii^{bb} Triectensis^{cc} episcopi. Signum^{dd} Hincmari^{dd} abbatis Sancti Remigii. Actum Lauduno Clavato, anno Dominicae incarnationis DCCCCXLVII, quarto idus aprilis, inductione V, epacta XXVI, concurrente XVI,^{ee} regnante Ludovico rege anno XI.^{ff} Oddo diaconus scripsit et re legit vice et iussu Erchembodi^{gg} cancellarii domini Transmari Noviomensis episcopi.

^a Ego omitted C. ^b indignus omitted a. ^c Humolorias B. ^d cuius ecclesiae in lieu of qua BC. ^e sanctaeque a. ^f praedictum corrected to praescriptum B. ^g cartham C. ^h sanctae omitted C. ⁱ autoritate igitur a. ^j excommunicavimus BC. ^k separavimus BC. ^l signum omitted for subsequent witnesses a. ^m Arnulphi C. ⁿ Adelini a. ^o Rainaldi militis omitted a. ^p Thetboldi a. ^q Heriberti a. ^r Sciardi a. ^s Ardoldi BC. ^t Rodulphi a. ^u Laudennis B, Laudenis a. ^v entire phrase in margin B. ^w Geroldi a. ^x Ingerrani Ba, changed to Ingrannii B; Ingranni C. ^y Gildiori C, Hildieri a. ^z Meldensis a. ^{aa} Evacrii B, Eu a. ^{bb} Traiectensis a. ^{cc} et added C. ^{dd} Hinemarii corrected to Hincmari B. ^{ee} C. added above B, concurrente XVI omitted ad; probably should read VI (see n. 1). ^{ff} 13 BCd, II a; see n. 1. ^{gg} Erchemboldi a.

¹ Hémeré, Collette, and Lauer accept this date for they omit the concurrents and adopt a regnal year of XI instead of the year XIII that is given in lat. 13911 and H 588. Mabillon also omits the concurrents but proposes correcting the regnal year to XII. In fact, if Louis IV's reign began on 19 June 936, as Lauer believes (Recueil, p. lxiv), a regnal year of XI (and therefore the date 947) would be correct here. However, the XVI concurrents given in lat. 13911 and H 588 are impossible; perhaps the medieval cartulary had VI, which would be correct for the year 948. See comment below.

² Perhaps she is the Bertha mentioned in the obituary of Saint-Denis for 29 October (Obituaires, 1:318).

³ Misonne, p. 152, rejects the identification of Helbertus miles with Eilbert of Florennes (see act no. 2).

COMMENT

Discrepancies in the elements of the date (see above, n. 1) are themselves insufficient grounds to reject the authenticity of this act, as it was not unusual for the elements in tenth-century charters to disagree. The witness list is a more serious difficulty. "Gerold," bishop of Amiens, is probably a scribal error for Derold, who died late in 946 or 947 (GG, 10:1161). But Abbo, bishop of Soissons, died in 937 (ibid., 9:346) and Stephen, bishop of Thérouanne, died ca. 935 (ibid., 10:1536), whereas Ingeran did not become bishop of Cambrai before 957 (ibid., 3:16). The date of Transmar's death is in doubt: both the Annales Blandinienses and the Annales Elmarenses (Grierson, p. 18, line 12, and p. 85, line 18) give the 12th kalends of April (21 March) 949, which Grierson corrects to 950 because of a reference in Flooard (ibid., p. 18, n. 6). Newman agreed with Lauer that the charter was "forged or remade."

When viewed in the context of events in the mid-tenth century, however, this charter appears less a total forgery than a slightly altered or perhaps incorrectly copied authentic act. The witness Count Herbert was probably not Herbert II, count of Vermandois (900/907–943), but rather his son Herbert the Elder, count of Château-Thierry from 943 to 980/984 (Bur, pp. 88, 96, tables 2, 4). Herbert II of Vermandois, an intractable enemy of the Carolingians, had placed his son Hugh, a boy of six years of age, on the see of Reims in 925. Hugh was displaced in 931 when Artold was elected archbishop, and it was the latter who consecrated Louis IV at Laon in 936. Herbert II captured the city of Reims and reinstalled his son, but after Herbert's death the king reestablished control over the city and returned Artold to the see of Reims in 946 (for these events, see Dumas, "L'église de Reims"). The ties between Louis IV and Artold were thus cemented by events, and it was natural for the king to support the archbishop's extensive reform efforts (946–961). It is quite understandable that Artold exploited the discovery of Hunegund's body to solicit a royal act from Louis during a visit to Laon, thereby supporting Abbess Bertha whom Artold had encouraged to reform the monastery at Homblières.

2

Saint-Remi of Reims

949 October 1¹

King Louis [IV], at the request of Albert [II], count [of Vermandois], and of Eilbert [of Florennes]² and his wife Hersend, replaces the nuns of Homblières, who have not lived honestly enough or obeyed a strict enough monastic rule, with monks obedient to the Benedictine rule and to an abbot. The monastery will henceforth be free from all secular control. Among those present and approving the transfer are Artold, archbishop [of Reims]; Guy, bishop [of Soissons]; Gibuin, bishop [of Châlons-sur-Marne]; Hincmar, abbot [of Saint-Rémi of Reims]; and Ragenold, count [of Roucy].

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 9r-v, with the title "De expulsione sanctimonialium et quomodo monachi intraverint." C: H 588, pp. 12-13, with the same title as B. D: Wyard, pp. 18-19, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hemerì, regestum, p. 29, "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar." (b) Marlot, Metropolis Remensis historia, 1:578-579; French edition, Histoire de la ville, cité et université de Reims, 2:833, no. 42, copy of a. (c) Mabillon, Acta sanctorum, 2:1025, copy of a. (d) RHF, 9:605, no. 24, copy of a. (e) Colliette, 1:562-563, copy of a. (f) Lauer, Recueil, pp. 76-77, no. 32, based on BCa. (g) Misonne, pp. 153-154, no. 18, copy off.

Ind.: Mabillon, Annales, 3:455-456. Bréquigny, 1:415. Böhmer, no. 2018. Matton, p. 93.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ludovicus gratia Dei Francorum rex. Si divinis cultibus operam dantes, ecclesiam Dei ad summum sacrae religionis statum sustollere conamur, regio iure ac progenitorum nostrorum privilegiis utimur. Quocirca omnium sanctae Dei ecclesiae fidelium tam praesentium quam et^a futurorum novit solertia quoniam^b nostram adeuntes praesentiam Adalbertus,^c inclitae indolis comes, una cum nobili viro Eilberto et coniuge sua Hersendi,^d suppliciter nostram exorantes munificentiam ut cuidam locello in pago Viromandensi' sito qui vulgo dicitur Humolarias, quo^e sacratissima sponsa Christi Hunegundis diem expectat beatae remuneracionis,^f nostra dignaretur subvenire clementia quatenus quibusdam sanctimonialibus inibi non satis honeste viventibus et regulari distinctioni^h subiici nolentibus inde remotis substituerentur monachi qui obedirent regulae et abbati. Quod nostra annuente authoritate, praedictus Eilbertus praedictam abbatiam domino suo comiti, videlicet Adalberto, reddidit; isdem vero comes nostrae ditioni eamdem obtulit, ea scilicet ratione ut preecepto nostrae authoritatis ita hanc muniri iuberemus quo, absque ulla omnino diminutione et sine aliqua alicubi subiectione, abbati regulari concessa inviolabilis in perpetuum permaneret. Favente igitur coniuge nostra et venerabili archiepiscopo Artaldo cum episcopis Widone et Gibuinoⁱ et clarissimo abbe Hincmaro et monachis eiusdem congregationis et comitibus, praedicto Adalberto et Ragenoldo, cunctisque fidelibus nostris qui aderant precantibus et laudantibus, ita fieri decrevimus cum quorum omnium consilio iam saepe dictam abbatiam cum omni integritate pro regula in eodem loco observanda abbati regulari habendam in perpetuum statuimus. Et ut nostrae authoritatis^j emolumenntum^k per succendentia temporum curricula inviolabiliter^l conservetur, manu nostra eum^m subtus firmantes sigilloⁿ corroborari praecipimus^o nostro. Sigillum^p domini Ludovici [monogramma]^q gloriosissimi regis Francorum. Odilo^r notarius ad vicem Artaldi^s archiepiscopi summi-que cancellarii recognovit. Actum Rhemis^t civitate in monasterio sancti Remigii, kalendas^u octobris, indictione VI, anno XIII, regnante Ludovico rege glorioso, anno^v incarnationis Domini DCCCCXLVIII.

^a et omitted a. ^b quod a. ^c Ad-Albertus B. ^d Hersendi changed to Herisinde C. ^e Vero-mandensi C. ^f qua B. ^g remunerationis diem C. ^h districcioni corrected to districtoni C, discretioni a. ⁱ Geduino a. ^j autoritas corrected to authoritatis B. ^k mnonumentum a. ^l inviolabiler C. ^m eum omitted a. ⁿ Lauer (p. lxix) notes that sigillum here is unique among Louis IV's acts and must be an error of the seventeenth-century copyists. ^o praecepimus a. ^p S a. ^q BC have an L surmounted by a V. ^r Oydilo a. ^s Arltaldi B. ^t Remis a. ^u cal. a. ^v anno ab a.

¹ October of the fourteenth regnal year was 949, but indiction VI would give 948. Mabillon (Annales, 3:456) suggests that the year of the Incarnation was added later. Lauer (Recueil, p. lxxii) points out that the year of the Incarnation was rarely given and poorly calculated in the acts of Louis IV; thus the regnal year is the more accurate element of the date. Moreover, according to Flodoard (Les annales, p. 123), Count Albert I of Vermandois was reconciled with the king in 949, and therefore 949 is an acceptable date for this charter (Lauer, Recueil, p. 76, n. 1). Misonne (pp. 153-154) also accepts 1 October 949.

² Misonne has established the identity of Eilbert of Florennes.

3

Saint-Quentin

954

Albert [II], count [of Vermandois] and abbot [of Saint-Quentin], confirms the exchange that his faithful Gerbert and the latter's knight Anser made with Berner, abbot of Homblières, of the land of Saint-Quentin in the villa of Fresnoy-le-Grand for the land of Homblières in the villa of Fontaine-Notre-Dame.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 58, with the title "De commutatione terrae Fontenellis quam fecerunt canonici Sancti Quintini cum monachis Humolariensibus pro terra Fraxiniaci." C: H 588, p. 53, with the same title as B except "Fontenellis" is corrected to "Fontanellis." Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, pp. 30-31. "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar." (b) Colliette, 1:565-566, copy of a.
Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:424. Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Adalbertus comes et abbas. Notum sit cunctis sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesenti-bus quam futuris quod ad nostram accesserunt^a praesentiam quidam ex fidelibus nostris, Gerbertus scilicet, et Anserus miles eius et Berne-rus abbas cellae Humolariensis, postulantes ut quamdam commutationem quam inter se fecerunt nostra autoritate firmaremus, de terra scilicet Sancti Quintini quae iacet in villa quae dicitur Fraxiniacus^b et de terra sanctae Mariae et sanctae Hunegundis quae iacet in villa quae dicitur^c Fontanas. Quibus inter se bene convenientibus, quod petebant facere decernentes, hanc chartam fieri iussimus et manu propria firmavimus. Et si quis, quod nequaquam futurum credimus, contra hanc cautionem insurgere et hanc violare tentaverit, in primis iram Dei omnipotentis incurrat et quinque^d auri libras exsolvat et eius contentiosa repetitio inanis fiat. Signum Adalberti comitis. Signum Gerbergae^e uxoris eius. Signum Gisonis custodis. Signum Roberti^f decani. Signum Waldini^g praepositi. Signum Tannoardi^h presbyteri.

Signum Teuuardi presbyteri.ⁱ Signum^j Crispini diaconi. Signum An-selmi diaconi. Albrici diaconi.^k Gerberti vassalli. Goterani.^l Gerardi vassalli. Hildradi^m castelli.ⁿ Anseri^o vassalli.^p Actum in monasterio Sancti Quintini, anno incarnationis Dominicae DCCCCLIV, indica-tione XII. Albricus cancellarius recognovit et subscrispsit.

^a accesserint BC. ^b Fraxiniacus through dicitur added in margin B. ^c C a ^d Gerbae BC.

^e Roberti a. ^f Balduini a. ^g Tannoardi C, Evrardi a. ^h phrase omitted a; perhaps an inadvertant repetition of the previous phrase in the medieval cartulary. ⁱ Signum omitted B. ^j a reads Crispini, Anselmi, Albrici diaconorum. ^k Goteranni Ca; see also a. ^l Hysdradi B. ^m castelli omitted a; see also a. ⁿ Ansieri BC. ^o a gives Gerberti, Goteranni, Gerardi, Hildradi, Anseri vasallorum.

4

[954 November 12-955 December 10]¹

King Lothair, at the request of Berner, abbot of Homblières, confirms the act of his father [Louis IV] that reformed the monastery (act no. 2).

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 10 r-v, with the title "Charta Lotharii Regis. Mortuo autem rege Ludovico, vice genitoris Lotharius constitutur rex in regno, qui domini abbatis Bernerii petitionibus pie assensum praebuit, cum ad instar iuris paterni hoc etiam sua authoritate preeceptum fieri mandavit." C: H 588, pp. 13-14, with the same title as B.
D: Wyard, pp. 20-21, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 30, "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar." (b) RHF, 9:
622-623, no. 9, copy of a. (c) Collette, 1:563, copy of a. (d) Halphen and Lot, pp. 18-19, no. 9, based on BCa.

Ind.: Bréguigny, 1:429. Matton, p. 93.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Lotharius gratia Dei Francorum rex. Si^a divinis cultibus operam dantes sacrae religioni suffragari nitimus, progenitorum nostrorum privilegiis fulti, regio more utimur. Igitur notum sit universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesentibus quam futuris quia accessit Bernerus abbas, qui cellae Humolariensi praest, nostram humiliter exorans clementiam ut idem coenobium, in honore sanctae Dei genitricis et semper virginis Mariae constructum, cui, ut diximus, praest, authoritatis nostrae munimine tutaretur,^b quod videlicet pia nostri genitoris clementia ad melioris vitae studium iam ante fuerat relevatum necnon signo regiae subscriptionis munitum, hoc idem apud ipsum impetrantibus comite Adalberto ac venerabili viro Eilberto, qui eamdem abbatiam cum omni integritate ob amorem Dei omnipotentis et suarum remedium animarum sanctae Dei genitrici Mariae et sanctae Hunegundi redentes, piae memoriae patris nostri manibus tradiderunt quatenus monachi inibi regulariter viventes absque ulla perturbatione soli Deo militarent. Sed quia repetitio confirmatio est, non ab^c re fieri credimus, si praedicti abbatis multorumque religiosorum monachorum supplicationibus evicti, eorum petitionibus assensum praebemus. Quod facere decernentes, eamdem abbatiam absque ulla diminutione abbati cum monachis viventibus regulariter in perpetuum habendam concessimus atque, excellentissimi genitoris nostri vestigia sequentes, praefatam autoritatem^d pracepto nostrae potestatis corroborari ius simus nostroque annulo signavimus ut² si quis eidem cellae villam aut mansum sive campum subtrahere voluerit, in primis omnipotentis Dei iram incurrat, deinde centum auri libras persolvat et ab omni possessione privatus nostro regno exul fiat.

^a a begins here. ^b tutaretur changed to tutaremur C, tutaremur a. ^c abs Ca. ^d auctoritatem Ba.

¹ Halphen and Lot (p. 18, n. 1) date this act 12 November 954–2 January 956, that is, between Lothair's accession and John XII's bull (act no. 6) which mentions this act. However, that papal bull repeats the one of Agapitus II given before 10 December 955 (act no. 5), and therefore Lothair's act could have been given before that date (but see also act no. 5, n. 2).

² Halphen and Lot suggest that the words beginning with ut si quis to the end of the act were added by the scribe who wrote the medieval cartulary. The original charter certainly bore witnesses and probably a date and place of issue.

for defending it, and then only with the abbot's permission. The pope also confirms the following possessions: the villa of Homblières in which the abbey is located, Méricourt, Cugny, and twelve manses with fishing rights in the villa of Frise on the river Somme.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 13r-v, with the title "Agapiti papae de munitione et tranquillitate huius ecclesiae et villarum sibi adiacentium." C: H 588, pp. 16-17, with the same title as B. D: Wyard, p. 20, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, pp. 95-96, incomplete. (b) Colliette, 1:563-564, "extrait du cartulaire," a longer selection than a, and a reading in agreement with C; reproduction of the seal, which is not in BC. (c) PL, 133:930-932, copy of a. (d) Misonne, pp. 156-157, no. 20, based on BCa. (e) Zimmermann, 1:235-237, no. 132.

Trans.: Charles, 2:82-83, fragment.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93. Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 3672. De Cagny, 1:533. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 1, and Kirchengut, p. 64. Böhmer-Zimmermann, no. 245.

In nomine sanctae et inseparabilis Trinitatis. Agapitus, Christi adminiculante misericordia, sanctae Romanae sedis antistes. Si iustis petitionibus praestabiles voto piorum assensum praebemus, voluntati Domini nos militare credimus. Ergo notum sit universis catholicae matris ecclesiae filiis tam^b praesentibus quam futuris^b quod misit ad nos filius noster gloriosae indolis puer, scilicet Lotharius rex Francorum, paternitatem nostram humiliiter obsecrans ut quamdam cellam in pago Viromandensi sitam, in honore beatae Dei genitricis et perpetuae virginis^c Mariae et sanctae Hunegundis virginis constructam, apostolicae authoritatis praesidio muniremus. Quam suggesteribus genitori suo Ludovico videlicet regi et sibi ipsi aequa regi, comite Adalberto, et idoneo satis viro Eilberto qui eamdem abbatiolam iure beneficii possidebat, ad sacrae religionis venerabilem^d cultum erigere conatur, atque regiae potestatis paecepto corroborare nititur. Cuius petitioni congaudentes ecclesiastici vigoris manum exerimus, et ex ea, qua fulcimur, apostolica^e autoritate^f praecipimus ut praefatam abbatiam nemo unquam saecularium possideat, neque ex rebus eiusdem cellae quicquam sibi aliquis usurpet, non rex, non comes, non episcopus, nec quilibet princeps quacumque potestate praeditus, nisi forte tuendi ac defendendi causa, et hoc non nisi eiusdem loci regularis abbatis^g fiat permissione. Si quis vero pro hac adipiscenda pecuniam vel quodlibet munus regi aut cuilibet principi dederit sive promiserit, subinferenda maledictioni subiacebit. Sit igitur eidem cellae abbas secundum regulam sancti^h Benedicti constitutus et monachi regulari distinctioni subiecti, quos de rebus eiusdem cellae aliquod dispendium perpeti cum omni imperio prohibemus. Res veroⁱ eiusdem ecclesiae sunt: Humolarias villa, in^j qua eadem cella constructa est, cum mansionibus cunctis ad se pertinentibus; Merulficurtis^k cum adiacentiis suis; Cauviniacus cum mansis ad se pertinentibus; in villa quae dicitur Frisia super flumen Summam XII mansi quos pro commoditate piscium eidem ecclesiae perpetualiter habere liceat. Haec itaque et si qua alia eadem ecclesia Domino opitulante adquirere sibi potuerit, apostolica fulta auctoritate licenter et sine aliqua contradictione possidebit.^j Si quis vero contra huius apostolici privilegii tutelam aliquid sinistri^l molitus fuerit et ex his quae dicta sunt aliqua pervertere male loquendo voluerit, hunc cum auxilio Domini nostri Iesu Christi et adiutorio beatae Mariae semperque virginis genitricis eiusdem Dei et Domini nostri, faventibus nobis omnium coelestium virtutum beatissimis spiritibus et annuentibus sanctorum patriarcharum et prophetarum agminibus, ex auctoritate beatissimi Petri apostolorum principis cum omnibus apostolis et discipulis Domini, martyrum etiam sive confessorum et virginum ad hoc suffragantibus meritis, cum assensu comprovincialium pontificum et huius sanctae sedis suffraganeis episcopis excommunicamus et anathematizamus, et a liminibus sanctae Dei ecclesiae sequestrantes ab omni christianorum societate separamus ut sub huius anathematis vinculo poenaliter innodatus sit anathema maranatha. Fiat, fiat.

[•] Sanctis BC. Si sanctis ad. Si iustis in act no. 6. [•] tam praesentibus tam futuris omitted a.

[•] et perpetuae virginis omitted a. [•] venerabilem added B. [•] apostolica omitted a. [•] auctoritate apostolica C. [•] abbatis regularis C. [•] b(eati) C. [•] ergo a. [•] in through possidebit omitted a.

[•] Merulficoltis changed by a later hand to Merulficurtis C. [•] rest of text highly abbreviated in a.

¹ Lothair was crowned 12 November 954 and Agapitus II died 10 December 955. Lat. 13911 has 946 in the margin; H 588 has 948 changed to 954. Misonne gives 949-955, and Zimmermann prefers early 955.

² Since both date and subscription are lacking, it is possible that this text was not issued as a papal bull by Agapitus II but rather was a request sent to him for confirmation, which his death prevented; his successor John XII honored the request by his bull of 2 January 956 (act no. 6; see Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 230).

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 8r-v, with the title “De immunitate et pace huius ecclesiae villarumque eius atque rerum ad eas pertinentium,” and a facsimile of the seal. C: H 588, pp. 11–12, with the same title and facsimile of seal as B. D: Wyard, pp. 22–23, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Mabillon, Acta sanctorum, 2:1025–1030, incomplete copy of B? (b) Cocquelines, 1:257, copy of a. (c) RHF, 9:234–235, copy of a. (d) Colliette, I: 566, copy of a. (e) PL, 133:1015, incomplete copy of a. (f) Misonne, pp. 158–161, no. 21, based on BCa. (g) Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, pp. 230–232, no. 4, based on BCa. (h) Zimmermann, 1:250–252, no. 138.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:427. Matton, p. 93. Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 3675. Böhmer-Zimmermann, no. 264. Lohrmann, Kirchengut, pp. 64, 80.

Ioannes episcopus servus servorum Dei, venerabili abbatii Bernero beatae Dei genitricis Mariae virginis ecclesiae et per eam cunctae congregationi in perpetuum. Si^a iustis petitionibus praestabiles piorum assensum praebemus, voluntati Domini nos militare credimus. Ergo notum sit universis catholicae matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesentibus quam futuris quod misit ad nos filius noster gloriosae indolis puer, scilicet Lotharius rex Francorum, paternitatem nostram humiliter obsecrans ut quamdam cellam in pago Veromandensi^b sitam, in honore beatae Dei genitricis virginis Mariae et sanctae Hunegundis virginis constructam, apostolicae authoritatis praesidio^c muniremus. Quam suggesteribus genitori suo Ludovico videlicet^d regi et sibi ipsi aequa regi, comite Adalberto,^e et idoneo satis viro Eilberto^f qui eamdem abbatiolam iure beneficii possidebat, ad sacrae religionis venerabilem cultum erigere conatur, atque regiae potestatis praecipito corroborare nititur. Cuius petitioni congaudentes ecclesiastici vigoris manum exerimus,^g et ex ea, qua fulcimur, autoritate apostolica^h praecipimus ut praefatam abbatiam nemo unquam saecularium possideat, neque ex rebus eiusdem cellae quicquam sibi aliquis usurpet, non rex, non comes, non episcopus, nec quilibet princeps quacumque potestate praeditus, nisi forte tuendi ac defendendi causa, et hoc non nisi eiusdem loci regularis abbatis fiat permissione. Si quis vero pro hac adipiscenda pecuniam vel quodlibet munus regi aut cuiilibet principi dederit sive promiserit, subinferendae maledictioni subiacebit. Sit igitur eidem cellae abbas secundum regulam sanctiⁱ Benedicti constitutus et monachi regulari distinctione subiecti, quos de rebus eiusdem cellae aliquod dispendium perpeti cum omni imperio prohibemus. Res vero eiusdem ecclesiae sunt:^j Humolarias villa, in qua eadem cella constructa est, cum mansionibus cunctis ad se pertinentibus; Merulficurtis cum adiacentiis suis; Eudoldicurtis^k cum appenditiis suis; Fraxiniacus cum appenditiis suis; Caviniacus cum mansis ad se pertinentibus; in villa quae dicitur Frisia super fluvium Summam^l XII mansi, quos pro commoditate piscium eidem ecclesiae perpetualiter habere liceat. Haec itaque et si qua alia ecclesia eadem Domino opitulante adquirere sibi^m potuerit, apostolica fulta^a autoritate licenter et sine aliqua contradictione possidebit. Si quis vero contra huius apostolici privilegii tutelam aliquid sinistri molitus fuerit et ex his quae dicta sunt aliqua pervertere voluerit, hunc cum auxilio Domini nostri Iesu Christi et adiutorio beatae Mariae semper virginis genitricis eiusdem Dei et^b Domini nostri,^c faventibus nobis^d omnium coelestium virtutum beatissimis spiritibus et annuentibus^e sanctorum patriarcharum et prophetarum agminibus, ex autoritate beatissimi Petri apostolorum principis cum omnibus apostolis et discipulis Domini, martyrum etiam sive confessorum ac virginum ad hoc suffragantibus meritis, cum assensu comprovincialium^f pontificum et huius sanctae sedis suffraganeis episcopis excommunicamus et anathematisamus^g et a liminibus sanctae Dei ecclesiae sequestrantes^h ab omni christianorum societate separamus etⁱ sub huius anathematis vinculo poenaliter innodatus sit anathema maranatha. Fiat, fiat. Scriptum per manum Leonis sacri scrinio^j sanctae sedis apostolicae in mense ianuario, inductione XIV. Bene valete. Datum IV nonas ianuarii per manum Georgii secundicerii^k sanctae sedis apostolicae, anno primo, Domino propitio, pontificatus domini Ioannis summi pontificis et^l universalis papae, in primo mense et inductione XIV.^m

^a Words in italics, with minor variations, are copied from the bull of Agapitus II (act no. 5). ^b Vero Mandensi B. ^c praesidio omitted C. ^d scilicet C. ^e Ad-Alberto B. ^f Gilberto BC, corrected to Eilberto B. ^g ereximus g. ^h apostolica authoritate B. ⁱ b(eati) C. ^j seu BC. ^k Eudollicurtis C. ^l Sumnam B. ^m sibi acquirere C. ⁿ autoritate fulta C. ^o et omitted C. ^p Iesu Christi added C. ^q nobis omitted C. ^r nobis added C. ^s haec C. ^t com provincialium corrected to provincialium C. ^u anathematisamus C. ^v segregantes corrected to sequestrantes B. ^w ut in act no. 5. ^x corrected to scrinarii fg, scrinii h. ^y pro inductione BC. ^z secundi episcopi BC, corrected to secundicerii gh. ^{aa} ut BC. ^{bb} Sigillum apostolici added by the scribe of the medieval cartulary.

¹ Pope John XII was consecrated 16 December 955.

² Fresnoy-le-Grand was acquired in 954 (act no. 3), probably after Homblières had petitioned Pope Agapitus II for confirmation of its possessions (see act no. 5, n. 2).

The knight Wallo, for the redemption of the soul of his beloved wife Frednid, and with the consent of his sons Wallo and Gilbert and his daughters Bertha and Frednid, gives to the monastery of Homblières four manses of alod with the appurtenant vineyard, meadows, and woods in the villa of Remigny. The monastery may freely dispose of two of these manses.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 32r-v, with the title "De quatuor mansis alodii cum vinea et pratis et sylvis ad se pertinentibus in villa quae Ruminiacus dicitur quam dedit sanctae Maiae sanctaeque Hunegundi Wallo miles pro remedio animae suae et coniugis suae."

C: H 588, p. 31, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 86, copy of C. E: Coll. Moreau, vol. 8, fol. 217, copy of C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Si iuxta dictum apostoli salubre censemus ut aliquid de rebus nostrae proprietatis pro animae remedio in oblatione omnipotenti Deo sincere offeramus, sine dubio firmiter decet credere quod copiosam mercedem retribuet nobis dominus pro tali actione. Quapropter noverit universitas fidelium tam praesentium quam futurorum quod ego Wallo, quamvis miles indignus, sub predictae rationis consideratione, quatuor mansos alodii cum vinea, pratis, et sylvis ad se pertinentibus in pago Vermandensi in villa quae dicitur Ruminiacus pro remedio animae Frednidis, meae quondam carissimae^a [coniugis], tradidi dono sanctae Mariae sanctaeque Hunegundis ad monasterium Humolariense, ubi corpus eius sepultum est, consentientibus meis filiis Wallonne^b et Gilberto necnon filiabus Bertha et Fridnide, eo videlicet tenore ut exinde et in posterum iure praefato duos mansos habeant potestatem donandi, vendendi et absque ulla contradictione quidquid exinde placuerit faciendi. Quod si quis contra hanc traditionem insurgere voluerit, omnipotentis Dei iram incurrat ac regis fisco auri decem libras persolvat, et quod repetit nequaquam obtineat et ut praesens traditio firma et inviolabilis omni tempore permaneat, qui hanc fieri iussi manu propria subter firnavi. Actum est anno secundo regnante Lothario rege gloriosissimo, IV nonas iulii. Signum Wallonis qui hoc fieri iussit et filiorum eius Wallonis et Gilberti et filiarum eius Berthae et Frednidis.

^a charissimae C. ^b Walonne B.

¹ Lothair was crowned 12 November 954; July 4 of his second year was in 956.

8

Notre-Dame of Soissons

959 April 26

Queen Gerberge at the request of Berner, abbot of Homblières, grants the monastery of Homblières three manses from the domain of Notre-Dame of Soissons, a monastery for women belonging to the queen. The manses are situated in the villa of Remigny in the benefice of Count Albert [I of Vermandois]. Homblières will hold these manses as a precarium and will pay 12 d. at the altar of Notre-Dame of Soissons on the feast of the Purification of the Virgin [2 February].

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 20r-v, with the title "De terra apud Ruminiacum sita beneficio Gerbergae reginae et Adalberti comitis huic ecclesiae concessa ad censum XII denariorum." C.: H 588, p. 22, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 255, fol. 33, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) *Mabillon, De re diplomatica, p. 571, "ex chartario Hummoloriensi a D. d'Herouval communicato."*¹ (b) RHF, 9.665, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:429. Matton, p. 93.

In nomine sanctae^a et individuae Trinitatis. Gerberga gratia Dei Francorum regina. Si ecclesiasticis negotiis iuste disponendis operam damus, non regiae dignitati perperam inferimus. Noverit igitur cunctorum fidelium tam praesentium quam futurorum sollertia^b quod^c accessit ad nos Humolariensis cellae abbas Bernerus, obsecrans ut quamdam terram de potestate Sanctae Mariae Suessionensis monasterii puellarum, quod in nostra manu tenemus de beneficio comitis Adalberti, in pago Vermandensi sitam in villa quae dicitur Ruminiacus, liceret sibi ab eodem comite qualitercumque posset^d impetrare ut de beneficio^e omnino ablata pro eadem terra/ quemdam respectum ad altare Sanctae Mariae praedicti monasterii persolveret ut eam monachi cellae Humolariensis iure precario in perpetuum possiderent. Quod nos cum consilio fidelium nostrorum, videlicet episcoporum^f Widonis et Roriconis et aliorum qui tunc^g praesentes esse^h potuerunt, non inhumana indicantes,ⁱ quod petebat ut fieret annuimus et hanc cartam^k fieri praecipimus. Dicuntur autem de illa terra, scilicet tria mansa,^j respectus^m pro eadem in purificatione sanctae Mariae persolvendus XII denarii. Quam terram, si quid praefati monachi meliorare, plantando scilicet vel aedificando, potuerint. Et pro hoc ipso quisquam,ⁿ quod futurum non credimus neque optamus, contra hanc nostram authoritatem^o insurgere tentaverit,^p omnipotentis Dei iram incurrat et reatus sui poena coactus regio fisco L^q argenti libras persolvat, et quod conatur inane fiat. Actum Suessionis^r infra portas monasterii puellarum, sub die VII kalendas maii,^s anno incarnationis Dominicae DCCCLIX, inductione II, regnante Lothario rege.^t Signum Aimonis^u advocati. Signum^v Evrardi praepositi. Signum Helvidis praeposita. Signum Milesindis^w decanae. Signum Fulconi^x vassalli.^y Signum Gauzberti vassalli.^z Evrardus subgregarius et cancellarius scripsit et subscrispsit.

^a reading of a, which accords with Lothair's acts; Patris BC. ^b sollertia a. ^c quoniam BC. ^d posse BC. ^e officio BC. ^f per eamdem terram BC. ^g videlicet episcoporum omitted a. ^h se added BC. ⁱ ecclesiae B, omitted C. ^j iudicantes BC. ^k chartam B, cartham C. ^l mensa

BC, corrected to mansa B. " vero added BC. " quisque BC. " auctoritatem a. " tentaverit changed to temptaverit B, temptaverit a. " X BC. " Suessioni BC. " Kal. Maii BC, kalendarum maiarum a. " V in lieu of rege BC. " Aymonis BC. " et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC. " Alainsendis BC. " Fulcionis BC. " vvassali a.

¹ Mabillon apparently saw the original charter at Saint-Rémi of Reims where he was a monk in the 1650s, for his version is at considerable variance with the text of lat. 13911 and H 588. Most of his readings are accepted here.

9

Saint-Quentin

959 November 2¹

Albert [II, count of Vermandois and] abbot of Saint-Quentin, at the request of his faithful Berner, abbot of Notre-Dame of Homblières, confirms an exchange of lands between the two monasteries. The abbey of Saint-Quentin gives twelve bunnaria² of arable in the villa of Latois³ in return for the same amount at a place called Vallis Sanctae Mariae. Both lands are held in benefice by Dudo,⁴ who consents to the exchange.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 26r-v, with the title "De commutatione terrarum Sanctae Mariae Sanctique Quintini ab Alberto comite facta." C: H 588, pp. 26-27, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémér. regestum, p. 31, "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar." (b) Colliette, 1:567, copy of a. (c) Lot, pp. 407-408, copy of B. (d) Misonne, pp. 161-163, no. 22, based on BCa.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:430. Matton, p. 94. Lemaire, "Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint-Quentin," 8:326, n.1.

Actio mundialis^a exigit ut res quae legaliter determinantur taliter chartulis inserantur qualiter per eas posterorum memoriae represe- tentur. Unde omnibus notum fieri volumus nostris successoribus,^b Albertus, abbas monasterii Sancti Quintini martyris, quod fidelis nos- ter nomine^c Bernerus, abbas monasterii Sanctae Mariae Humolarien- sis,^d expetiit ad nos ut^e quasdam res suae abbatiae opportune^f confir- maremus. Cuius petitionem ratam ac fidelem comperimus, prout^g petebat fieri concessimus. Dedimus itaque ei ad praefatam ecclesiam dictae genitricis Mariae, cum consensu et voluntate fratrum^h incliti martyr Christi Quintiniⁱ monasterii, de rebus abbatiae praefati martyris in pago Vermandensi in villa quae dicitur Latois, quae est de beneficio Dudonis cuiusque precatu^j in hoc egimus, de terra arabili^k bunnaria^l XII. Et e contra in recompensatione^m huius rei dedit nobis memoratus abbas Bernerus de rebus suae abbatiaeⁿ ad partem ecclie- siae praelibati martyr Quintini in praefato pago et in ipso beneficio in loco qui dicitur Vallis Sanctae Mariae de terra arabili bunnaria^o

XII. Hanc autem commutationem stabiliter confirmantes et confirmingo stabilitates, propriis manibus firmavimus, clericorumque et laicorum manibus ad corroborandam tradidimus ut stabilis perpetuauerit permaneat scriptorum⁴ manibus legaliter roborata.⁵ Actum in vico Sancti Quintini II novembbris, quinto anno⁶ regni Lotharii gloriosissimi regis. Signum⁷ Alberti abbatis qui hanc chartam fieri iussit.⁸ Signum Gerbergae⁹ uxoris eius. Signum Herberti filii eorum.¹⁰ Signum Oddonis filii eorum. Signum Crispini custodis. Signum Achardi decani.¹¹ Signum Anselmi diaconi. Signum Hugonis diaconi. Signum Stagnoardi¹² presbyteri. Signum Theutonis¹³ presbyteri. Signum Evarandi presbyteri. Signum Albrici didascali. Signum Rodulsi¹⁴ diaconi. Signum Deodati diaconi. Signum Roberti¹⁵ subdiaconi. Signum Gottranni¹⁶ vassalli. Signum Anselmi vassalli. Signum Otradi vassalli. Scripsit has chartulae grammas Benedictus iussu Haimfredi¹⁷ cancellarii.

⁴ mandalis BC, corrected to mundialis C. ⁵ successoribus nostris a. ⁶ nomine omitted a. ⁷ Hymolarensis B. ⁸ ut nos in lieu of ad nos ut a. ⁹ opportune omitted a. ¹⁰ et prout a. ¹¹ firma corrected to fratrum B. ¹² Quintini omitted a, Quinti corrected to Quintini C. ¹³ praefatu a. ¹⁴ arrabili B. ¹⁵ bouaria a. ¹⁶ recompensationem a. ¹⁷ abbatiae sua a. ¹⁸ subscriptorum a. ¹⁹ corroborata C. ²⁰ anno quinto a. ²¹ regni omitted a. ²² et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC. ²³ Signum Eilberti vassalli follows in BC, Misonne (pp. 161-162) concludes that the position of Eilberti vassalli in the witness list indicates an addition to the charter or cartulary by a later hand and that Hémeré's reading is correct. ²⁴ Georgiae BC. ²⁵ filiorum eius corrected to filii eorum C. ²⁶ diaconi BC, corrected to decani B; decani a (which is retained here; see act no. 10). ²⁷ Stachardi a. ²⁸ Teudonis a. ²⁹ Rodulphi a. ³⁰ Rotberti a. ³¹ Guntranni a. ³² Haimfredi a.

¹ Lothair was crowned on 12 November 954, therefore 2 November of the fifth year of his reign was in 959. However, as Lemaire (8:326, n. 1) points out, dating by the day of the month was unknown in the tenth-century acts for Homblières and such a dating here indicates that the text was incorrectly copied into the cartulary. Lat. 13911 and H 588 have 959 in the margins.

² See Lucien Musset, "Observations historiques sur une mesure agraire: Le bonnier."

³ Latois, according to Lot (p. 407, n. 1), should read Lothosa (today Leuze), but there is no evident reason for such an arbitrary change in the text.

⁴ Dudo, knight and vassal of the count, appears in acts nos. 18, 20, and 21.

the tenants of the manses must attend the general court of the lord of the villa thrice annually, they owe a corvée of plowing twice annually, and they must give a ram annually for pasture privileges.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 25r-v, with the title "De tribus mansis apud Saviniacum villam sitis." C: H 588, pp. 25-26, with the title "De tribus mansis apud Saviniacum sitis."

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 31, "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar.," incomplete.
 (b) Colliette, 1:568, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:431. Matton, p. 94.

Ecclesiasticae consuetudinis est rerum charitatis iure concessarum quibuscumque sanctae religionis fratribus aeternae retributionis spe insistentibus^a stabile testamentum fieri^b decenter^c et consimili sorte dicatis scilicet clericali quae^d in posteritatem durare queat.^e Igitur tam praesentium noverit^f quam futorum solertia quod accessit ad nostram praesentiam, Achardi videlicet decani et Crispini custodis caeterorumque Sancti Quintini canonorum, frater Bernaldus^g coenobitarum Sanctae Humolariensis ecclesiae praepositus, iussu venerabilis abbatis Berneri, deprecans ut tres mansos nostrae communis possessionis supradictae concederemus ecclesiae in succendentia tempora possidendos. Cuius petitioni favere dignum ducentes concessimus unanimes. Dedimus itaque praefatae ecclesiae supradictos mansos in Saviniaco villa sitos, ea scilicet ratione ut ac si^h perpetuus haeresⁱ firmiter possideat ac inviolabiliter teneat. Et ut firmius eosdem mansos terrae supradicta ecclesia teneat, statuerunt et sub autoritate anathematis firmaverunt praedicti ecclesiae Sancti Quintini canonici ne aliqua saecularis persona districtum vel aliquam consuetudinem ulterius in eadem terra sibi vendicare praesumeret exceptis his consuetudinibus: quod eamdem terram tenentes ter in anno generale^j placitum domini praefatae villae convenirent, et ei bis in anno carrum corveiam faceret, et mansarius pro pastu pecudum arietem annuatim daret; quod si etiam placitum in crastinum protelatum^k responsum aliquod ulterius^l non daret. Ne autem nomina firmatorum ab iis ignorentur quorum praesentiae quandoque si necessarium fuerit haec chartula est repraesentanda divise annotavimus authores ordinis et aetatis futorum memoriam praesentium roboretur industria! Signum Alberti comitis et abbatis.^m Signumⁿ Crispini custodis. Signum Evrardi presbyteri. Signum Rudolphi^o diaconi. Signum Hertrardi.^p Signum Gerbergae^q coniugis eius. Signum Thognoardi praepositi.^r Signum Theutonis^s presbyteri. Signum Beroldi diaconi.^t Signum Mi-

Ionis diaconi. Signum Heriberti filii eorum. Signum Anselmi [christmon] diaconi. Signum Wifredi presbyteri.¹ Signum Berneri abbatis. Signum Berlandi² praepositi. [Signum] Wichardi decani. Signum Albrici diaconi. Signum Rotaldi diaconi. Signum Rodulphi³ cantoris. Hamfredus⁴ cancellarius Sancti Quintini scripsit et subscrispsit. Actum in monasterio Sancti Quintini, IV kalendas martii, anno ab incarnatione Domini DCCCCLX.

¹ insistentibus through decenter replaced by militantibus a. ² sibi corrected to fieri B. ³ quae replaced by stabile testamentum fieri decenter quo a. ⁴ queant a. ⁵ novit BC. ⁶ Bernardus a. ⁷ ac si replaced by eos velut a. ⁸ haeres perpetuus a. ⁹ ad generale a. ¹⁰ quod through industria omitted a. ¹¹ prolatum corrected to protelatum B. ¹² inde added by a later hand B. ¹³ et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC. ¹⁴ Rudolfi C, Rodulphi a. ¹⁵ Signum Hertrandi omitted Ca. ¹⁶ Signum Gerbergae through Beroldi diaconi omitted C. ¹⁷ Thognoardi praepositi omitted a. ¹⁸ Theudonis a. ¹⁹ Wifredi presbyteri omitted a. ²⁰ Bertaudi a. ²¹ Rodulfi a. ²² Hamsfridus C, Haimfredus a.

¹ The present order of witnesses is not admissible. Newman suggested four parallel columns of witnesses across the bottom of the original charter: (column I) Signum Alberti comitis et abbatis. Signum Crispini custodis. Signum Evrardi presbyteri. Signum Rudolphi diaconi. Signum Hertradi [diaconi]. (column II) Signum Gerbergae coniugis eius. Signum Thognoardi praepositi. Signum Theotonis presbyteri. Signum Beroldi diaconi. Signum Milonis diaconi. (column III) Signum Heriberti filii eorum. Signum Anselmi diaconi. Signum Wifredi presbyteri. Signum Berneri abbatis. Signum Berlandi praepositi. (column IV) Signum Wichardi decani. Signum Albrici diaconi. Signum Rotaldi diaconi. Signum Rodulphi cantoris.

11

Laon

963 January 6¹

King Lothair, at the request of Arnold, count [of Flanders], confirms the donation that Arnold made to the monastery of Homblères of the domain of Quessy² in Vermandois. This villa contains eight manses, five of which are on one side of the stream Lehone and three on the other, with a mill, fields, pasture, and water rights.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 16, with the title "Lotharii regis de villa quae dicitur Caziacus quam Arnulfus comes dedit Sanctae Mariae" and facsimile of the monogram. C: H 588 p. 19, with same title and facsimile as B. D: Wyard, pp. 24-25, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 30, "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar." (b) RHF, 9: 627-628, no. 16, copy of a. (c) Collette, 1:567, copy of a. (d) Melleville, 1: 415. (e) Halphen and Lot, pp. 38-39, no. 18, based on BCa.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:436. Böhmer, no. 2040. Wauters, 1:370. Matton, p. 93.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Lotharius gratia Dei Francorum³ rex. Si fidelium nostrorum bonam voluntatem quam ha-bent maxime circa ecclesiasticam^b utilitatem regio favore prosequimur, divinae^c procul dubio nos^d voluntati parere^e et nostrae salutis consulere certissime^f credimus. Quapropter notum sit universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filii tam praesentibus quam futuris quod misit ad nos venerabilis comes Arnulfus, humiliter efflagitans ut traditionem de mansionili qui dicitur Caziacus,^g sito in pago Vermandensi, quam sanctae Mariae sanctaeque Hunegundi et monasterio Humolariensi fecerat, nostra autoritate corroboraremus. Quod et facere decrevimus. Quae villa continet mansis octo: quinque ex una parte rivuli qui dicitur Lehona^h et tribus ex altera cum molendino, cum pratis, pascuis aquarumque decursibus. Maneat ergo praedicta traditio, nostroⁱ munita privilegio, ab omni querelarum strepitu inlaesa^k et, regali munimine stabiliter fixa, inconvulsa persistat et intacta. Quisquis vero contra hanc nostrae praceptionis tutelam insurgere tentaverit, quod minime futurum credimus, primo ab omnipotente Deo ecclesiasticae iniuriae experiatur vindictam et nostro cunctorumque fidelium examine convictus regio fisco LX auri libras persolvat et quod repeatat nequaquam obtineat. Signum^l domini [monogramma]^m gloriosissimi Lotharii regis Francorum.ⁿ Datum VIII idus ianuarii, regnante domino Lothario anno IX, indictione IIII. Actum Lauduni. Feliciter.^p

^a Halphen and Lot (no. 18, n. a) believe that the word Francorum was added by the scribe who wrote the medieval cartulary because it is not found in original charters from 958 to 967; they cite a similar change of text for an act of 961 in the cartulary of Saint-Remi of Reims. ^b voluntati begun then crossed out C. ^c divinae follows nos in a. ^d nos omitted C. ^e et nostra voluntate parere repeated after parere but crossed out B. ^f utilitati a. ^g certissime omitted a. ^h Gaziacus a. ⁱ Cehona a. ^j nostra BC, corrected to nostro C. ^k illaes BC, changed to inlaesa B. ^l Signum through Francorum follow Feliciter in a. ^m Halphen and Lot (p. 39, n. d) remark that lat. 13911 and H 588 furnish an unusual version of the monogram. ⁿ Feliciter BC.

¹ The ninth year of Lothair's reign began 12 November 962; the indiction for January 963 was VI, not IV. Halphen and Lot (p. 38, n. 1) would change the date to 962 because Lothair gave another act (ibid., act. no. 15) at Laon early in January 962. Marginal notations in lat. 13911 and H 588 give a date of 962.

² Melleville (1:414-415) identifies Caziacus as Gauchy, but the papal confirmation of 1145 (act no. 53) states that the eight manses are in Caciacus (Quessy).

12

Saint-Médard of Soissons

963 March 26

Herbert, count [of Château-Thierry]¹ and abbot [of Saint-Médard of Soissons], permits Berner, abbot of Homblières, to purchase two manses in the domain of Saint-Médard in the villa of Remigny. That villa is in the benefice of Herbert's brother Albert [II], count [of Vermandois], and is held by the latter's faithful Madalger who permits the sale. The monks of Homblières may have this land forever, provided that they pay 12 d. each year at the altar of Saint-Médard on the feast of Saint Sebastian [8 June]; otherwise the monks of Saint-Médard will reclaim the land. King Lothair is a witness to the act.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 18r-v, with the title “De duobus mansis qui sunt apud villam quae dicitur Ruminiacus sub censu XII denariorum persolvendorum in festivitate Sancti Sebastiani.” C: H 588, pp. 20–21, with the same title as B. D: Wyard, pp. 25–26, copy of a. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 255, fol. 34, “extract from the antiquities of the abbey of Saint-Médard, vol. 2, p. 43,” copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 33, “chartae Humolariensis.” (b) Collette, 1:571, incomplete copy of a. (c) Arbois de Jubainville, 1:453, no. 21, copy of a. (d) Lot, pp. 397–398, copy of B. (e) Halphen and Lot, pp. 39–41, no. 19, based on BCa.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:436. Mation, p. 93.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Heribertus Dei misericordia comes et abbas. Notum sit universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filii tam praesentibus quam futuris quod accessit ad nos Bernerus, abbas cellae Humolariensis, postulans ut duos mansos de terra ex potestate sancti Medardi, quae [est]^a in pago Vermandensi, in villa quae dicitur Ruminiacus, ex beneficio fratris nostri comitis Adalberti, licet ret^b sibi ab eodem fratre nostro et ab eius fideli Madalgerio qui eam tenebat, pecunia, scilicet de thesauro sanctae Mariae, redimere ad opus sanctae Mariae et sanctae Hunegundis in usibus monachorum cellae Humolariensis; ea scilicet ratione ut pro eadem terra unoquoque anno ad altare sancti Medardi XII denarios in festivitate sancti Sebastiani persolvant et praedictam terram iure quieto in perpetuum possideant. [. . .]^c deinde^d recipiat ecclesia nostra res suas, nisi^e forte monachi Humolarienses a monachis sancti Medardi aut charitatis gratia aut maiori censu impetrare valuerint ut praedictam terram diutius possideant.^f Nos vero, rem subtilius attendentes, et^g hoc unde prius nihil habebamus^h et eorum necessitati etⁱ ecclesiae sancti Medardi utilitati consulere decrevimus ut, iuxta illud Apostoli, “Alter alterius onera portate,^j”^k ipsi haberent qualemcumque consolationem et altari sancti Medardi praedicti respectus deferrent honorem, id^l quod petebat cum consilio fidelium nostrorum libenter fieri concessimus et praesentem chartam^m facere iussimus. Unde si quis successorumⁿ nostrorum, quod minime futurum credimus, huius conscriptionis autoritatem infringere tentaverit, iram omnipotentis Dei incurrat et fidelium iudicio convictus, X^l auri libras exsolvat et quod inde^o repetit nequaquam obtineat, sed praesens concessio stabilis, inconvulsa^p permaneat. Actum in coenobio sanctorum Medardi et Sebastiani, sub die^q VII kalendas aprilis, anno incarnationis Dominicae DCCCCLXIII, regni autem Lotharii regis [anno] X.¹ Signum Lotharii regis.² Signum Heriberti qui hoc scriptum fieri iussit. Signum Fulguini³ decani. Signum Rodulfi.⁴ Signum item Rodulfi.⁵ Signum Evrardi. Signum Gausmauri.⁶ Signum Leudonis. Signum Feroldi. Signum Hermeranni. Signum Erchemboldi. Signum Richoldi. Signum Achardi.⁷ Signum Walonis. Signum Hugonis. Signum Rodulfi.⁸ Signum Kainardi. Signum Bosonis.⁹ Signum Teubodi.¹⁰ Signum item¹¹ Bosonis. Signum Rodulfi.¹² Signum Roberti. Signum Evrardi. Amalcuinus¹³ cancellarius scripsit et subscrispsit.

¹ qui siti sunt in lieu of quae a. ² licet replaced by liceret B. ³ Neither B nor C indicates an omission before deinde, although the sense requires a phrase to the effect "if the monks of Homblières do not pay by a certain date," as suggested by e. ⁴ deinde through possideant omitted a. ⁵ non BC, which is incomprehensible; e proposes nisi. ⁶ et through habebamus omitted a. ⁷ et omitted BC. ⁸ portantes a. ⁹ et id a. ¹⁰ cartham B. ¹¹ successor BC. ¹² 100 a. ¹³ invide a. ¹⁴ inconvulsaque a. ¹⁵ sub die omitted a. ¹⁶ regis 10 a, lacking in BC which indicate an omission. ¹⁷ Signum Lotharii regis omitted a, Halphen and Lot (p. 41, n. 1) state that if these three words are not the result of a bad reading they are one of the oldest examples of a private act to which the king had his subscription affixed but without the chancellor's formula. ¹⁸ Fulguini a. ¹⁹ Rodulphi a. ²⁰ Rodulphi B, item Rodulfi omitted a. ²¹ Ganzmari a. ²² Archaldi C. ²³ Rodulphi a. ²⁴ Bolonis BC. ²⁵ Theutbotdi a. ²⁶ item omitted a. ²⁷ Radulphi a. ²⁸ Amalvinus a, Amalwinus e.

¹ The brother of Count Albert I of Vermandois was Herbert the Elder, count of Château-Thierry (see act no. 19, nn. 1-2).

² Gal. 6.2.

13

Homblières

968 [before November 12]¹

Heilbert,² in the presence of Albert, count [of Vermandois], and the count's son Herbert, gives to the monastery of Homblières one half of a manse from his own allod in the domain called Grimont next to the villa of Pisieux in the Laonnois.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 12, with the title "De dimidio manso in villa quae dicitur Puteolis in pago Laudunensi." C: Lat. 13911, fol. 59, with the title "De dimidio manso quem [changed from quod] dedit nobis Heilbertus qui est situs in pago Laudunensi iuxta villam quae vocatur Puteolis." D: H 588, pp. 15-16, with the same title and almost identical text as B. E: H 588, pp. 53-54, with the same title and almost identical text as C. F: Coll. Moreau, vol. 10, fols. 145-146, copy of D.

Pub.: (a) GC, 10:instr. 359, "ex tabulario Humolariensi," same text as C, without the last four witnesses. (b) Misonne, pp. 163-164, no. 23, based on BCDE.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:444. Matton, p. 93.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Notum sit universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesentibus quam futuris quod ego Heilbertus,^{*} pro remedio animae meae, praesente Adalberto comite et Heriberto filio eius,[†] coram altari sanctae Mariae in monasterio Humolariensi multis adstantibus, legaliter tradidi dimidium mansum ex alodo[‡] meae proprietatis sanctae Mariae sanctaeque[§] Hunegundi in usibus fratrum eiusdem loci situm in quodam mansionili[¶] qui dicitur Grimulbreias^{||} in pago Laudunensi iuxta villam quae vocatur[¶] Puteolis, in qua villa sedes est eiusdem dimidii mansi, atque precante abba te et fratribus eiusdem loci hanc chartam fieri iussi et manu propria[¶] firmavi. Quod si quis successorum meorum, quod minime credo, presentem traditionem aliquando pro nihilo ducere voluerit et terram ab ecclesia auferre, in primis iram Dei omnipotentis[¶] incurrat, et regia maiestate convictus L libras argenti persolvat, et[¶] sacram communio nem nequaquam obtineat.[¶] Haec[¶] praesens traditio firma et inviolabilis per saecula maneat. Actum in monasterio Humolariensi anno incarnationis Dominicæ DCCCCLXVIII,[¶] regnante domino Lothario XIV,[¶] inductione XI. Signum Heilberti[¶] qui hanc chartam[¶] fieri iussit et manu propria[¶] firmavit. Signum Lamberti[¶] filii eius.[¶] Signum Adalberti comitis. Signum Heriberti filii eius. Signum Baidalonis.[¶] Signum Arnulfi.[¶] Item Arnulfi.[¶] Signum Angelberti.[¶]

^{*} Hilbertus BD. [†] filio eius Heriberto BD. [‡] alodo changed to alodo D. [§] sanctae BD.
[¶] mansorum BD, changed to mansionum B. ^{||} Grimulseas CE. [¶] dicitur D. [¶] propria manu BD. [¶] omnipotentis Dei B. [¶] et quod sacrilege invasit nequaquam obtineat CE. [¶] sed CE. [¶] 966 changed to 968 D; 969 in error b. [¶] XIII CE. [¶] Hilberti BD. [¶] cartham D. [¶] Lamberti D. [¶] sui CE. [¶] Baldalonis CE, Bacgalonis D. [¶] Arnulphi BD. [¶] Arnulphi D. [¶] Signum Angelberti omitted CE.

¹ The fourteenth regnal year was 12 November 967–11 November 968; induction XI is correct for 968.

² Misonne (pp. 24–25, 163) rejects an identification of this Heilbert with Eilbert of Florennes because the latter had no sons of his marriage with Hersend and left his lands to his son-in-law Arnold. However, Eilbert of Florennes was still alive ca. 977, and it is possible that he was the donor here in the presence of both his son Lambert (who may not have survived him) and his stepson Arnold.

and not far from the church of Saint-Genès and Saint-Oibeuf. Roricon, bishop [of Laon], approved the sale.

B: *Lat. 13911, fol. 19r-v, with the title "De vinea Sanctae Mariae sita Lauduni inter terras Sancti Vincentii et Sancti Hilarii."*² C: H 588, pp. 21-22, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 11, fols. 25-26, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 95, copy of C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93.

Recolenda priorum decrevit³ sententia patrum omnibusque sequentibus firmiter retinenda imitari mandavit ut quicumque aliquid de rebus suae proprietatis quoquomodo alicui tradendo dare placuerit, quo firmius tenere valeat, cautionis chartam traditor ei facere procul⁴ret quae etiam pluribus relecta testibus firmatorumque subnominatis⁵ nominibus firma permanere valeat posteris temporibus. Quapropter ego Geroldus, distractor effectus, notum fore cupio omnibus huius regni proceribus quia tradidisse atque legaliter constat me vendidisse quamdam vineam vinaticam Bernero abbati sibique subditis monachis. Est autem vinea ipsa pertingens ad res ecclesiae sanctorum Genesii atque Otbotii,⁶ sita in pago Laudunensi, haud procul ab ipsa ecclesia. Limitatur vero ex uno latere Sancti Vincentii, ex duabus frontibus ipsa vinea sibi limitem ponit. Qua de re facta coemtione rata sumpsi a praelibatis fratribus venerabilis patris Benedicti normae obtemperare serventibus,⁷ huius pretii quantitatem argenti libras videlicet tres, ea scilicet ratione ut annuatim ecclesiasticum ius persolventes praenotatae ecclesiae tenendo possideant ac possidendo teneant, et quidquid rationabiliter inde agere elegerint, peragant. Ut autem haec venditionis charta per succendentium temporum curricula rata et irrefragabilis permanere queat, domino Roricone, episcopo venerabili, cuius iussu licentiaque hanc ipsam fieri feci, quo ipso primum corroboraret, suique deinde fideles clerici ac nobiles clerici corroborandam tradere studui.⁸ Signum Geroldi qui hanc chartam fieri fecit et firmare praecepit. Signum⁹ Witberti. Signum Balduini. Signum Ugonis praepositi. Signum Gisleberti. Signum Godefridi. Signum Anselmi. Signum Rotgeri archidiaconi. Signum Oddonis. Signum Warneri. Signum Immonis archidiaconi. Signum Rainieri. Signum Rodulphi. Signum Erlebaldi. Signum Richulfi presbyteri. Signum Lantberti. Signum Albrici. Signum Gilberti. Signum Ingenulfi diaconi. Signum Anselmi. Signum Richardi. Signum Wiberti. Ego Oidelardus cancellarius scripsi et subscripsi.¹⁰ Actum Lauduni,¹¹ IIII idus augusti, anno XVII¹² regnante Lothario rege.

* d^ere^vit B. * subnominatⁱer C. ‘ Othodii B. * serventibus B. * followed by K BC. / et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC. * et subscripti omitted C. * Lauduno B. XVIL B.

¹ The seventeenth regnal year was 12 November 970–11 November 971.

² The scribe who wrote the Latin title in the cartulary confused the church of Saint-Geniès and Saint-Otbeuf with the church of Saint-Hilaire. Both churches are mentioned in a charter of Lothair for Saint-Vincent dated 975 at Compiègne (Halphen and Lot, p. 92, no. 38) and in the charter of Hugh Capet of 26 September 987 for the same monastery (RHF, 10:549–550, no. 2). Lothair's act reads “sicut haec tres ecclesiae sunt sitae, videlicet sancti Vincentii et sancti Genesii atque sancti Hilarii,” while Hugh Capet's reads “sancti Othbodi sanctique Hilarii.” An act in French of 1293 calls this church “S. Obuef” (Poupardin, “Cartulaire de Saint-Vincent de Laon,” p. 247, no. 47). The vineyard is described in Pope Eugenius III's bull of 18 August 1145 as being “in Monte Laudini,” and in Alexander III's bull of 4 March 1169 as a “vineam quam habetis apud Laudunum subtus refectorium Sancti Vincentii” (acts nos. 53, 88).

15

Senlis (Suspect) 981 [before November 12]¹

Hugh [Capet], count and duke of the Franks, confirms the gift by his faithful Ivo² and his wife Geila to Homblières of ten manses from Ivo's benefice in the villa of Cugny.³ Most of that land is covered with brush and useless growth, which the monks may clear for planting and building. In return, the monastery will pay an annual census of 12s. on the feast of Saint Remi [1 October].

B: Coll. Picardie, vol. 197, fol. 130, copy of the original charter in the archives of the chapter of Saint-Quentin, in a “layette of the abbey of Homblières, item no. 1. Detached pendant seal.” Another hand noted that the names of the witnesses were written in “a whiter ink and larger script.” C: Senlis, B.M., Coll. Afforty, vol. 13, p. 129, 18th-c. copy of the original. D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 106, copy of B. E: Lat. 13911, fol. 14, without title. F: H 588, pp. 17–18, without title.

Pub.: (a) Melleville, 1:191, copy of F, without the witnesses. (b) Lot, pp. 402–404, copy of E.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93. Newman, Catalogue des actes de Robert II, pp. 130–132, no. 109.

In nomine sancte et individue Trinitatis. Ego Hugo Dei gratia comes et dux Francorum. Notum sit universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesentibus quam futuris quod monachi ex cella Humolariensi, quae in honore sanctae Mariae constructa sita est in pago Vermandensi, accesserunt ad Hivonem,^a fidelem nostrum, et venerabilem coniugem eius Geilam, interpellantes eos super quadam terra ex beneficio eius^b quae in praedicto pago iacet in villa scilicet quae dicitur Cauviniacus ut illam sub censu constituto ad predictum monasterium daret, eo videlicet tenore⁴ ut annis singulis constitutum censum in festitvitate sancti Remigii solverent et ipsam terram iure quieto possiderent. Sunt autem ex eadem terra, ut ferunt, decem mansi sed ex maxima parte inutili silva miricis⁵ et fructectis opera; census vero sunt solidi XII. Unde predicti monachi cum assensu fidelium nostrorum Hivonis⁶ patris et Hivonis⁷ filii uxorumque⁸ eorum, nostram magnificientiam adeuntes, petierunt ut eis super hoc negotio kartams⁹ facere iuberemus¹⁰ et manu propria firmaremus,¹¹ quatinus si quid eandem¹² terram proprio labore vel silvam extirpando¹³ vel plantando vel aedificando in meliorare¹⁴ potuerint, nemo audeat praesentem constitutionem canino dente rodere¹⁵ vel aliquam molestiam pro hoc ipso praedictis monachis incutere. Quorum¹⁶ petitioni libenter consensum¹⁷ prebui et presentem kartam fieri iussi et manu propria firmavi. Si quis vero successorum¹⁸ nostrorum, quod minime futurum credimus, presentem constitutionem, caeca cupiditate promotus,¹⁹ destruere temptaverit,²⁰ in primis omnipotentis Dei iram incurrat, deinde regio fisco LX auri libras persolvat et quod repetit²¹ nequaquam optineat.²² Actum in castro Silvanectensi,²³ anno incarnationis Dominicae DCCCCLXXXI,²⁴ Lothario regnante anno XXVII. Signum Hugonis gloriosi²⁵ ducis.²⁶ Signum Adelaidis²⁷ uxoris eius. Signum Roberti filii ipsius. Signum Ivonis²⁸ vassalli.²⁹ Signum Geile³⁰ uxoris ipsius.³¹ Signum Ivonis³² filii ipsius. Signum Burgardi³³ vassalli.³⁴ Signum Gerelmi³⁵ vassalli.³⁶ Signum Gerelmi filii eius.

⁴ Yvonem EF. ⁵ quadam [indecipherable] ex beneficio eius crossed out F. ⁶ tenore omitted EF.
⁷ nuricis F. ⁸ Yvonis EF. ⁹ uxorque EF. ¹⁰ eartham EF. ¹¹ iuberem EF. ¹² firmarem EF.
¹³ eamdem F. ¹⁴ extirpando F. ¹⁵ immeliorare EF. ¹⁶ illorum EF. ¹⁷ assensum EF. ¹⁸ successor F. ¹⁹ permotus EF. ²⁰ tentaverit EF. ²¹ repetitur EF. ²² obtineat EF. ²³ Sylvanectensi EF. ²⁴ 969 crossed out and replaced by 981 F. ²⁵ gloriosi Hugonis EF. ²⁶ chrismon added BEF. ²⁷ Adlaidis EF. ²⁸ vasalli EF. ²⁹ Geilae EF. ³⁰ eius EF. ³¹ Burchardi EF. ³² Gerelme E.

¹ The twenty-seventh year of Lothair's reign was 12 November 980–11 November 981.

² Newman suggested that this Ivo might have been Ivo II of Bellême (Prentout, Etudes sur quelques points d'histoire de Normandie, pp. 4–35, and White, "The First House of Bellême," p. 72). It is also possible that Ivo was an ancestor of Ivo of Nesle (Newman, Les seigneurs de Nesle, 1:56–61, nos. 5, 9, 11, places the first reference to the Nesle family ca. 1027). Nesle was certainly closer to Cugny than was Bellême. See also n. 3 and act no. 23, n. 2.

³ A number of identifications have been proposed for Cauviniacus. Lot (p. 403, n. 1) says it is Chavigny. Melleville (1:191) and Coll. Picardie (vol. 197, fol. 128v) propose Cauvigny, which is followed by Fossier. Matton (Dictionnaire topographique, p. 89, and Inventaire sommaire, 3:93) identifies it with Cugny; moreover, the pouillé of Noyon ca. 1300 lists Cugny (Keugny) for Homblières (Longnon, Pouillés, 1:188). If the Ivo of this act was in fact Ivo of Nesle, castellan of Ham (as proposed by Fossier, Picardie, p. 495, n. 161), Cugny would be preferable as closer to Ham and therefore more likely to fall in that castellan's sphere of influence. Thus Cugny is the location accepted here.

⁴ Canino dente rodere is unusual in a charter of this period. It is borrowed from Jerome, who writes, "Libros, quos contra Jovinianum [a heretic] scripsi, canino dente rodere" (Epist. 50.1: Ad Dominionem, PL, 22:513–514).

COMMENT

Although Lot (p. 402) and Flach (3:232) accept this act as genuine, there is some question as to its authenticity. Grenier (Coll. Picardie, vol. 197, fol. 130v) describes the original as having a detached pendant seal. Pendant seals were not used in the tenth century, although a seal might have been added at a later date when the names of the witnesses (which Grenier remarked were in a different ink and script) were added. In that case the entire act need not have been a forgery. However, there are problems with the text itself. The expression "ut . . . kartam facere iuberemus et manu propria firmaremus" is unusual, although the expression "kartam fieri iussi et manu propria firmavi" found later in the act is acceptable. The word "constitutio" applied to a charter is not found in the acts of Hugh Capet, Louis IV, or Lothair. A charter of 1003 of King Robert II does contain that word, but the act is known only through a thirteenth-century vidimus. The phrase borrowed from Jerome (see n. 4) is also strange, although it might be easily explained if a monk reading Jerome simply wished to display his learning. Moreover, Homblières did have possessions at Cugny that are mentioned in papal bulls in 955 and 956 (acts nos. 5, 6). If the act is taken to be authentic, one must assume that the seal was added later, or that Grenier was mistaken in noting a seal, and also that the writer of the charter was awkward and the modern copies bad. If the entire act is taken to be a forgery of the twelfth century, why did the forger choose Duke Hugh instead of King Hugh? Did he have before him an act of Duke Hugh which is today lost? In sum, the act is at least suspect. See also comment to act no. 23.

16

[1956 January 3–982 March 8]¹

Albert [II], count [of Vermandois] and abbot of Saint-Quentin, approves an exchange of property between his faithful Eilbert [of Florennes] and Homblières. Eilbert receives a mansionis called Courcelles in exchange for one called Rothliacus near the abbey.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 63r-v, with the title "De commutatione terrae Cursellensis praeterea quae dicitur Lothriacus." C: H 588, pp. 55–56, with the same title as B
 D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 85, copy of C. E: Coll. Moreau, vol. 8, fols. 7–8, copy of C. F: Coll. Picardie, vol. 199, fol. 98, copy of C.

Pub.: (a) Melville, 1:300–301, incomplete copy of C. (b) Longnon, "Nouvelles recherches," p. 241, n. 1, incomplete copy of BC. (c) Misonne, pp. 166–167, no. 25, based on BC.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Adalbertus comes et abbas Sancti Quintini. Si ecclesiasticae utilitatis causa inter duas casas Dei aliqua commutatio agitur, iustum videtur ut litteris roboretur. Quapropter sciant cuncti fideles tam futuri quam praesentes quod interpellavit nos dominus abbas Bernerus videlicet cellae Humolariensis et Eilbertus, noster fidelis, super quadam commutatione quam inter se fecerant de terra sanctae Mariae sanctaeque Hunegundis et de terra Sancti Quintini, quae talis est: Eilbertus accepit de terra Sanctae Mariae sanctae[que] Hunegundis mansionilem quemdam qui dicitur Curticella, situm super rivulum Rimacum, pro quo reddidit alium mansionilem de terra Sancti Quintini situm in vicinio cellae Humolariensis qui dicitur Rothliacus cum omnibus quae ad se pertinent, postulantes ut praedicta commutatio nostra autoritate roboraretur. Quorum petitionibus libenter annuentes, hanc chartam fieri iussimus et propria manu firmavimus, hoc legaliter statuentes ut praedictam commutationem nemo unquam deinceps pervertere audeat. Quod si quis praesumpserit, primo publicis legibus convictus XXXX libras argenti utrisque casis Dei persolvat et quod iniuste repetit nunquam obtineat. Sic praesens commutatio rata et incommutabilis inviolabilisque in perpetuum permaneat, amen. Signum abbatis comitis. Signum filii eius Heriberti. Signum Eilberti nobilis et prudentis viri qui hanc commutationem fecit. Signum Baildelonis. Signum Arnulfi. Item Arnulfi. Signum domini Berneri abbatis. Signum Albrici monachi. Signum Ursitionis monachi. Signum Ansberti monachi. Signum Rauberti^a monachi. Signum Huberti monachi. Signum Thetholdi^b monachi. Signum Roberti monachi.

^a Ramberti C. ^b Thetholdi changed to Theholdi B.

¹ Abbot Berner died 6/8 March 982. Pope John XII's bull of 2 January 956 (act no. 6) does not mention Courcelles or Rothliacus. Longnon ("Nouvelles recherches," p. 241) arbitrarily assigns a date of "about 970." Misonne does not date this act (p. 166) but suspects that it is from ca. 968 (p. 23); he places Eilbert's death ca. 977 (p. 35). Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give the date 948.

tithes of those fields in exchange for one and one-half as much tithe to be paid from the church of Saint-Etienne [in the villa of Homblères].

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 23r-v, with the title "De commutatione trium campellorum qui sunt in exitu huius villae." C: H 588, pp. 24-25, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Adalbertus gratia Dei comes et abbas. Notum facio universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesentibus quam futuris quod accessit ad nos per fratres suos monachos Bernerus, abbas cellae Humolariensis, petens ut commutationem de tribus campellis, qui iacent in exitu villae eiusdem monasterii, quam fecerat cum hominibus Sancti Quintini, Alneo scilicet, Theobaldo atque Constantio, simplum accipiens et duplum reddens, nostra auctoritate firmaremus. Quod nos libenter facere decrevimus. Commutationem decimae etiam^a ex eisdem campellis quam, cum assensu episcopi per manum Theudonis, decani sui, fecerant inter se praedictus abbas et Berangarius, noster canonicus et fratum praepositus, dante abbate ex decima sancti Stephani ad altare sancti Martini in ruredio tantum et dimidium quod ab eo acceperat pro decima etiam unius parvi campelli ad altare sancti Martini in Haleio dignam redibitionem reddens, et hoc simili auctoritate confirmo ut utraque pars quod sibi firmiter teneat atque sine ulla contradictione in perpetuum. Quod decretum si quis infringere tentaverit, omnipotentis Dei iram incurrat et legali sanctione convictus XXX argenti libras nostro scrinio inferat, et quod repetit nequaquam obtineat. Actum in monasterio Sancti Quintini, anno ab incarnatione Domini DCCCCLXXXII,^b indictione X, regnante domino Lothario XXVIII. Signum^c Adalberti comitis. Signum Heriberti filii eius. [chrismon] Signum Gauzberti custodis. Signum Berangarii praepositi. Signum Varemboldi^d canonici. Signum Lamberti castellani. Signum Goderanni vassalli. Signum Rodulsi vassalli.^e Signum Valgisi vassalli.^f Signum Monacharii vassalli.^g Signum Ioannis vassalli.^h Signum Baidalonisⁱ vassalli.^j Et^k cetera signa. Haec praedictorum signa plurimorum quidem extat notitia.^l Hamfridus cancellarius recognovit et subscrispsit.

^a etiam decimae B. ^b 961 changed to 982 B. ^c et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of all witnesses except Gauzberti and Berangarii BC. ^d Varenboldi C. ^e va(ssalli) BC. ^f Baedalonis C. ^g et through notitia added by the scribe of the original cartulary.

¹ Abbot Berner, who is mentioned as sending monks to make the request in his name, died 6/8 March 982. Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give the date 961, which in H 588 is crossed out and replaced by 982.

18

Monastery of Saint-Quentin

982 [March 6/8-November 11]¹

Albert [I], count [of Vermandois] and abbot [of Saint-Quentin], confirms an exchange in his presence: the monks of Homblières receive from Dudo² one manse in the villa of Fresnoy-le-Grand that is in the benefice of Ralph,³ for which they exchange a manse in the villa of Remicourt.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 29, with the title "De commutatione unius mansi qui est in villa Rumulfurie." C: H 588, p. 29, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 32, "ex chartul. monaster. Humolar." (b) Colliette, 1:572, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:466. Matton, p. 94.

In Dei nomine. Ego Adalbertus, per Dei gratiam comes et abbas, nosse volo omnes fideles tam praesentes quam futuros quod monachi cellae Humolariensis adierunt nostram praesentiam petentes ut commutationem quam in nostra praesentia fecerunt cum Dudone^a de uno manso qui iacet in villa Fransiniaco,^b ex beneficio Rodulfi,^c pro quo reddiderunt alium mansum in villa Rumulfurie, propria manu per chartam firmaremus. Quod grataanter annuimus et hanc chartam fieri iussimus, teneatque quisque quod sibi bene placuerit^d quod si quis infringere tentaverit nullatenus praevalebit.^e Actum in monasterio Sancti Quintini, anno incarnationis Domini DCCCCLXXXII, in-dictione X, regnante domino Lothario XXVIII. Signum^f Adalberti comitis. Signum Heriberti [chrism] filii eius. Signum Gauzberti custodis. Signum Berengarii praepositi. Signum Warenboldi^g canonici. Signum Lamberti^h castellani. Signum Goderanniⁱ vassalli. Signum Rodulfi^j vassalli.^k [Signum] Amacharii^l vassalli.^m Signum Baidalonisⁿ vassalli.^p Signum Budonis^o vassalli.^r Sunt haec praedictorum nomina plurimorum quidem extat notitia.*

* cum Dudone omitted a. ^b Franciliaco a. ^c Rodulphi a. ^d fieri bene placuit a. ^e praevaleat a. ^f et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC. ^g Waremoldi a. ^h Lantberti a. ⁱ Goderani B. ^j Rodolphi a. ^k vas(salli) or vass(alli) after the last four names BC, Goderanni through Baidelonis followed by vassalorum a. ^l Macharii a. ^m Bardelonis a. ⁿ last sentence omitted a; it was probably added by the scribe of the medieval cartulary.

¹ Since the twenty-eighth year of Lothair's reign was 12 November 981-11 November 982, this charter must be dated before 12 November but after the death of Abbot Berner (6/8 March).

² Knight and vassal of the count; called variously Budo and Dudo (see acts no. 9, 20, 21).

³ Probably the same Ralph who was vassal of the count (act no. 17).

19

988 January 16¹

On the advice of Eilbert [of Florennes] and his wife Hersend, a certain vassal Haderic went to the abbot of Homblières and asked that the monastery admit his nephew who was still a little boy. Haderic gave the monastery an alod in the villa of Vinay that the boy received from his brothers and sisters in exchange for his share of their common possessions. At Hersend's request, Heribert, count of Omois [Château-Thierry],² confirms the transaction by this charter.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 17, with the title "De alodo Sanctae Mariae dato in comitatu Otmensi in villa quae dicitur Vedeniacus." C: H 588, pp. 19-20, with the same title as B, except for "alodio."

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 34, "ex iisdem archivis," without the witnesses. (b) Collette, 1:565, copy of a. (c) Melleville, 2:417, copy of a. (d) Misonne, pp. 165-166, no. 24, based on BCa.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Noverit solertia cunctorum fidelium quod anno incarnationis Dominicae DCCCCLXXXVIII^a accessit quidam vassalus^b nomine Hadericus^c cum consilio Eilberti et uxoris suae Herisnidis^d ad abbatem monasterii Humolariensis, humiliter deprecans ut quidam puer, nepos eiusdem Haderici, in eodem monasterio susciperetur, tradens ad locum cum eodem puerulo quemdam alodium^e in comitatu Otmensi in villa quae dicitur Vedeniacus,^f quem alodium^e ipse puer a fratribus et sororibus suis^g legali donatione suscepit, data eis videlicet^h parte sua de omnibus aliis rebus quas communiter possidebant. Qui alodus suis finibus terminatur: de uno latere via publica, de alio latere terra de potestate eiusdem villae. Idcirco ego Heribertus, comes eiusdem loci, per depreciationm Herisnidisⁱ hanc chartam^j fieri iussi ut predicta traditio firma et inviolabilis in perpetuum maneat^k sub hac scriptione^l subnixa, quam^m si quis infringere tentaverit, in primis iram Dei omnipotentisⁿ incurrat, deinde centum libras auri^o persolvat. Signum Heriberti comitis.^p Signum Ricardi. Signum Valerii. Signum Manases. Signum Teuderici.^q Signum Hugonis. Signum Hadbrando.^r Signum Landebert. Signum Petri. Signum Guntberti.^s Signum Bernaeri. Signum Benelini. Signum Ansfred. Signum Tedulfi.^t [chrismon] Berherus cancellarius firmavit [et] subscrispsit. Data die XVII kalendas februarii.

^a reading of a, 906 marked saute in margin of B, 986 replaced by 988 by scribe of C. ^b vasallus a. ^c Hadericus C. ^d Herinsnidis changed by a later hand to Herisindis C, Herisindis a. ^e alodium *changed by a later hand to alodum C, alodum a. ¹ Vedeniacus a. ² suis omitted C. ³ eis added C.

¹ Herisnidis changed to Herisindis C, Herisindis a. ¹ cartham B. ¹ permaneat a. ¹ subscriptione a. ¹ aquam a. ¹ omnipotentis Dei a. ¹ auri libras C. ¹ a ends here. ¹ Theudorici C.
¹ Hadbraneo C. ¹ Gundberti C. ¹ Tedulphi C.*

¹ Newman accepted the date of 988 as given by H 588 and Hémeré (who probably saw the original charter) on the assumption that the year began at Christmas or on 1 January; if the year began later, he would date the act 989. Misonne (p. 165) rejects the date of 988 and leaves this act undated. Bur (p. 116, n. 99) identifies Herbert, count of Omois, as count of Château-Thierry (943-980/984) and therefore does not accept either 988 or 989 (see n. 2). It is doubtful whether Eilbert of Florennes was still alive in 988 (see act no. 13, n. 2), but this act might confirm an earlier oral request.

² Bur (p. 116, n. 99), against Longnon, identifies Herbert as Herbert the Elder, count of Château-Thierry, and not the latter's nephew, Herbert the Younger, count of Meaux (967-994/995; see Table II). Longnon rejects the identification of Otmensis with Château-Thierry ("Etudes sur les pagi," pp. 362, 365). See also act no. 12.

20

[982 March 6-987/988 September 9]¹

Albert [II], count [of Vermandois] and abbot of Saint-Quentin, gave to the monastery of Notre-Dame of Homblières, during the abbacy of Alberic, two residences with their vineyards and appurtenances, one from the domain of the villa commonly called Nouvion-le-Vineux in the pagus of Laon, the other in the villa popularly called Mons (-en-Laonois). This he did with the approval of his sons Herbert [III] and Odo,² and his faithful clerics and laymen.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 27r-v, with the title "De rebus quas Albertus comes dedit Sanctae Mariae sitis in pago Laudunensi apud villas quae vulgo dicuntur Novihant et Montes."
 C: H 588, pp. 27-28, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 13, fols. 123-124, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 107r-v, copy of C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

Nulli fideli catholicae fidei dubium est sed omnes assensum praebent exhortari bonos benefacere perversosque iniqua agentes ad meliora sublevari simulque habitare iocunde in unum fraternali modo unumquemque tantum propter spem regni coelestis proposse^a solamen adhibere famulantibus Christo autoritate^b sanctae et individuae matris ecclesiae; ab hac quoque societate ego Albertus gratia Dei abbas Sancti Quintini nolo me segregare, sed praesentium ac futurorum precibus orthodoxorum emolumendum supernae gloriae promerer. Quocirca scire volo legentes hoc atque^c lecturos auditentes, hoc atque audituros, gratia rei supradictae dedisse me saventibus filiis meis Heriberto atque Ottone velle me meorum fidelium clericorum videlicet et laicorum tempore Alberici abbatis fratribus Deo famulantibus in parvo locello Humolariae nuncupato in honore beatae Mariae virginis atque sub sua pietate Hunegundis sub norma beati Benedicti¹ duo sedia cum vineis, puteo et omnibus respicientibus ad haec ex potestate villae quae vulgo nuncupatur Novihant sita in pago Laudunensi [et] in villa quae populari locutione Montes nuncupatur, tali modo ut hoc firmum et stabile permaneat et Deo favente et nemine contradicente nisi eo qui non titubaverit contemni a se iram supernae potentiae in qua incurrat si id peragere tentaverit. Signum Adalberti comitis manu ipsius factum. [chrismon] Signum² Heriberti filii eius. Signum Hermengardis uxoris [eius]. Signum Odonis nepotis² eius. Signum Gauzberti custodis. Signum Hugonis decani. Signum Waltelmi praepositi. Signum Berengarii canonici. Signum Albonis canonici. Signum Wandelmeri canonici. Signum Lamberti castellani. Signum Baidobonis³ castellani. Signum Gerberti militis. Signum Budonis militis. Bertoldus cancellarius scripsit.

¹ pro posse C. ² auctoritate B. ³ atque hoc C. ⁴ B . . . B. ⁵ et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC. ⁶ Bacidobonis C.

¹ The grant was made "in the time of Abbot Alberic," who became abbot after 6/8 March 982. Count Albert I died 8/9 September 987 or 988 (Colliette, 1:546, and Lemaire, "Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint-Quentin," 8:305-306). Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give a date of 985. This act was probably issued in 987 or 988, just before Count Albert transferred the county to his son Herbert III (see act no. 21, n. 1).

² Odo (or Otto) was Albert's grandson; see Table II.

21

[987-988]¹

At the request of the knight Arpadius and his wife Fredeburg, Herbert [III], count [of Vermandois] and abbot of Saint-Quentin, has a charter written approving the gift to Notre-Dame of Homblières of half the mansionile called Senancourt which Arpadius received through inheritance. This gift is made in memory of Fredeburg's deceased first husband, Robert, and their son Witbert. Count Albert [I] signed the charter by his own hand.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 31r-v, with the title "De dimidio mansionili apud Saisinulficurtem sito." C: H 588, pp. 30-31, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 13, fols. 100-101, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 217, fol. 30, copy of C.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, pp. 33-34, "ex archivis eorundem." (b) Colliette, 1: 580, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:478. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ego Heribertus gratia Dei testis Christi Quintini monasterii abbas et comes dictus. Manifestum esse^a volumus tam praesentibus quam futuris fidelibus viscera misericordiae Dei expectantibus quod, causa orationis et visitationis ad monasterium sanctae Mariae et aliae virginis Hunegundis, mihi profecto adfuit^b quidam miles nomine Arpadius^c cum uxore sua Frediburgi^d palam nostrae voluntati faciens se velle dare in donatione ad praedictam ecclesiam dictae^e cellae Humolariensis ex sua haereditate dimidium quoddam mansionile^f quod dicitur^g Saisimilfcurtis^h cum terris cultis et incultis ac sylvulis etⁱ omnibus aliis rebus mediis^j pro primi^k nominatae coniugis mariti iam defuncti, vocabulo Roberti, et filii ipsius Witberti similiter defuncti culpis, ac pro suis necne^l uxoris ac pro omnibus stirpis decessae aut humanam vitam decessurae, et sibi^m ut a Christo per merita sanctae suae genitricis et iam dictae Hunegundis virginis deleanor, in memoriaqueⁿ iustorum habeantur. Cuius vota libenter exceperimus, et ab eo deprecati et a sua coniuge, scripto auribus futurorum fidelium mandavimus, necnon nostra autoritate corroboravimus, ut nemo infidelium iniquitatis^o rabie delusus manus audeat exerere^p in hac donatione, quod si quis ausus fuerit hanc nostram manumissionem violare, in primis^q iram Dei omnipotentis se sentiat incidisse^r atque multis modis^s illustrium virorum confossum^t verbere centum libras auri nostro scrinio cogatur persolvere ac quod caepit^u nequaquam liceat obtinere. Signum Adalberti comitis manu ipsius factum. Signum^v Heriberti filii eius. Signum^w Ermengardis^x uxoris eius. Signum^y Odonis nepotis^z eius. ^w Adalberti scilicet. ^x [chrism] Signum^y Gauzberti^z custodis. Signum^w Hugonis decani. Signum^y Waltelmi^z praepositi. Signum^w Berengarii canonici. Signum Wandelmeri canonici. Signum Albonis^{aa} canonici. Signum Lamberti^{bb} castellani. Signum^w Bardelonis subcastellani. Signum Gaufridi^{cc} militis. Signum Gerardi militis. Signum Dudonis militis. Bertoldus^{dd} cancellarius scripsit.

^a ecclesiae BC. ^b affuit a. ^c Arpadius a. ^d Frideburgi a. ^e dictae omitted a. ^f mansionili changed to mansionile C. ^g quod dicitur omitted a. ^h Saisimilfcurtis a. ⁱ ac a. ^j mediis omitted a. ^k primi omitted a. ^l necne through sibi replaced by etiam excessibus a. ^m et hi in memoria for in memoriaque a. ⁿ inquitate et a. ^p exercere C. ^o imprimis C. ^r incurrisse a. ^s modis changed to modiis B. ^t confossum a. ^u cupit a. ^v et in lieu of S(ignum) BC. ^w Hermengardis BC. ^x eius omitted a. ^y Adalberti scilicet omitted a. ^z Ganzberti B. ^{aa} Wilielmi a. ^{bb} Abbonis a. ^{cc} Lantberti a. ^{dd} Goufridi BC. ^{ee} Bertrandus BC.

¹ This act was issued by Count Herbert III (988-ca. 1000) and witnessed by Count Albert I (943-987/988), probably after the latter had relinquished control of the county to his son with whom he had been associated for thirty years (since 959, act no. 9). The witnesses of this act are virtually identical to and almost in the same order as those for act no. 20; both acts must have been witnessed about the same time, in the transitional period (987-988) between the two counts. Lat. 13911 gives a marginal date of 962; H 588 has both 962 and (by a later hand) 987.

² Albert (II) and Otto were grandsons of Count Albert I; see Table II.

22

Monastery of Saint-Amand 1018 June 20

Abbot Richard and the monks of Saint-Amand allow the monks of Homblères to hold seven manses of land at Hauteville for as long as the latter wish, in return for 5 s. worth of denarii each year at the feast of Saint Remi [1 October].¹

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 39, with the title "De septem mansis qui sunt apud villam quae dicitur Altavilla in pago Laudunensi sub censu quinque solidorum persolvendorum in festo sancti Remigii." C: H 588, p. 37, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 138, copy of C. E: Coll. Moreau, vol. 19, fols. 129-130, copy of C.

Pub.: Melleville, 1:64, copy of C without the witnesses. (b) Duvivier, 1:25-26, copy of BD.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94. Wauters, 11.1:50.

Prudens consuetudo praecedentium patrum schedulis propriis decrevit tradere quidquid necessarium videretur auribus posterorum mandare. Unde nos quoque Richardus videlicet gratia Dei abbas cum caeteris fratribus Helnonnensisbus, vestigia priorum imitantes, notificare volumus omnibus posteritatem nostram subsequentibus quod quamdam Beati Amaldi terram, in pago Laudunensi sitam in loco qui dicitur Altavilla, communi consensu delegavimus habere fratribus Humolariensis coenobii usu fructuario et gratia emeliorandi, eo scilicet tenore ut singulis annis quandiu ipsam tenere voluerint, quinque solidos denariorum pro septem mansis quibus numerantur pro respectu persolvant in festivitate sancti Remigii. Si vero exinde negligentes reperti iustificare noluerint, eo solo deinceps frustrentur publica lege convicti sicque restituatur proprio haeredi. Ut haec traditio firma remaneret et inviolabilis hanc manu scripti communiter decrevimus fieri ac nominibus fratrum utriusque loci caeterorumque fidelium firmiter insigniri. Actum Helnonae monasterio, die mensis iunii XX, anno vero Domini MXVIII, regnante Francorum rege Roberto, sub horum testificatione quos praesens nota describit. Signum domini abbatis Richardi. Signum Balduini marchionis. Signum Raineri. Signum Geroldi. Signum Leudonis. Signum Hunoldi. Signum Elgeri.

Signum Gerardi. Signum Herimanni. Signum Bernardi. Godescalci.
 Signum Roderid. Signum Winemari. Signum Iegardi. Signum Fulcuini.⁶

⁶ Helnonensibus B. ⁶ Fulouini BC.

¹ Homblières must have given up this land before 1153, when the abbot of Saint-Amand gave it to Saint-Sauveur of Anchon (Duvivier, p. 25, n. 1).

23

Chapter of Saint-Quentin

[1021-1027] October 31¹

Otto, count [of Vermandois] and abbot [of Saint-Quentin], responds to the complaint of Richard, abbot of Homblières, that Otto's faithful Ivo² had unjustly usurped the villa of Cugny, contrary to the customary laws which his ancestors had observed. Otto concedes that the poor men of this villa will be left in peace on the following terms: they should not pay more than 1 d., one loaf of bread, and one sextarium of oats for the ban, justice, corvées, plowing, and the right to hunt game in the woods. Anyone convicted of violating this charter shall pay thirty gold librae to the count.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 15, with the title "De Cauniaco villa et de consuetudinibus a comite Ottone constitutis." C: H 588, p. 18, with the same title as B, except that "Cauniaco" is corrected by a later hand to "Cauviniaco."

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, p. 112. (b) Colliette, 1:682, copy of a. (c) Fossier, Chartes de coutume, pp. 129-130, no. 1, copy of C.

Trans.: Charles, 2:114-115.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Otto Dei misericordia comes dictus et abbas. Notum fieri⁶ volo universis sanctae^b matris ecclesiae filiis tam praesentibus quam futuris^c quod accessit ad nostram praesentiam laudabilis Ricardus,^c abbas cellae Humolariensis, cum monachis suis, postulans ut^d quamdam villam quae Cauviniacus dicitur Yvo,^e fidelis noster homo,^f contra consuetudinarias leges quas antecessores eius minime tenuerunt, iniuste invasit. Quam petitionem non abnuentes et saepius adclamantes pro salute animae meae et progenitorum meorum, ex beneficio nostro ei concessimus ut pauperes homines ex eadem villa quieti esse possent, eo tenore ut bannum, latronem,^g corveias, carrucarias, sylvae haias ad capiendam venationem, ulterius non persolvant nisi unum denarium, unum^h panem, unumⁱ sextarium avenae. Et ut nostra commutatio inconvulsa permaneat hanc cartam^j fieri iussimus. Si quis vero hanc commutationem infringere tentaverit, quod minime credimus, in primis iram Dei omnipotentis, sanctae Mariae matris Domini, sanctae Hunegundis sanctorumque omnium incurrat, et legali sanctione convictus, XXX auri libras nostro scrinio persolvat¹ et repetitio eius inanis fiat. [christmon] Signum Ottonis² comitis. Signum³ Ermengardis matris eius. Signum uxoris eius.⁴ Signum Lantberti⁵ castellani. Signum Rodulphi⁶ filii eius. Signum Godefridi⁷ vassalli.⁸ Signum Amulrici vassalli.⁹ Signum¹⁰ Wiberti¹¹ vassalli.¹² Signum Erchemboldi [vassalli]. Signum Yvonis¹³ vassalli.¹⁴ Item signum Yonis homo.¹⁵ Signum Rothardi decani. Signum Theoboldi¹⁶ custodis. Signum Valtelmi¹⁷ praepositi.¹⁸ Actum in monasterio almi martyris Christi Quintini, die festivitatis eius.

¹ scire BC, corrected to fieri C. ² sanctae through futuris omitted a. ³ Bernardus noted in margin as correction for Ricardus B. ⁴ ei daremus added above by a later hand C, ut ei daremus a. ⁵ Yvo changed above by a later hand to quam C, quam a. ⁶ homo changed above by a later hand to Haimo C, Haimo a. ⁷ latonem BC, et latronem a. ⁸ et unum a. ⁹ chartam Ca. ¹⁰ sancti Quintini added a. ¹¹ persolvat nostro servitio for nostro scrinio persolvat BC. ¹² Ottbonis a. ¹³ Signum omitted from remaining witnesses a. ¹⁴ uxoris eius omitted a. ¹⁵ Lamberti a. ¹⁶ Rodulfi B. ¹⁷ Godefredi a. ¹⁸ vasalli Ca. ¹⁹ Amulrici vassalli omitted a. ²⁰ Signum omitted B. ²¹ Vinberti BC. ²² vasalli a. ²³ Ionis a. ²⁴ vassalli omitted a. ²⁵ Item signum Yonis homo omitted a. ²⁶ Thelboldi B, Tetboldi a. ²⁷ Vatelmi C, Walcelini a.

¹ Colliette (1:611) and Caffiaux (B.N., fr. 33085, p. 276, no. 13) date this act to 1026, while Lemaire ("Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint-Quentin," 8:332) dates it to "about 1030," but none offers an explanation. Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give a date of 1043 (which is accepted by Fossier, Chartes de coutume, p. 128). The dates of Richard's abbacy are not known; but according to the "Gesta pontificum Cameracensium" (MGH SS, 7:473), the provost under Richard was Waleran, who became abbot after the death of Count Albert II (1021). However, the dean of Saint-Quentin in this act and in 1043 (acts nos. 28, 29) was Rothard, successor to the historian Dudo of Saint-Quentin. Dudo exercised that office before the death of Richard II, duke of Normandy (23 August 1026 or 1027, according to Prentout, Etude critique, p. 14, and "Quelques chartes," pp. 221-222). Thus, Rothard probably was not dean before 1026 or 1027, and since Abbot Richard was on pilgrimage to Jerusalem from 15 October 1026 to late October 1027 (Dauphin, pp. 286, 295), this act might be dated 1027, after 31 October. See also act no. 24 n. 1.

² The identity of Ivo is not certain. Colliette, using Hémeré's text (which has Haimo instead of homo), read "Ivo de Hamo," who was identified by Charles as the son of Simon, castellan of Ham. But Gomart ("Les seigneurs et gouverneurs de Ham," p. 181) places Ivo of Ham in the period 1055-1076, clearly too late for this act. Fossier (Picardie, p. 563, and Chartes de coutumes, p. 129, n. 1) identifies Ivo as Ivo of Nesle, lord of Ham, an identification which does not fit the genealogy of the lords of Nesle established by Newman (Les seigneurs de Nesle, 1:59-61 and table on p. 289), but which nevertheless seems plausible. In any case, this Ivo was probably the son of the Ivo who originally granted land at Cugny to Homblières and who appears to have been an ancestor of the Nesle family, as Fossier suspected (see act no. 15 and n. 3).

³ Perhaps the future Abbot Waleran (see n. 1).

COMMENT

A number of expressions here are unusual in a charter of this period. Sextarium is not found in another act of Homblières before 1146, although it had become common in early-twelfth-century charters. The only eleventh-century act close to this region to use the term is from Saint-Martin-des-Champs of Paris in 1094 (Depoin, 1:84, no. 50, from a copy of 1118). An earlier reference in an act of King Henry I of 20 May 1043 is retouched or suspect (RHF, 11:577, and Tardif, p. 167, no. 268; indicated as authentic by Soehnée, pp. 64–65, no. 65). Haia is unusual but appears in an act of Robert I, duke of Burgundy, for 2 February 1053 (Poupardin, Recueil des chartes, 1:95–96, no. 59); see also Charles Higouet, “Les grandes haies forestières de l’Europe médiévale,” p. 215. Consuetudines leges and carrucarias are not found in other acts for Vermandois, and Yvo fidelis noster homo seems redundant. To these peculiarities must be added the problems of identifying Ivo and of dating the act (see nn. 1–2). Finally, the connection between this act and the suspect act no. 15 suggests a possible forgery here.

24

[1021–1043]¹

Waleran, in his first year as abbot of Homblières, asked Count Otto [of Vermandois] to confirm an agreement that he had made with three men of Lanchy who held land in that villa from the monastery. The men will pay what is due in rent and the “customs,” that is: one-quarter of the harvest as terragium; 5 s. 3 d. in mid-March; 2 s. 4 d. from the hospites at will; and fourteen cocks thrice annually. After the death of their heirs, the monastery’s agent in Lanchy will return the land to the abbey’s reserve or assign it to whomever he wishes for a census payment.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 22r–v, with the title “De villa Lantiaco et consuetudinibus eius.”

C: H 588, pp. 23–24, with the same title as B. D: Wyard, pp. 28–29, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 35, “e chartulario Humolariensi” (incomplete). (b) Colliette, 1:682, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 1:566. Maiton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Otto^a Dei annunte clementia comes honori et dignitati a Deo concessae ex aliquantulo factis congruis bene nos respondere credimus. Si ecclesiastica negotia fideliter tractantes iustis petitionibus assensum non negamus quatenus quo salvetur remedium animae praevideamus.^b Igitur notum sit universis praesentibus et futuris sanctae^c matris ecclesiae gremio filiis educatis,^d quod primo ordinationis suae anno Walerannus abbas cellae Humolariensis ad nostram praesentiam accessit petens quamdam conventionem a se factam cum hominibus tribus^e Lantiaci/ nostrae potestatis munimine firmari: de^f quadam terra in villa eadem iacente quam ipsi illis reddiderunt^g haeredibus primis, videlicet Roberto et nepoti eius^h Roberto et Rogero, et post unumquemque illorum duobus vicissim succendentibus,ⁱ ut persolvant annis singulis redditum terrae cum consuetudinibus suis, id est quartam garbam terragii et quinque solidos et tres^j denarios in medio martio et II solidos et IV denarios de hospitibus absque^k ulla omnino occasione.^l Abbatem aut quempiam vice sui miserit^m cum XII hominibus ter in anno pascant, XIV gallinati aut sine dubio solvantⁿ ac insuper annonam cum diligenter tributa^o purgata fuerint ad locum indominicatum absque^p mora deducant. Tertia^q autem haeredum vice peracta, procurator loci aut in dominicatu restituat aut si cuilibet pro censu dare voluerit, nullus ex haereditario reclamando impediatur. Unde ut talis conventio servetur^r in posterum, hanc chartam fieri adiudicavimus roboratam propter nostrae authoritatis signum.^s [monogramma]^t Signum Ottonis comitis. [chrismon] Walerani^u abbatis signum. [monogramma]^v Signum Varrini^w decani.^x Signum^y Bertoldi^z monachi. Signum Rogeri monachi. Signum Lantberti monachi.^{aa} Signum Herberti laici.^{ab} Signum Godesfridi^{ac} militis. Signum Amolrici^{ad} militis. Signum Rodulphi castellani.

^a Otho a. ^b provideamus a. ^c in Sanctae a. ^d educatis filiis a. ^e tribus omitted a. ^f Lautiaci a. ^g de through succendentibus omitted a. ^h reddiderant B. ⁱ nepotibus changed to nepot eius B. ^j 4 a. ^k absque through occasione omitted a. ^l quempiam quem miserit vice sui a. ^m gallinaceos solvant in lieu of gallinati through solvant a. ⁿ tribula a. ^o sine a. ^p tertia through signum omitted a. ^q solvetur corrected to servetur B. ^r T superimposed on O repeated BC. ^s Ottonis a. ^t Waleranni Ca. ^u a horizontal bar through O BC. ^v Varini C. ^w Signum Varrini decani omitted a. ^x et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding remaining names of witnesses BC. ^y Bertholdi B. ^z Signum Lantberti monachi omitted Ca. ^{aa} Signum Herberti laici omitted a. ^{ab} Godofredi a. ^{ac} Amobrici C.

¹ The text of the charter states that the confirmation took place during the first year of Waleran's abbacy, the date of which is not known. Hémeré would date it "not far from the year 1030." Collette accepts that date but elsewhere dates this act ca. 1027 (1:612) and also claims that Waleran was made abbot "shortly after the death of Count Albert II, which occurred in 1021" (1:239-240). Otto became count of Vermandois before 9 June, probably in 1021. Since Waleran appears in another act of after 25 August 1043 (act no. 28), this act must fall between 1021 and 1043; but if Waleran did become abbot in 1027 (see act no. 23, n.1), this act may well be from 1027, as Gaffiaux claims (B.N., fr. 33085, p. 276, no. 15). If the monk Lambert in this act was the former castellan of Saint-Quentin, this act must fall after October 1021/1027 (when he was still castellan; see act no. 23). A marginal note in lat. 13911 gives a date of 1032; in H 588 a later hand (Collette?) crossed out the marginal date of 1032 and inserted 1027.

the ban of the public road up to the perimeter of lands adjacent to the villa. Lambert, standardbearer and castellan of Saint-Quentin, and later monk at Homblières, had given these rights to the monastery by a legal transfer in the time of Abbot Alberic with the approval of Count Albert [II].²

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 24, with the title "De districtu et banno sylvae, prati et terrarum huic villae adiacentium." C: H 588, p. 25, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 21, fols. 67-68, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 149, copy of C.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 35, "e chartulario Humolariensi." (b) Colliette, 1: 564-565, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:11. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae^a et individuae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ego Otto^b Dei annuente clementia Viromandensium^c comes et abbas. Si vicem potestatis nostrae^d a Deo nobis temporaliter concessae utinam iuxta salutem animae, oportet indefesse iustis petitionibus assensum praebere, maxime cum^e de rebus ecclesiasticis est negotium ut intemeratae semper subsistant more antiquorum. Igitur tam praesentium quam futurorum agnoscat solertia quod venerit ad nos Walerannus,^f abbas cellae Humolariensis, decusans^g suorum antecessorum^h negligentiam ac providens in futuro saeculi malitiam, petuit charta nostrae authoritatis ecclesiae confirmandum quoddam bonum, id est distinctiones terrae exterioris sylvae ac prati villae Humolariensiⁱ pertinentium cum viatici publici banno usque ad confinium circuitionis terrarum huic villae adiacentium quod Lambertus,^j Sancti Quintini signifer et castellanus, tempore Albrici abbatis per manum Adalberti comitis legali traditione pro animae redemptione Humolariensi ecclesiae tradidit habendum, qui^k postea deserens saeculum^l sese pro Dei amore devovit monachum. Unde hanc signo nostrae authoritatis^m firmamusⁿ chartam eiusdem Lamberti^o verbis testantibus approbatam, cuius autoritatem^p qui infringerit^q centum libras auri persolvat^r scrinio comitis. Signum Ottonis^s comitis. [christmon] Signum^t Ermengardis^u comitissae. Signum Emmae comitissae. Signum Theobaldi^v custodis. Signum Oddonis^w militis. Signum Yvonis de Nigella. Signum Heszelini^x militis. Signum Olberti militis. Signum Freudonis militis. Signum Waldrici militis. Signum Clementis militis. Signum Drogonis militis. Signum Gaufridi^y militis. Signum Geroldi militis. Signum Rogeri^z militis.

^a beatae a. ^b Otho a. ^c Viromandentium B, Viromandensis a. ^d nostrae omitted a. ^e dum a.

^f Valerannus B. ^g decasans corrected to decusans B, excusans a. ^h antiquorum C. ⁱ Humolariensis changed to Humolariensi C, Homolariensi a. ^j Lantbertus a. ^k cui a. ^l deseruius sexuandum corrected to deserens saeculum B. * auctoratis a. * firmavimus a. * Lantberti a. * authoritate B. * infraegerit (?) B, infregerit a. * persolvet BC. * Othonis a. * et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC, Signum omitted for remaining witnesses a. * Ermongardis B. * Teiboldi a. * Odonis a. * Hezelini a. * Gonfridi BC. * Rotgeri a.

¹ Hémeré dates this act to 1035, probably after the marginal notations in lat. 13911 and H 588. A date closer to the beginning of both Waleran's abbacy (1021/1027) and the rule of Count Otto (1021) is preferable because Otto's mother, Ermengarde, appears in the witness list before his wife. The date of Ermengarde's death is not known, but this is the latest charter in which she appears. See act no. 24, n. 1.

² The oral grant must have been made between 982 and 988 (see act no. 20, n. 1).

26

[1021-1043]¹

A notice states that Abbot Waleran approached Ultric, a knight of the castle of La Fere, about the protection tax (salvamentum) of Quessy, a villa of Homblières. Otto, count of Vermandois, formerly held that tax but now Ultric holds it from Anselm, castellan of La Fere. Desiring to lighten the weight of this exaction, Waleran made a gift to Ultric so that henceforth the tax would be paid at La Fere rather than at Laon, where the inhabitants of Quessy customarily paid it.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 42r, with the title, "De salvamine villae quae Cacciacus dicitur."

C: H 588, pp. 38-39, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 23, fol. 5, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 152r, copy of C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

Ecclesiae Christi^a super quos inclinantur accidentium rerum moderamina tam praesentium quam futurorum noscat peritia quod abbas Walerannus Humolariensi ex cella ad Ultricum militem accessit de castro nuncupato Fera pro quodam salvamine quod isdem miles tenebat de Anselmo, supradicti castri principe, in Cacciaco,^b Sanctae Mariae Humolaris villa, quod quidem bonum antea a comite Ottone Vermandensis possessum a comitantibus in iam dicta villa ferri consueverat ad castrum Lugdunum. Cuius consuetudinis pondus adlevare cupiens abbas praelibatus,^c dato aliquo munere de rebus ecclesiae eidem militi Ultrico,^d consentanea voluntate Anselmi, decrevit legitimo testimonio ut praedictum bonum tantum feratur ad Feram castrum sibi et suis haeredibus quamdiu illud haereditare voluerint.

^a fidelium added above by a later hand C. ^b ex added by a later hand C. ^c praedictus corrected to praelibatus B. ^d Ultrico C.

¹ This notice can be dated only to the abbacy of Waleran (see act no. 24, n. 1). Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give a date of 1030.

[1036 January 11-1043 August 25]¹

Otto, count [of Vermandois] and abbot of Saint-Quentin, declares that his knight Amalric, having decided to become a monk at Homblières, gave the monastery a certain course of water with fishing rights on the river Somme at Frise and Saint-Christ² where Homblières already had fishing rights. Since Amalric held that water as a fief from the count, he asked permission to transfer it. At first the count allowed only half of this gift to pass to Homblières, but when Abbot Waleran, in the court of King Henry [I] and in the presence of many notables, asked to have the gift confirmed by charter and further requested the other half of the water, the count consented, retaining only his lifetime use.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 28r-v, with the title "De aqua quam Otto comes et Amoricus, miles eius, dederunt Sanctae Mariae apud Frisiem Novam Villam." C: H 588, pp. 28-29, with the same title as B, except for "Almoricus." D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 23, fols. 154-155, copy of C (this reference by Newman is incorrect; I have not been able to locate the correct reference. TE). E: Coll. Moreau, vol. 23, fols. 154-155, copy of C. F: Wyard, pp. 29-30, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, p. 111, from a "charta." (b) Colliette, 1:683, copy of a.

Trans.: Charles, 2:112-113.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94. De Cagny, Histoire, 1:533. Lemaire, "Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint Quentin," 8:332. Not in Sohnée.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Otto, Dei gratia comes et abbas Sancti Quintini, notum fieri volo omnibus sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis quod Amoricus,⁴ vir nobilis tamen⁵ miles meus, tenebat aquam quamdam cum piscatione in flumine Somonae⁶ iuxta villam Frisiem et Novam Villam, tenebat, inquam, aquam illam ex me et pro me⁷ loco beneficii sub nomine feodi.⁸ Deus autem, qui omnes vult salvos fieri, eum praevenit eique velle immisit ut monachus fieret sub tutela sanctae Mariae semper virginis⁹ in coenobio Humolariensi. Quoniam¹⁰ vero eidem coenobio subiacebat alia aqua¹¹ cum piscatione in Frisia ab antiquo, idem vir suam aquam tradere disposuit praefatae sanctae Mariae semper virginis,¹² sed quia id facere nequiebat¹³ absque permisso nostro, nos expetiit humiliter ut ei faveremus in hoc negotio. Igitur quoniam mihi benigne servierat, concessimus ei quatenus medium partem praefatae piscationis daret Deo, eo tenore ut altera pars remaneret in iure dominico. Monachus¹⁴ effectus est et media pars aquae, nostro favore, Sanctae Mariae libera data est.¹⁵ Denique abbas Walerannus hanc donationem¹⁶ firmari fecit a me¹⁷ in curia domini regis Henrici, ipso rege favente, cum optimatis suis. Ibi quoque eodem abbate petente ac domino rege hortante, dedimus Sanctae Mariae alteram partem aquae quam retinebam, tamen ut dum^a viveremus teneremus eam; post obitum vero meum, eam haberet idem coenobium liberam, quietam et absque calumnia^b sicut alodium indominicatum.^c Hanc^d firmationem regis ac episcoporum et principum Franciae.^e Qui violaverit et in ipsa aqua et^f a nobis Deo^g et Sanctae Mariae concessa aliquid usurpaverit, imprimis Dei iram incurrat ut anathema maranatha, deinde centum libris^h auri regi solutisⁱ a patria exul fiat. [chrism] Signum domini regis. Signum^j Ottonis comitis. Signum Widonis^k [monogramma], archiepiscopi Rhenensis. Signum Godofridi^l magni.^m Signum Roberti magniⁿ Pernensis principis. Signum Walzelini^o Calniacensis.^p Signum Theodori abbatis Sancti Remigii. Signum Waleranni abbatis Humolariensis coenobii.^q Signum Odonis pultrelli. Signum Balduini de Betuncurte,^r filiorum ipsius^s Amolrici.^t

^a Almoricus Ca. ^b tamen omitted a. ^c Somenae a. ^d et pro me omitted a. ^e sedii B. ^f semper virginis omitted a. ^g qm BC, corrected by a later hand to cum C. ^h alia corrected to aqua B. ⁱ semper virginis omitted a. ^j nequibat a. ^k monachus through data est omitted a. ^l dationem BC, corrected by a later hand to donationem C. ^m a me firmari fecit a. ⁿ ut dum through eam changed by a later hand to quandiu viverem C. quandiu viverem a. ^o calumniis a. ^p in dominicatum BC, changed to indominicatum C. ^q Quam a. ^r Franciae omitted a. ^s aqua et added above B. et omitted a. ^t domino B. ^u libras changed to libris B. ^v solutis regi C. ^w et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC, Signum omitted for remaining witnesses a. ^x Vidonis BC. ^y monogram of Henry I BC. ^z Godefridi C. ^{aa} magni omitted a. ^{bb} Warzelini B. ^{cc} Calviacensis BC, changed to Calniacensis C. ^{dd} coenobii omitted a. ^{ee} Betancurte C. ^{ff} ipsiis B. ^{gg} ipsis Almorici Ca.

¹ One of the witnesses, Theodoric, abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims, became abbot after 11 January 1036 (GC, 9:227). Waleran died in 1043, after August 25. Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give the date 1045.

² The charter reads Villeneuve. Lemaire ("Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint-Quentin," 8:322), accepting De Cagny (p. 533), states: "This Villeneuve is the village of Saint-Christ (c. Nesle) and not Neuville-Saint-Amand near Saint-Quentin, for the waters of the Somme facing that village had been given in 983 by the chapter of the collegiate church to the monks of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, at the request of Count Albert I." Count Albert's act is printed in Colliette (1:568-569) but should be dated 986 (see the cartularies of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, B.N., lat. 12985, fol. 45r-46v, and Aisne, A.D., H 535, pp. 6-7).

Arnulf and his brother Theodoric give to the monastery of Notre-Dame of Homblières a place which they had in the villa of Seboncourt, in return for which Abbot Waleran gave them as much as he thought fit. The two brothers confirmed this charter in the presence of Count Otto on the feast of Saint Hunegund [25 August].

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 40, with the title "De alodio apud Seguncurt sito quod dederunt Arnulfus et Theodericus fratres." C: H 588, pp. 37-38, with the same title as B except for "Theodoricus." D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 23, fols. 146-147, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 218-220, fol. 11, copy of C.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, pp. III-112. (b) Collette, 1:683-684, copy of a. (c) Melville, 2:317, copy of C, without the witnesses.

Trans.: Charles, 2:114.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:30. Matton, p. 94.

Ego, in Dei nomine, Arnulfus^a et Theodoricus,^b frater^c meus, cognoscentes nos scelerum mole praegravatos cupientesque de nostro aliquid offerre Deo, in pagum Vermandensem^d venimus, monasterium Humolariense adivimus, dedimusque ad praedictum locum sanctae Mariae sanctaeque^e Hunegundi locum quem habebamus in villa quae dicitur Seguncurt.^f Et ne mendacium proferamus in conspectu Domini, dominus Walerannus abbas dedit nobis de substantia loci quantum sibi placuit. Et ut stabile permaneat hoc donum, hoc scriptum facere iussimus et coram Ottone comite, die festivitatis Sanctae Hunegundis, VIII kalendas septembribus,^g confirmavimus. Signum Arnulfi^h qui hoc scriptum etⁱ Theodorici fieri iusserunt.^j Signum^k Ottonis comitis. Signum Waleranni^l abbatis. Signum Godefridi.^m Signum Roberti.ⁿ Signum Nevelonis. Signum Gerardi abbatis Insulae. Signum Gerardi abbatis Sancti Projeci.^o Signum Rothardi decani Sancti Quintini. Signum Yonis^p custodis. Signum Rogeri^q subdiaconi. Signum Harduini diaconi.^r Actum in monasterio Humolariensi, anno Dominicae incarnationis MXXXXIII, indictione XI.^s Hubertus subdiaconus et monachus scripsit et relegit vice et iusu Deodati cancellarii.

^a Arnulphus a. ^b Theodericus B. ^c fratres corrected to frater C. ^d Vermandense B. ^e et sanctae a. ^f Seguncurte a. ^g VIII kalendas septembribus omitted a. ^h S. Sig[crossed out] Arnulfi C, Arnulphi a. ⁱ qui hoc scriptum et omitted a. ^j fieri iusserunt omitted a. ^k Signum omitted for witnesses a. ^l Walerani C. ^m Godofredi a. ⁿ Rotberti a. ^o Projeci a. ^p Ivo-nis a. ^q Rogeri a. ^r Signum Harduini diaconi omitted BC. ^s II a.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 80, with the title "De quadam terra apud Curcellas sita quam Otto comes dedit Sanctae Mariae." C: H 588, p. 68, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 35, "e chartulario Humolariensi." (b) Collette, I: 684-685, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:30. Matton, p. 95.

Si fidelium nostrorum petitionibus acquieverimus,⁴ promptiores eos⁵ in nostro servitio invenimus.⁶ Quapropter ego Otto,⁷ in Dei⁸ nomine abbas et rector monasterii Sancti Quintini, scire volo sanctae ecclesiae fideles futuros et praesentes ante nostram venisse praesentiam Godefridum,⁹ nostrum militem, deprecantem ut terram quamdam,¹⁰ quam de nobis tenebat in villa quae dicitur Curcellas, daremus sanctae Mariae sanctaeque Hunegundi.¹¹ Et ut hoc donum permaneat firmum, hanc chartam scribere iussi et laude fidelium meorum¹² confirmavi. Signum Bernardi abbatis Humolariensis et Ottonis abbatis.¹³ Signum Rothardi¹⁴ decani. Signum Yonis¹⁵ custodis. Signum Rainulfi¹⁶ cantoris. Signum Modati¹⁷ cancellarii. Signum Guidrici¹⁸ praepositi.¹⁹ Signum Walteri presbyteri. Signum Evrardi presbyteri. Signum Harduni diaconi. Signum Hildieri diaconi. Signum Breverrici²⁰ subdiaconi. Signum²¹ Godefredi.²² Rainoldus monachus²³ scripsit vice Deodati²⁴ cancellarii. Signum Ioannis filii eius. Signum Grarveri.²⁵ Signum Roberti. Signum Drogonis. Signum Gerardi abbatis Insulae. Signum Gerardi abbatis Sancti Proiecti. Signum Amalrici²⁶ abbatis Sancti Michaelis.²⁷ Actum prope monasterium Sancti Quintini, anno incarnationis Dominicæ MXXXXIII, indictione XII.²⁸

⁴ acquieverunt changed to acquieverimus B. ⁵ quos changed to eos B. ⁶ inveniemus a. ⁷ Otho a.

⁸ indignus changed to in Dei B. ⁹ Godosedum a. ¹⁰ quamdam terram a. ¹¹ quod fecimus added a.

¹² meorum fidelium C. ¹³ et Ottonis abbatis omitted a. ¹⁴ Rulhardi B. ¹⁵ Signum omitted for remaining witnesses a. ¹⁶ Ivonis a. ¹⁷ Benulfi B. ¹⁸ Baiulfi a. ¹⁹ Theodati a. ²⁰ Guerrici a.

²¹ presbyteri corrected to praepositi B. ²² Guerrici a. ²³ et C. ²⁴ Godofredi militis a. ²⁵ ve C, omitted a. ²⁶ Garneri a. ²⁷ Almurici a. ²⁸ The year 1043 has induction XI.

¹ Bernard became abbot of Homblières after 25 August 1043 (act no. 28).

² This is the earliest dated charter to mention Abbot Amalric. Mennesson (p. 119) lists an "Amaury" in 1040 among abbots for that monastery but without reference to his source.

ran and his monks; Otto did likewise but retained use of his share during his lifetime, after which it was to enter the monks' domain forever. Count Herbert and his mother now confirm that gift by this charter.² Among the witnesses is Herbert's tutor, Walter.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 21, with the title "De alodio apud Bresnoto sito quod Otto comes materque eius Ermengardis dederunt Sanctae Mariae." C: H 588, pp. 22-23, with the same title as B. D: Coll. Moreau, vol. 23, fols. 24-25, copy of C. E: Coll. Picardie, vol. 233, fol. 233, copy of C. F: Coll. Picardie, vol. 195, fol. 38r, copy of C.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, pp. 38-39, "chartae eiusdem loci." (b) Collette, 1: 689-690, copy of a. (c) Melville, 1:102-103, incomplete copy of C.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:156. Matton, pp. 93-94. Lemaire, "Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint-Quentin," 8:341-342.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego comes Heribertus⁴ materque mea Pavia fidelibus nostris praesentibus absentibusque notum fieri volumus quod pater meus, Otto,⁵ eius[que]⁶ genitrix, avia mea, Ermengardis, in villa quae Brenost appellatur⁷ quoddam sibi alodium collato emerunt pretio. Illud sibi distrahente quodam villae eiusdem homine Ernoldo, huius siquidem alodii medietatem⁸ non longo post tempore avia mea dono dedit beatae Mariae/ Dei genetrici, pro remedio animae suae, praesente Waleranno omniq[ue] sibi commissa congregatione fratrum; meus⁹ autem pater¹⁰ similiter suam¹¹ tantum sibi viventi retentam,¹² post discessum¹³ vero eius in potestatem monachorum penitus transituram¹⁴ eisque perpetualiter mansuram.¹⁵ Illoque¹⁶ iudicio Dei praevento nobisque substracto,¹⁷ omni bonae voluntatis assensu approbamus votum quod vita plenus voluntarie vovit Deo, et illam conventionem quam de praefato praedio habuit, abbatii et monachis eius stabilem firmamque ecclesiae esse¹⁸ iubemus. Et ne forte, quod absit, ab hac die et deinceps res concessa ecclesiae aliquam calamitatem possit pati, donationem eiusdem beneficij contra posterorum insidias munim¹⁹ nostri autoritate scripti, quippe non sine multorum testimonio quorum diversa nomina testatur praesens adnotatio. Hi quippe²⁰ interfuerunt et laudaverunt: Oddo miles et Iotselinus²¹ canonicus, fratr[is] mei, Robertus Peronensis, Wazelinus²² Calniacensis,²³ Walterus pedagogus meus. Ex parte autem abbatis: Rainardus maior Humolariensis, Rogerus maior Merulfurtis, Ioannes maior de Fraxiniaco et multi alii fideles nostri.

* Heribertus comes changed to comes Heribertus B. ⁵ Otho a. ⁶ eiusque in the inventory, act no. 44 (cap. 20), which paraphrases these lines. ⁷ que Beresnoth appellatur B, quae dicitur Bresnoth C. ⁸ partem a. ⁹ Mariae omitted B, M(ariae) added above C. ¹⁰ matris corrected to meus B. ¹¹ patris corrected to pater B. ¹² sua a. ¹³ retenta a. ¹⁴ discessum C. ¹⁵ transitura a. ¹⁶ mansu-ra a. * illo qui B, illo qui corrected to illoque C. * subtracto a. * esse omitted B, added above C.

 1 Qui in lieu of Hi quippe a. * Iotelinus changed to Ioscelinus B, Ioscelinus a. * Waselinus C, Walzelinus a. * Calviacensis BC, changed to Calniacensis C.

¹ Melville (p. 102) dates this act to about 1040, but Lemaire (p. 341) argues for 1045 or 1046, that is, during the first two years of Herbert IV's rule, because Herbert acts with his mother and one of the witnesses is his tutor. Colliette (1:649) dates it "shortly after the death of Count Otto," sometime after the act of 13 January 1045 (for Saint-Prix, in Colliette, 1:685-686). Robert of Péronne, a witness, was probably Robert I who appeared in 1028 (act of King Robert II, indicated in Newman, Catalogue des actes de Robert II, pp. 95-96, no. 76) and died on 1 October in or before 1045 (Newman, Charters of Mont-Saint-Quentin, act no. 2, n. 1). Lat. 13911 has "about 1045" in the margin, whereas H 588 has the date 1030 crossed out and replaced by 1075.

² See act no. 44 (chap. 20), an inventory of Homblières's possessions that paraphrases this charter.

31

Saint-Quentin

1075 [before May 23 or after August 4]¹

Herbert [IV], count of Saint-Quentin,² confirms the rights of justice held by the monastery of Homblières. Three of his servi declared on oath that according to the law always observed in this abbey only the abbot and his monks, not the count or any of his agents, administer justice in the event of injury or death to any inhabitant. But if anyone acts as advocate in securing justice for the abbot or his monks,³ the count will receive one-third of the fine. This arrangement, instituted by the count's ancestors,⁴ was confirmed in the count's presence by the oath of the important men of his court and is reaffirmed by him in this charter.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 11, with the title "De iustitia huius ecclesiae non facienda ab aliquo nisi ab abbatे eiusque monachis." C: H 588, pp. 14-15, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 37, "scheda eiusdem loci." (b) Colliette, 1:689, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:148. Matton, p. 93.

In nomine summae et individuae Trinitatis. Constitutiones antecessorum bonum est ut nos successores teneamus et corroboremus. Ego igitur Heribertus, comes Quintiniensis, constituta ab antecessoribus meis de rebus Humolariensis ecclesiae laudo et confirmo sicut patrem meum auditu didici laudasse et confirmasse trium virorum servorum suae dominationis sacramento Constantii videlicet marescalci,⁴ Heriberti, Ingelberti, ea^b lege servata perpetualiter^c in tota illa abbatia, ut si aliquis alicui iniuriam intulerit aut casu alias alium occiderit, nec ego nec aliquis meorum inde faciet iusticiam nisi abbas et sui monachi. Sed si aliquando ad faciendam iustitiam ab abbatе vel a suis monachis advocatus fuero, tunc tertia pars illius iustitiae mihi accidet. Hoc itaque factum antecessoris mei tempore, iterum sacramento confirmatum est in praesentia mea optimatumque meorum testimonio totius nostrae curiae. Quae libertas ecclesiae ut firmius permaneat, ego Heribertus comes testes idoneos subnotari⁴ preecepi in hac chartula per me confirmata. Signum Odonis decani. Signum⁵ Widonis thesaurarii. Signum Goberti⁶ cancellarii. Signum Rambaldi⁷ cantoris. Signum Anselli castellani. Signum Walteri⁸ praeposti. Signum⁹ domesticorum: Evrardi, Oilbaldi, Odonis. Signum famulorum Sanctae Mariae: Rainardi,¹⁰ Rogeri, Ioannis, Bernardi qui probationem sacramento fecit. Actum hoc est¹¹ apud Sanctum Quintinum, tempore Henrici abbatis et Huberti decani, anno incarnationis Dominicae MLXXV, indictione XIII, epacta XII,¹² regnante rege Philippo anno XVI.

⁴ mariscalci Ba. ⁵ ea omitted C. ⁶ perpetualiter omitted C. ⁷ subvocari BC, changed to subvotari B. ⁸ Signum omitted for remaining witnesses a. ⁹ Goberti a. ¹⁰ Raimboldi a. ¹¹ Valteri BC. ¹² Signum omitted B. ¹³ Regnardi C. ¹⁴ hoc est omitted C, est hoc a. ¹⁵ epacta XII omitted a.

¹ The year 1075 has indiction XIII, epact I (not XII, as in the text). The sixteenth year of King Philip I's reign was 4 August 1075–3 August 1076, or 23 May 1074–22 May 1075 (two initial dates were used; see Prou, Recueil des actes de Philippe I, p. clxx). Thus the oral confirmation is from either before 23 May or after 4 August 1075; but the charter itself might have been issued sometime afterward, as it notes that the oral confirmation occurred tempore Henrici abbatis.

² He is usually called the count of Vermandois.

³ The reference to "the abbot and his monks" may reflect the fact that Henry had become abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims in 1074/1075 while remaining abbot of Homblières; his absence or expected absence from Homblières was taken into account in the very important matter of the abbey's high justice.

⁴ This probably refers to act no. 2.

32

Saint-André of Le Cateau

[1082–1092 August 11]¹

The monks of Homblières obtain from the monastery of Saint-André of Le Cateau the advocacy of the mansionis called Dinche situated on the Sambre River in the diocese of Cambrai. The abbey of Le Cateau wished to dispose of this right because most of the revenue from this property already had been given to Homblières and usurpation by a layman would be troublesome.²

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 30, with the title "De advocatione villaे quae Dediniacus dicitur."

C: H 588, p. 29–30, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Duvivier, 1:278–279, copy of B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94. Wauters, 11.1:89.

Nutu Dei cuncta regentis tam praesentium quam futurorum noscat peritia quod advocationem cuiusdam mansionilis quod Dediniacus dicitur, quodque supra fluvium Sambre infra episcopum Cameracensem situm est, ab abbe Castelli fratres Humolarienses taliter obtinuisse probamus. Quia enim idem abbas ipsam advocationem alibi locare volebat et fere totius praedii illius redditus predictae ecclesiae scilicet Humolariensi a progenitoribus almifcae virginis Hune-gundis, quae illic corpore quiescit, obveniebat incommodum, nobis visum est, si quoquomodo laica persona eam usurparet nobisque molestiam inferret.^a Unde, communi accepto consilio, centum solidos appendimus ea scilicet pactione ut si quis, quod absit, malefactor quasi ex antecessorum dimissione eam invaserit, ipse iam memoratus abbas liberam et sine contradictione faciat. Actum est apud Castellum in capitulo fratrum Sancti Andreeae, praesente domino Gerardo episcopo necnon ipsius loci abbate Goffrido.^b Signum^c Eilfridi^d decani. Signum Adelardi praepositi. Signum Balduini praepositi. Signum Hugonis de Triscoldo.^e Signum Hugonis maioris^f de Solemnis. Signum^g Ioannis de Humuncis.^h Signum Aleraniⁱ militis. De nostris fuerunt: Rogerius de Fraxiniaco, Vivianus de Merificure, Ulmundus de Humblieris. Item signa monachorum Humolariensium qui illic interfuerunt: Erleboldi scilicet decani, Heldradi editui, et Ioannis praepositi.

^a inflerret a. ^b Goiffredo B, Goiffredo a. ^c et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BC.

^d Elfridi a. ^e Friscoldo a. ^f maloris BC. ^g Sancti BC. ^h Humuncaio a. ⁱ Aleranni C.

¹ Gerard II, bishop of Cambrai, was elected after 28 September 1076, ordained in 1079, and died 11 August 1092 (Le Glay, pp. 26–27). Geoffrey, abbot of Le Cateau, was first mentioned in 1090, although his predecessor, Baldric, had died in 1082 (ibid., p. 177). Since Erlebold, who appears here as dean of Homblières, became abbot in 1091 (see act no. 33), this act must fall between 1082 and 1091. Lat. 13911 and H 588 have the date 1090 in the margins.

² See act no. 34.

John, treasurer of Saint-Quentin, gives to Notre-Dame of Homblières the altar of Ur-villiers which he inherited. In return for this gift the monks will chant one mass for the dead each week as long as he lives, and after his death they will celebrate the anniversary of his death, as is the custom in this order for departed member monks. Also, on John's birthday as long as he lives and thereafter yearly on the anniversary of his death, the monks shall have one dish extra at their meal, and thirteen poor monks will be brought in and fed in his name.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 34r-v, with the title "De altari Urvillari consuetudinis ab hac ecclesia promissae Ioanni thesaurario et altari Sanctae Mariae." C: H 588, pp. 32-33, with the same title as B except for "Urvillari."

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, p. 131, "chariae Humolariensis" (incomplete). (b) Collette, 2:106, copy of a.

Trans.: Charles, 2:151-152.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:265. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti.^a Ego Ioannes, thesaurarius Sancti Quintini,^b sciens ecclesiae^c multo melius in coelo thesaurandum,^d notum^e ecclesiae volo praesentibus notum fore^f et posteris quod altare de Urvillari,^g quod iure antecessorum mei iuris erat proprietatis,^h Deo et sanctae Mariae Humolariensi ac beataeⁱ Hunegundi tradiderimus ob meae salutem animae^j perpetualiter habendum fidelibusque^k inibi Deo famulantibus ita et in vita sicuti et post mortem possidendum. Fratres igitur ipsius loci tam praesentibus meis quam Dei et ipsorum proveniente gratia me mutuo^l charitatis affectu complectentes,^m Deo et mihi, pro huius beneficii compensatione, promiserunt se donec viverem unam canturos missam pro defunctis singulis septimanis, et post meum ab hoc saeculo discessum, cum meae defunctionis dies instaret velⁿ anniversaria recurreret,^m mei obitus obsequium celebraturos, prout est ibi agere consuetum et^o in caeteris locis eiusdem ordinis et religionis^p stauerunt et illud quod quicumque de eodem conventu sacerdos esset, ipsa die vel infra octo dies in mei ipsius memoria, et speciali recordatione^q pro cunctis in Christo fidelibus Deo missae sacrificium offeret.^r Ordinavit etiam charitas eorum ut in die Trinitatis quae ante Domini adventum quibusdam in locis celebratur, die scilicet meae nativitatis quandiu viverem et in anniversaria mei transitus commemoratione, refectio eorum uno quolibet^s generali ferculo communiter et indesinenter^t ampliaretur et XIII pauperes fratres in nomine meo pascendi eadem^u die, quotannis, introducerentur. Si^v quis ergo huius meae concessionis donum subtraxerit et nulla intercedente pecunia concessum aliquo modo violare praesumpserit, perversor et direptor pauperum et ecclesiae Christi, iram sanctae Trinitatis punitus incurrat et his et omnibus sanctis apud supernum iudicem quaestoribus cum Iuda pecuniae dilapidatore sententiam et iudicium maledictionis aeternae sustineat,^w et ut hoc modernis^x ac futuris temporibus^y firmius habeatur, dignum duxi testibus subtilatis confirmare et in eorum praesentia super altare positum Deo et praelibatis sanctis contradere,^z contradendum delegare, delegandum in posterum confirmare. Signum eiudem Ioannis. Signum Fulconis p[re]positi sui. Signum^⁹ Roberti levitae. Signum^⁹ Anselmi subdiaconi. Ego Guido cancellarius Sancti Quintini adsui et recognovi. Actum anno incarnati verbi MXCIII, indictione II, epacta XII,^¹ concurrente VI, regnante Philippo anno XXXVI. Domino^² Erleboldo abate huius loci anno tertio.

^⁹ invocation omitted a. ^¹ Sancti Quintini thesaurarius B. ^² ecclesiae omitted a. ^³ thesaurizandum a. ^⁴ notum volo fore praesentibus for notum ecclesiae through fore a. ^⁵ Urtvillari B, Urbsvillari a. ^⁶ et proprietatis erat a. ^⁷ Mariae added B. ^⁸ animae salutem a. ^⁹ fidelibusque through complectentes replaced by cuius loci fratres me mutuo charitatis affecta complectentes a. ^{¹⁰} mortuo corrected to mutuo B. ^{¹¹} instaret vel omitted a. ^{¹²} occurreret a. ^{¹³} et through religionis omitted a. ^{¹⁴} et speciali recordatione omitted a. ^{¹⁵} offerret a. ^{¹⁶} quolibet omitted a. ^{¹⁷} et indesinenter omitted a. ^{¹⁸} eodem BC, corrected to eadem B. ^{¹⁹} Si through sustineat omitted a. ^{²⁰} modernis through temporibus omitted a. ^{²¹} a ends here. ^{²²} et in lieu of S(ignum) BC. ^{²³} The year 1094 has epact I. ^{²⁴} Domino changed to domno B, domno C.

^¹ Two dates were used for the regnal year of Philip I: one begins 23 May 1059, the other 4 August 1060 (Prou, Recueil des actes de Philippe I, pp. clxix-clxx). Philip's thirty-sixth year would be either 23 May 1094-22 May 1095 or 4 August 1095-3 August 1096. Therefore this charter is dated after 22 May 1094.

34

[Late eleventh century]^¹

A notice describes the legal remedies pursued by the monks of Homblères against Fulbert, who usurped an allod [of Dinche]^² claiming its advocacy by hereditary right. The monks showed him the charter of his relative Amalric confirming their rights, but to no avail, so they appealed to Rainer, count of Hainaut, for justice. The count took the abbot, Bernard, to the court of Geoffrey, duke [of Lorraine], to state his case, and on their return the count assembled all the notables of the region and required them to testify on oath as to Fulbert's right to that advocacy. When those consulted replied that Fulbert had not received it from the count, the count ordered him to make satisfaction to the abbot, which he did.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 41r-v, with the title "De advocatione non habenda apud Dedinium." C: H 588, p. 38, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Duvivier, 2:14-16, no. 5, copy of B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94. Guilhiermoz, p. 175, no. 13. Wauters, 11:57. Genicot, pp. 41-44.

Factum est autem post mortem Amolrici^³ ut quidam de progenie eius, Fulbertus nomine, penes^⁴ eius assertionem, instigante inimico saecularem ob cupiditatem, invasit idem alodium, dicens loci eiusdem advocationem iure haereditario sibi deberi. Quod cum audissemus provocavimus eum ad satisfactionem ostendentes scriptum, ut diximus, in morte Amolrici confirmatum. Illo autem in sua malitia perseverante et nullatenus resipiscere volente, coacti adivimus comitem Rainerum Hasnonensem¹ quatenus Dei pro amore Christique genitricis Mariae nobis iustitiam de nostrae terrae iniusto pervasore faceret. Comes qui tunc temporis ad curiam Godefridi ducis obsequendi gratia proficiscens, abbatem nostrum dominum Bernardum secum duxerat ut videlicet praefato duci rem omnem intimaret, hac² de re ut ipse idem comes commonitus et adiuratus³ sub fidelitate quadam, ut debebat, causam sagaciter perscrutando, loco nostro restauraret sua. Quid plura [?] Reversus itaque praedictus comes a curte ducis cum abbatem nostro, coadunavit omnes maiores natu et pares sui comitatus; obtestans⁴ eos, praesente Fulberto, sub sacramento sibi facto, quatenus veritatem non celarent et falsitatem non dicerent: utrum praedictus Fulbertus illam advocationem haberet, habet⁵ namque lex mundana ut nullus⁶ alicuius portionis advocationem invadat absque permissu possidentis et ipsius patriae principis satrapae.⁷ Quo consulti, responderunt nullatenus scire se eum accepisse illam advocationem a comite. Tunc⁸ comes: Accede ergo, inquit, Fulberte et satisfac Deo inprimis et eius matri sanctae Mariae per manus abbatis sui, atque insuper hac iniusta pervasione in procinctu potestatis meae facta. Datoque vadi-monio et satisfactione peracta, promisit coram omnibus qui aderant ex illo die se advocationem non quaesiturum super alodium illud.

¹ Almorici changed to Amolrici B. ² pones BC. ³ Hasnoensem corrected to Hasnonensem B.

⁴ Duvivier (p. 15, n. 4) proposes instead hac de re ipse comes . . . adiuratus fuit ut. . . . ⁵ obtestavit changed to obtestans B. ⁶ habetque corrected to habet B. ⁷ nullius BC. ⁸ se changed to tunc B.

¹ There are two problems of dating: when the event occurred and when this notice was written. Bernard became abbot of Homblières after 25 August 1043 (GC, 9:1076), by which time Rainer V, count of Hainaut, was already dead (he probably died in 1039: Vanderkindere, 18:882–883). The next count was Herman of Mons (d. 1051). Vercauteren (pp. 656–657) argues that the name of the abbot is incorrect in this text, and that it might have been Waleran (1021/1027–1043) who appealed to Geoffrey, duke of Upper Lorraine (1044–1069), who had been associated in power since 1033 with his father, Gothelen, duke of Upper and Lower Lorraine. This argument requires that the writer of the notice erred in respect to his own abbot and that the appeal was made between 1033 and 1039 (when Count Rainer died). Newman argued rather that the name of the count of Hainaut was incorrect, and that Abbot Bernard appealed to Duke Geoffrey between August 1043 (when Bernard became abbot) and April 1044 (when Geoffrey succeeded his father).

The second problem is the date of the notice itself. Lat. 13911 and H 588 have marginal dates of 1040, and a later hand added to H 588 “between 1043 and 1049.” Genicot (p. 41) dates the notice before 1060 mainly on the grounds of vocabulary. For example, the word satrapa is unusual, although it does appear in another act here and in other narrative texts (see n. 3). Vercauteren (pp. 657–659) proposes a date of 1043/1044–1049/1051 because he identifies the author of the notice on the basis of stylistic peculiarities as the monk who wrote the Translatio altere sanctae Hunegundis of 1051/1060. Newman thought the monks preserved an oral tradition of the events for many years after the death of Abbot Bernard (before 1051) and therefore dated this notice to the late-eleventh century. Such a late dating makes sense for several reasons. The monks already had a charter of rights and wanted not a written confirmation from the count but rather pressure on Fulbert to desist his usurpation; thus a written account was unnecessary in Abbot Bernard's time. More important, a related act dealing with Dinche (act no. 32), in which the usurpation of the advocacy by a layman is at issue, can be dated to 1082–1092. It would appear that an event in the 1080s elicited both act no. 32 and the undated memoir here.

² The name of the allod does not appear in the text; Dinche is given in the cartulary rubric.

³ The expression ipsius patriae principis satrapae may surprise at first, but Dudo of Saint-Quentin, writing his history of the dukes of Normandy in the first quarter of the eleventh century, uses satrapa a number of times. For example, Herbert II, count of Vermandois, is called satrapa principum (De moribus et actis primorum Normanniae ducum, p. 194). It is not impossible that Dudo's history was known to the monks of Homblières. William of Jumièges, ca. 1070, borrowed heavily from Dudo but seems not to have used that word, although Robert of Torigny, interpolating William of Jumièges ca. 1149, writes fili scilicet satraparum Normanniae (Gesta normannorum ducum, p. 268). Also, an act of Homblières of 1106/1107 (no. 35) reads Ego Werricus miles cognomento Satrapa. Du Cange cites the word after the charter of Hugh Capet and Robert II of 991 at Compiègne for Saint-Père of Melun (RHF, 10:559–560, no. 10: it is known only from modern copies).

35

Homblières

[1106 January 9–1107 January 8]¹

The knight Werric, surnamed Satrapa [Governor],² and his only son Gerard, having considered the vanity and fragility of the world and wishing to put greater store in heaven than earth, gave all their possessions to Notre-Dame of Homblières.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 57r–v, with the title “De rebus quas tradidit Werricus huic ecclesiae pro se et Gerardo filio suo.” C: H 588, pp. 52–53, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, pp. 97–98 (extract).

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:370. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ego Werricus,³ miles cognomento Satrapa, misericordia Dei Christianus et quantum ad saeculi dignitatem nobilissimis ortus natalibus⁴ considerans saeculum hoc lubricum, vanum et fragile diversis casuum fluctibus male agitari, continuis etiam malorum incrementis paulatim deteriorari, re vera autem multo melius in caelo decernens quam in terra thesaurizari, commodum duxi Christum potius malle sequi quam in hac valle plorationis male valle diutius peregrinari, dominico etiam roboratus exemplo, qui suis fidelibus in Evangelio pro terrenis centuplum in praesenti insuper vitam aeternam in futuro retributionem repromittit. Haec omnia caduca et vana funditusque ruitura pro certo sciens fore filio meo nomine Gerardo, quem habebam unicum, mecum assumpto, postposita saeculi pompa eiusque sarcina nec mora pervenimus ad beatissimae Dei genitricis Mariae famosum locum, cui antiquitas¹ Humolarias indidit vocabulum, illicque quidquid possidebamus indominicatum, in mancipiis, in ancillis, in praediis, in fundis, in aquis, in pratis, in nemoribus et sylvis et in omni nostra supellectili, facta solemnni donatione tradidimus Deo nos metipsos mancipantes regulari vinculo. Quapropter notum fieri volumus² tam praesentibus quam futuris idcirco hoc nostrum testamentum velle nos mandare litteris, ne forte ab hodierna die et deinceps aliquis filius Belial pervertere conetur, quod absit, quod constat firmatum sub testibus idoneis. Quod si quis amodo praesumpserit, in primis iram incurrat omnipotentis Dei aeternaeque subiaceat maledictioni, centumque auri libras inferat scrinio regis, et non accipiat quod iniuste repetitur, quia pervertere voluit quae pro remedio animarum nostrarum anchora nostrae bonae voluntatis stabilivit. Actum est hoc in monasterio Humolariensi ante altare intemeratae virginis Mariae per saecula protectricis et nostrae Dominae. Domino Maszelino huius loci tunc temporis venerabili abbate anno sexagesimo, Philippo rege regnante, dominoque Baldrico Noviomensium episcopo octavo praesulatus sui anno pontificatus.

¹ Verricus B. ² ortus nobilissimis parentibus C. ³ antiquitus C. ⁴ volumus notum fieri B.

¹ The reference to the sixtieth year of Abbot Mazelin is puzzling. It cannot refer either to his age or to his years as abbot. Since lat. 13911 and H 588 are in agreement on the reading, they must be repeating an error in the medieval cartulary. The only sure element of the date is provided by Baldric, who was consecrated bishop of Noyon on 9 January 1099; his eighth year was 9 January 1106–8 January 1107. Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give a date of 1105.

² See act no. 34, n. 3.

Abbot Aldo and the monks of Notre-Dame of Homblières, with the approval of Simon, bishop of Noyon, cede to Saint-Fursy of Péronne and their dean Lambert² a part of the allod of Hairiscurt,³ on condition that the church of Homblières receive four solidi annually on tithe day, that is, 9 October.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 82r-v, with the title “De annuo censu quatuor solidorum annuatim persolvendorum huic ecclesiae VII idus octobris.” C: H 588, p. 69, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Charles, 2:188. Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ego Aldo, Dei gratia Sanctae Mariae Humolariensis^a ecclesiae abbas, et omnis grex mihi^b commissus tam praesentibus quam futuris. Notificamus quod dominus Lambertus, ecclesiae Peronensis^c decanus, cum quibusdam canonicis ad nos accessit petentes sibi dari sub annuo censu eam partem alodii de Hairiscurt . . .^d nostrae proprietatis extruserat hactenus.^e Nos vero inde consulti utile reperimus eorum petitionibus annuere, consilio tamen et favore domini nostri Simonis Noviomensis episcopi. Id itaque laudantibus per ventum est in praesentiam eiusdem pontificis, quo authore assensu^f totius nostri conventus, praedicti alodii pars^g concessa est ecclesiae Peronensi tali conditione ut idem Lambertus, ecclesiae^h Peronensis decanus, vel quicumque eius successor fuerit, ecclesiae nostrae quatuor solidos denariorum annuatimⁱ die decimata persolvat, id est^j VII idus octobris, qui terminus si praeterierit insolito necesse fuerit fratribus propensius mittere, misso statim est a praedicto decano sufficientia victus accipere. Hanc conventionem suffragantibus personis quae subscriberunt, dominus Simon episcopus autoritate confirmavit, ne quis temerare praesumat anathemate munivit. Signum domini Simonis episcopi. Signum Gerardi decani ecclesiae Sancti Quintini. Signum Goiffredi^k cantoris eiusdem ecclesiae. Signum Hugonis cancellarii Noviomensis. Signum Gerardi magistri. Signum Odonis canonici. Signum Lamberti decani Peronensis.^l Signum Gerardi cancellarii Peronensis. Signum Rainieri canonici. Signum Goiffredi magistri. Signum Radulfi canonici. Signum monachi: Aldonis abbatis. Signum Gerardi prioris. Signum Ioannis subprioris. Signum Lamberti secretarii. Signum Heriberti. Signum Gerberti camerarii. Signum fratres Arnulfi. Actum anno incarnationis Dominicae MCXXIV, indictione V, episcopante domino Simone anno secundo.

^aHumoliarensis B. ^b mihi grex B. ^c Peronensis ecclesiae B. ^d BC indicate an omission.

^ehactenus extruserat B. ^f assensu B. ^g pars alodii B. ^h ecclesiae omitted B. ⁱ anuatim B. ^j id est added above B. ^k Goffredi C. ^l Peronensis decani B.

¹ The year 1124 has indiction II, not V. The second year of the episcopacy of Simon, bishop of Noyon, cannot be determined with certainty. His predecessor, Lambert, died 7 July 1123 (GC, 9:1000). Simon witnessed an act of Ralph, archbishop of Reims (Bernard and Bruel, Recueil des chartes de Cluny, 5:324, no. 3965) that can be dated to before 3 August 1123 (it is dated 1123 and the fifteenth year of King Louis VI: Louis was crowned 3 August 1108 [Prou, Recueil des actes de Philippe I, pp. xxxvi-xxxvii], making the fifteenth year 3 August 1122-2 August 1123). Since ordinations were performed on Sundays, Simon must have been ordained on 13, 20, or 27 July 1123. The second year of his episcopacy at the earliest was 13 July 1124-12 July 1125, which would put this act of Homblières after 13 July, and perhaps after 27 July, 1124.

² Lambert, dean of Saint-Fursy of Péronne, appeared from 1117 through 1130 (Newman, Charters of St-Fursy, nos. 10-11, 13-14, 16-17); 1124 (act of Simon, bishop of Noyon, Amiens, B.M., MS 1077, Cartulaire d'Arrouaise, fol. 90r, and copies in Coll. Picardie, vol. 234, fol. 209v, and Coll. Moreau, vol. 51, fol. 118); and 1126 (as witness to an act of Ralph, count of Vermandois, for Saint-Barthélemy of Noyon, in Coll. Picardie, vol. 255, fol. 146, and Coll. Moreau, vol. 52, fol. 107).

³ Hairiscurt appears to be a correct reading, although a modern Héricourt cannot be located. In 1677 François Vestier, dean of Saint-Fursy, cited an original act at Saint-Fursy from 1124 (in Newman, Charters of St-Fursy, p. 33, no. 14) by which Saint-Fursy received partes allodii de Hairiscourt. In 1164 Saint-Fursy had four hospites with arable land there (ibid., pp. 43-47, no. 28, and also pp. viii-ix for a discussion of possible forgery in this bull of Alexander III). Mont-Saint-Quentin also had an allod at Hairicurt in 1190 (see the forthcoming edition of Newman's Charters of Mont-Saint-Quentin).

37

Noyon

1124 [before November 16]¹

Simon, bishop of Noyon and Tournai, frees the altars of Saint-Etienne, Landricourt, Fresnoy-le-Grand, and Seboncourt, which were long held from the bishop of Noyon, who selected their priests. Abbot Aldo and the monks of Homblières henceforth will choose the priests, although the latter will remain under the administrative control of the bishop. In return for this concession, the abbot will acquit episcopal and synodal rights to the bishop, according to the ancient custom, at the annual feast of Saint Remi [1 October].

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 33r-v, with the title “Concessio personatus altarium nostrorum a domino [changed to domno] Simone episcopo.” C: H 588, p. 32, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 41, “e schedis eorumdem.” (b) Collette, 2:259-260, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny 2:524. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. • Simon, Dei gratia^b Noviomensis ecclesiae atque Tornacensis episcopus, ecclesiae sanctae Mariae^c Humolariensis^d coenobii Addoni venerabili abbatii et caeteris fratribus qui in hoc monasterio sub monastica professione degunt tam praesentibus quam successuris^e in perpetuum. Boni pastoris est oves sibi commissas diligere et sustentare, et maxime religiosis favere monasteriis. Sane res quae ecclesiis conferuntur oblationes sunt fidelium, pretia¹ peccatorum, patrimonia pauperum; eas nimirum ecclesiis quibus concessae sunt ad usus fratrum firmare, sovere et augere paterna sollicitudine debemus. Tibi igitur Aldo,² abbas venerabilis, tuisque successoribus et ecclesiae tuae quaedam altaria quae a Noviomensi episcopo a longo tempore sub personatu tenuerat, deinceps libera et absque personatu in perpetuum³ possidenda concedimus, videlicet altare sancti Stephani apud Humolarias⁴ cum capella et appenditiis suis, altare de Landercurt⁵ cum capellis suis de⁶ Fraineto⁷ et Seguncurte cum⁸ appenditiis suis. Singulis⁹ annis in festivitate Sancti Remigii, pro his¹⁰ altaribus, tu et successores tui episcopo Noviomensi et ministris suis episcopalia et synodalia iura secundum antiquam consuetudinem persolvetis,¹¹ debitam pariter iustitiam ac reverentiam exhibentes; presbiteri qui eisdem altaribus deservient ad arbitrium abbatis et ecclesiae idonei constituantur, qui tamen ab episcopo seu ministris suis curam suscipiant et nihilominus debitam iustitiam atque reverentiam persequantur. Haec ut firma vobis¹² in perpetuum et inconvulsa permaneant, archidiaconi nostri Hugonis assensu et clericorum nostrorum consilio, praesenti pagina sub assignatis testibus confirmavimus¹³ et sigilli nostri impressione signavimus.¹⁴ Actum Noviom,¹⁵ anno Dominicae incarnationis MCXXIII, indictione II. Signum Simonis Noviomensis atque Tornacensis episcopi. Signum¹⁶ Hugonis archidiaconi. Signum Fulcheri decani. Signum Gualcheri thesaurarii. Signum Aymeri p[re]a[post]osi. Signum Haganonis¹⁷ cantoris. Ego Hugo cancellarius subscripsi.

¹ Amen added a. ² gratia omitted B. ³ sanctae Mariae added B. ⁴ Humoliarensis B. ⁵ salutem added a. ⁶ precia changed to pretia B. ⁷ Tibi qui B, Tibique C. ⁸ Addo C. ⁹ posternam crossed out B. ¹⁰ Humolarium a. ¹¹ Laudercurt a. ¹² de omitted BC. ¹³ Franaito changed to Fre-naito C. ¹⁴ et BC. ¹⁵ Ut singulis a. ¹⁶ his changed to hi C. ¹⁷ persolvatis a. ¹⁸ nobis BC. ¹⁹ confirmavimus changed to confirmamus B, confirmamus a. ²⁰ signavimus changed to signamus B, signamus a. ²¹ Novioni B. ²² et in lieu of S(ignum) preceding names of witnesses BCa ²³ Haguanonis C.

¹ The bull of Calixtus II of 16 November 1124 (act no. 38) includes this transaction.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 4r-v, with the title "Privilegium Calixti papae, anno 1124." C: H 588, pp. 5-6, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Robert, Etude sur les actes du pape Calixte II, appendix, pp. cxxxii-cxxxiv, no. 360, copy of B. (b) Robert, Bullaire du pape Calixte II, 2:352-354, no. 517, copy of B. (c) Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, pp. 271-272, no. 30 (formulas abbreviated), based on BC.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93. Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 7173.

Calixtus episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilecto filio Aldoni, abbatи monasterii Humolariensis eiusque successoribus regulariter substituendis in perpetuum. Aequitatis et iustitiae ratio persuadet nos ecclesiis perpetuam rerum suarum firmitatem et vigoris inconcussi munimenta conserre. Non enim convenit Christi servos divino famulatui deditos perversis pravorum hominum molestiis agitari et temerariis quorumlibet vexationibus fatigari. Similiter et praedia, usibus caelestium secretorum dicata, nullas potentum angarias, nihil debent a clericis vel laicis extraordinarium sustinere. Cum igitur communis omnium ecclesiarum cura nobis concessa sit, tuis dilecte in Christo fili Aldo abbas, iustis petitionibus assensum praebentes, Humolariense beatae Dei genitricis Mariae monasterium cui, Domino authore, praesides, cum omnibus ad ipsum pertinentibus sub apostolicae sedis tutelam suscipimus ac beati Petri patrocinio communimus. Statuimus enim ut quaecumque praedia, quascumque possessiones idem coenobium in praesenti legitime possidet vel in futurum, largiente Deo, iuste atque canonice poterit adipisci, firma tibi tuisque successoribus et illibata permaneant, in quibus haec propriis nominibus duximus exprimenda, videlicet villam Humolarias ab omni exactione et debito saecularis potestatis liberam, excepto pastu et sue consulisi;¹ villam Curcellis cum terris, hortis, aquis et duobus molendinis; Merulphi curtem cum suis pertinentiis; Cauviniacum cum appenditiis suis; Abbatis villam cum appenditiis suis; Castelliacum super Isaram flumen cum pertinentiis suis; Ludolficurtem et villam Fraisindum cum pertinentiis suis; Frisiam cum terra arabili et furno cum pertinentiis suis. Praeterea altare Sancti Stephani apud Humolarias cum capella et appenditiis suis; altare de Urvillari cum capella sua; Cerisy^a et appenditiis suis; altare de Kahuneugi^b cum pertinentiis suis; altare de Landelcurt cum capellis suis; Fraisnedo et Seguncurte et appenditiis suis. Pro his vos altaribus singulis annis in festivitate Sancti Remigii, tu et successores tui episcopo Noviomensi et ministris suis episcopalia et synodalia iura secundum vestram antiquam consuetudinem persolvatis, debitam pariter iustitiam atque reverentiam exhibentes. Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat⁴ idem monasterium temere perturbare aut eius possessiones auferre vel ablatas retinere, minuere vel temerariis vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integra conserventur, eorum pro quorum sustentatione et gubernatione concessa sunt, usibus omnimodis profutura. Obeunte te, nunc eius loci abbate vel tuorum quolibet successorum nullus ibi qualibet subreptionis⁵ astutia seu violentia paeponatur, sed quem fratres communi consensu vel fratribus pars consilii sanioris secundum Dei timorem et beati Benedicti regulam providerint eligendum. Consuetudines quoque quas ipsi fratres habent secundum beati Benedicti constitutiones, nemo eas immutando praesumat illas⁶ perturbare. Si qua igitur⁷ in futurum ecclesiastica saecularisve persona hanc nostrae confirmationis paginam sciens contra eam temere venire tentaverit, secundo tertiove⁸ communita, si non satisfactione congrua emendaverit, potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat reamque se divino iudicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate agnoscat et a sacratissimo corpore et sanguine Dei et Domini redemptoris nostri Iesu Christi aliena fiat atque in extremo examine districtae ultioni subiaceat. Cunctis autem⁹ eidem loco iustas servantibus sit pax Domini nostri Iesu Christi, quatenus et hic fructum bonae actionis percipient et apud districtum iudicem praemia aeternae pacis inveniant. Amen, Amen, Amen. Ego Calixtus catholicae ecclesiae episcopus. [monogramma] Datum Laterani per manum Aimerici¹⁰ sanctae romanae ecclesiae diaconi cardinalis et cancellarii, XVI calendas decembris, indictione III, MCXXIV anno incarnationis Dominicae, pontificatus autem domini Calixti II papae anno sexto.

⁴ Cyrisi B. ⁵ rest of sentence omitted c. ⁶ surreptionis B. ⁷ illos B. ⁸ igit B, rest of sentence omitted c. ⁹ tertiove perhaps added in margin of C. ¹⁰ iura C. ¹¹ Almerici C, Himerici changed to Almerici B.

¹ Probably the count of Vermandois. This phrase is explained by an entry in the list of manses (act no. 44, chap. 21), which reads in part: "salvis tamen consuetudinibus praefati consulis, has enim consuetudines apud nos habent: XXX solidos pro pastu."

² Newman identified Kahuneugi with Cugny; perhaps the Cauviniacus already mentioned in the text was not Cugny but Choigny.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 60, with the title "De quinque solidis persolvendis a clericis de Cusciaco." C: H 588, p. 54, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine summae et unius Deitatis. Noverit universitas fidelium tam posteriorum quam praesentium quod venerabilis vir Lucas, abbas canonicorum Sanctae Mariae ecclesiae^a Cusciacensis, expetierit^b praesentiam domini Hugonis abbatis ecclesiae Humolariensis humiliter deposcens ut pro Dei amore concederet ecclesiae sibi commissae partem nemoris quod dicitur Campasuarus ad aedificandum locum habitationis ibidem servorum Dei. Dominus autem abbas Hugo eius petitioni annuit, consilio tamen et favore fratrum sibi commissorum. Praefatus vero Lucas ut haec concessio rata et firma consistenter sub censu quinque solidorum in festo Sancti Remigii quotannis persolvendorum, eam se suosque successores tenere constituit. Huius rei testes sunt Evrardus, miles de Duilliaco, Gerardus Walterus de Hamo, Ioannes camerarius, Rainaldus maior. Actum anno verbi incarnationis MCXXXII.

^a ecclesia C. ^b expeterit corrected by a later hand to expetierit B.

¹ Lucas, the first abbot of Cuissy, received the foundation charter from Bartholomew of Vir, bishop of Laon, in 1117 (text in Lepaige, p. 461; Hugo, 1:probationes, p. 62; and Florival, pp. 284-286, no. 15).

² A confirmation by Baldwin, bishop of Noyon, for Notre-Dame of Cuissy in 1152 mentions "quidquid etiam nemoris sui inter Coincourt et Campasnier" (in Colliette, 3:124-126). The name is perpetuated by the Grand and the Petit Campigny (com. Neuville-en-Beine). In 1224 Homblières still had possessions at "Neuville, which is situated in the woods of Beine" (act no. 117).

40

Saint-Quentin	1133
---------------	------

Simon, bishop of Noyon and Tournai, concedes the altar of Marcy to Hugh [I], abbot of Homblières.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 35r-v, with the title "Simonis episcopi de altari de Marci." C: H 588, p. 34, with the same title as B, except for "Marcy."

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 42, "chartae eorumdem." (b) Colliette, 2:263, incomplete copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 2:609. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Docente ac suggestente Spiritu sancto, didicimus fratribus Deo^a militantibus opem miserationis affiri^t debere, eisque potissimum quos mundi flore calcato divinae contemplationi videmus ardentius inhaerere. Qui enim optimam partem elegere, optima merentur ab optimis impetrare. Eapropter ego Simon, Dei^c gratia Noviomensis et Tornacensis episcopus, haec^d praesentes scire volumus et futuros: venerabilem Humolariensis ecclesiae abbatem Hugonem,^e bonae opinionis ac religionis virum, cum eiusdem loci fratribus nos humiliter adiisse utque ecclesiae suae^f longa^g temporis inquietudine, super quam credi possit, attritae in tantorum malorum remedium,^h altare de Marciⁱ perpetuo^j concederemus, multis modis exorasse. Tuam itaque, reverende fili Hugo, plenam rationis petitionem^k attendentes praesertim quod inibi^l per te monasticus ordo refloruerat, condescendere petitioni tuae dignum duximus, tibique^m ac successoribus tuis in perpetuum salvo pontificali ac synodali iure, altare postulatum benigne concessimus.ⁿ Si quis ergo concessionem celebriter et laudabiliter actam vel abnegare, quod absit, vel labefactare praesumpserit, anathematis eum vinculis obligamus, apicibusque litterarum mandatarum cum testium tum^o sigilli nostri impressione stipulari non absurdum censuimus. Signum Simoni episcopi. Signum Hugonis archidiaconi. Signum Gerardi decani canonicorum Sancti Quintini. Signum domini^p Heriberti abbatis Sancti Praeiecti.^q Signum^r Goffridi^s cantoris. Signum Anselmi presbyteri. Signum Evrardi. Signum Roberti diaconorum. Signum Nevelonis. Signum^t Oddonis^u canonicorum. Actum apud Sanctum Quintinum anno incarnationis verbi MCXXXIII, indictione XI,^v domino Simone pontificante, Ludovico rege imperante. Domino autem Iesu Christo ad nutrum suurn omnia disponente, cui est^w honor et gloria in saecula saeculorum. Amen. Ego Hugo cancellarius subscripsi.

* domino changed by a later hand to Deo B. * afferre BC. * dicta a. * scire a. * Hugonem omitted a. / suae ecclesiae C. * longa through remedium omitted a. * Marcy C, Marchi a. * in perpetuum C. / petitionem added above B. * inibi omitted a. / itaque tibi a.  concessimus changed to concedimus C. * cum BC. * domini changed to domni B, domni Ca. * Proiecti B. * et BC. * Goyfredi a. * Odonis a. / II a. * et a.

A: Original. Seal of "yellow wax. Seal of a bishop badly broken." This charter was used by Peigné-Delacourt but has since disappeared. B: Oise, A.D., H 4079, Cartulaire d'Ourscamp, p. 18, without the witnesses, copy of the 13th c. C: B.N., lat. 5473, Cartulaire d'Ourscamp, fol. 100, defective copy of the 17th c.

Pub.: (a) Peigné-Delacourt, pp. 50-51, no. 78, copy of AB (text given here).

In nomine summe Deitatis. Ego Hugo, Dei gratia abbas et humilis minister ecclesie Humolariensis, notum volo fieri universitati fidelium presentium ac futurorum quod dominus et venerabilis pastor noster Symon, Noviomensis et Tornacensis episcopus, nostram rogavit humilitatem ut pro Dei et sui amore concederemus domino^a abbati Gualeranno et fratribus de Ursicampo terram ecclesie nostre pertinenter, terram scilicet Manessiarum et Vadulorum. Nos vero sanam eius petitionem debita humilitate suscipientes, prefatam terram, terram scilicet Manessiarum et Vadulorum, a fossato Gerardino usque ad territorium Ruminiacense, tam alodium quam terram mansualem,¹ ecclesie sancte Marie de Ursicampo, ex consilio et pleno assensu totius nostri capituli, ex integro cum omnibus appendiciis suis concessimus ac immutabiliter contradidimus absolute ac perpetue libertatis iure possidendum. Ipse vero prefatus episcopus ecclesie nostre, quam pio pastoris diligebat affectu minorationem non sustinens, verum et bone voluntatis nostre condignam recompensationem faciens, altare de Marce nobis tradit iure perpetuo possidendum. Ut ergo tam pia elemosinarum largitio et tam devota traditio in posterum inconcussa permaneat, sigilli sancte Marie Humolarense impressione et testium qui audierunt et benignum assensum prebuerunt et viderunt, assignatione confirmamus et anathematis sententia innodamus. Actum Humolarias in communi capitulo, anno incarnationis Dominice MCXXXV, inductione XIII. Signum^b Lamberti prioris. Signum Nicholai. Signum Petri. Signum Eligii. Signum Gerardi prepositi. Signum Gerardi helemosinarii. Signum Alchui. Signum Arnulfi decani. Signum Arnulfi sacriste. Signum Helduini huc usque senioris. Signum Symonis diaconi. Signum Gozzumi subdiaconi. Signum Benedicti. Signum Balthulsi. Signum Walteri. Signum Rogeri. Signum Elvardi canonici prioris de Margellis. Signum Agelini canonici de Margellis. Signum Huberti canonici de Aroasia. Signum Clementis subprioris de Ursicampo. Signum Roberti marescali de Ursicampo.

^a domno a. ^b C begins the witness list with Signum Hugonis abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Iohannes sacerdotis.

¹ Du Cange (4:244) cites only one example of terra mansualis, an act of 1127 of Gerard, dean of the chapter of Saint-Quentin.

42

[1136, 1124 November 17-1145 August 18]¹

Abbot Hugh [I] of Homblières announces an exchange of property with Rabold of Péronne.² Rabold recovers the water [of Frise]³ that his wife's ancestors had given to Homblières. In return he gives, with the approval of his wife and son, half of the oven located in the horse market of Péronne,⁴ 6 s. annually, one hundred eels annually three days before Christmas, and permission for Homblières to grind its grain at his mills without charge.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 89, with the title "De commutatione aquae pro medietate furni Peronensis." C: H 588, p. 72, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ego Hugo, Dei gratia humilis procurator ecclesiae Humolariensis, notum fieri volo universitati fidelium tam posteriorum quam praesentium quod Raboldus Peronensis a me et a fratribus nostris expetierit commutationem quandam fieri^a de aqua quam ecclesia nostra quiete possidebat, ab antecessoribus uxor eius pro remedio animalium suarum sanctae Mariae traditam. Ut autem hoc ei unanimiter concederemus dedit nobis,^b concedente uxore sua et filio, dedit,^b inquam, in commutationem medietatem^c furni apud Peronam siti in mercato ubi equi venduntur.^d Et quia^e hoc minus valebat quam quod a nobis petebat, fecit nobis pacem annuam exhibitione pretii sui sex solidis quod ecclesia nostra debebat quotannis ecclesiae Sancti Quintini de Monte, praeterea in conventione habuit singulis annis soluturum nobis centum anguillas triduo ante natalem Domini, et propriam annonam nostram de curte nostra in molendinis suis faciet moli loco convenienti sine molitura. Ut autem haec rata permanere valeant, subscriptione chirographi et impressione sigilli nostri ea corroboravimus subnotatis veracibus testibus: Heriberto, Ioanne, Gerardo, Arnulfo, Harduino caeterisque fratribus nostris quorum favore actum est.

^a sibi corrected to fieri B. ^b nobis through dedit added B ^c medium partem in lieu of medietatem B. ^d venduntur equi B. ^e quid corrected to quia B

¹ The terminus ad quem is 18 August 1145, when Eugenius III confirmed the possessions of Homblières (act no. 53). The terminus a quo is the date that Hugh I became abbot of Homblières (after 16 November 1124). Of the five monks who witnessed here, four appeared as witnesses in an act for Saint-Fursy of Péronne after 13 July 1124 (act no. 36). The inventory of revenues (act no. 44, chap. 26) mentions this charter but no other transaction after 1136, therefore this act is probably of ca. 1136 and by Hugh I, in which case it would be the earliest chirograph in this collection. H 588 has the date "about 1134" in the margin.

² Called a knight in the inventory of revenues (act no. 44, chap. 26) and the papal bull of 1145 (act no. 53).

³ Eugenius III's bull (act no. 53) states that the water was at Frise.

⁴ This is the earliest mention of the horse market in Péronne. Today it is rue du Marché aux Chevaux.

43

1137

Wildric Hauart exchanges his wife's land of Martis¹ for Homblières's land of Helières² and six modii annually of wheat and oats at the measure of Saint-Quentin for the next thirty years. His agent will come to the monastery with sacks for the grain on All Saints' Day [1 November]. His wife's father and brothers swear to uphold this agreement, and her brother Escot will take an oath to it when he becomes a knight. Burgard³ and Alcildis, from whom Wildric held his land, approve.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 83, with the title "De commutatione terrae de Helieres pro terra Marchioniasi." C: H 588, p. 70, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Notum sit fidelibus universis tam posteris quam modernis Wildricum cognomento Hauart terram de Martis quam tenebat ex parte uxoris suae . . .^a concedentibus pro terra nostra de . . .^a quae eo quod caeteris suis possessionibus confinior videbatur et sua nostris, e converso, nobis in commutationem dedisse. Et quoniam aliquantisper sua melior esse videbatur, ut utrinque consonaret aequitas, ad censem quatuor modios frumenti et duos avenae ad mensuram Sanquintinensem^b ab hoc anno qui est ab incarnatione Domini MCXXXVII usque ad XXX annos suscepimus,^c tali pacto quod in festo Omnium Sanctorum serviens eius huc veniat cum saccis^d et mensurabuntur ei praedicta mensura et nos mittamus ad Ribodomontem. Idem etiam nobis concessit quod si usque ad terminum XXX annorum in eadem terra nemus aut bruserias sartaverimus, sartum cunctis diebus sive remanebit ecclesiae ad garbam nonam distinctum; etiam ei pasturam eiusdem terrae tam animalibus quam servientibus nostris liberam concessit, adeo quod si quandocumque pro quolibet accidenti controversia inter nos et ipsum^e occurrit, non alias nisi in curia Humolariensi placitum possit transferri. Haec autem firmiter tenenda sacramento firmaverunt idem Waldricus^f et pater uxoris eius, Radulfi Piler, et filii^g eius Clarembaldus et Ramaldus. Iuraverunt etiam quod Escot cum miles factus fuerit idem iurare faceret.¹ Burgardus etiam et uxor eius Alcildis de quorum feodo terram tenebat benigne concesserunt.

* an omission indicated in BC. ¹ Sanquintiniensem B. ² usque ad BC, corrected to ab C. ³ indemnisse added by a later hand C. ⁴ saccis changed to sacciis B. ⁵ et ipsum added above B. ⁶ Wlrdicrus at the opening of the act. ⁷ filius C. ⁸ facere B.

¹ Called Marchioniasum in the cartulary rubric.

² The land is identified in the cartulary rubric.

³ Perhaps Burchard of Guise.

44

[1136-1146]¹

A two-part inventory of lands and revenues of Homblières first identifies the gifts received by the abbey and their donors—among whom are Oilbald Porell and Evrard Calvus, who became monks there, Count Herbert IV of Vermandois, the brothers Robert of Marle and Guy of Coucy, and several knights—and then lists the rents and payments owed by tenants in the abbey's villages.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 64-67 with the title "De mansis pertinentibus huic ecclesiae."

C: H 588, pp. 56-60, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Cap. 1. In Curcellis quae cuncta habemus vel a quibus acceperimus huic operi inserere necessarium duximus. In primis Hildeberis cum filiis suis, Rogero Mal. filio et Rothardo, quidquid possidebant apud Curcellas iuxta Fontem Somonae Deo et Sanctae Mariae pro animarum suarum remedio largiti sunt. Deinde Levulfus, Rogerus, Robertus, filii² Dodae, simili zelo sororum suarum, accensi pari consensu, quidquid in eodem vico habebant huic ecclesiae devote tradiderunt. Postea Rainerus Gusiensis qui Dodam, Oilboldi³ cognomento Porelli uxorem, duxerat,² monasticae normae tonsuram atque habitum suscipiens, medium partem terrae extra et infra eumdem vicum sitae, filiis suis Erberto videlicet atque Roberto pariter laudantibus, huic similiter loco voluntarie concesserunt,⁴ eo scilicet⁴ tenore quod quatuor denariorum libras proinde habuerint. Nec multo post patre eorum adhuc in hoc coenobio vivente regulariter, ut praescriptum est,⁵ aliam⁶ medium partem, XII nummorum libris iterum sumptis super altare sanctae Mariae, perpetualiter habenda ramo et cespite, sicut mos est, coram testibus tradiderunt. Interea Mainardus de Issimaco⁷ et Hervinus eius filius XII denarios, quos ibidem in beneficium habebant, pro suis animabus, huius loci sanctis dederunt. Praeterea Robertus de Halut consuetudines quas ibi haereditario iure tenebat pro fratre suo Oiboldo,⁴ qui ad huius ecclesiae portum de mundi huius naufragio confugit, huic loco benevolus cum matris consensu tradidit. His ita⁵ factis, Helvinus et Tedzo, fratres Eringardae,⁶ eiusdem Helvini uxore et filiis eorum annuentibus, duos campos qui in medio culturarum nostrarum circa eumdem vicum erant tam pro cuiusdam anathematis emendatione quam pro animarum suarum dederunt⁷ salute. Ad villam quae Crux dicitur, Hervardus⁸ qui Dominus cognominabatur campum unum pro sepultura sua donavit. Cap. 2. Eodem tempore, altare de Fraxiniaco cum Landricurte et eorum appenditiis a Ioanne clero, Willelmi⁹ Roiant filio, et Ansello, Anselli maioris filio, de istius ecclesiae thesauro emptum est.¹⁰ Romelidis¹¹ de Petroso Monte ea quae apud Brancurtem in terra arabili et in curtilibus seu in¹² sylva possidebat, Maria eius filia et eiusdem Mariae filio Evrardo nomine concordantibus, loco huic dedit. Levulfus etiam de Fontanis in Monte et¹³ Waldo de Stabulis similiter quidquid in eodem vico haereditarie tenebant dederunt. Balduinus clericus de villa quae Sissiacus dicitur, post apud Sanctum Quintinum in Insula monachus factus,¹⁴ quidquid in praefato mansionili habebat in XXXX solidorum vadimonio dedit, eo scilicet modo ut in festo Sancti Remigii superscripti solidi reddantur, sin autem ad eumdem terminum sequentis anni restituantur. Cap. 3. Apud Remervallem est sylva et terra arabilis atque curtilia quae Garderus¹⁵ de Poncellis, Romelide¹⁶ uxore sua et Christiano nepote suo faventibus, nobis concessit. Cap. 4. Nos autem notum fore volumus quam, cum primum in ecclesia Sanctae Mariae quae Montis Sancti Martini dicitur, Praemonstratensis¹⁷ ordinis sub sancti Augustini regula, pauperes fratres aedicare et habitare caepissent, nos eorum compatientes inopiae totam terram quam apud Brahencurt nostra ecclesia possidebat, assensu nostri capelli, hoc pacto praefatae ecclesiae donavimus ut ex illa parte quam coluerunt octavum semper manipulum, et pro parte altera, quae ut antiquitus fuerat sylva remanserit, II solidos Humolariensi ecclesiae in festo sancti Andreae memoratae ecclesiae fratres annuatim persolvant. Cap. 5. Item apud Remeivillam Oilboldus etiam de Halut qui, ut praedictum est, in hoc loco monachicum¹⁸ schema sumpsit, quidquid in supradicto rure tenebat Sanctae Mariae tribuit, similiter etiam quidquid apud Clastras,¹⁹ vicum Sancti Quintini,²⁰ habebat, matre et fratre faventibus, impertivit. Cap. 6. Evrardus, filius Harduini de Ribodimonte,²¹ quidquid apud Issimacum²² iuxta Curcellas tenebat, sorore sua Haduide concedente, isti loco donavit.

Cap. 7. Romolidis, quam Stephanus, Evrardi Calvi frater, et post Garderus de Poncellis uxorem habuit, curtile unum apud Fuillanas cum terra dedit. Cap. 8. Hugo etiam de Monteni⁴ campum Pratellae qui est inter Posiosos et⁵ Monteni⁴ huic ecclesiae tradidit, quem Natali Carpentario in duorum solidorum censem dedimus. Similiter apud Berneivillam terram unoquoque anno VI solidos solventem concessit quam nos Ermensfrodo, eiusdem villae colono, sub manso tenendum concessimus. Cap. 9. Apud Fontanas iuxta Fuillas campum dedit unum Levulfus,⁶ quem nos maiori Abbatis villae procurandum dedimus. Cap. 10. Robertus cognomento Anguillula pro restituione aureae crucis, quae praestita est, terram quamdam apud Abbatis villam dedit Sanctae Mariae, et ipsa iuncta est terrae Gypbni,⁷ filii Witberti Rifi, de qua duas partes habemus. Cap. 11. Petrus de Roia et alter Petrus de Nigella terram quam habebant apud Marceium loco huic pro animabus suis concederunt, et alios comparticipes suos alteram partem dare fecerunt, Oilboldo⁸ Sene, qui de praefata Roia⁹ huc ad conversionem venerat, et Fulchrado, huius ecclesiae cassato, praesentibus, sicut unusquisque eorum donum ramo, denario seu obolo super altare ponendum statuit. Robertus etiam Anguilla alodii sui partem quam in villa ipsa possidebat huic ecclesiae donavit et exinde XXXX solidos accepit. Cap. 12. Adselinus de Porta Ribodimontis quidquid apud Baninpontem habuit huic ecclesiae contulit. Similiter et Oilboldus de Roia qui, ut iam dictum est, in hoc loco monachicum habitum sumpsit; eodem etiam modo fecit Wido Senex de Fuillanis, Wildrici pater; Robertus etiam de Marla et frater eius Wido de Codiciaco, ambo filii Erzelini de Erblencurte.⁶ Cap. 13. Adselinus¹⁰ de Porta qui supra quidquid apud Sisseum habebat loco huic tradidit, acceptis proinde quatuor libris ex uno equo in pretium trium librarum et pro sepultura sua. Cap. 14. Petrus, Herberti comitis nepos, ea quae in eadem villa in vadimonium tenebat pro sua uxorisque suae iam defunctae sepultura donavit, tali conditione ut nobis XII denariorum libris redditis res illae a redimentibus recipiantur. Cap. 15. Apud Cisneum⁷ est terra quam idem Adselinus de Porta haereditarie possidebat quamquam¹¹ Theodericus cognomento Miles, eiusdem autem gener, mutua data vicissitudine suscepit, et huic loco pro filio suo quem parvulum Deo et sanctis eius obtulit, in beneficium largitus est. Id etiam Bonardus⁸, Roberti cognomento Buhuz coniux, pro sua¹² virique sui anima fecit. Cap. 16.¹³ Petrus de Marla alodium suum apud Leherias situm Sanctae Mariae largitus est. Apud villam quae Lehericurtis dicitur, iuxta Francorum Curtem, est terra quam Bernardus Senior cum Iu-dith, sorore sua, Roberti Anguillulae matre, Deo et^u sanctae Mariae sanctaeque Hunegundi tradiderunt, aliam partem Richero, Bernardi filio de Lauduno, in manu sua retinente. Cap. 17. In villa quae Neiasla^u dicitur Ingelbertus de Cuhuca pratum unum et curtile dedit. Cap. 18. Apud Bovencurtem, Boso de Felcino quatuor curtilia et duos campos ecclesiae isti tradidit, in qua monachus effectus in claustro est tumulatus. Cap. 19. In eadem villa Oddo Frarinus, apud nos monachus factus, reliquit nobis pro anniversario suo II modios frumenti de horreo suo singulis annis persolvendos. Cap. 20. Apud Bresnotum, Heribertus comes et mater eius Pavia dederunt huic ecclesiae quoddam alodium quod pater eius Otto eiusque genitrix Ermengardis nomine, avia videlicet praefati Heriberti, collato pretio emerunt illud sibi distrahente quodam villae eiusdem homine Ernoldo; huius siquidem alodii^u medietatem iam superius dicta Ermengardis, Ottonis comitis mater, dono dedit huic ecclesiae pro remedio animae suae, praesente Walteranno^{mm} abate. Otto vero omnes post mortem matris suam partem, tantum sibi viventi retentam, moriens huic ecclesiae reliquit, assensu Herberti filii eius et uxoris suae Paviae. De hoc quidem chartam legitimam^m habemus.⁹ Cap. 21. In eadem siquidem villa Wichardus¹⁰ pro remedio animae suae dedit huic ecclesiae, uxoris suae filiorumque suorum favore, partem cuiusdem^m prati quod vocatur Pomertia^u cum revisionibus, quae excedunt mensuras cum longis mensuris et longis gyronibus. Uxore autem eius Gualina^u nomine defuncta pro sepultura eius, dederunt filii ipsius et filiae quod habebant apud Longum Pratum ad exitum scilicet vadi. Non multo post, Evrardus Calvus ad tutelam huius ecclesiae confugit ibique monachicum habitum sumens, reliquam partem eiusdem prati cum his quas diximus revisiones, scilicet longas mensuras et gyrones, tradidit eidem ecclesiae. Tradidit et quidquid habebat apud Bernonvillam,^u et campum et saltum, servos quoque^u et ancillas, eodem abate huius ecclesiae adhuc praesidente. Quaedam contentio orta est inter nos et castellulum^u Sancti Quintini, Widnonem^{mm} nomine, nam die quadam rupit seclusam nostram apud Meruficurtem^m villam adeo ut per quindecim dies molendinus non moleret. Quapropter scriptus abbas Henricus comitem Heribertum cum suis fidelibus expetiit et super ruptura ipsius seclusae clamorem fecit; et inde dato vadio in placito a quodam coquo Sanctae Mariae nomine Walterio, et ab altera parte non redito, dirrationavit idem abbas seclusam ecclesiae ita subiectam et propriam ut quotiescumque ipsam elevari oporteret elevaretur et pro nullo dimitteretur. Item de iustitia et districtu ipsius villae videlicet Morincurtis^{us} certum habemus quod si quis in ea furtum fecerit et deprehensus fuerit in districtu villaे, nullus in eum manum mittere debet propter iustitiam quam^z dominus abbas; ipse enim si potest debet eum iustitiare usque ad redemptionem, si vero per se non potest, consulem habeat advocationem. Similiter et apud Humolarias nos hac eadem libertate¹¹ perfui notum est omnibus, salvis tamen consuetudinibus praefati consulis, has enim consuetudines apud nos habent: XXX solidos pro pastu, summarium unum, aprum unum, racemorum coronam si tanta copia fuerit in vuis. Haec sunt quae ei debentur per annum. Homines vero istius villaе nihil debent ei^r praeter exercitium et expeditionem. Cap. 22. In Castelliaco sunt mansi quinque et dimidius, ecclesia una, et duo molendini. Mansus solvit IIII modios frumenti et VI denarios in festivitate Sancti Remigii, domino Mascalino huic loco abbate praesidente. Godefridus dominus Ribodimontis^{us}¹² curtem nostram quae in villula Castellulo^{us} nomine sita est cum omnibus quae nostrae proprietatis ibi esse possunt ab omni districtu vel advocatione liberam esse recognovit, seque quidquid in ea acceperat iure magis praedae quam haereditatis accepisse paenitens^{bb} et ob hoc indulgentiam petens in ecclesia Sanctae Mariae absolutionem impetravit; concessit et illud Deo et sanctis huius loci ut greges nostri in omnibus pascuis liberam eius pascendi facultatem, remissa consuetudine arietis quae singulis annis debebatur pro pascuis villaе quae dicitur Bellumvidere, huius compensatione beneficii cum Elberto senescallo suo in orationibus nostrae congregationis est receptus. Cap. 23. In Macerias dimidius mansus solvit XIIII denarios in martio et XIIIII in festo Sancti Remigii. Cap. 24. In villa quae dicitur Bux, unus mansus et solvit XII denarios. Cap. 25. In Frasindo sunt mansi IX et dimidius et quarta pars unius, ecclesia una, et camba una. Mansus solvit VII solidos inter festivitatem Sancti Ioannis et Sancti Remigii, et faciunt consuetudines quas faciunt homines in Morincurte manentes. Cap. 26. In Frisia sunt mansi VIII. Mansus solvit IIII solidos inter festivitatem Sancti Ioannis et Sancti Remigii. Est ibi aqua non modica: partem cuius in nostro dominicatu retentam habemus; partem vero alteram cuidam militi indigenae concessimus iure possidendam, accipientes ab illa medietatem cuiusdam furni in Perona iuxta forum ubi equi venduntur siti, et C anguillas in natalibus Domini annuatim persolvendas, insuper sex solidos quos debebamus ecclesiae Sancti Quintini de Monte ipse pro nobis solvit, de quibus etiam iam se liberum fecit, datis inde VII libris abbati praefatae ecclesiae et omni congregacioni sibi commissae. Adhuc nobis concessit^{} molere ad molendina sua quidquid necesse fuerit his qui in curte nostra manserint de nostro pane viventibus sine molitura. Hanc conventionem cum praefato milite Roberto nomine habemus.¹³ In Lantiaco sunt mansi V, et solvunt V solidos de respectu et IIII denarios in medio martio et in natalibus Domini XIIIII capones.^{} Item augusto quartum manipulum^{} de omnibus frugibus quae ibi seruntur et metuntur seu plantantur, hac lege videlicet posita inter nos et cultores ipsorum quod nec ipsi haec iura minuere nec nos augmentare possimus. Siquidem et quartam partem quam ab illis accepimus ipsi iure inevitabili cum ex nostra parte monentur debent adducere^{} ad hanc abbatiam, nihil a nobis amplius accipientes quam singuli panes singulos et quatuor iumentis una rasa mensura data in Galgiaco est.

Cap. 27. Mansus primus et solvit II solidos in festo Sancti Martini.

Cap. 28. In Prandrugio I mansus exsolvit VIII solidos inter festivitatem Sancti Ioannis et Sancti Remigii.

Cap. 29. In Bertolfi-curte I mansus solvit XXX denarios in festivitate Sancti Remigii.

Cap. 30. In Serodicurte I mansus et solvit IIII solidos et pastum cum quanta manu monachorum sive militum se illuc comitantium voluerit.

Cap. 31. In Petroso Monte de terra quae ibi est IIII solidos inter festivitatem Sancti Ioannis et Sancti Remigii.

* filius C. * Oiboldi C. * concesserunt voluntarie C. * videlicet C. * ut praescriptum est regulariter vivente B. / aliam added above B. * Yssimaco B. * Oibaldo C. * itaque corrected to ita C. * Eringarda B. * dederunt omitted C. * Hervardus changed to Hervardus B. * Wuillelmi B. * est added above B, omitted C. * Romelidio C. * in omitted C. * de BC. * effectus B. * Gerardus C. * Romeride C. * Praemonstratiensis B. * monachi cum C. * quodquod B. * Sancti Quintini vicum B. * Robimonte B. * Issiniacum changed to Issimacum C. * Montevi BC. * interposita changed to inter Posiotos et B. * Monterii C. * Leurefus changed to Levuulfus B. * Oilbodo B. * Azrelinus B. * quamquam changed to quam C. * pro sua added B. * The order of cap. 16 and cap. 17 is reversed in B. * et omitted C. * Neiasla changed to Noiasla C. * alodi B.  Walterano B. * legitimam chartam B. * cuiusdam C. * Pomecia corrected to Pomertia B. * Gualina changed to Evalina B. * Bernenvillam B. * quosque B. * castellelum changed to castellulum B, castellulum changed to castella C. * Windonern changed to Widonem B. * Meruficurtem changed to Merificurtem C.  Morincuris videlicet B. * quam changed to nam B. * ei omitted C. * Ribodimontis dominus B.  Castellu corrected to Castellulo B. * penitia changed to penitens B. * Adhuc etiam concessit nobis B.  caprum corrected to capones B. * manipulum B.  ad duvere C.

¹ Both lat. 13911 and H 588 have the date 1010 added by a later hand in the margin. Cassiaux (B.N., fr. 33085, pp. 280-281) calls this inventory a "history" of the abbey written ca. 1240. Neither 1010 nor 1240 is possible, as the contents of this inventory make clear. Fossier (Picardie, p. 443, n. 9) seems to accept a date of about 1100 on the understanding that several items were added to the list as late as 1136 (an argument developed in an unpublished Diplôme d'Etudes Supérieur by G. Loup, "Le temporel du monastère d'Homblières," Paris, 1961).

Newman thought that the inventory was a complete dossier when it was created, sometime after 1136 but before the 1146 transfer of Léhricourt to Prémontré (act no. 58). In fact, Newman preferred a date of just after 1136 for two reasons: First, act no. 42, in which Homblières received an oven in Péronne and which he dated 1136 or 1124–1145, is described in the inventory (chap. 26). Second, the inventory refers to a grant of land by Homblières to Mont-Saint-Martin “when the poor monks first undertook to build” a new church there (chap. 4); it is known that Abbot Garembert moved his monks from Bony to Mont-Saint-Martin “a little before 1136” (Collette, 2:72) and that the rent due to Homblières was paid in 1138 (act no. 45). Newman concluded that the inventory must have been drawn up between 1136 and 1146 (see also comment).

² The text is confusing. It appears that Oilbald Porell became a monk at Homblières and that his wife Doda later married Rainer of Guise. The wife of Evrard Calvus, also a former domesticus of the count, likewise remarried after her husband entered Homblières (chap. 7).

³ The martyrology of the chapter of Saint-Quentin states that Robert of Péronne gave Clastres to Homblières (Hemeré, p. 113, under the year 1040).

⁴ This is probably a garbled reading by the cartulary scribe.

⁵ Peter of Roia.

⁶ For Erzelin of Arblincourt and his sons Robert “of Marle” and Guy “of Coucy,” see Barthélémy, pp. 151–153, 513–514.

⁷ Probably an error for Gisneia, which appears in the papal bull of 1145 (act no. 53).

⁸ Bonardus was the wife of Robert.

⁹ Act no. 30.

¹⁰ Either Wicard the Elder, knight of Morcourt, or his father; see act no. 81.

¹¹ See act no. 53.

¹² Geoffrey II, son of Anselm of Ribemont, appeared in 1104 (Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 54–56, no. 21) and 1115 (Poupardin, “Cartulaire de Saint-Vincent de Laon,” p. 204, n. 3, no. 19).

¹³ See act no. 42.

COMMENT

The inventory lacks a title but the cartulary rubric reads “concerning the manses belonging to this church.” There are in fact two distinct parts to the inventory. The first (chaps. 1–3, 5–21) is a list of acquisitions organized by locality with the names of donors, who seem to have been free peasants or minor allodial landholders and who required the approval only of their immediate families for alienations of property. Most of these acquisitions fall in the second half of the eleventh century. Oilbald Porell of Halut, “who became a monk” at Homblières (chaps. 1, 5, 12), and Evrard Calvus, “who took the habit of a monk” at Homblières (chap. 21), were called domestici of the count of Vermandois in 1075 (act no. 31). The inventory scribe extracted information from a “legal charter” of Count Herbert IV of 1045 (act no. 30) which he claimed was still in the abbey’s possession (chap. 21). The inventory also describes a dispute between Homblières and the castellan of Saint-Quentin who had so damaged a mill that it was inoperable for fifteen days (chap. 21); Abbot Henry (1059–1075/1090) appealed for aid to Count Herbert IV (1045-ca. 1081). The precision of such entries, particularly of details about properties and genealogies of minor landholders who do not appear in any extant charter, suggests that the inventory was copied from firsthand evidence, either from contemporary charters that do not survive or from an earlier inventory of the late eleventh century.

The second part of the inventory (chaps. 4, 22–31) lists manses owing rents to the abbey. It can be dated to the first half of the twelfth century: several of the manses had been acquired when “Mazelin was abbot” (chap. 22: 1106–1123), and the oven of Péronne (chap. 26) was received after 1136 (act no. 42, which is extracted in the inventory). Moreover, chap. 4, which is clearly a late insertion, can be dated to ca. 1136 (see n. 1). To this second part must be added a fragment edited here as act no. 106 and dated by Newman to the late twelfth century. One entry of the fragment refers to the customs exacted from the tenants of Morcourt and Homblières, quae superius diximus; those customs were in fact described in the inventory (act no. 44, chap. 21) and were reaffirmed in the papal bull of 1145 (act no. 53). Since act no. 106 appears before act no. 44 in the medieval cartulary, the inventory of revenues must have been seriously damaged or dismembered when it was copied into the cartulary ca. 1170.

In sum, Homblières probably had an inventory of minor oral transfers from the late eleventh century that was copied and updated when the monks compiled an inventory of revenues, of which only fragments survive, shortly after 1136.

45¹

1138

Nicholas, bishop of Cambrai, confirms some property of the monastery of Mont-Saint-Martin, including land at Brancourt held from Notre-Dame of Homblières for a census.

B: B.N., lat. 5478, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, fol. 62v, copy of the 13th c.

C: B.N., fr. 9468, fol. 249, copy of B by Du Cange, 16th c. D: B.N., lat. 9128, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, pp. 231–232, copy of B of the 18th c.

Ind.: Matton, p. 169.

. . . Item in Braencort censualem terram Sancti Fursei Sanctique Quintini et Sancte Marie Humblariensis . . .

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

46¹

Lateran

1138 December 7

A bull in which Pope Innocent II confirms the possessions of Saint-Michel-en-Thiérache includes a revenue of one modius of wheat owed to the monastery of Homblières for part of the mill of Flavigny (see act no. 47).

B: B.N., lat. 18375, Cartulaire de Saint-Michel, pp. 237–238, copy of the 13th c.

Pub.: (a) Prou, "Supplique et bulle du XII^e siècle," pp. 617-621, copy of B. (b) Ramakers, p. 108, no. 27, copy of B.

Ind.: Piette, no. 6.

. . . in allodio Flavigniaci partes duas, in molendino ipsius ville partes duas, et de tercia parte modium unum frumenti a monasterio Hummolariensi persolvendum . . .

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

46A

1140

Hugh [I], abbot of Homblières, announces the resolution of a dispute that arose when Ralph Strabo gave the fief that he held from Baldwin of Soupir to Mont-Saint-Martin for building a monastery. Evrard of Marchavenne and his brother Wicard of Bernot claimed that they held that land in fief from Burchard of Lesquierelles and presented a document in proof. After an inquiry, and at the request of the count of Vermandois and the bishop of Laon, Burchard evicted Evrard and Wicard from that land.

B: B.N., lat. 5478, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, fol. 116v, with the title "Hugonis abbatis quomodo Everalodus et Wicardus dederunt territorium de Monte Sancti Martini liberum," copy of the 13th c. C: B.N., lat. 9128, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, pp. 462-464, copy of B of 1740.

In nomine Domini. Hugo, Dei gratia Humolariensis ecclesie abbas humillimus, presentibus et futuris in perpetuum. Quoniam non que sua sunt sed que aliorum querere vera ab apostolo docetur et describitur caritas, nos gradum aliquem virtutis eius conantes attingere, fratrem nostrorum in Christo gaudemus cum possumus commodiatis inservire. Omnibus itaque notum facimus quoniam cum Radulphus Strabo, divina preveniter et adiutus gratia seculo abrenuncians, territorium de Monte Sancti Martini quod a Balduino de Supeio tenebat in feodum quod et ipse Balduinus acceperat a Radulpho comite Viromandensium, eisdem Radulpho videlicet comite et Balduino concedentibus et confirmantibus, Deo cum omnibus que habebat offerens contulisset cepit ibidem in honore Sancte Dei genetricis Marie, Premonstratensis ordinis, abbatiam construere. Tunc Everalodus de Moreincavenne et Guicardus de Bernot, frater eius, eorumque filii contradicentes per scriptum territorium suum esse seque a Bucardo de Leschieres tenere illud in feodum, prefatam multis ecclesiam turbarerunt iniuriis. Cumque super hoc sepius et Radulpho comite et pre-dicto Buchardo et quibuscumque poterant memorare fratres quererentur ecclesie; tandem predictus Buchardus, domini Bartholomei Laudunensi episcopi et Radulphi comitis aliorumque multorum devictus, precibus et ecclesie honoratus muneribus, sepeditum territorium et ipse ab omni angaria et exactione liberum sepestate ecclesie contulit et memoratis Everaldum et Guicardum eorumque filios nos parius ecclesie donis evictos. Hoc idem legitime concedere fecit. Iuraverunt itaque in Humolariensis Sancte Marie ecclesia supra dicti Everaldus et Guichardus eorumque filii Amolricus et Gerardus insuper et per fidem suam confirmaverunt quatinus nichil iuris deinceps vel ipsi vel eorum posteri in territorio de Monte Sancti Martini requirerent, quinpotius ecclesiam illam quantumcunque possent ab omnium infestatione fideliter ut amici defenderent. Que ut rata permaneant per notatis Everardo et Guicardo multisque qui aderant ita roganibus scripto mandavimus quod sigilli nostri impressione testiumque subscriptione roboratum per cyrographum dividentes utrique ecclesie conservandum commissimus. Actum anno verbi incarnati MCXL. Signa et cetera.

47

Laon

1142

Bartholomew, bishop of Laon, declares that the monks of Notre-Dame of Homblières and the canons of Saint-Gervais of Guise, having decided to exchange certain of their possessions for their mutual convenience, followed episcopal law and placed those possessions in his hands, and he made the transfers. With the assent of Burchard of Guise¹ and others concerned, the said canons gave to the church of Homblières two parts of the tithe of Bernot in return for the altar of Montreux, part of the mill at Flavigny, and a field at Maslia. This exchange was recorded in a chirograph divided between the two parties.²

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 86r-v, with the title “De duobus partibus decimae de Bersnots.”

C: H 588, p. 71, with the same title as B, except for “duabus” and “Bernot.”

D: Claude L'Eleu, grand-archidiacre de Thiérache, “Histoire de la ville de Laon,” 1:373, copy of the 18th c. in the L'Eleu de la Simone family (manuscript not seen).

Ind.: Florival, p. 251 (indicates D). Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Bartholomaeus^a Dei gratia sanctae Laudunensis ecclesiae minister humillimus. Quantas commissis ovibus debeamus excubias, evangelica nos docet asser-

tio dicens cui plus committitur plus ab eo exigitur,¹ his etiam verbis qui ab officio pastoris multorum curam suscepimus, utilitati multorum provida cautione subvenire monemur. Hoc attentes, notum ecclesiae volumus tam praesentibus quam futuris in perpetuum quod monachi Sanctae Mariae Humolariensis monasterii pariterque canonici ecclesiae² Sancti Gervasii de Guisia, consideratis singulis suarum³ opportunitatibus sive commoditatibus ecclesiarum, quaedam de possessionibus suis intra se commutare nostro assensu decreverunt, quae etiam episcopali iure commutanda fuerant nostris in manibus utrius reddiderunt. Annuente itaque Burcardo de Guisia cunctisque pariter ad quos ista donatio potuit pertinere, memorati canonici dederunt per manus nostras ecclesiae Humolariensi duas partes totius decimae de Bresnost.⁴ Illis itidem mutuo sibi donantibus altare de Monsteriolo,⁵ et apud Flaviniacum partem molendini et pratum et campum, apud Masliam curtillum et pratum, insuper et omnia quae apud Gisniacum videlicet et Fasticum et vindemias et pratum⁶ atque prateolos eorum ecclesia praedicta possidebat.⁷ Quo praedicto modo⁸ factae commutations ne aliqua in posterum oblivione aut occasione possint dissolvi, scripto eas⁹ mandari atque inter eos per chirographum dividi praecipimus, testiumque subscriptione et sigilli nostri impressione roborari curavimus. Signum Balduini abbatis Sancti Quintini de Insula. Signum Garini abbatis Sancti Proiecti. Signum Guillelmi¹⁰ abbatis Sancti Nicolai de Pratis. Signum Gerardi abbatis Clarofontanensis.¹¹ Signum Godescalci abbatis de Monte Sancti Martini. Signum Simonis de Ribodimonte.¹² Signum Wicardi de Auriniaco. Signum Evrardi fratribus sui. Signum Clarembaldi de Fastis.¹³ Signum¹⁴ Rohardi fratribus sui. Signum Odonis Waldencurtis. Et ne aliqua persona hoc scriptum nostrum mutare praesumat sub anathemate prohibemus. Actum Lunduni, anno MCXXXXII, indictione V, epacta XXII, cyclus lunae XIX. Ego Bartholomaeus¹⁵ cancellarius relegi.

¹ Bartholomeus B. ² exigitur ab eo B. ³ ecclesiae omitted C. ⁴ humanorum crossed out by a later hand and changed to singulis suarum B. ⁵ Brenot C. ⁶ Monterpolo corrected to Monsteriolo B. ⁷ pratum changed by a later hand to preteium B, preteium C. ⁸ possidebat praedicta B. ⁹ modo omitted C. ¹⁰ eas added B. ¹¹ Guillelmi C. ¹² Clarefontanensis C. ¹³ et for S(ignum) B.

¹⁴ Burchard, lord of Guise and of Lesquielles, married Adelaide or Aelide, sister of Guy of Soupir (act of Bartholomew, bishop of Laon, for Saint-Vincent of Laon in 1133; text in Poupardin, "Cartulaire de Saint-Vincent de Laon," pp. 209-211, no. 25; another act by Burchard in 1155 for Saint-Vincent is indicated by Matton, p. 140). Burchard's brother Geoffrey appeared in 1147 and in 1159 (acts nos. 59, 76). Collette, 2:196-197, gives a genealogical table of the Guise family.

¹⁵ See also act no. 53, in which this transaction is confirmed.

³ Simon of Ribemont witnessed acts of Homblières in 1142, 1144, 1146, and 1156. He last appeared in 1161 with his son Gobert as witness to an act of Baldwin, bishop of Noyon (Peigné-Delacourt, pp. 207-208, no. 341).

⁴ Clarembald of Fastis appeared as a witness in 1159 (act no. 76) and in an act of 1170 of Louis, abbot of Bucilly (Coll. Picardie, vol. 257, fol. 202v).

48

1144

Simon, bishop of Noyon, permits Abbot Hugh [III] and the monks of Homblières to receive as a gift the fief [of two ovens and arable]¹ in Rouvroy and Harly that the knight Oliver held from him in his capacity as treasurer of the church of Saint-Quentin.² Homblières will pay Saint-Quentin two pounds of wax annually at the feast of Saint Quentin [31 October] for both the grant and the service owed by the fief. The treasurer retains justice over the fief in cases involving bloodshed and theft. After ninety-nine years Oliver's heirs may reclaim these lands (but not the ovens) on payment of 70 l. Bishop Simon also concedes to Homblières the water of Le Moulin Brûlé for a census of 30 s.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 48r-v, with the title "Simonis episcopi de feodo Oliveri in Ruvereio [et] Harleio de aqua in [changed to] def Leuvengiis." C: H 588, pp. 44-45, with the same title and correction as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, pp. 42-43 "chartae eorumdem" (incomplete). (b) Colliette, 2:276-277, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:88. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti.⁴ Docente ac suggestente Spiritu^b sancto didicimus fratribus Deo militantibus opem miserationis studiumque debitae pietatis conferri debere, eisque potissimum quos mundi flore calcato spontaneam paupertatem eligere divinaeque contemplationi ardentius videmus^c inhaerere. Qui enim optimam partem elegere, optima merentur ab optimis impetrare. Eapropter ego Simon, Noviomensis episcopus, scire praesentes volumus et futuros, venerabilem Hugonem Humolariensis ecclesiae abbatem, bonaे opinionis ac religionis virum, cum fratribus loci eiusdem nos humiliter^d adiisse atque multis modis^d exorasse quatenus permitteremus^e dari sibi in eleemosynam quoddam feudum^f in Ruvereio et Harleio situm quod a nobis ex officio thesaurariae nostraе in ecclesia Sancti Quintini tenebat quidam miles Oliverus^g nomine, quodque praesatae ecclesiae in beneficio et animae suae remedio nobis faventibus conferre disposuerat. Tantis igitur votis et precibus favorem et gratiam exhibere nos condecet. Quantasⁱ enim commissis ovibus debeamus^j excubias, evangelicus sermo nos edocet dicens cui plus committitur plus ab eo exigetur.⁴ Hoc igitur attentes, tantae devotioni obviare vel contradicere salva ratione nec volumus nec debemus. Hac igitur dispensatione et ordinatione, rogatu et assensu domini Radulfi¹ comitis, domini et abbatis utriusque ecclesiae, totum feudum² in eleemosynam dari libere permittimus, quatenus thesauro ecclesiae Sancti Quintini supradicta³ ecclesia tam pro concesso beneficio quam pro debito ipsius feudi⁴ obsequio duas cerae libras in festo martyris⁵ annuatim persolvat. His retentis, videlicet sanguine violenter effuso et⁶ latrone deprehenso. Et si aliquis praefatam ecclesiam super eleemosyna ista inquietaverit, causa in domo thesaurarii et in praesentia eius terminabitur. De caetero nostra authoritate pontificatus et thesaurariae, rogatu etiam et assensu consulis, ab omni inquietudine et debiti oppositione exceptis superius dictis in perpetuum absolvimus. Furnos itaque et redditus in eleemosyna perpetuo possidebit ecclesia. Ad terras autem si quis haeredum praefati militis redire voluerit post nonaginta novem annos remota omni oppositione LXX libras ecclesiae primum persolvere⁶. Eodem autem tempore, praefatus abbas humiliter expetiit quatenus concederemus ei aquam de Luvengiis pro censu' XXX solidorum, XV in diebus⁷ Paschae XV vero in festo Sancti Remigii persolvendis, quod nos libenter et devote concedimus atque in perpetuum corroboramus. Si quis ergo donationem manu thesaurarii factam et pontificali autoritate laudabiliter corroboratam abnegare vel labefactare praesumpserit, anathematis eum vinculis obligamus, eamque testium annotatione ac sigilli nostri impressione astipulari⁸ non⁹ absurdum censuimus, retentis in aqua quae in supradictis retenta sunt. Signum Simonis Noviomensis episcopi. Signum Hugonis cancellarii eius. Signum Hugonis abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Raineri¹⁰ dapiferi. Signum Petri monachi Noviomensis. Signum Bononis¹¹ subthesaurarii. Signum magistri Lamberti ostiarii. Signum Werrici¹² praepositi. Signum Raineri fratris eius. Signum Roberti de Felcheriis.¹³ Signum Simonis Noviomensis¹⁴ praepositi. Signum Wilberti¹⁵ capellani. Signum Rogonis de Faiet.¹⁶ Signum Simonis fratris eius.¹⁷ Signum Widonis de Moi.¹⁸ Actum anno ab incarnatione Domini MCXXXIII, indictione VII.

⁴ Amen added a. ⁵ Spiritu through humiliter omitted a. ⁶ videmus repeated but crossed out B
⁷ multimodis a. ⁸ promitteremus a. ⁹ feodium a. ¹⁰ nostrae thesaurariae a. ¹¹ Oliverius a.

¹² Quatinus a. ¹³ debemus corrected to debeamus B. ¹⁴ exigetur changed by a later hand to exigitur C, exigitur a. ¹⁵ Radulphi a. ¹⁶ soepe dicta a. ¹⁷ feodi a. ¹⁸ matris BC. ¹⁹ et omitted BC. ²⁰ persolvet a. ²¹ sensu B. ²² die a. ²³ adstipulari a. ²⁴ non changed to eum B. ²⁵ Rainardi C. ²⁶ Brononis C. ²⁷ Verrici C. ²⁸ Flesceriis a. ²⁹ Noviom BC. ³⁰ Witberti B. ³¹ Faiel a. ³² Moy C.

¹ See the confirmation in act no. 64.

² It was not customary for the bishop of Noyon to be treasurer of the chapter of Saint-Quentin;

Simon was probably treasurer before being elected bishop. A witness, Symone custode, appears in an act of 1120 of Ralph, count of Vermandois, for Saint-Prix (in Colliette, 2:167). Simon explains in his act of 1124 for Saint-Quentin that he had been a cleric and later a treasurer in that church: "Quamobrem dignum erat ut ecclesiae vestrae in qua ad clerum promotus sum, et me in custodem suscepit" (Colliette, 2:258–259, and a better edition in Poupartdin, "Quatre chartes anciennes," pp. 217–218, no. 2, copy of the original). In his chirograph for Ourcamp, Simon is called bishop of Noyon and Tournai and "Sancti Quintini custos" (Colliette, 2:260–261, with the date 1130 and witnesses; a better text in Peigné-Delacourt, pp. 248–249, no. 411, with the date 1133 but without witnesses). In his 1140 charter for Saint-Quentin, Simon is called "bishop of Noyon and Tournai and treasurer and canon of our church, and brother of our count Ralph" ("ecclesiae nostrae thesaurii et canonici, fratrisque eius comitis nostri Radulphi," in Colliette, 2:272–273). Custos and thesaurarius were evidently synonymous here, and Simon must have been treasurer before his election (before 3 August 1123; see act no. 36, n. 1, for the date); he was bishop coadjutor in 1120 during the episcopate of Lambert, who died 7 July 1123 (GC, 9:1000). See also Guyotjeannin, p. 178. However, custos and thesaurarius were not always synonymous: witnesses of the chapter to an act of Weric, dean of Saint-Quentin, in 1162 include both a custos and a thesaurarius (B.N., lat. 11069, Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Vermand, fols. 2v–3r).

³ Rogo and Simon were sons of Oda, lady (domina) of Fayet, in 1146 (act of Simon, bishop of Noyon, in Colliette, 2:267–271), but it is not certain that Odo was their father (as claimed by Hachet, p. 356, following Colliette). Oda is last known in 1151.

49

1144

Hugh [II], abbot of Homblières, asked episcopal confirmation of the tithe at Ablaincourt-Pressoir which Oda, wife of Robert of Roupy, gave to the church of Homblières for the salvation of her husband's soul.¹ Oda and her two very young sons, Gerard and John, confirmed this gift by placing branch and turf on the altar of the Virgin Mary and swearing not to reclaim it in the future. Alberic of Roye,² from whom the tithe was held in fief, conceded the grant with the assent of his wife and sons in the presence of witnesses, among whom was Ralph, count [of Vermandois]. Simon, bishop of Noyon, approved and sealed this chirograph.³

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 75r–v, with the title "De decima Albincurtis." C: H 588, pp. 65–66, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Rerum visibilium et invisibilium^c creator aeternus cuncta qui omnipotens sub sole condidit mortalitatis humanae usibus servire mandavit ut homo ad imaginem Dei conditus temporalis vitae subsidium habens e temporalibus ad aeterna tendat fiducialis quae onere carnis deposito postmodum est habiturus. Et quoniam se deliberasse creatorem summum in naturae primordio novimus conditionis nostrae, oportet ut legem teneamus; quapropter necesse est sic suum quod habet quisque esse cognoscat ut relinquendo posteris absque dubio sciat non imminutum sui neglectu ne culpam incurrat. Igitur ego Hugo Humolariensis ecclesiae minister indignus, cum fratrum nostrorum communi assensu, posteriorum utilitati providentes necessarium, duximus scripto firmari atque sinuari autoritate pontificali decimam quamdam apud Albincurtem sitam quam domina Oda,^a uxor Roberti de Rupeio, pro ipsis animae remedio huic ecclesiae contulit in beneficio obtulit. Itaque cum tali oblatione duos parvissimos filios sub regula beati Benedicti Christo militatus, facta igitur solemnii oblatione ramo et cespite super altare beatissimae virginis Mariae, mater cum filiis Gerardo videlicet et Ioanne firmaverunt, iureiurando^c nihil se ulterius reclamatuos in praedicta decima, cuius integre per totum pars nostra duas erigit parcellas ad plenum. Si quis ergo^d oblationem istam celebriter et laudabiliter actam vel abnegare, quod absit, vel labefactare praesumpserit, anathematis eum vinculis^e obligari, apicibusque^f litterarum mandatum cum testium annotatione et sigilli Noviomensis praesulnis impressione astipulari non absurdum censuimus. Signum domini Hugonis abbatis.^g Signum Hilduini^h praepositi. Signum Arnulfi.ⁱ Signum Hugonis. Signum Huberti. Signum Balduini. Signum Petri. Signum Gerardi. Signum Henrici puerorum. De laicis: Signum Odæ matronæ. Signum Gerardi. Signum Ioannis filiorum eius. Signum Philippi de Pontrusio. Signum Ioannis. Signum Gerberti filioli Amandi. Signum Alberti cocci. Signum Walteri cocci. Signum Clarembaldi^j fratri eius. Signum Anselli de Virgeio. Signum Radulfi militis de Sissigni. Hoc autem silentio non praetermittendum^k quod dominus Albericus de Roia de cuius feodo ex parte uxoris suaे supradicta decima descendebat, assensu eiusdem uxoris et filiorum coram testibus, praefatam decimam in perpetuum huic ecclesiae liberam concessit. Signum Radulfi comitis.^l Signum Ingeranni^m Oisun.ⁿ Signum Ioannis Bugri. Signum Simonis de Ribodimonte. Actum est anno ab incarnatione Domini MCXXXIX, inductione VII. Laudavi ego Simon Noviomensis episcopus istud chirographum atque sigilli nostri impressione corroboravi in perpetuum.

^a et invisibilium added B. ^b domino Odo changed to domina Odo B. ^c iureiurando added in margin B. ^d vero C. ^e vinculo C. ^f apicibusque C. ^g abbatis Hugonis C. ^h Harduini C. ⁱ Signum Arnulfi follows immediately after Hugonis abbatis in B. ^j Clarembaldi B. ^k praetermissum B. ^l consulis B. ^m Ingerrami B.

¹ See also acts nos. 50, 52, and the papal confirmation (act no. 53).

² Alberic of Roye, who witnessed four acts for Homblières, had a son Hugh and a brother Wermund who was a knight in 1163 (Morel, 1:169, no. 94). Alberic does not appear after 1163. He was probably the same Alberic of Roye who was dapifer of Ralph, count of Vermandois, in 1134 (indicated in Loisne, "Le cartulaire de la Commanderie d'Eterpigny," p. 154, no. 1) and 1148 (for Saint-Barthélemy of Noyon, copy in Coll. Moreau, vol. 63, fol. 234). His brother Wermund was called "of Roye" (act of Philip, count of Flanders, in 1175 for Notre-Dame of Paris; text in Colliette, 2:417) and "of Chessoy" (act of Count Philip in 1176; in Morel, 1:219, no. 132); he appeared in a number of acts for Saint-Corneille of Compiègne (but is not mentioned in Coët).

³ Act no. 50 was probably redacted at the same time as this act.

⁴ Ingeran appeared as Ingelrannus Oisons with his wife Richildis de Fael in 1157 (act of Henry, bishop of Beauvais; in Morel, 1:153, no. 84). In an act of 1148 by Count Ralph of Vermandois he was Engelrannus Oison consiliarius eius (i.e., of the count; in Coll. Picardie, vol. 235, fol. 225r, and Coll. Moreau, vol. 63, fol. 234). He and his brother Johannes Bugarus witnessed an act of Odo, dean of Saint-Corneille of Compiègne, in 1147 (Morel, 1:112, no. 59); the same Johannes Bugarus appeared with his wife Duchina in an act of Count Ralph of ca. 1140 (ibid., 1:106, no. 54).

50

1144¹

Simon, bishop of Noyon, confirms by this chirograph the grant by Oda of two parts of the tithe of Ablaincourt-Pressoir to Hugh [II], abbot of Homblières, for the soul of her husband Robert of Roupy. She made this gift by placing branch and turf on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary, and she and her sons Gerard and John swore never to reclaim it. They returned the tithe to Alberic [of Roye], from whom Oda held it as a fief, and he, with the assent of his wife and sons, placed it in the hands of Bishop Simon in the presence of Ralph, count of Vermandois, and his great men. Simon then transferred it by his episcopal authority to Homblières.²

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 76r-v, with the title "Domini Simonis episcopi de decima de Albincurte." C: H 588, p. 66, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Rerum visibilium et invisibilium creator aeternus cuncta qui misericorditer sub sole^a condidit mortalitatis humanae usibus servire mandavit ut homo ad imaginem Dei conditus temporalis vitae subsidium habens e temporalibus ad aeterna tendat fiducialius quae onere carnis deposito postmodum est habiturus. Et quoniam sic deliberasse creatorem summum in naturae primordio novimus conditionis nostrae, oportet ut legem teneamus; quapropter necesse est sic suum quod habet quisque recognoscatur ut relinquendum posteris absque dubio sciatur non immunitum^b sui neglectu ne culpam incurrat^c in Dei respectu. Igitur ego Simon, Noviomensis Dei gratia^d episcopus, scire praesentes, scire volumus et futuros Hugonem dilectum nostrum Humolariensis ecclesiae abbatem nostram adiisse praesentiam atque multimodis nostram exorasse munificentiam quatenus decimam quamdam apud Albincurtem sitam quam domina Oda, uxor Roberti de Rupeio, pro ipsius animae remedio suae ecclesiae contulerat in beneficio, scripto firmari atque signari nostra auctoritate pontificali consentiamus; factaque¹ solemni oblatione ramo et cespite super altare beatissimae virginis Mariae, mater cum filii suis² Gerardo videlicet et Ioanne firmaverunt, iure iurando nihil se ulterius reclamaturos in praedicta decima, cuius integræ per totum pars Humolariensis duas erigit partes ad plenum. Si quis ergo oblationem istam celebriter et laudabiliter actam vel abnegare, quod absit, vel labefactare praesumpserit, anathematis eum vinculiss³ obligari, apicibusque litterarum mandatum cum testium annotatione et sigilli nostri impressione astipulari non absurdum censuimus. Hoc autem silentio non est praetermittendum quod praefata mulier cum filii suis Gerardo videlicet et Ioanne, ut eorum oblatio ordine competenti⁴ fieret, supradictam decimam in manu Alberici domini sui a quo eam in feodium tenebat reddiderunt. Idem vero Albericus, assensu uxoris suae et filii sui,⁵ eamdem decimam in manu nostra in praesentia domini Radulfi Viromanduorum⁶ comitis⁷ et optimatum eius simili modo reddidit quam et nos in praedicti comitis⁸ conspectu et militum eius, auctoritate pontificali praefatae ecclesiae reddidimus atque perpetuo possidendam huius scripti privilegio assignavimus. Signum Simonis episcopi. Signum Hugonis cancellarii. Signum domini Garini⁹ abbatis Sancti Projeci.¹⁰ Signum Radulfi comitis.¹¹ Signum Ingeranni Oisun.¹² Signum Ioannis Bugri. Signum Simonis de Ribodomonte. Signum Philippi de Ponrusio. Signum Ioannis. Signum Gerberti filiorum¹³ Amandi.¹⁴ Signum Alberti cocci. Signum Clarembaldi. Signum Anselli de Virgiis. Actum anno¹⁵ ab incarnatione Domini MCXXXIII, inductione VII. Laudavi ego Simon Noviomensis episcopus istud chirographum atque sigilli mei impressione corroboravi in perpetuum.

¹ sub sole omitted C. ² imminutum C. ³ incurrat added in margin in place of a word crossed out B.
⁴ Dei gratia Noviomensis C. ⁵ facta qui B. ⁶ suis omitted B. ⁷ vinculo C. ⁸ competenti ordine B. ⁹ sui omitted B. ¹⁰ Radulphi B. ¹¹ Viromandorum B. ¹² consulis B. ¹³ Guarini B. ¹⁴ Sancti Praiecti abbatis C. ¹⁵ Huigertanni crossed out and replaced by Ingerrami Oysun B.
¹⁶ Act no. 49 reads filioli. ¹⁷ Amundi B. ¹⁸ anno omitted C.

¹ This act was probably redacted at the same time as act no. 49.

² See acts nos. 49, 52, and the papal confirmation (act no. 53).

51

[1143 September 18-1145 August 18]¹

Hugh [II], abbot of Homblières, declares that a knight of Saint-Quentin, Walter Oson,² gave to the church of Homblières a certain water in Brancourt-le-Grand which he held as a fief from his nephew Adam Palevir. Both uncle and nephew confirmed this transfer by placing branch and turf on the altar of Notre-Dame, and they renounced all future claims because Homblières had paid them 10 l.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 87, with the title "De aqua Walteri Osonis quae est apud Brancurem" [corrected from Brandicurtem]. C: H 588, p. 72, with the same title as B, except that a later hand corrected "Brancurem" to "Brocurtem."

Pub.: (a) Hémér. text, p. 160, "chartae Humolariens" (extracts). (b) Colliette, 2: 275-276, copy of a.

Trans.: Charles, 2:207 (fragment).

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:88. Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ex antiquis processit usibus affirmare scriptis et testibus illa videlicet quae singulis temporibus prima aetas suis tradit haeredibus, maxime vero bona sanctae matris ecclesiae posteriorum^a memoriae, ne malorum rapina succendentium aut haeredum invidia pessimorum quae^b devotio contulit perturbare praesumat sano iuris consilio commendat omnibus qui notum facimus tam posteris quam praesentibus. Ego Hugo ecclesiae Humolariensis^c minister indignus cum filiis et fratribus. Quoniam quidam miles de Sancto Quintino, Walterus nomine Osonis cognomine, divina praeventus gratia contemptor praesentium in spe meliorum ob meritum futurorum offert domino praesentia ut aeterna recipiat, pro talique commercio praefatus miles huic ecclesiae contulit in beneficio aquam quamdam aquis nostris^d contiguam in loco qui Brancurtis dicitur, quam a quodam nepote suo Adam nomine, cognomine Palevir, in feodo tenebat. Uterque itaque^e avunculus videlicet et nepos pari assensu parique consilio propriis manibus praedictam oblationem ramo et cespite posuerunt super altare beatissimae virginis Mariae, Domino voventes et iureiurando confirmantes nihil omnino ex die illo^f se reclamaturos, sed et hoc posteris notificaverunt quod aquam supradictam de manu eiusdem^g foeneratoris^h redimerunt,ⁱ datis pro ea decem libris. Hoc autem quod de iure maioris ipsius atque per os largitoris agnovimus, et quod firmiter stare sibi vita concomite viriliter spondet posteris notificare curavimus.^k

^a posteriorum corrected to posteriorum C. ^b quae added B. ^c Humolariensis ecclesiae B. ^d nostris aquis B. ^e ergo C. ^f illa C. ^g cuiusdem B. ^h feudatoris corrected to foeneratoris B.

¹ redemerent changed to redemimus B, redemimus C. ² pateris C. ³ curavimus changed to curamus B.

¹ This act has neither date nor witnesses. Marginal notations in lat. 13911 and H 588 give 1140; Hémeré and Collette (2:231) date it 1144 without explanation. The gift was confirmed in the papal bull of 18 August 1145 by Pope Eugenius III (act no. 53). The abbot was probably Hugh II, who assumed office after 17 September 1143.

² His later gift to Homblières was confirmed in the papal bull of 1169 (act no. 88). Neither Walter nor his nephew is found in any other charter in the Vermandois area, but they may have been related to Ingeran Oison, a vassal of the count of Vermandois (acts nos. 49, 50).

52

Ham

1145 [before August 18]¹

Gerard, lord of Ham and son of Odo,² confirms to Notre-Dame of Homblières the tithe of Ablaincourt-Pressoir which Alberic of Roye held from him in fief and which Oda, wife of Robert of Roupy, held from Alberic. Oda and her sons gave it through the hands of Simon, bishop of Noyon, to Homblières for the salvation of her soul and the souls of her husband, her sons, and her relatives.³ Gerard approves and attaches his seal to the act. Gerard also concedes to Homblières the liberty of the curtis⁴ at Cugny.⁵

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 53, with the title "De libertate curtis nostrae apud Cauviniacum concessa a Gerardo domino Hamensi," and on fol. 53v a reproduction of the figure of a knight in full armor on horseback from Gerard's seal. C: H 588, p. 49, with the same title as B but without the reproduction of the seal.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, p. 160, "chartae Humolariens." (incomplete).

Trans.: Charles, 2:206-207 (fragment).

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:88. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti.⁶ Noverint tam praesentes quam futuri quod ego Gerardus Hamensis dominus, filius Odonis⁷ Pedis Lupi, concessi ecclesiae Sanctae Mariae Humolariensi⁸ decimam de Albincurt⁹ quam Albricus de Roia de feodo meo tenebat et de Albrico Odda,¹⁰ uxor Roberti de Ruppi, ipsa cum filiis suis eam dante et concedente per manum domini Simonis Noviomensis episcopi praedictae ecclesiae ob remedium animae suaet mariti sui et filiorum et propinquorum suorum. Hanc donationem ego Gerardus laudantibus militibus et servientibus meis concessi, laudavi, sigilli mei impressione astipulavi.¹¹ Concessi etiam praefatae ecclesiae¹² libertatem in curia sua quae est apud Choeni et in omnibus ecclesiae dominiis¹³ ne unquam liceat mihi vel meis in his manum mittere quamdiu abbas vel monachi exhibere voluerint.¹⁴ Signum¹⁵ Hugonis abbatis. Signum Rainaldi abbatis de Hamo.¹⁶ Signum Hilduini¹⁷ praepositi. Signum Raineri camerarii. Signum Rogeri cancellarii, dispensatoris ipsius Gerardi et Hugonis Buscheti praepositi. Signum Herlini, Balduini filii sui. Signum Evrardi de Dulli, Walerti nepotis sui. Signum Walteri Folleti.¹ Signum Roberti de Summeta.² Signum Albrici Rafi, fratri sui Petri. Signum Matthaei filii Herberti. Signum Roberti³ de Choeni. Signum Odonis Vetuli⁴ de Boeni. Signum Wibaldi de Duri iuratorum. Signum Rainoldi maioris de Choeni. Hugonis servientium Rainardi abbatis. Signum Hugonis Flamene. Signum Rotlanni, Evurini filii sui. Signum Roberti Venatoris.⁵ Actum apud Hamum,⁶ anno Dominicae incarnationis MCXXXXV,⁷ indictione VIII.⁸

¹ Amen added a. ² Odonis a. ³ Humolariensis a. ⁴ Albincerte a. ⁵ Oda a. ⁶ Rotberti de Rupeio a. ⁷ eam omitted a. ⁸ adstipulavi a. ⁹ ecclesiae omitted BC. ¹⁰ et through voluerint omitted a. ¹¹ dominicis corrected to dominiis B. ¹² subsignavere followed by an incomplete list of witnesses a. ¹³ Ham BC. ¹⁴ Helduini Ba. ¹⁵ et BC. ¹⁶ Fosleti B. ¹⁷ Rotberti de Sommeta a. ¹⁸ Rotberti a. ¹⁹ Vituli BC. ²⁰ Han. B, Ham. C. ²¹ 1144 a. ²² Circa scutum sigillum Gerardi Hamensis domini note of cartulary scribe BC, cum sigillo Gerardi note of a.

¹ The papal confirmation of 18 August 1145 (act no. 53) includes Ablaincourt-Pressoir and Cugny. See also variant u, which might have been taken from the original charter.

² Odo or Odo II, lord of Ham, is known since 1106. "Odo qui dicitur Pes Lupi" appeared in an act of 1134 (Simon, bishop of Noyon, confirming the tithes of Sommette to Prémontré, in A.N., L 955, no. 3, original). Odo II's son Gerard was lord of Ham in 1144 (Collette, 2:124), and Gerard's wife Margaret was mentioned in 1145 (Coll. Moreau, vol. 61, fol. 176, copy of the original). Since Gerard and Margaret did not have children, the lordship of Ham passed to his brother Lanscelin (Collette, 2:124).

³ See acts nos. 49, 50.

⁴ The text reads curia but the cartulary rubric reads curtis. Alexander III's bull (act no. 88) reads "Libertatem curtis quam dedit vobis Gerardus dominus Hamensis." Curia was used in the sense of curtis in several acts from 1147 to 1186; see also Du Cange (2:712).

⁵ The text reads Choeni but the scribe of the medieval cartulary rubricated Cauviniacus. The papal confirmation of 1169 (act no. 88) refers to Gerard of Ham's gift of the curtis at Cauviniacus. The location could have been Choigny, Chauvigny, or Cugny. Cugny seems most likely and is adopted here (see act no. 15, n. 3).

⁶ Robert Venator of Ham was mentioned in a bull of Lucius III of 14 February 1185 (in Ramakers, p. 439, no. 286).

53

Viterbo

1145 [April 15–August 18]¹

Pope Eugenius III places Notre-Dame of Homblières under apostolic protection and confirms its possessions. The pope forbids the count of Vermandois, advocate of the monastery, to exact anything more than the ancient custom, that is, 30 s. annually for pasture rights, one wild boar, and one packhorse from the monastery, and military service by men from the villa of Homblières.

¹ B: Lat. 13911, fols. 5r–6v, with the title "Privilegium Eugenii papae." C: H 588, pp. 7–9, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Ramackers, pp. 132-135, no. 43, based on C.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 8779. Matton, p. 93. GC, 9:1077. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 4.

Eugenius episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Hugoni abbatii Humolariensis monasterii eiusque^a fratribus tam praesentibus quam futuris regularem vitam professis in perpetuum. Quoniam sine verae cultu religionis nec charitatis unitas subsistere potest^b nec Deo gratum exhiberi servitium, expedit apostolicae autoritati religiosas personas diligere et earum loca pia protectione munire. Eapropter, dilecti in Domino filii, vestris iustis postulationibus clementer annuimus et praefatum beatae Dei genitricis semperque virginis Mariae Humolariense monasterium, in quo divino mancipati estis obsequio, sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscipimus et praesentis scripti privilegio communimus. Statuentes ut quascumque possessiones, quaecumque bona idem monasterium in praesentiarum iuste et canonicę possidet aut in futurum concessionē pontificum, liberalitate regum, largitione principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis iustis modis, Deo propitio, poterit adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata permaneant. In quibus haec propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis, villam ipsam integre cum consuetudinibus et omnibus appenditiis suis. Maurincurtem cum mansis et consuetudinibus eorum, aquis et sedibus molendinorum, et cum duabus partibus decimae agrorum; aquam ibidem pro qua thesaurariae Sancti Quintini singulis annis solidos XXX persolvitis.² Aquam quam de manu Gauterii cognomine Oison,^c assensu dominorum suorum, in eleemosynam accepistis.³ Aquam quam de manu Alberti militis eiusdem villae sub anno censu VI solidorum recepistis. Haudiacurtem cum mansis suis et eorum consuetudinibus et omnibus pertinentiis suis. Duos modios frumenti in Rumandicurte. Curcellas cum aquis et molendinis et caeteris suis pertinentiis. Fransnium^d cum omnibus appenditiis suis. Altare de Landicurte.^e Modicam decimam quae est in loco qui dicitur Rutus. In Brandicurte quartam partem allodiorum terrasque plurimas in eleemosynam ecclesiae datas, quas tenent a vobis conversi de Monte Sancti Martini, de ipsis^f terris octavum vobis^g manipulum solventes, et pro nemore quod ibidem habetis duos solidos.⁴ In Pancellis duos solidos. In Segundicurte medium partem praediorum et duas partes decimae. In Haguncurte VI curtilia. In Fontanis sex curtilia, furnum unum, terras de feudo Brunelli et alias in eleemosynam datas. Abbatis villam cum terris et omnibus appenditiis suis.⁵ In Marceio altare cum dote sua et terras eleemosynae. In Mahinpon terras cultas et incultas quas ibi habetis. In Bernoto tertiam partem praediorum in pratis, in terris cultis et incultis, in molendino, in nemoribus, duas partes totius decimae quam accepistis quadam commutatione aliorum reddituum de manu clericorum de Guisia.⁵ In Windicurte⁶ XX solidos. Apud Lecherias terras in eleemosynam datas. Apud Tenollas⁷ sextam partem decimae. [Apud] Castelliacum prata, molendina, ecclesiam, terras, mansos cum consuetudinibus. Decimam quam apud Macerias habetis. In Seriaco sex solidos. In Mecunia tres solidos et agrum⁸ unum. In Monte Lauduni vineam unam. In Laavalle tres vineas quas ibidem emistis. In Monte Nantolii⁹ vineam unam. In Belvario terras cultas et incultas. In Ursvillari altare cum dote sua; ibidem decimam culturarum quam in eleemosynam accepistis. Item ibi terram de Sorbeio quam de manu Brunelli et sororis uxoris suae assensu filiorum filiarumque et dominorum partim donatione, partim emptione accepistis. Lambais cum appenditiis suis. Apud Sanctum Quintinum hospites et consuetudines eorum. Apud Faiet XX solidos et modicam decimam. Apud Lantiacum quinque mansos cum omnibus consuetudinibus eorum. In Pondrusio¹⁰ mansum unum, VIII solidos solventem per annum. In Bovincurte IV curtilia et duos agros. In Perona dimidium furnum et IV solidos de manu clericorum sancti Fursei.¹¹ In Frisia aquam,¹² VIII mansos cum consuetudinibus eorum; ibidem pro commutatione eiusdem aquae centum anguillas et molere ad molendinum militis aquam tenentis, quantum curiae necesse fuerit sine multura in perpetuum.¹³ In Ruminiaco mansos V cum consuetudinibus eorum, terras ubi fuerunt vineae, III solidos de ministerio maioris. In Caciaco VIII mansos cum consuetudinibus eorum, unum molendinum, aquam et nemora. In Cauviniaco¹⁴ curiam cum omnibus appenditiis suis, mansos VIII cum consuetudinibus eorum, ecclesiam, furnum, hospites cum omnibus consuetudinibus eorum. In loco qui dicitur Albincurtis duas partes totius decimae quas uxor Roberti de Rupeio vestrae ecclesiae contulit in beneficio, assensu filiorum dominorumque suorum a quibus eas in feudo tenebat, et assensu Simonis Noviomensis episcopi.¹⁵ Apud Corbiniacum redditus quos ibi habetis. Apud Cauniacum terras quas in eleemosynam accepistis. Apud Gisneiam hoc quod Asselinus de Porta iure haereditario possedit.¹⁶ Prohibemus autem ut Viromandensis comes, ipsius monasterii advocatus, nihil a fratribus ipsius loci vel eorum hominibus exigat, nec in bonis nec in possessionibus eorum exactionem faciat, sed his quae praedecessores sui et ipse ex antiqua consuetudine de ipso monasterio habuerunt contentus existat, vide-licet singulis annis XXX solidos pro pastu, apro uno, somario uno;

si extra provinciam exercitum duxerit homines villaे antiquam consuetudinem, expeditionem ei tantum faciant, sed si abbatи et fratribus rebelles extiterint, sicut consuetudo est, eos ad iustitiam coercent.¹⁰ Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat praefatum monasterium temere perturbare aut eius possessiones auferre vel ablatas retinere seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integra conserventur eorum pro quorum gubernatione et sustentatione concessa sunt, usibus omnimodis profutura, salva sedis apostolicae autoritate et diocesani episcopi canonica iustitia. Si qua¹¹ igitur in futurum ecclesiastica saecularisve persona huius nostrae constitutionis paginam sciens contra eam temere venire tentaverit, secundo tertiove commonita, si non reatum suum digna satisfactione correxerit, potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat, reamque¹² se divino iudicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscatur et a sacratissimo corpore et sanguine Dei et domini redemptoris nostri Iesu Christi aliena fiat, atque in extremo examine districtae ultioni subiaceat. Cunctis autem eidem loco iusta servantibus sit pax domini nostri Iesu Christi quantum et hic¹³ fructum bonae actionis percipient et apud districtum iudicem praemia aeternae pacis inveniant. Amen. Amen. Amen. Ego Eugenius catholicae ecclesiae episcopus. In¹⁴ ora sigilli fiat mecum Domini signum in bonum.¹⁵ [monogramma] Ego Conradus Sabinensis episcopus. Ego¹⁶ Theodewinus Sanctae Rufinae episcopus. Ego Gregorius presbyter cardinalis tituli Calixti. Guido presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Chrysogoni.¹⁷ Thomas presbyter cardinalis tituli Vestinae. Guido presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Laurentii in¹⁸ Damaso. Nicolaus presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Cyriaci. Presbyter Hugo tituli in Lucina. Iulius presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Marcelli. Villanus presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Stephani in Caelio Monte. Gregorius diaconus cardinalis¹⁹ Sanctorum Sergii et Bacchi. Oddo²⁰ diaconus cardinalis Sancti Georgii²¹ ad velum aureum. Guido diaconus cardinalis Sanctorum Cosmae et Damiani. Octavianus diaconus cardinalis Sancti Nicolai in carcere Tulliano. Petrus diaconus cardinalis Sanctae Mariae in Porticu. Rodolphus diaconus cardinalis Sanctae Luciae in Septasolis. Gregorius diaconus cardinalis Sancti Angeli. Ioannes diaconus cardinalis Sancti Adriani.²² Datum Viterbi²³ per manum Roberti sanctae Romanae ecclesiae presbiteri cardinalis et cancellarii, inductione²⁴ VIII, incarnationis Dominicae anno MCXLV, pontificatus vero domini Eugenii III papae anno primo.

¹⁰ eiusdem BC. ¹¹ potest subsistere B. ¹² Oeson C. ¹³ Frausnium B. ¹⁴ Laudicurte B.

¹⁵ ipsius BC. ¹⁶ nobis corrected to vobis C. ¹⁷ suis appenditiis C. ¹⁸ Buisia BC. ¹⁹ Widincurte B.

²⁰ Tenneslas B. ²¹ aprum a. ²² Nautolii BC. ²³ appenditii B. ²⁴ Prondusio C. ²⁵ Fursaei C.

¹ aquam added above B. ² Cauuniaco corrected to Cauviniaco B. ³ possedet changed to possedit B.
⁴ rebelles added above C. ⁵ qua qua B. ⁶ reamque through cognoscat omitted a. ⁷ his BC.
⁸ entire phrase omitted a. ⁹ Sanctus Petrus, Sanctus Paulus, Eugenius [Calixtus B] papa III BC.
¹⁰ Sabinensis C. ¹¹ Ego omitted B. ¹² Chrysog. BC. ¹³ et corrected to in B. ¹⁴ tituli added C.
¹⁵ Odo B. ¹⁶ Gregorii corrected to Georgii B. ¹⁷ sequitur monogramma BC. ¹⁸ Viteobii B.
¹⁹ indictio BC.

¹ Date established by Ramackers; Jaffé-Wattenbach give 18 August.

² See act no. 48.

³ See act no. 51.

⁴ See act no. 44 (cap. 4).

⁵ See act no. 47.

⁶ See act no. 36.

⁷ See act no. 42.

⁸ See acts nos. 49, 50.

⁹ See act no. 44 (chap. 15).

¹⁰ See act no. 44 (chap. 21).

54

1146¹

Ralph, count of Vermandois, announces the resolution of a conflict between the abbot of Homblières, which was under the count's protection, and Hugh the Captive of Vendueil, who seized the rural settlement of Lambay. Hugh relinquished the advocacy of Lambay in return for 10 l., with the consent and counsel of Count Ralph, of Hugh's wife and all his brothers,² and of Clarembald of Vendueil³ from whom he held the fief. Hugh corroborated that transfer solemnly before the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary and Saint Hune-gund with his own hands and swore never to claim anything further from Lambay.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 46r-v, with the title "Radulfi comitis de advocatione non habenda apud Lambaidem." C: H 588, pp. 42-43, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, pp. 40-41, "e chartulario eodem Humolar." (b) Collette, 2:278-279, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:113. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti.⁴ Legis⁵ divinae scriptis paene omnibus commonemur quare⁶ observare diligentius et intendere his quae scripta sunt, convenit eos praecipue qui in ordine sacerdotali sive militari de gubernatione aliorum gloriantur ut sciant quid eis lex divina praecipit observandum. Mandata quidem certa sunt et evidenter ut observare debeamus custodias tabernaculi et altaris et sacerdotii, his enim usi⁷ sint privilegii⁸ progenitores nostri ut non solum bona sanctae matris ecclesiae ad pacem militantium Christo protegerent gladio, sed etiam sua liberalitate multa conferendo, multiplicarent ac multiplicata conservarent.⁴ His ergo atque aliis sufficienter edoctus exemplis, ego Radulfus,⁵ Dei gratia Viromandensis comes, controversiam quae erat inter abbatem Humolariensis monasterii, quod divina dispositio sub nostra protectione modico tempore ordinavit, et Hugonem Captivum de Vendolio super advocatione cuiusdam mansionis quod Lambai⁶ dicitur, quia praefatus miles ut sua faciebat, pro qua etiam iam dictae ecclesiae multa damna contulerat, reclamante abbatе ac conquerente super tali iniuria optimatum nostrorum consilio pioque⁷ suffragio in pacem misimus⁸ perpetuam. Noscat igitur tam praesentium quam posterorum prudens memoria quatenus supradictus⁹ Hugo Captivus, acceptis de thesauro memoratae ecclesiae decem libris, ipsam advocationem liberam atque ab omni debito absolutam eidem ecclesiae perpetua donatione concessit. Assensu igitur et consilio nostro, assensu etiam et consilio omnium fratrum suorum et uxoris suaе, et assensu Clarembaldi de Vendolio de cuius feodo ipsam tenebat, facta est solemniter coram optimatibus nostris ista donatio. Facta est etiam supra altare beatae Mariae virginis sanctaeque Hunegundis per manum eiusdem Hugonis iuramentoque ipsius est corroborata; iuravit¹⁰ namque nihil ulterius se reclamaturum nec per se nec per alium in omnibus quae pertinent ad Lambai,¹¹ neque in terris, neque in nemore, neque etiam in mansionibus.¹² Si quis igitur istam donationem celebriter actam sigillique nostri impressione corroboratam abnegare, quod absit, vel labefactare praesumpserit, iram superni iudicis et nostram successorumque nostrorum incurrat¹³ et centum libras auri regio thesauro¹⁴ persolvat.¹⁵ Signum Radulfi¹⁶ comitis. Signum¹⁷ Hugonis abbatis.¹⁸ Signum Garini abbatis Sancti Projeci.¹⁹ Signum Albrici de Roia. Signum Oilardi²⁰ maioris et Anselli filii eius. Signum Petri praepositi. Signum Widonis de Clastris. Signum Widonis de Moy. Signum filii eius. Hi etiam testes sunt quare Clarembaldus concessit: Signum Saraceni fratris praedicti Hugonis. Signum Naterii. Signum Hilduini praepositi. Actum anno incarnati verbi MCXLVI,²¹ inductione III. Ego Robertus cancellarius subscripsi.²²

⁴ Amen added a. ⁵ Legis through quare omitted a. ⁶ nisi BC. ⁷ privilegiis a. ⁸ conseruarent B. ⁹ Radulphus a. ¹⁰ Viromandensium C. ¹¹ Lambais a. ¹² proque BC. ¹³ misimus in pacem a. ¹⁴ saepedictus a. ¹⁵ iuravitque corrected to iuravit C. ¹⁶ se omitted C. ¹⁷ mansoribus BC, corrected to mansionibus C; mansionibus a. ¹⁸ incurret BC, corrected to incurrat C; incurrat a. ¹⁹ regio thesauro omitted C. ²⁰ persolvet BC, corrected to persolvat C. ²¹ Radulphi a. ²² Signum Hugonis abbatis. Signum Garini abbatis Sancti Projeci are underlined and a note added in the margins of BC: hae subscriptiones sunt alterius chartae nempe 43 quae una cum integro folio exisa a volumine intercepta est; see n. 4. ²³ Huilardi BC. ²⁴ 1155 BC, changed to 1146 B; MCXLVI a. ²⁵ scripsi C.

¹ Lat. 13911 and H 588 read 1155 (later changed to 1146 in lat. 13911) with which induction III agrees. However, Count Ralph died in 1152; Abbot Hugh resigned in 1150; Alberic of Roye (comital seneschal) is not cited after 1148 (Guyotjeannin, p. 220); and Pope Eugenius III confirmed this transaction on 14 May 1147 (act no. 59). Thus the reading of 1146 in Hémeré is accepted here. Since the same incorrect induction for 1146 is given in acts nos. 55 and 56, the error is attributable to the seventeenth-century copyists.

² See act no. 80, n. 2, for Hugh of Vendeuil's brothers.

³ Claremabaud III, lord of Vendeuil, succeeded his father ca. 1130 and is known as late as 1153 (Colliette, 2:54-56). See also act no. 59.

⁴ Marginal notations in both lat. 13911 and H 588 state that the witnesses Hugh [II], abbot of Homblières, and Garin, abbot of Saint-Prix, belong not to this charter but to charter "43," an unclear reference. Caffiaux's list of charters taken from the "Cartulaire de l'abbé de Homblières dont une copie chez Collette, curé de Gricourt" (B.N., fr. 33085, fols. 275-281) omits charter no. 43 and does not refer to any act of 1155 or 1156.

⁵ Oilard was mayor of the commune of Saint-Quentin. He and his brother Baldwin helped found Bony, precursor of Mont-Saint-Martin, ca. 1100 (Colliette, 2:70-71). They appeared in an act for Bony in 1119 (text in Hugo, 2:probationes, p. 154, with the date 1118, and in Colliette, 2:110-111, with the correct date). Oilard was called mayor for the first time in 1120 (act of Ralph, count of Vermandois, for Saint-Prix, in Colliette, 2:166-167).

55

1146¹

Simon, bishop of Noyon, concedes to Abbot Hugh [II] and Homblières the altar of Rouvroy which Master John, canon of Saint-Quentin, holds for his lifetime. The bishop retains only the episcopal and synodal right.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 36r-v, with the title "Simonis episcopi de altari in Ruverio."

C: H 588, pp. 34-35, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, p. 43, "chartae eorumdem." (b) Colliette, 2:279, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:113. Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti.² Docente ac suggestente Spiritu sancto, didicimus fratribus Deo³ militantibus opem miserationis affirri debere, eisque potissimum quos mundi flore calcato⁴ divi-nae contemplationi videmus ardentius inhaerere. Qui enim optimam partem elegere,⁵ optima merentur ab optimis impetrare. Eapropter ego Simon, Dei gratia Noviomensis episcopus, praesentes scire volu-mus et futuros venerabilem Humolariensis ecclesiae abbatem Hugonem, bonae opinionis ac religionis virum, cum eiusdem loci fratribus nos humiliter adiisse atque multimodis⁶ exorasse quatenus altare de Ruverio⁷ quod tenet magister Ioannes, canonicus Sancti Quintini, in vita sua ipso humiliter exorante, ob remedium⁸ animarum antecesorum nostrorum suae ecclesiae perpetua donatione concederemus, tantisque votis et precibus satisfacere necessarium duximus. Itaque, charissime fili Hugo, plenam rationis petitionem attendentes praesertim quod hoc⁹ tempore in tuo monasterio ordo monasticus floret, condescendere petitioni tuae charitate devicti attrahimur, tibique ac successoribus tuis¹⁰ in perpetuum salvo pontificali et¹¹ synodali iure altare postulatum benigne¹² concedimus. Si quis igitur istam donationem celebriter atque laudabiliter actam vel abnegare, quod absit, vel labefactare praesumpserit, anathematis vinculis eum obligamus, apicibusque litterarum mandata¹³ cum testium annotatione sigillique nostri impressione astipulari non absurdum censuimus. Signum Simonis episcopi. Signum Balduini decani Noviomensis ecclesiae. Signum Gaurini abbatis Sancti Projecti. Signum Godescalci abbatis de Monte Sancti Martini. Actum anno verbi incarnationis MCXLVI, indictione III. Ego Hugo cancellarius subscripsi atque recensui.

⁸ Amen added a. ⁹ domino corrected to deo B. ¹⁰ mundo calcato a. ¹¹ elegerunt a. ¹² multis modis BC. ¹³ Ruverio B. ¹⁴ remedia a. ¹⁵ tuo a. ¹⁶ tuis successoribus C. ¹⁷ ac a. ¹⁸ benigne omitted C. ¹⁹ mandatarum a.

¹ The indiction should be IX (not III) for the year 1146; see also acts nos. 54, n. 1, and 56, n. 1.

56

1146¹

Nicholas, bishop of Cambrai, settled a dispute between Homblières and Walter Peluchel and his son Nicholas [of Avesnes]² over the alod of Doignies. For that alod Walter will pay the monastery each year between Christmas and Epiphany a census of 20 s. which will come from the transit tax that his collector takes at Landrecies or, if that source is not adequate, from revenues of his mill and castle. If he does not pay, the bishop will excommunicate him and place his land under interdict until he does so.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 77r-v, with the title "Nicolai episcopi Cameracensis viginti solidis persolvendis ecclesiae Humoliarensi a domino de Aventis." C: H 588, p. 67, with the same title as B except for "Humolariensi."

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, pp. 160-161, incomplete. (b) Collette, 2:277-278, copy of a.

Trans.: Charles, 2:207-208.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:113. Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Domini. Nicolaus, Dei gratia Cameracensis episcopus, tam futuris quam praesentibus in perpetuum.^a Ut Deo et hominibus placentes bonum^b mundi sacrificii odorem solertius^c offeramus, expedit ut nullius contra iustitiam agentes^d personam^e acceptantes ad ecclesiasticas impugnationes expugnandas scuto bonae voluntatis gladio spirituali^f accingamur ad^g haec, qui a pueritia^h edoctiⁱ pastorali armatura subnixi, controversiam quam^j inter dominum Walterum^k Peluchel, quoad vixit, et Nicolaum filium suum, eius successorem, et ecclesiam beatae Hunegundis de Humblieris super alodio de Diegniis usque ad haec^l tempora nostra interminata constiterat, consilio religiosarum personarum pace abbatis Hugonis et capituli Humblieriensis, eo tenore terminavimus: ut praefatus Nicolaus et successores sui prae-fatae^m ecclesiae Humblierensi infra Nativitatis Dominicæ et Theophaniae dies singulis annisⁿ per vienatorem suum, qui successu tem-porum vienatum^o de Landreciis collegerit, viginti solidos monetae illius terrae pro censu irrefragabiliter persolvat. Quod si vienatum^p et vienatores defecerint ex fructibus molendini et castelli censem eum-dem ecclesiae solvi facient. Si autem in tempore Nicolai qui in praesi-enti censualis possessor^q est, vel in tempore cuiuslibet successoris sui praeordinatus census defecerit, eum in cuius tempore, quod Deus avertat, deficiet nos et successores nostri in^r cuiuslibet tempore con-tigerit^s excommunicabimus et terram suam, quoad praedictæ reconciliatus fuerit, ecclesiae imban niemus. Huius terminationis testes sunt: venerabiles fratres nostri Guidricus Letiensis,^t Mainardus Altimon-tensis, Radulfus Maroliensis,^u Balduinus Sancti Ioannis, Nicolaus Sancti Foillani abbates. Nos vero ecclesiae communitati in posterum providentes in prævaricatores donec resipuerint excommunicationis sententiam proferimus et canonica subsignatione, et sigilli nostri appositione huius nostri decreti paginam confirmavimus. Signum Theoderici^v praepositi et archidiaconi. Signum Ioannis, Alardi archidiaconorum. Signum Gerardi decani^w et archidiaconi.^x Signum Gue-riboldi, Gerardi^y sacerdotum. Signum Guillermi,^z Radulfi, Obrici, Gualteri^{aa} levitarum.^{bb} Signum^{cc} Albrici, Eustachii, Gualteri, Ioannis, Anselli,^{dd} Matthaei sublevitarum. Actum anno incarnationi verbi^{ee} MCXLVI, inductione III,^{ff} praesulatus domini Nicolai X. Ego Gue-riboldus cancellarius^{gg} scripsi et recensui.

^a address abbreviated a. ^b hominibus placentes bonum omitted a. ^c solertius omitted a. ^d agen-tis a. ^e perronam BC. ^f gladio spirituali omitted a. ^g ad through edociti omitted a. ^h quia peritia C. ⁱ quae a. ^j Galterum B, Galterum C. ^k haec omitted C. ^l suprafatae changed to saepfatae B, soepfatae a. ^m singulis annis added in margin B. ⁿ vienatus C. ^o professor corrected to possessor B. ^p in through contigerit omitted a. ^q Guerricus Lessiensis a. ^r Marci-

liensis B, Radulphus Maricoliensis a. ¹ Theodorici a. ¹ diaconi corrected to decani B. ² et archidiaconi omitted a. ² Gerald C. ² Guillermi a. ² Galteri C. ² Ioannis, Anselli added before levitarum a, probably an error, for they also appear before sublevitarum. ² Signum omitted B. ² Auselli B. ² verbi incarnati C. ² inductione III omitted a; see n. 1. ² cancellarius omitted C.

¹ The year 1146 has induction IX, not III; perhaps the original had IX, which the cartulary scribe misread as III (see act no. 54, n. 1). Nicholas I was consecrated bishop of Cambrai in 1136 but the month is unknown; his tenth year would have run into 1146.

² For Walter and Nicholas of Avesnes, see Colliette, 2:232-234.

57

Laon

1146

Bartholomew, bishop of Laon, confirms that half of the tithe belonging to the altar of Saint-Remy at Mézières-sur-Oise had long belonged to the church of Homblières, and that Homblières purchased the other half from Robert of Mézières and his brother John, with the consent of their wives and children. Scot and his wife, Escheline, from whom the brothers held the tithe in fief, approved. The bishop further concedes two modiatae of land at Châtillon-sur-Oise which Escheline's father gave to Homblières with the assent of his brothers and nephews. Also, Homblières purchased whatever William of Sissy had by hereditary right at Châtillon-sur-Oise.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 52r-v, with the title "Bartholomei Laudunensis episcopi de decima apud Macerias." C: H 588, p. 48, with the same title as B. D: Claude l'Ely, Grand-archidiacre de Thiérache, "Histoire de la ville de Laon," 1:386, copy of the 18th c. in the L'Ely de la Simone family (manuscript not seen).

Ind.: Florival, p. 393 (indicates D). Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Bartholomeus, Dei gratia Laudunensium episcopus, notum facio tam praesentibus quam futuris quod ecclesiae Humolariensi medietatem decimae casae altaris Sancti Remigii apud Macerias, quam longa temporum quiete possederat, et alterius partis medietatem quam Robertus de Maceriis et Ioannes frater eius per pecuniam in eleemosynam eidem ecclesiae per manum nostram reddiderunt, pontificali autoritate in perpetuum concessimus. Hoc concesserunt eorum uxores Odila et Teredza et filii et filiae. Hoc etiam concessit Scotus et uxor eius Eschelina de cuius feodo predicti fratris^a decimam tenebant. Concessimus etiam eidem duas modiatas terrae apud Castellulum^b quas dedit Robertus filius patri Esch[el]inae assensu fratrum et nepotum suorum. Emit etiam eadem ecclesia apud praedictum Castellulum^c a Willelmo^d de Sisiaco et uxore eius et filiis et filiabus quidquid ibi iure haereditario possidebant et clamant, et in eleemosinam¹ ecclesia haec recepit. Ut autem hoc ratum et immutabile permaneat sigilli nostri impressione et testium subscriptione muniri praecipimus.² Testes donationis decimae sunt: Fulbertus presbyter, Wido de Moy, Simon de Ribodimonte, Hugo de Maceriis, Alardus et fratres sui. Testes eleemosinae Roberti: Philippus,³ Simon de Ribodimonte, Oddo, Warchainus, Henricus Malus Clericus. Testes venditionis: Willimi de Sisiaco,⁴ Simon de Ribodimonte, Clarembaldus, Stephanus de Sisiacho. Aubertus⁵ cocus⁶ de Humolariis, Ioannes et Gerbertus filii Otimundi. Actum Lauduni anno incarnationis verbi MCXLVI. Ego Angotus cancellarius relegi.

¹ fratres corrected to fratriis C. ² Castellatum changed to Castellulum BC. ³ Castellatum changed to Castellulum B. ⁴ Wilhelmo C. ⁵ hebrursina ? corrected by a later hand to eleemosynam B. ⁶ praeceipimus C. ⁷ Sisiacho B. ⁸ et Aubertus C. ⁹ comes BC.

¹ Perhaps Philip of Pontru, who appeared with Simon of Ribemont in acts nos. 49, 50.

58

1146

The church of Prémontré receives from the church of Homblières the land of Lehericourt, cultivated and uncultivated, with water, woods, meadow, and site of a mill, in return for an annual census of ten modii of grain, measure of Saint-Quentin.¹ The monks of Prémontré will notify Homblières to send its agent to measure the grain for payment between the feast of Saint Remi [1 October] and the feast of Saint Martin [11 November]. The agreement is confirmed by the assent of each chapter and the seal of each church.²

A: Aisne, A.D., H 791, no. 1. Chirograph, pendant seal lost. B: Lat. 13911, fol. 56r-v, with the title "De decem modiis frumenti a fratribus Praemonstratae ecclesiae quot annis persolvendis pro terra de firmitate." C: H 588, pp. 51-52, with the same title as B, except "ecclesiae Praemonstratae."

Ind.: Matton, pp. 94, 116.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Notum sit omnibus quod aecclesia¹ Praemonstrata censualiter accepit ab aecclesia Humolariensi terram de Lehericurt cultam et incultam, in aquis, silvis,² pratis, et sedem molendini in omnibus usibus in quibus melius ad suum commodum coli poterit. Census autem talis est: decem modii ad modium Sancti Quintini octo sextarios continentem. Quod si forte mensura³ creverit, aecclesia Praemonstrata nuntiabit⁴ aecclesiae Humolariensi. Si vero decreverit, Humolariensis nuntiabit Praemonstratae et mensura in id ipsum quod fuerat reformabitur.¹ Persolvetur autem a festo Sancti Remigii usque ad festum Sancti Martini, et quando recipiendum erit, fratres Praemonstratae aecclesiae nuntiabunt Humolariensi aecclesiae ut mittat nuntios² suos ad mensurandum.³ Quod si infra quindecim dies non venerint⁴ et postea communidam pno,⁵ ut est incendium vel rapina perierit, eis⁶ non restaurabitur. De frumento novem modii erunt et unus modius avenae qui sedecim⁷ sextariis mensurabitur, et frumentum de eadem terra persolvetur de meliori post semen tem. Quod si alibi accipiatur consimile ipsorum monachorum arbitrio persolvetur,⁸ aut ad⁹ "Castellulum" aut ad Morocourt¹⁰ eis¹¹ deducetur a fratribus Praemonstratae aecclesiae. Quod si de hiis¹² aliqua querimonia unde¹³ placitari oporteat emerserit et aecclesia Praemonstrata per se terminare nequiverit, abbas Humolariensis per se et per suos in querenda iusticia Praemonstratam aecclesiam iuvabit quantum poterit sine sacramento et rerum suarum dispendio. Quod ut ratum permaneat assensu utriusque capituli sigillis utriusque aecclesiae confirmatum est. Signum¹⁴ Hugonis abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Rainardi prioris. Signum Hilduini praepositi. Signum Arnulfi thesaurarii. Signum Humberti diaconi. Signum Rogeri subdiaconi. Actum anno verbi incarnati¹⁵ MCXLVI.

¹ ecclesia throughout BC. ² sylvis BC. ³ mansura B. ⁴ nunciare in lieu of nuntiare throughout BC. ⁵ informabitur C. ⁶ nuncios BC. ⁷ mansurandum B. ⁸ venerit BC. ⁹ damno BC. ¹⁰ ei BC. ¹¹ sexdecim BC. ¹² et added BC. ¹³ ad omitted C. ¹⁴ Castellum BC. ¹⁵ Morocourt C. ¹⁶ eis omitted C. ¹⁷ his BC. ¹⁸ ut unum corrected by a later hand to unde B. ¹⁹ In place of the witnesses found in A, BC have Signum Praemonstratensis abbatis. Signum Radulfi prioris, Rainaldi subprioris. Signum Grinberti diaconi. Signum Albrici subdiaconi. Signum Fulgonis cellararius.

¹ The terms of this agreement were changed in 1211 (act no. 110A); see also act no. 138.

² The charter sealed by Homblières (text A) was given to Prémontre; the other half of the chirograph, sealed by Prémontre, was given to Homblières and later copied into its cartulary (text BC).

Pope Eugenius III places the monastery of Homblières under apostolic protection and confirms these possessions: the altar of Rouvroy conceded by Simon, bishop of Noyon (act no. 55); the advocacy received from Hugh the Captive [of Vendeuil] (act no. 54); the agreement concerning the tithe of Marcy made between Homblières and Philip, his wife, and sons, with the assent of Burchard [of Guise] and his brother Geoffrey; and the agreement which Homblières made with Eselin concerning the entire benefice which he held at Morcourt from the church of Homblières. The monks are exempt from the tithe on anything produced by their own labor or required for feeding their animals.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 7r-v, with the title "Privilegium Eugenii de confirmatione redditum eiusdem ecclesiae." C: H 588, pp. 10-11, with the same title as B.

Pub.: (a) Ramackers, pp. 149-150, no. 50, based on C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93. Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 9047. GC, 9:1077. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 5.

Eugenius episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Hugoni Humolariensi abbatи eiusque fratribus tam praesentibus quam futuris regularem vitam professis in perpetuum. Religiosis desideriis dignum est facilem praebere consensum ut fidelis devotio celerem sortiatur effectum. Quocirca dilecti in Domino filii, vestris iustis postulationibus clementer annuimus et praesatum locum, in quo divino^a mancipati estis obsequio, sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscipimus^b et praesentis scripti privilegio communimus. Statuentes ut quascumque possessiones, quaecumque bona in praesentiarum iuste et canonice possidetis aut in futurum concessionе pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium seu aliis iustis modis Deo propitio poteritis adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus^c et illibata permaneant. In quibus haec propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis: Altare de Runereo a dilecto nostro filio^d Simone Noviomensi episcopo vobis canonice concessum est; et advocationem quam ab Hugone Captivo et fratribus eius, assensu Clarenbaldi de Vendoleo, in beneficium suscepistis; et conventionem super decima de Marceio factam inter vos et Philippum, uxorem et filios eius, assensu Burchardi et Godefridi^e fratris eius, annuente Simone Noviomensi episcopo; et quem fecistis cum Eselino super toto beneficio quod in Maricurti ab ecclesia vestra tenebat, sicut rationabiliter facta sunt, nos autoritate apostolica confirmamus. Sane laborum vestrorum, quos propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, seu de nutrimentis^f vestrorum animalium nullus a vobis decimas exigere praesumat. Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat praesatum locum temere perturbare aut eius possessiones auferre vel ablatas retinere, minuere, aut aliquibus vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integre conserventur eorum, pro quorum gubernatione vel sustentatione concessa sunt, usibus omnibus profutura, salva sedis apostolicae autoritate et diocesani episcopi canonica iustitia. Si qua igitur in futurum ecclesiastica saecularisve persona hanc nostrae constitutionis paginam sciens contra eam venire temere tentaverit, secundo tertiove commonita, si non satisfactione congrua emendaverit, potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat reamque se divino iudicio existere de perpetrata iniuitate cognoscat et a sacratissimo corpore ac sanguine Domini nostri Iesu Christi^a quatenus hic fructum bonae actionisⁱ percipient et apud districtum iudicem prae-mia aeternae pacis inveniant. Amen, Amen, Amen. Ego Eugenius episcopus catholicae ecclesiae ss. [monogramma] Ego Albericus Ostiensis episcopus ss. Ego Ymarus Tusculanus episcopus ss.^j Ego Guido presbyter cardinalis Sancti Chrysogoni^k ss. Ego Odo^l diaconus cardinalis Sancti Georgii ad velum aureum ss. Datum Parisiis per manum Hugonis presbyteri cardinalis agentis vicem domini Guidonis sanctae Romanae ecclesiae diaconi cardinalis et cancellarii, II idus maii, inductione X, incarnationis Dominicae [anno] MCXLVII, pontificatus vero domini Eugenii papae III anno tertio.

^a domino corrected to divino B. ^b suscepimus B. ^c successoribus changed by a later hand to processoribus ^d B. ^e filio nostro B. ^f Godofridi B. ^g instrumentis C. ^h Dei et domini redemptoris a. ⁱ a adds aliena fiat atque in extremo examine districtae ultioni subiaceat. Cunctis autem eidem loco iusta servantibus sit pax domini nostri Iesu Christi. ^j actionis changed to actioni C. ^k Ego Ymarus Tusculanus episcopus added in margin B. ^l Grisogoni B. ^m Oddo C.

60

1147¹

In a chirograph the monastery of Saint-Prix gives the altar of Morcourt to the monastery of Homblières in return for an annual census of ten modii of wheat. Homblières will choose the priest of that church and will have the oblation commonly called obliae. Because Homblières was weighed down by census payments, it assigned Saint-Prix twelve modii from several of its tithe revenues in lieu of the census.²

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 49r-v, with the title "De decem modiis frumenti et aliis consuetudinibus persolvendis ecclesiae Beati Praejecti pro altari de Morcourt." C: H 588, pp. 45-46, with the same title as B except for "Morcourt."

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Generatio advenit et generatio praeterit, cunctisque ad casum tendentibus gesta praesentium quae posteris memoranda praevidentur^a scriptis mandantur. Quocirca et nos tempori servientes scire volumus et praesentes et futuros Humolariensem ecclesiam a Beati Projicti ecclesia altare de Morcourt^b censualiter accepisse, ^c tali quidem conditione ut quot annis decem modios frumenti mensura illi persolvat et sic deinceps ipsum in omni fructu usuario libere possideat. Retenta tamen in manu praefatae ecclesiae sola presbyterii donatione, tali videlicet tenore ut quemcumque presbyterum Humolariensis ecclesia elegerit illi ab abbatе Sancti Proiecti⁴ sine contradictione donetur et praefato abbati omnino de episcopalibus⁵ responsuro oblatae, quae vulgo dicuntur obliae, ab eodem sacerdote. Sed quia praefata ecclesia sub nimietate census gravari videbatur, supradictus abbas rogatu fratrum suorum aliquantisper indulxit in hoc scilicet ut campellos duos de dote altaris Dessimy,⁶ quorum alter situs est sub molendino de Curcellis, alter in cultura sub Quercu, quos monachi inter se cambierant, liberos ab omni decima sicut ipse diu possederat possidendos concessit. Addimus item his quod eadem ecclesia ab illa quidquid decimae infra territorium Marchei vel Abbatisvillae⁷ continet pertinens ad dotem altaris Fontissummae pro dimidio modio frumenti, et iterum quidquid a Varmarifonte usque ad praefatas curias ad communem decimam eiusdem altaris pertinens, et insuper decimam campelli qui dicitur Hisaperes pro modio frumenti censualiter accepit, pactione huiuscmodi: quantum his qui secum in eadem decima participant, alias restituat; qui modii in summa sunt XII, de quibus ne inter ecclesias in futurum in compartienda⁸ vel coagitanda mensura aliqua contentio suboriatur provisum est ut omnis ad rasuram, quod vulgo fust a fust dicitur, mensuratur, quibus et dimidiis modius addatur. Distinctum est etiam quod si forte post haec illa communis mensura creverit, Humolariensis ecclesia reclamabit, vel si decreverit, alia reclamabit; et pro altera reclamante praefata mensura in pristinum reformabitur et census ad abbatiam reducetur. Quae ut rata maneant testium astipulatione et chirographi incisione et sigillorum impressione et anathematis distinctione confirmamus. Signum Garini abbatis. Signum Hugonis abbatis. Signum Deodati prioris. Signum Richardi praepositi. Signum Hilduini praepositi. Signum Balduini. Signum Arnulfi. Signum Rogeri cellarii. Signum Bonardi⁹ cellarii. Actum temporibus Garini abbatis [et] Hugonis secundi, anno incarnationis Dominicae MCXLVII, anno videlicet peregrinationis Francorum, indictione X, epacta XXVIII, concurrente II.

⁴ providentur B. ⁵ Morocourt C. ⁶ accepisse censualiter C. ⁷ Praejecti B. ⁸ episcopalibus C. ⁹ Deissiu B. ¹⁰ Abbatisville B. ¹¹ consartienda BC, corrected to compartienda B. ¹² Bernardi C.

¹ All elements of the date agree except the epact, which should be XVII in 1147. The agreement was reached "at the time of" Abbots Hugh II (1143–1150) and Garin III (1145–1148); most likely the chirograph itself was redacted after 1150.

² See also acts nos. 65, 79.

61

Laon

1149

Bartholomew, bishop of Laon, confirms gifts of vineyards to Saint-Sauveur of Anchin. Included are several properties at Urcel¹ that were later purchased by Homblières:² the manse of Matilda, mother of Theodoric, cleric of Urcel, given when she became a lay convert at Anchin; three parts of the vineyard given by Theodoric of Urcel; and all the land of Ohalt, who likewise became a lay convert. The grants were approved by the children, relatives, and friends of the donors.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 43r-v, with the title "Charta vinearum de Ursel a fratribus Aquincenti nobis concessa." C: H 588, pp. 39-40, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Bartholomeus^a Dei miseratione sanctae Laudunensis ecclesiae humilis minister. Quem in domo summi patrisfamilias nos licet indignos gratia divina constituit circa omnia quae ad utilitatem et consolationes ecclesiarum pertinere videntur vigilanti cura nos esse sollicitos officium nostrum requirit, non solum enim iura et possessiones earum quae ab antiquo constitutae sunt in statu et tenore pristino conservare, verum etiam quae ex fidelium devotione eis collata sit auctoritate^b imaginis nostrae et litterarum nostrarum munimine confirmare debemus. Quapropter notum sit omnibus tam futuris quam praesentibus quod cum Matildis,^c mater^d Theodorici clerici de Ursel, in ecclesia Sancti Salvatoris de Aquincento se conversam reddidisset, assensu filiorum et filiarum suarum caeterorumque parentum et amicorum suorum, totum mansum suum praefatae ecclesiae in eleemosynam donavit. Praeterea Theodorus de Ursel, consul, redditus in eadem ecclesia tres partes vineae ei assignavit assensu uxoris suaे Heszelinae et filiorum ac filiarum suarum caeterorumque amicorum suorum. Similiter Ohalt, facta conversa, totam terram quam habebat assensu filiorum suorum, Hugonis scilicet^e et Ernaldi, ac parentum suorum eidem ecclesiae donavit. Henricus quoque de Berten eidem ecclesiae vineam suam quae est in Bilgi in eleemosynam donavit concessione liberorum suorum et aliorum amicorum suorum. Burdinus etiam de Monantilio et Oddo, gener suus, eidem ecclesiae dederunt vineam unam quae est in Rosaria assensu filiorum et filiarum suarum et amicorum suorum. Ad haec Nautherus eidem ecclesiae donavit duas partes vineae in Nalgi, concedente uxore sua Bertha, concedentibus etiam caeteris amicis et cognatis suis. Robertus quoque Parvus dedit eidem ecclesiae vineam unam quae est in Nalgi, assensu Hermundi patris sui et fratribus suorum et caeterorum parentum suorum. Praeterea Amisardus ex dono suo contulit eidem ecclesiae vineam unam annuente Bertha matre sua et caeteris parentibus et amicis suis. Buda quoque, uxor Mauritii, dedit vineam suam praefatae ecclesiae assensu liberorum suorum et caeterorum parentum suorum. Gioldus de Monticello et Legardis de Ursel dederunt duas partes vineae quae sunt in Bilgi assensu liberorum suorum et caeterorum parentum suorum. Non solum vero haec supradicta memoratae ecclesiae confirmavimus, sed insuper omnia quaecumque deinceps in diocesi nostra rationabiliter adquirere poterit concedimus et nostro munimine ei corroboramus.⁴ Signum Galteri abbatis Sancti Martini. Signum Hugonis abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Gilberti de Sancto Martino. Signum Theodorici clerici de Ursel. Signum Rudulfi de Capiniaco. Signum Anselmi de Ato. Signum Radulfi maioris. Signum Ermenoldi Carpentarii. Signum Burdini de Monantilio et Adronis generi sui. Si quis igitur ecclesiastica saecularisve persona hanc nostrae institutionis paginam infringere aut mutare praesumpserit, anathematis sententiae subiaceat. Actum Lauduno anno incarnationis Domini MCXLIX. Ego Angotus cancellarius relegi.

⁴ Bartholomaeus C. ⁵ autoritate C. ⁶ Natildis C. ⁷ matris BC, corrected to mater B. ⁸ scilicet Hugonis C. ⁹ filiorum C. ¹⁰ corroboravimus C.

¹ The properties are identified by the cartulary rubric as being in Urcel. See also n. 2.

² When Homblières purchased several properties at Urcel from Anchin in 1153 (act. no. 67), it received the present act as proof of Anchin's rights. See also act no. 70 for a similar example of the transfer of titles with property.

62

[1136-1143/1150]¹

Hugh [II],² abbot of Homblières, concedes to the nuns of Montreuil-les-Dames³ in Thiérache the small tithe of horses and cattle in Pisieux, a place belonging to the altar of the church in the villa of Urvillers, for one pound of wax annually.³ This concession was requested by Bernard, abbot of Clairvaux.

A:⁴ B.N., lat. 17141, Chartes de Picardie, no. 1, bottom half of chirograph; no sign of a seal. B: Lat. 13911, fol. 88, without a title. C: H 588, p. 72. Wyard, p. 34, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, text, pp. 152-153, from a "charta." (b) Colliette, 2:272, copy of a.

Trans.: Charles, 2:192-193.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 3:39. Matton, p. 95.

Ego Hugo, Dei gratia abbas et humilis minister ecclesie Humolariensis, notum volo fieri^a presentibus et futuris quod quedam Dei famule sacre religionis habitu^b insignite, commandentes in Terascia^c loco qui dicitur Monasteriolum, nostram expeterunt^d presentiam, obsecrantes ut minutam decimam bestiarum et pecorum^e que haberent in loco qui dicitur Puteolis pertinens^f ad altare ecclesie ville que dicitur Ursvillare^g concederemus et remitteremus eis proⁱ amore Dei. Ipse autem persolverent quot annis ecclesie nostre unam libram cere ut^j hec concessio rata foret.^k Quod et^k promiserunt^l sua sponte, non nostra exactione. Nos^m autem inito proinde consilio quod petebant eis benigne concessimus, amore Dei et precatu venerabilis abbatis Clarevallisⁿ domini^o scilicet Bernardi.

^a et added BC. ^b habitu religionis C. ^c Teraschia a. ^d expeterunt corrected by a later hand to expeterunt B. ^e pecorum et bestiarum a. ^f pertinentem a. ^g ecclesie omitted BCa. ^h indecipherable reading changed to Urvilare B. ⁱ eis pro omitted a. ^j ut through foret omitted a. ^k eis BC. ^l promiserimus BC. ^m hoc BCa. ⁿ Clarevallis omitted a. ^o domini A.

¹ Extreme dates are 1136, when Montreuil-les-Dames was founded, and 1150, when Hugh II resigned the abbacy of Homblières. Bernard of Clairvaux was at Homblières on 30 January 1147 (Vacandard, 2:292, n. 1; 562), but there is no evidence that he made the request at that time. If the abbot was Hugh I (see n. 2), the date would be 1136–1143.

² Probably Hugh I (1132–1143), who qualified himself as humilis, whereas Hugh II (1143–1150) preferred indignus.

³ See also acts nos. 125, 126.

⁴ The text here is from A, the charter retained by Montreuil-les-Dames. Perhaps Hémeré (a) saw the second part of the chirograph retained by Homblières and copied into its cartulary (BC).

63

[1144/1146–1150]¹

Hugh [II], abbot of Prémontré, declares in this chirograph that the monks of Notre-Dame of Ham, of Notre-Dame of Homblières, and of Notre-Dame of Villeselve, and a certain Walter of Trosly-Loire had lands adjacent to Prémontré's curia of Bonneuil. By common consent, in order to avoid future dissension and litigation among themselves, Prémontré acquired those adjacent lands in exchange for other lands which it possessed.² However, if any layman challenges these exchanges, all the lands will be returned to the original possessor.

B: Soissons, B.M., MS 7, Cartulaire de Prémontré, fol. 98r, copy of ca. 1275.

C:³ Lat. 13911, fol. 81, with the title "De mutatione quarundam terrarum quas abbatia Praemonstratae ecclesiae mutuavit [cum] aliis abbatis scilicet Hamensis, Humbleriis, [et] monachis de Villa Sylva." D:³ H 588, p. 69, with the same title as C.

Pub.: (a) Ponthieux, pp. 282–283, no. 5 (brief extract from D).

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Hugo, Dei patientia Praemonstratae ecclesiae abbas vocatus,^a eiusdemque loci fratum conventus omnibus tam futuris quam praesentibus notum fieri volumus quam^b fratres Sanctae^c Mariae Hamensis et monachi^d Sanctae^e Mariae de Humblieris et^f monachi Sanctae Mariae^g de Vileselva^h et quidam Galterus de Trosliⁱ quasdam terras nostris terris interiacentes^j et admixtas et curiae nostrae Bonoli^k propinquas habebant.^l Nos vero communi assensu tam^m nostro quam praedictarum ecclesiarum quam etiamⁿ Galteri ut dissensiones et^o litigations in futuro inter nos evitaremus,^p terras praedictas hoc modo acquisivimus^q quod quasdam alias terras^r singulariter nostras proprias^s pro acquisitis ecclesiis praedictis obtainere, possidere in perpetuum concessimus. Huiusmodi autem conventio inter nos et praedictas ecclesias^t instituta est ut si forte ex viris saecularibus de praedictis terris calumnia^u exorta^v fuerit ad hoc ut terra in pace teneri non potuerit, nos illis et ipsi nobis invicem restaurabimus. Hoc igitur^w ut ratum et inconvulsum habeatur tam nostrae ecclesiae quam praedictarum ecclesiarum sigillorum impressione et cyrographorum^x distributione communi assensu et^y auctoritate^z in posterum volumus confirmari et confirmando corroborari. Signum Hugonis Praemonstratae ecclesiae abbatis. Signum Radulfi prioris eius. Signum totius^{aa} capituli. Signum Renoldi^{bb} Hamensis^{cc} abbatis. Signum Odonis^{dd} prioris eius. Signum totius^{ee} capituli. Signum Hugonis abbatis de Humblieris.^{ff} Signum prioris eius.^{gg} Signum totius^{hh} capituli.ⁱⁱ Signum Macharii. Signum Theobaldi. Signum Alexis.^{jj} Signum Guillelmi prioris Sanctae Mariae^{kk} de Vileselva.^{ll}

^a abbas vocatus Praemonstratae ecclesiae D. ^b quoniam CD. ^c Sanctae Mariae Hamensis et monachi omitted CD. ^d Beatae D. ^e et omitted CD. ^f Sanctae Mariae omitted D. ^g Ville-silva changed to Villasilva C, Villa Sylva D. ^h Olli C, Othelli D. ⁱ terras iacentes corrected to terris interiacentes C. ^j Benolii D. ^k habebant propinquas D. ^l tamen B. ^m et CD. ⁿ et omitted B. ^o inter nos added C, inter nos et added D. ^p acquisuimus B. ^q terras alias D. ^r et proprias B. ^s ecclesias sic B. ^t calumpnia B. ^u ex added above orta C. ^v Hocque for Hoc igitur CD. ^w chirographorum C, chyrographorum D. ^x auctoritate CD. ^y tocius B. ^z Reinoldi C, Rainoldi D. ^{aa} en added above to Hamsis C. ^{dd} Odonis omitted B. ^{cc} Signum Hugonis abbatis de Humblieris omitted CD, see n. 3. ^{gg} Signum prioris eius omitted CD, see n. 3. ^{hh} Signum tocius capituli omitted CD, see n. 3. ^{jj} alterius CD. ^{kk} Sanctae Mariae omitted CD. ^{ll} Villa Sylva CD.

¹ The date can be established from the witnesses. Hugh II, abbot of Homblières, resigned in 1150. Rainald is known as abbot of Ham in 1143 (CC, 9:1122) and 1160 (as witness to an act of Baldwin II, bishop of Noyon, for Nogent-sous-Coucy: original chirograph in Coll. Picardie, vol. 291, fol. 15, and a copy in Aisne, A.D., H 325, pp. 235–236). Ralph, prior of Prémontré, witnessed an act in 1146 (no. 58); his predecessor John was a witness in 1144 (act of Drogo, prior of Lihons, in B.N., lat. 5460, Cartulaire de Lihons, fols. 33v-34r, no. 71, copy of the thirteenth century), and his successor Hugh was a witness in 1153 (with Hugh, abbot of Prémontré, and Odo and Rainald, respectively prior and abbot of Ham: original in Somme, A.D., fonds Prémontré, 20 H 5). Thus, Ralph (1144/1146) provides the terminus a quo and Hugh II of Homblières (1150) the terminus ad quem.

² See act no. 75.

³ Each party must have received a charter sealed by the others; thus the chirograph retained by Homblières did not contain the signa of its own abbot, prior and chapter.

64

[1148-1150]¹

Ralph, count of Vermandois, confirms to the church of Homblières the fief consisting of two ovens in Rouvroy and Harly and arable land in Rouvroy that the knight Oliver had held from the treasurer of Saint-Quentin and gave to Homblières. Ralph previously confirmed this transfer at the request of Simon, bishop of Noyon,² and now reconfirms it at the request of Hugh [II], abbot of Homblières, because the monastery holds that property from [the new treasurer] Robert.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 84, with the title "De feodo Oliveri in Ruvereo et Harleio sito."

C: H 588, p. 70, with the same title as B, except for "Ruvereo."

Pub.: (a) Hémert, regestum, p. 40, "e schedis eorumdem." (b) Collette, 2:277, copy of a.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti.⁴ Quoniam repetitio rei confirmatio est, non importunum sed potius⁴ opportunum debet esse praesentibus et futuris fidelibus sanctae^c bona ecclesiae iterando confirmare, quoniam si in transactis temporibus malitia apparuit,^d nostris certe multo magis^d abundavit. Hacque^e de causa nos^f Radulfus,^e Dei annuente gratia Vermandensium^g comes, notum fieri volumus tam praesentibus quam futuris postulationeⁱ charissimi nostri Hugo-nis Humolariensis ecclesiae^j abbatis postulantis nostrae authoritatis^k privilegio muniri et confirmari quoddam feodum in Ruvereo^l et Har-leio situm, quod ex officio thesaurariae Sancti Quintini quidam miles Oliverius nomine^m tenebat, quodque praefatae ecclesiae nobis tamen faventibus dudum tradiderat. Quoniam autemⁿ tanti viri precibus obviare non possumus nec debemus, praefatum^o feodum, hoc est duos furnos in supradictis villis sitos cum terra arabili^p quae in Ruvereo^l erat, Humolariensi ecclesiae ut in perpetuum libere possideat devoti^q concedimus,^r sicut olim interpellatione domini Simonis Noviomensis

episcopi temporalia bona ipsius thesaurariae concessione nostra tunc tenentis feceramus, quod et secundo per manum domini¹ Roberti idem officium a nobis tenentis iterando confirmamus,² et sub sigilli nostri³ impressione⁴ et testium subscriptione hanc⁵ nostram concessionem, ne in posterum labefactari possit, roboramus.⁶

¹ invocation omitted a. ² potius omitted C. ³ sanctae omitted C. ⁴ apparuit through magis omitted BC. ⁵ hac a. ⁶ ego BC. ⁷ Radulphus a. ⁸ Verimandensium a. ⁹ postulationem BC, corrected to postulatione B. ¹⁰ ecclesiae Humolariensis a. ¹¹ auctoritatis a. ¹² Ruvereio C. ¹³ nominé Oliverius a. ¹⁴ autem omitted a. ¹⁵ nos praefatum a. ¹⁶ arabili omitted Ba. ¹⁷ devote C. ¹⁸ concessimus a. ¹⁹ domini added B. ²⁰ confirmavimus BC. ²¹ mei a. ²² confirmavimus crossed out after impressione B. ²³ hanc omitted a. ²⁴ roboramus etc. a.

¹ Simon, bishop of Noyon, confirmed this gift in 1144 (act no. 48) when he was treasurer of the chapter of Saint-Quentin. He died 10 February 1148 in Syria and was succeeded as treasurer by Robert (Colliette, 2:238). Since Hugh II was abbot of Hornblières to 1150, this act can be dated 1148–1150. The date 1150 is given in a marginal notation in H 588.

² The count's earlier confirmation is lost; the bishop's confirmation is act no. 48.

65

1151

Abbot Garin and the monks of Hornblières declare that they conceded to Notre-Dame of Mont-Saint-Martin part of the altar of Savy, arable and woods in Brancourt, a field from the endowment of the altar at Fresnoy-le-Grand, and 12 d. at Montbréhain. In return they received twelve and one-half modii of wheat annually at the public measure of Saint-Quentin on All Saints' Day [1 November] either at Saint-Prix¹ or at Saint-Quentin, and also three modii of oats at Fresnoy-le-Grand.

B: B.N., lat. 5478, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, fol. 116r, with the title "Item eiusdem de Brancort et de Savi," without witnesses, copy of the 13th c. C: Lat. 13911, fol. 79r-v, with the title "Charta de Savi et de XII modiis frumenti quos canonici Sancti Martini singulis annis debent persolvere nobis." D: H 588, p. 68, with the same title as C. E: B.N., lat. 9128, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, pp. 461–462, copy of B of 1740.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, amen.¹ Quoniam inter cetera humanae fragilitatis incommoda quam plurimum noxia toleratur² oblivio, necesse est litteris mandari quod inter filios ecclesiae pacis gratia constat actitari. Ego igitur³ Garinus,⁴ Dei gratia abbas Humolariensis,⁵ totusque ecclesiae nostrae conventus scire praesentes scire et posteros volumus quod ecclesiae Sanctae⁶ Mariae de Monte Sancti Martini concessimus quicquid⁷ in Savi possidebamus, terciam⁸ scilicet partem altaris et quicquid^s in territorio de Brancort tam in arabili terra quam in silva, campum etiam unum de dote altaris de Fraisnoyt^t qui est in Gulvile, et^x XII denarios^y quos habebamus apud^z Montbrahain,^a tali duntaxat conditione interposita ut ab ecclesia Sanctae Mariae^b de Monte Sancti Martini XII^c modios frumenti legitimi et dimidium ad mensuram publicam^d Sancti Quintini fuste ad fustum mensuratum in festivitate Omnis Sanctorum singulis annis recipiamus^e sive apud Sanctum Proiectum sive apud Sanctum Quintinum, tres etiam modios avenae eodem termino nobis persolvent^f apud Fraisnoit.^g Quod^h ut ratum atque involvulum permaneat in perpetuum scripto firmavimus et sigillorum nostrorum impressionibus munitum invicem nobis per cyrographumⁱ divisimus. Actum incarnationis Dominicae anno MCLI. Signum^j domini Garini abbatis. Signum domini Gilberti abbatis. Signum Hilduini. Signum Rainaldi. Signum Wilberti. Signum Aegidii. Signum Petri. Signum Heldradi. Signum Bonardi. Signum Benedicti. Signum Rainardi. Signum Pannonis. Signum Godescalci. Signum Rainaldi.^k Signum Ioannis. Signum Gerrici. Signum Albrici. Signum Odonis. Signum Iuliani.^l Signum Galceri. Signum Galteri praepositi.^m

ⁿ CD omit the invocation. ^o toleravit CD, corrected to toleratur D. ^p qui CD. ^q Guarinus B. ^r Humoliariensis C. ^s Sanctae omitted CD. ^t quidquid CD. ^u eam CD, tertiam noted by a later hand for eam D. ^v Brasencourt C, Brahencourt D. ^w Framoieti CD, Fresnoy written above in a later hand D. ^x cum CD. ^y denariis CD. ^z apud omitted C, added above D. ^a Montbrs B, Montbenehem C, indecipherable reading corrected to apud Montbrahain D. ^b Sanctae Mariae omitted D. ^c X B. ^d publicam mensuram CD. ^e accipiamus CD. ^f persolvant CD. ^g Frainoethas CD. ^h Quod omitted CD. ⁱ chirographum C, chyrographum D. ^j signa et cetera B, which ends here. ^k Renaldi C. ^l Iuriani C. ^m postpositi CD.

¹ See acts nos. 60, 79.

Garin, abbot of Homblères, declares in this chirograph that his monastery accepted a gift of land in the territory of Fontaine-Notre-Dame from the knights Wicard and Evrard [of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte].¹ The monks may work all the land, both cultivated and uncultivated, or only the part that they consider most fertile and susceptible to frequent plowing and annual planting, since it is not profitable to let fertile land lie fallow every third year. If the monks find this land unproductive, the donors will furnish more fertile land in return for the ninth bundle of the harvest. The knights with their wives and children confirmed this agreement by oath and transferred the land by placing branch and turf with their own hands before the image of Saint Hunegund.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 85r-v, with the title "De territorio Fontanensi a Wichardo nobis concesso." C: H 588, pp. 70-71, with the same title as B, except for "Wicardo."

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Ego Garinus Dei gratia Humolariensis abbas. Notum esse volumus tam futuris quam praesentibus quod terra de territorio Fontanensi Wicardo^a necnon Evrardo filiisque eorum, illorum dumtaxat quae iuris^b eorum erat, hac conditione perpetualiter in eleemosynam ecclesia Humolariensis^c accepit. Si quidem terras omnes quas in praefato territorio habebant cultas et incultas excolemus,^d illas dumtaxat quas meliores fertilioresque iudicavimus, porro quas meliores perhabuerimus quas scilicet frequentia aratri vulnera et annua semina recipere ut pinguiores foecundioresque minus possunt quiescere triennio pro arbitrio nostro patientur;^e quod si transacto praelibato termino eas iterum colere causa damni nostri recusaverimus, quibus voluerint dabunt, fertilioribus tamen^f nobis detentis nonum vero manipulum^g a nobis accipient, et quod primum de duobus tempore messis invenerimus ut vulgo dicitur ad terragendum vocabimus nec secundum expectabimus. Si autem neutrum eorum^h terragationis hora habuerimus, monachus seu quilibet alias ex parte nostra quiⁱ digne credi^j possit terragiabit loco eorum, ne mora seu expectatio eorum commune utrisque inferat damnum, nostrum etiam apud Fontanense tantum deducere ipsum eorum terragium. Huius autem pactionis verba praefati milites cum uxoribus et liberis suis^k sacramento firmavere ipsamque terram ramo^l cespiteque sanctissimae virginis Hunegundis feretro propriis manibus in eleemosynam relinquentes posuerunt. Quod ut ratum perpetuo maneat chirographum fecimus, testes idoneos annotavimus, anathematis etiam vinculo violatores^m huius eleemosynae obligavimus. Signum Garini abbatis. Signum Ranoldi prioris. Signum Hilduiniⁿ praepositi. Signum Harduini. Signum Gotluini. Signum Betulfi. Signum Aegidii. Signum Huberti. Signum Hugonis. Signum Evrardi atque filiorum suorum. Signum Odonis Warcasui, et Rainaldi^o de Regni. Signum Fulcardi.^p Signum Radulfi. Signum Petri. Signum Grimoldi. Actum anno incarnati verbi MCLII, anno domini^q Garini abbatis secundo.

*Wichardo B. ^b uxorius corrected to iuris B. ^c Humoliarensis B. ^d excolemus changed to excolemus B. ^e patientibus corrected to patientur B. ^f tantum corrected to tamen B. ^g manipulum B. ^h eorum added B. ⁱ cui C. ^j credi added B. ^k fr added B. ^l ramo added B. ^m villatores corrected to violatores C. ⁿ Halduni C. ^o Renaldi B. ^p Fulchardi C. ^q domini B.

¹ Wicard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte and his brother Evrard witnessed act no. 47.

Anchin

1153

Gozuin, abbot of Anchin, declares that his monastery sold to Homblères what it possessed in the villa of Ursel—houses, vineyards, a meadow, and a small wood—for 140 l., money of Provins. Anchin's legal right to the property was confirmed in a sealed charter of Bartholomew, bishop of Laon (act no. 61), which is now given to Homblères, and in a papal confirmation of Eugenius [III],¹ which is retained by Anchin because it confirms other possessions as well.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 44r-v, with the title "Charta vinearum de Ursel." C: H 588, pp. 40-41, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Ego Gozuinus, Dei gratia abbas Aquicinensis monasterii, notum fieri volo tam futuris quam praesentibus sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis quod in pago Laudunensi in villa quae nuncupatur Ursel possessio nobis erat in domibus, in vineis, sed et pratum et modicum nemus inibi possidebamus. Hanc possessionem ut firmam et inconvulsam Aquicinensis ecclesia teneret ac pro suo arbitrio et voluntate, secundum quod ratio et utilitas exposcebat, disposeret, venerabilis Laudunensis episcopus Bartholomeus petentibus nobis privilegio suo ac sigillo et testium subscriptione firmavit. Nihilominus summus pontifex bonae memoriae Eugenius ad petitionem nostram suae nobis authoritatis privilegium fecit in quo cum caeteris quae legitime possidebamus hanc possessionem firmavit. Denique post aliquot annos, secundum quod ratio et communis utilitas exposcebat, ecclesiae nostrae fratum nostrorum communis assensus et consilium fuit ut istam possessionem de Ursel distraheremus et ecclesiae Humolariensi cui magis competebat et commodum erat venderemus, quod et fecimus accepto ab ipsa ecclesia pretio CXL librarum pruviniensis monetae. Et ut nulla deinceps in perpetuum super hac emptione sive venditione inter nostram et Humolariensem ecclesiam suboriretur calumnia sive contradictio, praesentibus religiosis personis et honestae famae laicis, ab ipsa possessione nos omnino immunes et alienos fecimus et in perpetuum possidendum domino Gaurino, venerabili abbati Humolariensis ecclesiae, et fratribus in ea⁴ Deo servientibus communiter ac devote concessimus. Insuper privilegium praefati episcopi Laudunensis Bartholomei^c super hac possessione firmatum a nostro monasterio removentes praedicto abbati et fratribus eius in testimonium contradidimus, porro privilegium domini papae Eugenii in quo cum caeteris⁴ possessionibus supradicta possessio de Ursel erat nobis confirmata propter astipulationem caeterarum nostrarum possessionum in ecclesia nostra servandum retinuimus, scilicet ius apostolici privilegii pertinens ad possessionem de Ursel praedicto abbat et ecclesiae Humolariensi, ut dictum est, concessimus, ad haec adiecimus, et hac conventione⁵ abbatem et fratres ecclesiae Humolariensis securos fecimus. Quod si quis calumniator sive violentus invasor de concessa eis a nobis ista possessione insurgere vellet, omnimodis tuitionem et quod vulgo dicitur guarandisam ad eos qui vellent exequi iustitiae legem eis ferre non recusaremus, et ut distractio firma et inconvulsa in perpetuum maneat, praesenti scripto cum sigillo nostrae ecclesiae confirmavimus, testes etiam idoneos subter annotavimus. Signum Ingranii⁶ abbatis Sancti Medardi Suessionensis.⁷ Signum Hugonis abbatis Sancti Amandi. Signum Walteri abbatis Sancti Martini Tornacensis. Signum Fulconis abbatis Hasnonnensis.⁸ Signum⁹ Hugonis abbatis Marconiensis. Signum Adam abbatis Sancti Andree de Novo Castello. Signum Rainardi abbatis Sancti Proiecti. Signum Walteri, Hugonis, Alberti, Balduini. Signum Igerii, Armarii, Bartholomei,¹⁰ sacerdotum. Signum Iordanis, Balduini, Matthaei, Nicolai, Willermi,¹¹ diaconorum. Signum Gerini, Baldrici,¹² Ernulfi, [sub]diaconorum.¹³ Signum Walteri praepositi, Stephani camerarii, Walteri hospitarii, Walberti cellarii, Lantberti thesaurarii. Actum et recitatum Aquicinti in capello ab incarnatione Domini anno MCLIII. Ego Willermus¹⁴ Calvus scripsi et subscrpsi.

⁴ Bartholomaeus C. ⁵ eo BC, changed to ea C. ⁶ Bartholomaei C. ⁷ aeternis corrected to caeteris B. ⁸ contentione corrected to conventione B. ⁹ Ingravii BC. ¹⁰ Sussionis B. ¹¹ Hasnonnensis changed to Hasnonensis B. ¹² et in lieu of S(ignum) BC. ¹³ Wilermi C. ¹⁴ Balerici C. ¹⁵ act no. 68 reads subdiaconorum. ¹⁶ Wilemus C.

¹ The bull of Eugenius III seems lost. See also act no. 68.

68

Laon

1153 [after October 4]¹

Walter, bishop of Laon,² declares that his predecessor Bartholomew confirmed in a sealed charter (act no. 61) whatever the church of Anchin possessed in the villa of Urcel. Gozuin, abbot of Anchin, with the consent of his chapter and in the presence of Walter, sold those possessions to the church of Homblières for the price of 140 l., money of Provins (act no. 67). By his episcopal authority Walter approves the sale and issues this charter to commemorate it.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 45r-v, with the title "Charia vinearum de Ursel." C: H 588, pp. 41-42, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ego Galterus, Dei miseratione sanctae Laudunensis ecclesiae humilis minister, quem in domo summi patrisfamilias nos licet indignos gratia divina constituit circa omnia quae ad utilitatem et consolationes ecclesiarum pertinere videntur vigilanti cura nos esse sollicitos officium nostrum requirit, non solum enim iura et possessiones earum quae ab antiquo constitutae sunt in statu et tenore pristino conservare, verum etiam quae ex fidelium devotione eis collata sit, autoritate imaginis nostrae et litterarum nostrarum munimine confirmare^a debemus. Quapropter notum sit omnibus tam praesentibus quam futuris quod quidquid Aquicinensis ecclesia in pago Laudunensi in villa quae nuncupatur Ursel in domibus, in vineis, in pratis et nemore possidebat, a domino Bartholomeo praedecessore nostro eidem ecclesiae concessum auctoritate imaginis suae et litterarum suarum munimine confirmatum Humolariensi ecclesiae per manum Gaurini abbatis, in praesentia nostra Goszuinus Aquicinensis^b ecclesiae abbas, assensu capituli sui, pretio centum quadraginta librarum proviniensis monetae vendidit et quieta possessione concessit. Nos etiam praenominatam possessionem ecclesiae Humolariensi^c perpetuo possidendum pontificali auctoritate concessimus. Hoc autem ne possit oblivione deleri et a posteris infirmari sigilli nostri impressione et testium subscriptione muniri fecimus. Si qua igitur ecclesiastica saecularisve persona hanc nostrae institutionis paginam infringere aut mutare praesumpserit, si semel, secundo tertiove commonita non adquieverit et emendaverit, anathematis sententiae subiaceat. Signum Galteri Laudunensis decani. Signum Richardi archidiaconi. Signum Bartholomei^d thesaurarii. Signum Balduini archidiaconi. Signum Milonis cantoris. Signum Brunonis abbatis Sancti Ioannis. Signum Gillermi abbatis Sancti Vincentii. Signum Richardi abbatis Sancti Nicolai de Prato. Signum Gaurini abbatis Sancti Martini. Signum Roberti Fusniacensis. Signum Udonis Valledarensis abbatis. Signum Diammici. Signum Roberti et Gonteri praesbyterorum. Signum Gerardi subthesaurarii. Signum Herberti subcantoris. Signum Oddonis diaconi.^e Signum Lisiardi et Manasses. Signum Haviani subdiaconorum. Testes venditionis et concessionis factae in capitulo Aquicinensi hi sunt: Signum Ingrani^f abbatis Sancti Medardi Suessionensis.^g Signum Hugonis abbatis [Sancti Amandi. Signum Walteri abbatis]^h Sancti Martini Torna-censis. Signum⁴ Hugonis abbatis Marcenensis. Signum Fulconis abbatis Hanoniensis. Signum Adam abbatis Sancti Andree de Novo Castello. Signum Rainardi abbatis Sancti Projecti. Signum Walterii, Hugonis, Balduini, Sigeri,⁵ Armarii, Bartholomei⁶ sacerdotum. Signum Iordani, Balduini, Matthei, Nicolai, Willermi diaconorum. Signum Gerzuini,⁷ Baldrici, Ernulfii⁸ subdiaconorum. Signum Walteri praepositi, Stephani camerarii, Galteri hospitarii, Walberti cellarii, Lantberti⁹ thesaurarii. Actum Lauduni anno incarnati MCLIII. Angotus cancellarius relegit, scripsit et subscrispsit.

⁴ conservare BC, changed to confirmare B. ⁵ Aquicinensis changed to Aquicinensis B. ⁶ Humoliansi B. ⁷ Bartholomaei C. ⁸ diaconorum B, diaconi changed to diaconorum C. ⁹ Ingravii C. ¹⁰ Suessionis B. ¹¹ et in lieu of S(ignum) BC. ¹² Act no. 67 reads Igeri. ¹³ Goszuini B, Gerini in act no. 67. ¹⁴ Ernulphi C. ¹⁵ Lanberti B.

¹ The act is dated 1153 and can be placed after 4 October. Baldwin, abbot of Saint-Vincent of Laon, died 26 September 1153 (GC, 9:579), which was a Saturday; his successor, William, a witness here, would have been consecrated on a Sunday, probably on 4 October.

² Walter of Saint-Maurice, bishop of Laon, 1151-1155.

³ The witnesses of the sale are almost identical and appear in almost the same order as those for Abbot Gozuni's act (no. 67). In that act the witness list includes S. Hugonis abbatis Sancti Amandi. S. Walteri abbatis Sancti Martini Tornacensis, which the scribe of the medieval cartulary copied incorrectly here; after writing Hugonis abbatis, he skipped the words Sancti Amandi. S. Walteri abbatis, thus making Hugo the abbot of Saint-Martin of Tournai. In fact, Walter continued as abbot of Saint-Martin until 1159 or 1160 (GC, 9:275).

69

1154

Abbot Gerald and the entire chapter of Vicoigne declare in this chirograph¹ that they will not acquire any land in the parish of Marcy. If any layman gives land in that parish to Vicoigne, the monastery will transfer it to the monks of Homblières, either by sale or exchange, or will allow Homblières to cultivate the land in return for crop sharing.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 78, with the title "De Casa Dei." C: H 588, pp. 67-68, with the same title.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Quia mutabilitatis humanae naturae plerumque² cogit a memoria labi quod perutile furerat³ a mortalibus retineri, idcirco rebus confirmandis necessario scribitur chirographum quod disceptionibus calumniatorum solet finem imponere controversiarum. Ego igitur⁴ Geraldus, abbas de Casa Dei, pacis ac concordiae causa, totius capituli nostri communi assensu decrevimus ut nullam terram in parochia⁴ in qua Marchi sita est deinceps⁵ adquiramus, porro si aliqua saecularis persona supernae remunerationis obtentu in iam dicta parochia⁶ terram ecclesiae nostrae contulerit, eam monachis Humolariensis ecclesiae rationabili venditione vel alterius terrae commutatione sive etiam ad garbam excollendam hilariter concedemus. Ut ergo hic nostrae pactionis assensus ratus in perpetuum conservetur sigilli nostri impressione firmavimus, idoneorumque testium nomina subter annotavimus. Signum Geraldii abbatis de Casa Dei. Signum Guarini abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Hugonis abbatis Sancti Amandi.⁷ Signum Gualteri⁸ abbatis Sancti Martini Tornacensis. Signum Rainaldi abbatis Sancti Proiecti. Signum Petri prioris. Signum Radulfi subprioris. Signum Godefridi sacerdotis. Signum Roberti. Signum Simonis. Signum Gualteri⁹ diaconorum. Signum Arnulfi. Signum Odonis. Signum Willelmi¹⁰ subdiaconorum. Actum anno verbi incarnati MCLIV, indictione II, epacta IV.¹¹

⁴naturae humanae plaerumque C. ⁵fuerat C. ⁶qui BC. ⁷parochia B. ⁸deinceps added B. ⁹Sancti Amandi abbatis B. ¹⁰Galteri C. ¹¹Wilielm C. ¹²The scribe of the cartulary noted Sigillum caenobii Humolariensis appositum [omitted C] quod descripsimus alibi [alibi descripsimus C] BC.

¹See act no. 70 for a reciprocal agreement by Homblières.

70

Abbot Garin and the entire chapter of Homblières declare in this chirograph¹ that they will not acquire any land in the parish of Regny. If any layman does give land there to Homblières, the monastery will gladly give it to the monks of Vicoigne by sale or exchange or will allow Vicoigne to cultivate the land in return for crop sharing.

B: Nord, A.D., 59 H 95, Cartulaire de Vicoigne, fol. 28v, no. 27, with the title "De Rengi et Humolariensi et ecclesia," copy of the 13th c. C: Coll. Moreau, vol. 67, fol. 17, copy of "le petit cartulaire de velin parchemin de l'abbaye de Vicogne, numerotée XXVII f-Bj," by Queinsert, 3 Dec. 1771. D: B.N., lat. 12895, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile,² fol. 48v, with the title "Quod ecclesia Humolariensis [nihil] acquirere potest infra parrochiam de Regni," 17th-c. copy of an older cartulary. E: Aisne, A.D., H 534, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile,² pp. 64-65, 18th-c. copy of an older cartulary, with the same title as D.

Ind.: Matton, p. 87. Piétresson de Saint-Aubin, 2:264.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Quia mutabilitatis humanae natura plerumque cogit a memoria labi quod perutile fuerat a mortalibus retineri, idcirco rebus confirmandis necessarie scribitur cyrographum quod disceptationibus calumpniatorum solet finem imponere controversiarum. Ego igitur Garinus abbas Humolariensis pacis ac concordie causa, totius capituli nostri communis assensu, decrevimus ut nullam terram in parochia de Regni deinceps adquiramus, porro si aliqua secularis persona supernae remunerationis obtentu in iam dicta parochia terram ecclesie nostre contulerit, eam fratribus de Casa Dei rationabili venditione vel alterius terre commutatione sive etiam ad garbam excolendam hilariter concedemus. Ut ergo hic nostre pactionis assensus ratus in perpetuum conservetur sigilli nostri impressione firmavimus, idoneorumque testium nomina subter annotavimus. Signum Guarini abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Geraldi abbatis de Casa Dei. Signum Hugonis abbatis Sancti Amandi. Signum Gualteri abbatis Sancti Martini Tornacensis. Signum Rainardi abbatis Sancti Preicti. Signum Rainaldi prioris. Signum Hilduini prepositi. Signum Egidii presbiterorum. Signum Henrici. Signum Iohannis. Signum Everardi diaconorum. Signum Symonis. Signum Helye. Signum Adam subdiaconorum. Actum anno verbi incarnati MCLIII¹, indictione II, epacta III.

¹ See act no. 69 for the reciprocal agreement by Vicoigne.

² This act is in the cartulary of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île because in 1206 that monastery exchanged land at Regny and Tilloy with Vicoigne (act of Ralph, bishop of Arras, Aisne, A.D., H 534, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, pp. 1-8, indicated by Matton, p. 86). For another case of an earlier legal title transferred with property when it was acquired by a third party, see act no. 61.

Garin, abbot of Homblières, issues a chirograph sealed by Baldwin, bishop of Noyon, concerning land in Essigny-le-Petit that three knights sold to the monastery by branch and turf for 15 l., money of Saint-Quentin, and one-ninth of the harvest annually. Whichever knight is in the vicinity during the division of the harvest, which is commonly called the taking of the terragium, will receive the one-ninth share; if none appears, their share will be stored. If any of the land is rocky or otherwise not suitable to annual plowing, it will be improved by lying idle. Present at this donation were officials of the bishop, ecclesiastics, and nobles, and the wives, brothers, children, and relatives of the knights.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 47r-v, with the title "De terra Radulfi, Roberti, Wicardi militum quam in territorio Isianensi pro nono manipulo habemus." C: H 588, pp. 43-44, with the same title as B, except for "Radulphi" and "Isianenci." D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 257, fol. 52, 18th-c. copy of C. E: Coll. Moreau, vol. 67, fols. 244-244bis., 18th-c. copy of C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Quam quietissime vi-verent homines si duo verba e medio tollerentur, meum videlicet et tuum, sancta ecclesia ob concordiam filiorum chartularum reperit in-genium quatenus ipsarum lectione extinguantur litium flammæ dato cuique suo iure. Quapropter ego Garinus, Humolariensis ecclesiae minister indignus, notum fieri volo tam futuris quam praesentibus bona quae adepta est ecclesia nostra diebus nostris. Terra[m] siqui-dem in Isianensi^a parrochia tres milites Radulfus videlicet, Robertus atque Wichardus^b in feudum a dominis suis iure paterno tenebant, sed tam pro ipsa portione trina quam etiam pro arborum radicatione nimia non facile ab eis coli poterat. Unde conventione cum eis in quindecim libris Sancti Quintinensis monetae facta, praedictam terram ecclesiae nostrae perpetuo possidendam ramo et cespite in eleemosynam relinquentes tradiderunt, nonum dumtaxat manipulum in ea detinentes. Cum autem terragiandi ut vulgo dicitur tempus venerit Isiniaci,^c nec uspiam eos quaeremus, et quem primum de tribus in-venierimus pro ipso nono eorum manipulo accipiendo vocabimus nec secundum seu tertium expectabimus. Quod si forte reperiri quis eorum inibi non potuerit, monachus vel conversus qui messoribus praefuerit, loco eorum terragiabit verbumque illius in numerandis salvandisque manipulis suis praesentium eorum valebit, nostrum vero erit apud Isiniacum solummodo ducere ipsum nonum eorum manipulum.^d Porro si aliqua terra petrosa et ut vulgo dicitur avesna, vel etiam aquosa, quae testimonio agricolarum annui culturam aratri sustinere nequiverit,^e in territorio reperta fuerit praedicto vacare et requiescere eam donec melioretur, omni quaerela sopita, patientur, sed si quis calumniae obstaculum alicuius^f de hac terra nobis obiecerit, tutelam et advocationem se laturos omnino sacramento spoponderunt, dominos quoque proprios quibus hominium^g et servitium pro eadem terra reddebant. Praesentibus Noviomensis episcopi ministris, adstantibus etiam religiosis et nobilibus viris ad ipsum secum perpe-tuo concedere fecerunt uxores^h etiam ac liberos, fratres et propinquos huic pactioni interesse fecerunt, qui ut reliqui omnia benigneⁱ et^j le-gitime concesserunt. Igitur ne super hac pactione aliqua deinceps oblivio vel contradictio oriatur chirographum fecimus, domini Balduni Noviomensis episcopi sigillum apposuimus, testium subscriptione corroboravimus. Signum Garini abbatis, Arnulfi, Hilduini, Rainaldi, Aegidii, Walteri[‡] praepositi. Signum Ingelberti, Arnulfi decanorum. Signum Matthaei de Sanctis, Anselmi de Leuirgiis,[†] Paganis de Fillanis,[‡] Bernardi,^{} Gerardi Lupi, Widonis de Rumaldicurte, Oddonis, Warchiani. Witberti Isiniacensis^{*} villici. Actum anno ab incarnatione Domini MCLV.

^{}Isiacensi C. [†]Wicardus C. [‡]Iaci changed to Isiniaci C, Issiniaci B. [†]maniplum B. ^{}ne-quieverit B. [†]alicuius obstaculum B. [‡]hommagium corrected to homminium B. [†]suos crossed out C. ^{*}benignissime C. [†]et omitted B. [‡]Valteri B. [†]Leuirgyis C. ^{}Bernaldi C.
^{*}Isinianensis B.

¹Pagan of Fieulaine was the same person as Robert of Fieulaine, as explained in an act of 1144 of Simon, bishop of Noyon ("Robertus de Fillanis, qui est Paganus, assensu uxoris suae Elisabeth fratrumque suorum Bernardi, Guidonis, Balduini," in Poupartdin, "Quatre chartes," pp. 221-222, no. 4, copy of the original for Val-Secré).

72

[1153/1154 October 27-1156 October 6]¹

Baldwin, bishop of Noyon, confirms that Robert of Etaves, when he became a monk at Homblières, gave that church two bundles of the tithe of the altar of Landricourt, with the consent of his sister who was his next heir. Baldwin also confirms to Homblières the gift of his predecessor, Simon, of the altar of Marcy (act no. 40), to which he adds the presbyterial curioratum.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 50r-v, with the title "De eleemosyna quam Robertus de Stabulis de-dit nobis." C: H 588, pp. 46-47, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

Balduinus Dei gratia Noviomensis episcopus omnibus tam praesentibus quam futuris in perpetuum. Sedis et officii nostri consideratione compellimur ut qui pastorali cathedrae praesidemus bonorum virorum desideriis eorumque iustis petitionibus hilari condescendamus affectu. Eleemosynam igitur Roberti de Stabulis quam ipse ecclesiae Humolariensi dedit quando monachalem habitum ibidem suscepit, videlicet duas garbas decimae altaris de Landrecurt, concedente etiam eius sorore primo videlicet post ipsum haerede, dilecte frater Garine, venerabilis abbas Humolariensis ecclesiae, tibi iuxta petitionem tuam tuisque successoribus in perpetuum possidendam benigne concedimus; et confirmamus praeterea donum altaris de Marceio quod vir memoranda memoriae Simon praedecessor noster iam dictae ecclesiae ob salutem animae suae et praedecessorum suorum contulit. Simili modo concedimus et curioratum praesbyteralem ex nostra parte superaddimus. Ut haec igitur inconculsa permaneant praesentis paginae munimento sancimus et tam sigilli nostri impressione quam testium sub assignatione corroboravimus. Signum Balduini Noviomensis episcopi. Signum Balduini decani. Signum Petri cantoris. Signum Balduini praepositi. Signum Walberti. Signum Roberti filii Kamardi. Signum Arnulfi decani. Signum Engelberti decani. Signum Absalonis abbatis Sancti Bartholomaei apostoli. Signum Guibaudi abbatis Sancti Eligii. Signum Gilberti abbatis Sancti Nicolai de Sylva. Signum Rainaldi abbatis Hamensis. Signum Ranardi^b abbatis Sancti Projeci. Signum Alulfi^c abbatis Sanctae Mariae Calviacensis. Signum Balduini abbatis Sancti Quintini de Insula. Signum Hugonis abbatis Sancti Quintini de Monte. Signum Aldrici abbatis Sancti Theodorici.^d Ego Hugo cancellarius recognovi, scripsi et subscrispi.

^a Landrcurt B. ^b Raurdi B, Raualdi C. ^c Alulphi C. ^d Signum abbatis Sancti Theoderici Aldrici B.

¹ Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give 1148, but the witnesses require a later date. Garnier was abbot of Saint-Barthélemy of Noyon in 1153 (act of Baldwin II, bishop of Noyon, for Saint-Amand; in Gordière, p. 165, no. 14) but died on 26 October 1153 or 1154 (GC, 9: 1117). The abbacy of Absalon, who succeeded him in late 1153 or 1154 and died on 6 October 1156 (ibid., 9:1116), provides the extreme dates of this act. Other witnesses to this act are Guibaud, abbot of Saint-Eloi of Noyon (1147–12 November 1168; ibid., 9:1067); Gilbert, abbot of Saint-Nicolas-aux-Bois (after 14 October 1134–7 November 1156/1157; Duval, 12: 181, 195, and 13:437); Rainald I, abbot of Ham (known in 1143 [Collette, 2:127] and 1157, as witness to an act of Lanscelin, lord of Ham, for Marchiennes [in Coll. Moreau, vol. 68, fol. 208]); Ranard or Rainard or Rainald I, abbot of Saint-Prix (appeared in 1148; Collette, 1:485, and GC, 9:1095; and in 1161; Loisne, Le cartulaire du chapitre d'Arras, pp. 23–24, no. 29, and Peigné-Delacourt, p. 207, no. 341); Alulf, abbot of Notre-Dame of Chauny (1139–1161; Collette, 2:26, and GC, 9:1126); Baldwin II, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ille (in 1136, resigned in 1144; GC, 9:1087–1088); Hugh I, abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin (1140–1172; ibid., 9:1105); and Aldric, abbot of Saint-Thierry of Reims (1146–15 November 1156/1157; ibid., 9:188–189).

mission of that payment and in return for six modii of wheat annually at the measure of Saint-Quentin, which at that time was generally used throughout the province. If Hospinell wishes the grain to be delivered to Ribemont or Vendeuil, he must send his own agents with sacks to measure the wheat, which then will be conveyed by Homblières. Witnesses include knights of the monastery.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 54r-v, with the title "De quatuor modiis frumenti et dimidio quos debemus Hospinello pro terra quadam quae sita est apud Lambaidem." C: H 588, p. 50, with the same title as B but with "quatuor" corrected to "sex" and "et dimidio" crossed out.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Tam venturis quam modernis notum fieri volumus Hospinellum quamdam terram hereditario iure possessam apud Lambaidem ab ecclesia Humolariensi longo tempore tenuisse pro qua sex solidos annuatim persolvere solebat praedictae ecclesiae; hanc terram totam idem Hospinellus cum uxore sua et filiis suis eo iure quo ipsam tenebat praefatae ecclesiae in possessionem habere concessit pro sex modiis legalis frumenti annuatim ab ecclesia sibi persolvendis iuxta mensuram Sancti Quintini, quae tunc temporis generaliter per totam discurrebat provinciam, et ita quod deinceps praedictos sex solidos persolvere non deberet. In hac etiam compositione ab utraque sancitum est quod si Hospinellus hoc frumentum ad Robodomontem^a transportari velit, apud Castellionem suscipere illud debet servienti proprio in praesenti cum saccis suis posito, ac ipsum frumentum praedicta mensura mensuratum vectura ecclesiae ad Ribodimontem transportabitur. Si vero ad Vendolium transvehi frumentum voluerit ut praedictum est servienti suo in praesenti cum saccis suis posito mensuratum frumentum ad Vendolium transvehetur. De frumento vero remittendo nulla ecclesia adhibebit sollicitudinem. Praeterea notandum est cum ecclesia de Lambais consecraretur eumdem Hospinellum contulisse praedictae ecclesiae in eleemosynam matrimonii quidquid infra ambitum illius curtis iure possedit proprio, et extra curtem in via regia tantum concessit terram quae in seminando octavam partem modum suscipere potest et infra hortum medietatem. Et quia omnia temporalia humana exigente fragilitate naturae a memoria cito delabuntur, hoc memoriae mandare disposuimus tam litterarum inscriptione quam sigilli^b impressione. Huius autem rei testes sunt: abbas eiusdem loci Warinus, abbas Richardus Sancti Nicolai^c de Pratis, Rainardus abbas Sancti Projici. De monachis ecclesiae: de sacerdotibus Arnulfus, Rainaldus, Hubertus; de diaconibus Ioannes, Evrardus, Gerardus; de subdiaconibus Anselmus, Henricus, Helias; de presbyteris Stephanus decanus de Sessi et Radulfus presbyter de Bresnort. De militibus: Simon de Ribodimonte, Wichardus de Bresnort, Rogus de Faihel, Oddo de Sessi. De militibus ecclesiae: Simon de Humblieris, Gerardus, Bernardus,⁴ Albricus Vallebrenus, Radulfus de Horegui, Clarebaldus, Robertus de Atavilla. Anno ab incarnatione Domini MCLVI.⁵

⁴ Robodolementem C. ⁴ nostri after sigilli crossed out C. ⁴ Nicolari B. ⁴ Bonardus B. ⁴ MCLVI omitted C.

74

1157

In a chirograph the monks of Homblières transfer to the canons of Clairefontaine the forty-two modii that they collect in terragium, tithe, and other secular revenues from the land of Robert of L'Epinois. In return Homblières will receive a census of sixteen modii annually of the best wheat after the sowing on the feast of Saint Martin [11 November] at its granary or wherever the abbot desires within a circuit of two miliaria. If Clairefontaine is unable to cultivate the land in the event of war, this census will not be collected until peace is reestablished.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 51r-v, with the title “De terra Rohardi quam monachi Humolarienses dederunt ad censum canonicis Clarefontanensibus” [changed to Clarefontesibus].

C: H 588, pp. 47-48, with the same title as B without the change.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ut conventiones praesentium futuros non lateant placuit litteris annotari quod ex terra Roberti de Espinoit, quam a Rohardo de Fasti et ab eius haeredibus censualem accepit Humolariensis ecclesia, XLII modiate a terragio et decima et omni saeculari exactione a debito quoque sacerdotis omni ecclesiastico redditu liberae assignatae sunt ecclesiae Claraefontis a Garino abbe assensu capituli^a sui sub annuo censu XVI modiorum frumenti melioris post semen tem et mensuram Sancti Quintini, quae quamvis ibidem aut alibi aliquando minuatur aut crescat, semper apud utramque ecclesiam eadem permanebit, in horrea quoque Humolariensis^b ecclesiae vel quo abbas voluerit ad duo dumtaxat miliaria in circuitu censum illum Clarefontensibus vehiculis duci, et infra festivitatem Sancti Martini solvi debere. Statutum est contra emergentes columnias eorum tantum qui iustitiam et iudicium^c non fugient Humolarienses pro Clarefontensibus decertabunt, neque ullam deinceps mansionem inter Fraxinetum et Manum Firmam vel Busincamp,⁴ hi aut illi constituant introducent. Si propediente guerra communi ibidem Clarefontensibus agriculturae vacare non licet, terra immunis a debito censuali ad Humolariensem revertetur ecclesiam donec ad illam redire Clarefontenses reformata pace voluerint, quam et sine contradictione quidquid et Humolarienses culturae ac laboris impenderint in eadem libertate reciperent, in qua eam cum loco cederent, reliquerunt censem dehinc annum sicut antea soluturi. Si ex terrae huius residuo partem eius aut totam sibi deinceps vendicare voluerint, aliis subintrare non poterit. Si tamen ea placuerit conditione suspicere qua possidere vult aliis, ut haec igitur pactio inconvulsa perduret, utriusque ecclesiae sua sunt distributa chirographa, ita ut Humolariensi chirographo Clarefontensis abbatis et Laudunensis episcopi sigilla apposita, Clarefontensi vero chirographo Humolariensis abbatis et Noviomensis episcopi sigilla adhibita. Utique autem chirographo testium subscripta sunt nomina. Ex canonicis Clarifontis: Signum Ioannis prioris. Signum Balduini subprioris. Signum Ricoldi provisoris. Hi sacerdotes: Ex diaconibus: Signum Fulveri. Signum Stephani. Signum Iordani. Ex subdiaconibus: Signum Walteri, Mauritii, Balduini. Ex laicis: Signum Odonis, Balduini, Consonis. Ex monachis Humolariensibus:⁵ Signum Huberti prioris, Hilduini, Aegidii,⁶ sacerdotum. Ex diaconibus: Signum Henrici, Gerardi, Evrardi. Ex subdiaconibus: Signum Henrici, Simonis, Anselmi. Ex clericis: Signum magistri Martini. Signum Nicolai. Ex militibus: Signum Godefridi⁷ de Guisia, Anselmi de Lauergiis, Albrici Walbruni, Simonis Tuevilain,⁸ Otimundi de Guisia. Actum anno ab incarnatione Domini MCLVII, epacta VII, concurrente I, indictione V. Ego Agellus cancellarius subscrpsi⁹ et religi.

⁴ capelli corrected to capituli B. ⁵ Humolarense B. ⁶ iudiciumque for et iudicium B. ⁷ Bulincamp B. ⁸ Humolarenibus B. ⁹ Egidii B. ¹⁰ Godofredi B. ¹¹ suscrpsi B.

¹ Simon Tuevilain and his wife Gertrude appeared in 1170 (act of Baldwin III, bishop of Noyon, for Longpont and Tronquoy; text in Collette, 2:414).

ritory of Bonneuil and Golancourt in return for a census of one and one-half modii of wheat and one modius of oats at the measure of Ham to be paid at the feast of Saint Remi [1 October].¹ This chirograph is sealed by each monastery and by Baldwin [II], bishop of Noyon.

A: Oise, A.D., H 5989, fonds Saint-Jean de Prémontré. Chirograph; all the seals are lost. B: Soissons, B.M., MS 7, Cartulaire de Prémontré, fol. 108r, copy of ca. 1275.

In nomine sancte et individue Trinitatis, amen. Ego Hugo Premonstrat ecclesie abbas totumque capitulum nostrum, ego etiam Gaurinus^{*} Humolariensis abbas simulque capitulum nostrum, omnibus tam futuris quam presentibus in perpetuum. Quia servi Dei qui Dei sunt, maxime concordiam fratrum et amorem proximorum debent querere, pactum quod pro bono pacis inter nos ad invicem statutum est huic cartule studuimus inserere ut si quis deinceps inter nos presumpserit violare caritatem ad vinculum pacis reducatur per memoratam scripti veritatem. Garinus itaque Humolariensis abbas totumque capitulum suum Premonstrate ecclesie in perpetuum censuliter concessit quicquid in territorio Bonolii et Gollencurtis possidebat tam in terra quam in decima pro modio et dimidio frumenti et modio uno avene ad mensuram Hamensem quae eo tempore Hami erat; qui census annuatim in festo Sancti Remigii persolvetur, quem Humolarienses in curia Bonolii accipient. Ne quis ergo pactum hoc quod pro pacis concordieque gratia pro utrorumque commodo factum est in posterum violare valeat, nos ambo personarum nostrarum testimonio cyrographo quoque et sigillis ecclesiarum nostrarum alternatim confirmavimus, sed et auctoritate et sigillo venerabilis Balduini Noviomensis episcopi corroboravimus. Testesque capitulorum qui huic pactioni interfuerunt subsignamus. Signum Huberti prioris. Signum Rainaldi.⁴ Signum Harduini. Signum Rotgeri⁵ sacerdotum. Signum Henrici. Signum Anselmi. Signum Petri diaconorum. Signum Symonis. [Signum] Rainoardi. Signum Richardi subdiaconorum. Signum Raineri.⁶ Signum Bonardi. Signum Haimonis monachorum. Signum Hugonis Premonstrati prioris. Signum Iohannis. Signum Goszuini⁷ sacerdotum. Signum Ade. Signum Iohannis. Signum Rainardi diaconorum. Signum Richardi. Signum Ligeri. Signum Osmundi subdiaconorum. Signum Fulconis. Signum Mathei. Signum Lantberti canonicorum. Actum incarnationis Dominice anno⁸ MCLVIII.

*Garinus B. ¹Renaldi B. ⁴Rogerii B. ⁶Reneri B. ⁷Goschuini B. ⁸anno incarnationis dominice B.

¹ See act no. 63.

Abbot Garin and the chapter of Homblières grant the request of Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand¹ to give the fief he held from Homblières at Gulvilla to the monastery of Mont-Saint-Martin. That fief consists of one-third of the tithe of the church and all its dependencies in land, fields, and woods that he held in return for a census of three modii of wheat, measure of Saint-Quentin, payable at the feast of Saint Remi [1 October]. This transfer was approved by his son Robert in the presence of Burchard [lord of Guise and Lesquielles] and other witnesses and was approved by Gerbert's eldest daughter and her husband and son and by his other daughters and his wife. The census owed from this fief cannot be sold, mortgaged, or alienated without Homblières's approval, and if the amount of the census is ever reduced by Gerbert or his heir, the fief will be forfeited.

B: B.N., lat. 5478, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, fols. 115v-116r, with the title "Inter nos et ecclesiam Humolariensem de terra Gerberti," copy of the 13th c. C: B.N., lat. 9128, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, pp. 460-461, copy of B of 1740.

In nomine sancte et individue Trinitatis. In hoc dignum Deo exhibetur officium, si pauperum suorum utilitati provideatur et paci, quatinus servorem devotionis nulla in eis extinguat inopia et eos infestare volentibus iuste calumpnie adunatur occasio. Eapropter scire modernos, scire volumus et posteros quod ego Garinus Dei gratia abbas Humolariensis ecclesie totumque capitulum nostrum, ad voluntatem et petitionem Gerberti de Fraisnoy, annuentibus Roberto filio suo et uxore ac filiabus ipsius Gerberti quatuor, concessimus ecclesie Montis Sancti Martini iure perpetuo possidendum quicquid Gerbertus apud Gulvillam a nobis tenebat in feodum, terciam scilicet partem decime ad altare pertinentem cum omni appenditio eius in terra culta et inulta, in agro et nemore, ad censum trium modiorum frumenti ad mensuram Sancti Quintiniensis annuatim in festo Sancti Remigii persolvendorum, eo pacto ut Gerbertus aut heres ipsius ipsum censum lege feodi a nobis teneat. Hanc censuram approbavit atque concessit Robertus filius Gerberti coram Buriardo de Leskeres² et Godefrido fratre eius, Clarenbaldo et Rohardo de Fasti, Richero de Spinoy, aliisque multis testibus. Isabel quoque filia Gerberti maior natu id ipsum laudavit atque concessit cum viro suo Algerio et filio suo Adam, presentibus et testificantibus Pagano de Avesnes aliisque quampluribus, scilicet etiam cetera tres filie Gerberti, Ermengardis, Freessendis, Aelies cum matre earum Hersende et Radulpho Colteel, viro Ermengardis, Freessende et Aelis neandum matrimonio iunctis, concesserunt hanc censuram, presentibus Pagano de Avesnes et Gerberto patre earumdem aliisque quampluribus. Nos vero talem huic censure apponimus conditionem quod neque Gerbertus neque heres eius hunc censum vendere aut invadiare aut in elemosinam dare absque nostro beneplacito poterit et conventia. Si autem Gerbertus vel heres cui census iste hereditario iure proveniet quolibet temeritatis ausu vel debiti servitii subtractione feodum suum forefecerit, ipsum nobis censem iure feodi vendicare licebit. Verum ne id quod legitime factum constat, presentium quispiam vel futurorum retractare vel calumpniari presumat, scripto mandavimus testiumque annotatione et sigilli nostri impressione munitum divisimus per cyrographum.^a Actum Dominice incarnationis anno MCLIX.

^a Signa et cetera noted by the cartulary scribe.

¹ Probably the same as Gerbert Rapin of act no. 81.

² Burchard was lord of Guise and Lesquielles (see acts nos. 46A, 47, and 59).

77

[1155-1160]¹

Garin, abbot of Homblières, declares that Helzelin of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, with the approval of his sister and friends, gave to Homblières the tithe of one piece of land at Brasle for the soul of Gozuin. The monastery returned the tithe on condition that he pay an annual census of one modius of oats. Helzelin's wife, Helsa, and their sons approved.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 90, with the title "De decima Brasliae et pro ipsa Helselinus miles de Auriniaco singulis annis modium avenae persolvit." C: H 588, p. 73, with the same title as B, except for "Helzelinus."

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Quia praedecessorum successores tam facta quam dicta oblivioni tradunt plaerumque,^a ego Garinus, abbas Sanctae Mariae Humolariensis^b ecclesiae et conventus mihi commissus, dignum et rationabile^c duxi ut pactio quae inter me et Helzelinum^d statuta est scripto memoriae commendaretur. Modernis itaque et posteris diligenter innotescat quod pro anima Goszuini,^e sororibus suis et caeteris amicis annuentibus, decima unius terrae in Braslia sita ecclesiae Humolariensi in eleemosyna concessa fuit. Hanc vero decimam Helzelino^f de Auriniaco praebuimus tali conditione quod in^g singulis annis modium avenae, Helsa uxore sua et filiis laudantibus, ecclesiae Humolariensi censualiter^h persolveret. Si vero controversia aliquibus calumnianti-bus pro praedicta decima exorta fuerit, ecclesia Humolariensis auxiliatrix excuterit. Huius rei testes sunt: Garinus abbas, Hubertus prior, Bonardus cellarius, Hilduinus. De clericis: Robertus, Fulbertus, Matthaeus, Thomas. De laicis: Simon, Albricus, Gerardus, Radulfus, Wicardus.ⁱ

^{*}plerumque tradunt B ¹Humoliarensis B. ²rationabileter changed to rationabile B. ³Helselinum B. ⁴Gosluni C. ⁵Helselino B. ⁶in omitted C. ⁷censualiter omitted C. ⁸Wichardus B.

¹Garin was abbot 1150/1151-1159/1160. Since Rainald was prior in 1154 (act no. 70), it would appear that Hubert, a witness here, became prior in 1155; he was still prior in 1161 and perhaps as late as 1163 (act no. 83). Therefore this charter can be dated 1155-1160. Marginal notations in both copies give 1153.

78

[1155-1160]¹

Garin, abbot of Homblières, exchanged some small pieces of land with the canons of Arrouaise living at Margères. The exchange was made with the consent of Thomas of Roye,² who held in fief three parcels of land that belonged to Arrouaise, and Roger, who held two pieces of land that Homblières possessed. Homblières retains this document with the seal of Arrouaise, while the canons at Margères will have a charter with the seal of Homblières.

B: Amiens, B.M., MS 1077, Cartulaire d'Arrouaise, fol. 85r-v, with rubric "Cyrographum inter nos et monachis Humolariensis," copy of 1180-1193. C: Lat. 13911, fol. 55r-v, with the title "De commutatione terrae Cauviniaci³ et Belliloci, quae facta est inter nos et canonicos de Arroisia." D: H 588, pp. 50-51, with the same title as C.

Ind.: Matton, p. 94. Michel, "Inventaire sommaire," p. 266.

Notum sit tam praesentis temporis quam futuri omnibus fidelibus quod Garinus^a abbas Humolariensis^b commutavit quasdam portiunculas terrae^c quae ad ius ecclesiae de Humolariensis^d pertinebant pro alia terra cum canoniciis de Arroisia^e apud Margellas commanentibus. Donavit scilicet praedictis canoniciis partes portiunculae terrae^f quas ipsi habebant^g in vicinio curtis suae de Cheuni,^h duas portiunculasⁱ terrae de iure ecclesiae de Humolariensis^k quae sunt in vicinio curtis ipsorum canoniconum de Belloloco, eiusdem quantitatis cuius illae tres sunt partes^l quas^m ipse abbas a canoniciis suscepit. Haec portiuncularumⁿ commutatio facta est consensu et concessione Thomae de Roia et Ioannis filii sui de cuius feodo sunt tres illae portiunculae^{*} quas canonici dederunt abbatii de Humblieris, et petitione[#] et consensu Rogeri qui cum reliqua terra sua hereditario^{$} tenore habet de ecclesia de Humblieris[†] illas duas portiunculas[‡] quas abbas dedit canonicis. Et quod petitio praedicti Rogeri et consensus in hoc fuerit, testes interfuerent. Insuper etiam ipse abbas de Humolariis[§] conces-sione conventus sui praefatis canonicis dono remisit suam partem decimae in perpetuum libere et quiete retinendum[¶] de particula quae de supradictis duabus portiunculis^{||} fossato et saepe separata^{} est, ad ampliandum hortum sororum apud Bellumlocum manentium. Super hoc inter eos commutatione terrarum et decimae praefatae tam ab abbatie quam a conventu libera remissione quatenus firmae et stabiles^{} in posterum permaneant. In hunc modum inter se scriptum confecerant et sigillorum impressione ita consignaverunt ut ecclesia de Humblieris[†] habeat ipsum scriptum consignatum sigillo ecclesiae de Arroisia,[¶] et canonici apud Margellas commandentes idem scriptum habeant signatum sigillo ecclesiae de Humblieris.[¶] Pactionis huius hi^{} testes sunt: Warinus abbas de Humblieris,[¶] Hubertus prior, Hilduinus, Rainerus. De laicis: Balduinus, Faluich[¶] et Rogerus filius eius, Rainardus[¶] maior, Robertus, Bruhris,[¶] Anselmus. De canonicis: Fulbertus abbas de Arroisia,[¶] Evrardus prior, Arnulfus, Petrus. Item de laicis: Thomas et Iohannes filius eius.^{}

^{*} Guarinus B. [#] Humol. BC. [¶] porciunculas terre B. terrae portiunculas D. ^{} Humbl. B. Humol. CD. [†] Arroasia B. ^{||} portiunculis terre B., a later hand added proximae and changed ter-rae to terris D. ^{$} habebat C. [¶] Cheuvi CD, item added by a later hand D. [‡] porciunculas B. [¶] de omitted D. [¶] Humbl. B. Humol. C. [¶] partes omitted B. ^{} quas crossed out D. [¶] Hec posses siuncularum B., an error of the cartulary scribe. ^{*} porciuncule B., particulae corrected to portiunculae C. [¶] petitione B. [¶] iure after hereditario crossed out D. [¶] Humbl. BC. [¶] quiete in perpetuum retinendum B. [¶] porciunculis B. ^{} supra scripta corrected to saepe separata C. [¶] stabilis D. ^{} hui B. [¶] Falnich B. [¶] Runoardus B. [¶] Bruhirs B. ^{} Sigillum Sancti Nicho-lai de Arroisia CD, note by scribe of the medieval cartulary.

¹ Both lat. 13911 and H 588 have a date of 1153 in the margin, but the presence of Hubert as prior of Homblières puts the date after 1155 (see act no. 77, n. 1). Fulbert was abbot of Arrouaise from 1151 to 1161 (Remy, 4:730). Evrard was prior of Margères in 1153 (Peigné-Delacourt, p. 51, no. 78) and 1155 (act of Baldwin II, bishop of Noyon, concerning Fargny, in Amiens, B.M., MS 1077, Cartulaire d'Arrouaise, fols. 54r-55r, and indicated in Michel, "Inventaire sommaire," p. 259). Abbot Garin died in 1159/1160.

² Thomas of Roye gave to Saint-Prix in 1138 (text in Collette, 2:263-264) and witnessed an act of Ralph, count of Vermandois (dated 1158, although Ralph died in 1152; indicated in Loisne, "Le cartulaire de la commanderie d'Eterpigny," p. 155, no. 3).

³ The cartulary scribe of Homblières identified Cheuni as Cauviniacus.

[1155-1160]¹

Garin, abbot of Homblières, with the consent of the chapter, concedes to Saint-Prix what Odo the Fat gave to Homblières when he became a monk just before his death: 5 s. from the terragium at Attilly, which he held as a fief, and half of the oven at Dallon, which he possessed by inheritance. Odo's three sons permit Homblières to transfer these properties to Saint-Prix.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 61, with the title "De tribus solidis persolvendis a monachis Sancti Projecti in festo Sancti Remigii pro terragio de Athelli et pro medietate furni de Dalon."

C: H 588, p. 54, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Notum sit omnibus sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis fidelibus tam futuris quam praesentibus quod ego Garinus, Dei gratia abbas Humolariensis, pari assensu et consilio capituli nostri, quinque solidos quos^a Oddo Crassus pro remedio animae suae in eleemosynam contulit huic ecclesiae, apud nos factus in extremis monachus, quosque in feodo de Rogerio terragio apud Athelli tenebat, et medietatem furni de Dalon quam iure haereditario possidebat,^b quamque simul cum praefatis quinque solidis ut superius diximus, tribus filiis concedentibus, in eleemosynam contradidit ecclesiae Sancti Projecti et fratribus eiusdem loci, haec omnia in perpetuum libere possidenda praesentibus solidis ecclesiae in festo Sancti Remigii persolvendis solemniter concedimus. Nolumus igitur quempiam posteriorum ignorare de praefata medietate furni praedictum Oddonem, praesentibus atque laudantibus tribus filiis suis, sic ordinasse quod quicumque mansum ad quem spectabat medietas furni in terra arabili atque^c hospitibus possideret, integrum censem totius mansi in perpetuum persolveret pactionis huius. Hi testes sunt: Gaurinus abbas, Rainardus abbas, Balduinus prior, Ricardus, Hugo, Hubertus prior, Hilduinus, Harduinus.

^aquod C. ^btenebat crossed out and replaced by possidebat B. ^cet B.

¹Garin was abbot 1150/1151-1159/1160 and Rainald I was abbot of Saint-Prix 1148-1161/1164. Hubert was prior of Homblières from 1155 (see act no. 77, n. 1). Both lat. 13911 and H 588 have marginal dates of 1153.

79A

[1159/1160]¹

Hugh, abbot of Saint-Amand-les-Eaux [and formerly abbot of Homblières], writes a letter of consolation to the monks of Homblières over the death of their abbot Garin. He also offers to participate in the election of their new abbot.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 99 (a single folio of paper attached to lat. 13911 and in a different hand from the rest of the manuscript), with the title "H[ugo] abbas Sancti Amandi Humolarienses consolatur de morte sui abbatis."

*Pub.: (a) Mariéne and Durand, Thesaurus novus anecdotorum, 1:443-444,
"from a manuscript of Saint-Amand." (b) Duvivier, 1:279-280, from B.*

Frater H[ugo], humilis minister ecclesiae Sancti Amandi, carissimo sibi^a priori H[uberto] dilectissimis^b etiam fratribus Humolariensis monasterii, pusillis cum maioribus spiritum consilii, cum spiritu consolationis. Verissima est illa beati apostoli sententia, quoniam cum patitur unum membrum, compatiuntur omnia membra. Siquidem, quoniam sumus invicem membra quadam speciali subministracione per gratiam Dei connexa, non possum mihi imperare quin doleam, cum angelicum vestrum conventum dolere scio; non possum ab animo meo avertere dolorem, quin mei desolationem lugeam cum vestri desolationem audio. Nec dissimulare possum^c quin mihi sit dulcior affectus et sincerior ad vos dilectio, quibus olim etsi indignus servus ordinatus sum pastoralis regiminis sollicitudinem exhibere, qui etiam suistis gaudium meum^d et corona mea, cum essem in medio vestrum sicut qui ministrat. Et ego, auditio nuntio, quod cordi meo grave vulnus inflxit, de obitu mihi admodum carissimi et iam non sine lachrymis^e memorandi domini abbatis G[arinij], laboriosas actiones et anxias occupationes quas Lia lippiens mihi pro Rachel servienti importune suggerit, omnimodis abieceram et^f ad vestrum religiosum conventum,^f si quomodo possem consolandum ire disposeram, cum ecce dominus^g noster Tornacensium episcopus molestia corporali ad mortis usque exitum, ut putatur, laborans non equo sed navi ad ecclesiam nostram adductus est. Intelligit autem prudentia vestra quod nulla ratione subtersugiendum sed omni modis congruum et dignum fuit, ut eum praesentes exciperemus, et ei necessaria tanquam^h episcopo nostro et excellentissimae religionis monacho diligenter provideremus. Porro nos et fratres nostri pro vobisⁱ divinae maiestati orationum ordoramenta adulere curabimus, et ut in eligendo vobis pastore, cooperante Spiritus Sancti gratia, recta sapiatis et recta faciat obnixius deprecabimur. Quod si ipsam electionem opportuni*or* tempor*u* reservare volueritis, transacta proxima feria quarta, Deo propitio, humilitatem nostram presentem habebitis. Valete.

¹sibi omitted a. ²dilectissimis omitted a. ³possum dissimulare a. ⁴meum omitted a. ⁵lacrymis a. ⁶in lieu of et through conventum, Bb have commentum et ad vestrum religiosum.
⁷domnus a. ⁸tamquam a. ⁹nobis b. ¹⁰opportuni*or* tempore a.

¹ Dated by Mariène and Durand to ca. 1155, but Abbot Garin died in 1159/1160 and Rainer succeeded him in 1160.

80

Homblières

1161

The knight Simon of Essigny-le-Grand and his brother gave to Homblières, for their souls, land in the territory of Sorbi, with the approval of their wives, sons, sisters, and nephews John le Fras, Robert of Villette, Philip Rut, and James Signus. The transfer was witnessed and conceded by Guy [II] of Moy and his son Guy of Englancourt,¹ from whose fief this land moves. Other witnesses include Saracen, castellan of La Fere,² knights, and peasants.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 68, without title. C: H 588, pp. 60–61, without title.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Notum fieri volumus universis sanctae matris ecclesiae filii tam praesentibus quam futuris quod quidam miles de Aysseni, Simon nomine, cum fratre suo Willemo^o duas modias terrae et dimidiā de^b territorio de Sorbi adiacentes praescriptis, impositionem super altare beatae Mariae semper virginis ecclesiae Humolariensi, pro animarum suarum remedio in eleemosynam tradiderunt. Huius autem eleemosynae donationem laudaverunt et concesserunt iam dictorum militum uxores et filii, sorores etiam eorumdem vel nepotes quorum nomina haec sunt: Ioannes le Fras et Robertus de Vilette^c et Philippus Rut et Iacob Signus. Huius pactionis testes et concessores fuerunt: Wido de Moy eiusdem quoque filius Wido de Asleincourt et ipsorum posteri de quorum feodo haec eadem terra descendere videtur. Ne quis igitur malefactorum hanc in posterum eleemosynam tam legitima donatione concessam inquietare vel etiam auferre, quod absit, praesumat, fideles quam plurimos qui huius rei testes extiterunt subter annotavimus, ipsumque malefactorem nisi pro commisso facinore poenitentiam agens resipuerit, et prout sanctae ecclesiae instituta se habent Humolariensi⁴ ecclesiae satisfecerit, perpetui anathematis vinculo obligavimus. Signum domini Raineri abbatis. Signum Huberti prioris. Signum Rainaldi. Signum Petri. De militibus: Signum Wenrici Vastel.⁵ Signum Godefredi de⁶ Coudre.³ Signum Gaulteri Lecaitif nepotis ipsius. Signum Venrici praepositi de Insula. Signum Widonis de Ucceon. Signum Sarraceni castellani de Feria. De rusticis: Signum Stephani Libret de Urvillari.⁴ Signum Radulfi Nitart et fratriss eius. Signum Amisardi Lomel⁴ et filii eius. Actum in monasterio Humolariensi anno ab incarnatione Domini MCLXI. In praesentia domini Raineri abbatis sub Ludovico Galliarum rege, regnante autem Domino nostro Iesu Christo per omnia saecula saeculorum. Amen.

⁴ Wilielmo C. ⁶ de omitted B ⁵ Vilete B ⁴ Humolariensi B ⁴ Vastel changed to de Ruastel C. ⁵ du C. ⁵ Urculari B ⁴ Lomal C.

¹ Guy II of Moy is known from 1128 to 1165 (Rodière and Vallée, 1:10). His wife was probably Alix of Estrées (ibid., 1:13). His son is last known in 1178 (ibid., 1:14, and 2:19–20, no. 49, an act for Mont-Saint-Martin by Werric, dean of Saint-Quentin).

² Saracen of La Fère and his brother Hugh the Captive of Vendeuil appeared in 1146 (act no. 46). Further references to the castellans of La Fère and Laon, with a genealogical table, are in Newman, Les seigneurs de Nesle, 2:203–207, and Barthélemy, p. 147.

³ Coudre is an error for Condre (Newman, Les seigneurs de Nesle, 2:205, nn. h and m).

81

[1162 or 1147 May 15–1169 March 4]¹

A notice states that Elizabeth, wife of Wicard the Elder, knight of Morcourt, felt her death imminent and with the advice and consent of Wicard and their son William of Benay gave to Homblières, in which she wished to be buried, three modiatae of her inherited land located between Chelinvillier and the monastery's woods of Authuin.² Wicard himself became a monk at Homblières and donated his inheritance at Bernot and his share of the land that he held with Gerbert Rapin³ at Fresnoy-le-Grand. Gerbert, however, had already become a monk at Homblières at the approach of his own death, and had promised to give both his and Wicard's share of their land to the monastery. It was agreed that if Wicard did not consent to the alienation of his share, Gerbert would designate an equivalent amount of land that his son Robert would transfer to the abbey before Gerbert's death.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 73, with the title "De terra quam dedit nobis Elizabeth uxor Wicardi et de quadam parte alodiorum quam dedit nobis idem Wicardus de Benais apud Bernot." C: H 588, pp. 63–64, with the same title as B, except for "Elisabeth."

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Elizabeth,⁴ uxor Wicardi militis senioris de Morecurt, durae infirmitatis tacta incommodo, cum et iam diem mortis suae imminere sentiret, consilio et assensu eiusdem Wicardi mariti sui et filii sui Wulhelmi de Benais, huic ecclesiae in qua et ipsa prius⁵ modum defuncta tumulata requiescit, dedit tres modiatae terrae quae a praedecessoribus suis ei remanserant, quae terra sita est inter Chelinvillier⁶ et nemus nostrum Authuin. Ipseque Wicardus tandem,⁷ Deo inspirante, in hoc monasterio monachus effectus, concessit nobis iure perpetuo habendum quidquid in alodiis de Bronosco haereditarie possidebat et⁸ partem suam unius terrae quam cum Gerberto Rapine habebat apud Fraisnote. Idem autem Gerbertus, antequam praedictus miles Wicardus monachus efficeretur, in extremis ad nos confugiens et monachicum habitum in morte suscipiens, totam terram illam⁹ partem suam scilicet et partem Wicardi in eleemosynam huic ecclesiae se daturum promisit. Si quando apud Wicardum obtinere non potuit¹⁰ ut pars ipsius Wicardi cum parte sua nobis firmiter daretur, idem Gerbertus tantumdem terrae et tam valentis quantum spatii pars Wicardi obtinebat per Robertum filium suum qui prius mortem patris¹¹ rem peracturus erat alibi de terra sua nobis se assignaturum spopondit. Hoc laudaverunt ipse Gerbertus Rapine et Robertus filius eius et filiae ipsius Gerberti Rapine, et omnes alii amici sui cum uxoris et liberis.

⁴ Elisabeth C. ⁵ prius changed to post C. ⁶ Chelinvillier B. ⁷ tamen C. ⁸ haeredetiare B.
I et added by a later hand C. ⁹ illam terram C. ¹⁰ potuit changed to possat C. ¹¹ partis BC. ¹² assignatarum B.

¹ Elizabeth's gift is mentioned in Alexander III's bull of 4 March 1169 (act no. 88) but not in Eugenius III's bull of 14 May 1147 (act no. 59). A marginal note in H 588 has "versus 1162."

² Elizabeth held the three modiatae from the knight Raimbald for a one-sixth share of the harvest; see act no. 88.

³ Probably Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand; see act no. 76.

Rainer, abbot of Homblières, announces an exchange of several lands and tithes with the church of Notre-Dame of Vicoigne in order to end disputes between the two monasteries.

B: Nord, A.D., 59 H 95, Cartulaire de Vicoigne, fols. 31v-32r, no. 33, with the title
"De concordia inter nos et ecclesiam Humolariensem facta," copy of the 13th c.

Ind.: Piétremonde de Saint-Aubin, 2:264.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, amen. Mutabilitatis humane natura plerumque cogit a memoria labi quod perutile fuerat a mortalibus retineri. Iccirco necessarie scribitur cyrographum quod fieri solet finis controversiarum. Ego igitur Rainerus, Humolariensis minister indignus, notum fieri volo tam futuris quam presentibus quod conservande pacis ac dilectionis gratia hae^a terrarum ac decimorum commutationes inter nostram et ecclesiam beate Marie de Casa Dei facte sint. Dedimus equidem campum de Morocurt pro campo qui est in nemore Aution, sartum Wandelgeir pro quodam campo qui est in territorio de Curcellis, campum etiam qui est de dote altaris de Ruvero et campum qui de territorio Morincurtis est pro decimis quas iam dicta ecclesia in utroque territorio accipiebat. In territoriis etiam prefatis ubicumque terram coluerint, decimas ut ceteri cultores dabunt. Ad huius igitur pactionis et commutationis stabilitatem, hanc scripsimus cartulam idoneis testibus sigillorumque impressionibus confirmatam. Signum Raineri abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Geraldus abbatis de Casa Dei. Signum Huberti prioris. Signum Rainaldi. Signum Egidii. Signum Gerardi diaconi. Signum Symonis. Signum Iacobi. Signum Petri prioris de Casa Dei. Signum Oliveri et Godefridi sacerdotum. Signum Odonis et Arnulfi diaconorum. Signum Goberti ac Gerardi subdiaconorum.

^a hee B.

¹ This act can be dated only to the abbacy of Rainer, 1159/1160–1163. Gerald was abbot of Vicoigne from 1153 to 1168 (Le Glay, p. 331), and Peter was prior in 1154 (act no. 69) and on 9 November 1163 (act of Godescald, bishop of Arras, in B.N., nouv. acq. lat. 1204, Cartulaire de Marchiennes, p. 72, copy of 1872 by M. Robert).

Rainer,² a knight of the villa of Homblières who was seriously ill, was granted permission to become a monk, after which he sold to the monastery for 40*l.* all that he held from Homblières by hereditary right in that villa: lands, hospites, half an oven, and all else. Since Rainer had mortgaged the half oven to some townsmen of Saint-Quentin for 14*l.*, the monastery had to pay off the creditors, and thus paid out a total of 54*l.* In addition, another piece of land that Rainer held in fief from the wife of Simon, knight of Attilly, had to be redeemed for 30*l.*, with the approval of Simon, his wife, and their children and in return for a cup, a palfrey, and ten solidi.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 72r-v, with the title "De duobus feodis Raineri Longi monachi nostri quos habemus in vadimonio." C: H 588, pp. 62-63, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Homo unus in hac villa Humolariensi commanens, Rainerus nomine, corporeae infirmitatis molestia graviter oppressus, tam per se quam per amicos suos, abbatem loci huius qui tunc temporis erat et monachos satis humiliter rogavit ut infra hoc monasterium cum monachis pro monacho suscipi mereretur. Cuius tam devotee petitioni abbas et monachi prout dignum erat benignissime assentientes eum aegrotantem infra monasterium susceperunt et ei habitum religionis tradiderunt. Ille autem pro collato sibi beneficio quidquid intra^o istam villam et quidquid extra villam in terris, in hospitibus, et in medietate unius furni, vel in aliis quibuslibet rebus haereditario iure tenebat ab ecclesia ista totum sub pretio XL librarum catalaunensis monetae redimendum in eleemosynam huic ecclesiae donavit. Scendum tamen est quod antequam idem Rainerus habitum monachi habuisse, super medietatem suam furni istius villae mutuo accepit XIV libras a quibusdam^t burgensibus Sancti Quintini, quos denarios monachi nostri de proprio ecclesiae iam dictis creditoribus persolverunt, et ita partem illam quae Rainero competit ad opus ecclesiae redemerunt. Noverit igitur quisque fidelium quam si aliquis ex propinquis Raineri propinquior, scilicet ipsius haeres, totum hoc quod ipsum Rainerum ab ecclesia ista^c tenere diximus, redimere, LIV libras ecclesiae persolvere, XL propter eleemosynam, XIV propter proprietatem quam in redemptione furni exsolvit.^d Alteram quoque terram quam idem Rainerus tenebat de feodo unius dominae, uxoris videlicet domini Simonis de Attelli, sub pretio XXX librarum, viromandensis monetae, redimenda, in eleemosynam similiter huic ecclesiae tradita.^e Hoc laudaverunt eadem domina et Simon iam dictus miles maritus eius et liberi ipsorum acceptis ab ecclesia ista pro eadem concessione scipho^f uno, palefrido uno, et X solidis ambarum scilicet pactionum sicut praenotatae sunt. Multi fidelium testes fuerunt, quorum nomina hic annotare nobis aestimo necessarium. Signum domini^g Raineri abbatis. Signum Huberti prioris. Signum Aegidii thesaurarii. Signum Rainaldi. Signum Gossuini.^h Signum Bertulfi. Signum Rogeri cantoris. Signum Simonis. Signum Rainaldi.ⁱ Signum Ricardi. Signum Ioannis. Signum ipsius Raineri huius rei authoris. Signum Gerardi Leprosi. Signum Walteri maioris. Signum Simonis militis de Attelli.^j Signum uxoris eius. Signum Simonis Tuevilain. Signum Radulfi Molineri. Signum Albrici Walbrun.^k Signum Roberti L'Escuyer. Signum Roberti de Sairi. Signum Walteri coci. Signum Clarembaldis. Signum Walteri fabri. Signum Hermandi coci.

⁴ extra? corrected to intra B. ⁵ a quibus changed to ab aliquibus C. ⁶ ipsa ecclesia C. ⁷ solvit corrected to exsolvit B. ⁸ traditae BC. ⁹ scripto C. ¹⁰ domini omitted C. ¹¹ Signum Gossuini through Signum Rainaldi added in margin B. ¹² Athelli C. ¹³ Tuevillain C. ¹⁴ Wallebrun C.

¹ Rainer was abbot 1159/1160-1163. A marginal note in H 588 gives a date of "versus 1160."

² Called "Rainer the Long" in the cartulary title, which was probably written within living memory of the act.

84

[1163-1165]¹

Peter the Aged, a knight of Rouvroy who became a monk at Homblères because of a grave illness and fear of death, gave the monastery all the land he inherited on the right side [of the road] going to Tilloy and all his land extending from the exit of the monastery's woods in the direction of Tilloy. Guy [II], his son Guy of Moy, and their wives and children, from whom Peter held that land, praised the transfer and for 6 l. further conceded to Homblères, by branch and turf placed on the altar, the ban and jurisdiction over cases of robbery and bloodshed.

B: Lat. I3911, fol. 71, with the title "De terra quam dedit nobis Petrus miles de Ruvereio cognomento Vetula monachus noster." C: H 588, p. 62, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Miles unus de Ruvereio Petrus cognomento Vetula, gravissima infirmitate fatigatus, Domino, ut credimus, ipsum vocante, timore mortis in hoc monasterio Humolariensi habitum religionis suscepit, et quidquid terrae habebat a dextra parte euntium ab hac villa ad Tilloie scilicet, Euche, Linvileir et Santherolles^a et, ut expressius dicam, totam terram suam quae extenditur a nemore nostro euntium circumquaque ad Tilloie haereditario iure huic loco perpetualiter possidendum reliquit. Hoc itaque laudaverunt Wido Senex et eiusdem Widonis filius, Wido iunior de Moy, cum uxoribus suis et liberis sub quorum dominio idem Petrus Vetula [tenebat] terram illam. Acceptisque ab ecclesia pro eadem concessione sex denariorum libris, bannum, latronem,^b sanguinem, et quidquid iuris in eadem terra vel feodo praescripti milites se habere dicebant per rami et cespites^c super altare impositionem totum ecclesiae iure perpetuo tenendum multis fidelibus coram^d positis concesserunt. Istud etiam confirmatione facta laudaverunt eiusdem Petri uxor et duae filiae ipsius in praesentia domini In-gelberti decani et Hellini presbyteri de' Ruverio¹ et Arnulfi presbyteri de Morecurt et aliorum plurimorum fidelium utriusque sexus quorum nomina subter annotavimus. Signum ipsius Petri Vetulae huius reis actoris. Signum uxoris eiusdem. Signum filiarum eius. Signum Widonis Senioris de Moy. Signum Widonis filii eius. Signum uxorum eorumdemque liberorum. Signum domini Petri abbatis. Signum Rinaldi prioris. Signum Huberti. Signum Hugonis Calvi. Signum Bertulfi. Signum Ioannis. Signum Simonis Tuevilain. Signum Albrici Walbrun.² Signum Walteri de Marci.³

¹Santheroles B. ²lationem BC. ³cespitis B. ⁴eoram C. ⁵de omitted B. ⁶Ruverio B. ⁷rei huius B. ⁸Valbrun C. ⁹Marcy C.

¹Peter I was abbot from 1163 to 1175. Alexander III's bull of 4 March 1169 (act. no. 88) mentions this gift, but if Guy II of Moy died in or before 1165 (Rodière and Vallée, 1:10), this act could be dated 1163-1165. Marginal notations in lat. 13911 and H 588 give 1165.

85

1167

A report of a dispute between the monasteries of Vicoigne and Homblières over some land next to the ditch of Brunellum states that Henry, archbishop of Reims,¹ delegated the abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims² and Philip, abbot of L'Aumône,³ to settle the matter and requested that Baldwin, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île from whom Vicoigne held the land, guarantee the judgment. It was decided that Baldwin should give the land to Vicoigne.

B: Nord, A.D., 59 H 95, Cartulaire de Vicoigne, fol. 81r, no. 131, with the title "De concordia inter ecclesias Viconiensem et Humolariensem," copy of the 13th c.

Ind.: Piétresson de Saint-Aubin, 2:264.

Inter ecclesiam de Casa Dei Viconia et ecclesiam Humolariensem orta fuit contentio pro quadam terra iuxta Brunelli fossam iacente. Hanc vero causam dominus Henricus, Remorum archiepiscopus, terminandam commisit abbatii Sancti Remigii et domino Philippo abbati de Elemosina. Ceterum quam ecclesia Viconiensis iam dictam terram ab ecclesia Sancti Quintini de Insula tenebat, dominum Balduinum abbatem eiusdem ecclesie ut ei guarandiam portaret adiit. Denique iudicali sententia diffinitum est quod abbas Balduinus sacramento prefatam terram ecclesie Viconensi disrationaret. Iuravit autem in presentia memoratorum iudicium abbas scilicet Sancti Remigii et domini Philippi, ipse et sequaces eius viri honesti: dominus Bernardus presbyter et Udo cognomento Narina, Symon quoque filius Nevelonis canonici. Huius diffinitionis testes fuerunt Balduinus prior et Walbertus subprior, Rogerus Calvus. Actum anno MCLXVII.

¹ Henry was archbishop of Reims, 1162-1175 (GC, 9:88, 94).

² Peter II was abbot of Saint-Remi, 1162-1181 (ibid., 9:234).

³ Philip, who had been prior of Clairvaux, became the fourth abbot of L'Aumône (or Le Petit Cîteaux: Loir-en-Cher, ar. Blois) in 1156 (Canivez, 5:679-682). On 11 November 1172 he was an arbiter between the townsmen of Laon and the bishop and chapter of Laon (act of Louis VII, RHF, 16:157, n. a; indicated in Luchaire, no. 620). A Philippus quondam abbas Elemosine was witness in 1173 to an act of Walter, bishop of Laon, and in 1175 to an act of Robert, dean of the chapter of Laon (B.N., lat. 11073, "Cartulaire de Vauclair," fols. 54v-55r, 54r-v).

86

[1145 August 18-1169 March 4]¹

A notice states that Stephen, a knight, gave his alod to Notre-Dame of Homblières so that the monks would bury him in the monastery. Not long after, Wazelin, a knight of Méchambre, asked to hold that alod for an annual census of 4s., a sum so small that he promised in addition to provide the monks aid and counsel whenever the need arose. If he does not pay the census on time, he will be summoned to the monastery's court.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 38, with the title "De alodio apud Mecumiam sito quod dedit Stephanus miles Sanctae Mariae." C: H 588, p. 36, with the same title as B.

Ind: Matton, p. 94.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis, Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti. Notum sit omnibus Dei fidelibus quod Stephanus miles, filius Evrardi militis, quoddam alodium suum quietum et liberum tradidit Sanctae Mariae loco scilicet Humolariensi in usus fratrum Deo ibi militantium videlicet ut ipsi fratres eum ibidem^a sepelirent et ut animae eius apud Dominum subvenirent. Post non multum vero temporis venit ad nos Waszelinus,^b miles de Mecumia, petens ut idem alodium concederemus ei sub censu annuali scilicet quatuor solidorum quos persolvet quotannis in natali Sancti Quintini. Ipsius autem alodii censem sub tam parva quantitate determinavimus, non ob aliud nisi quam auxilium et consilium suum nobis promisit affuturum idem Waszelinus quoties eveniet locus. Censem vero nisi in supradicto^c festo persolverit, perinde ad placitum nostrum, si monitus fuerit, veniet et eos cum lege persolvet.

^a ibi C. ^b Waszelynus C. ^c suprascripto B.

¹ The bull of Eugenius III of 18 August 1145 (act no. 53) records a census of 3 s. (versus the 4 s. here) from land at Méchambre. The bull of Alexander III of 4 March 1169 (act no. 88) does refer to these 4 s. at Méchambre. Thus the act falls between those two dates. A marginal note in H 588 puts the date "about 1160."

[1163-1169 March 4]¹

This notice states that the two sons of Wenric Vastel,² Matthew and Cauret, with their sister's consent, gave to Notre-Dame of Homblieres two modii of wheat from the tithe of Fontaine-Uerte. Their uncle Simon of Urwillers³ approved, as did Rainer [II] Bigos, seneschal of Vermandois,⁴ from whose fief the tithe derived. This gift was made by placing branch and turf on the altar.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 70, with the title "De duobus modiis frumenti quos habemus in decima de Fontanis in Colle." C: H 588, pp. 61-62, with the same title as B except for "Fontanis in Valle"; a later hand added "in Colle, Fontaine d'Uerte."

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Quoniam omni generationi alia succedit generatio quia universa quae quotidie a mortalibus aguntur in litteris inserta fuerint oblivioni⁵ tradita penitus delentur, aliqua quae nostris temporibus ex devota fidelium largitione⁶ huic ecclesiae nostrae attributa⁷ sunt nostris et posteriorum nostrorum utilitatibus Plinium⁸ consulentes litteris mandare curavimus. Noverint igitur praesentes, noverint etiam futuri quod duo filii Wenrici, Cauret et Mathaei⁹ scilicet, sorore eorumdem assentiente, pro suis et parentum suorum animabus dederunt Deo et Sanctae Mariae Humolariensi¹⁰ et monachis inibi versantibus in eleemosynam duos modios frumenti in decima de Fontanis in Colle. Hoc itaque laudaverunt ipsi duo fratres et Simon de Ursvillari, avunculi eorum, et Rainerus Bigos, Vermandensis dapifer, de cuius feodo ipsa, quam praediximus, decima descendit et per ramum et per cespitem devote et humiliter eamdem eleemosynam super altare offerentes se suosque posteros ea quae dicta sunt in perpetuum servaturos multis fidelium quorum nomina subtus annotata sunt coram adstantibus firmaverunt. Signum ipsorum¹¹ duorum fratrum Matthaei¹² et [Caureti].¹³ Signum []¹⁴ sororis eorum. Signum Raineri dapiferi et Wenrici Vastel. Signum Drogonis de Duvellun.¹⁵ De monachis: Signum domini Petri abbatis. Signum Rainaldi prioris. Signum Huberti. Signum Hugonis Calvi. Signum Rogeri et Walteri praepositi. Signum Ioannis. Signum Richardi. Signum Iacobi.¹⁶ De clericis: Signum magistri Martini. De hominibus istius villae: Signum Simonis Tuevilain. Signum Albrici Walebrun. Signum Walteri de Marci.

¹ oblivious corrected to oblivioni C. ² devotione C. ³ adtributa B. ⁴ scilicet (?) plenius added by a later hand in margin B. ⁵ Matthii changed to Mattaei B. ⁶ Humoliarensis B. ⁷ ipsorum added B. ⁸ Mathaei C. ⁹ left blank in the text BC. ¹⁰ Duullun B. ¹¹ Iacob C.

¹ The terminus a quo is 1163, when Peter became abbot of Homblières; the terminus ad quem is 4 March 1169 (act no. 88), when Alexander III confirmed this revenue. Marginal notes in lat. 13911 and H 588 give a date of 1168.

² Wenric Vastel appeared in a number of charters from 1133 to 1171 and seems to have been a man of some importance from Saint-Quentin. He was a knight in 1133 (act of Simon, bishop of Noyon, for Saint-Quentin, in Collette, 2:260-261) and in 1160 (act no. 80). His brother was Rainer of Roinon (or Roinum), who with his wife Oda and son Rogo gave a tithe at Grécourt to Prémontré in 1137 (act of Simon, bishop of Noyon, that calls Rainer's brother "G. Werrico Guastel," an original act in A.N., L 995, fonds Prémontré, no. 4). Rainer of Roinum and Wenric Vastel appeared together in 1137 (act of Baldwin II, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, concerning Brancourt, B.N., lat. 12895, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, fol. 61r-v, copy of the seventeenth century, and Coll. Picardie, vol. 255, fol. 161). Wenric's daughter Agnes married Manasses of Ramicourt (act of Simon, bishop of Noyon, for Longpont and Tronquoy in 1146, in Collette, 2:267-271). Wenric appeared last in 1171 (act of Ralph, deacon of the church of Amiens, for Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, B.N., lat. 12895, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, fols. 42v-43v, copy of the seventeenth century). His nephew Wenric Vilicus appeared in 1141 (act of Ralph, count of Vermandois, for Tronquoy, in Collette, 2:271-272).

³ Simon of Urvillers held a fief from Wenric in 1160 (act for Montreuil-les-Dames, original in A.N., L 994, fonds Montreuil, no. 6). Simon's wife Margaret appeared in 1160 (act of Baldwin II, bishop of Noyon, original in A.N., L 944, fonds Montreuil, no. 6).

⁴ According to the list of seneschals of Vermandois (Collette, 2:211-212), Rainer II Bigos was the son of seneschal John and grandson of seneschal Rainer I, lord of Fonsommes. Rainer I and his wife Elizabeth founded the monastery of Fervaques ca. 1140 (GC, 10:instr., 378). A Rainer dapifer witnessed in 1144 (act no. 48) and was mentioned in 1152 (confirmation of many gifts to Fervaques by Baldwin II, bishop of Noyon; in Bouchot, pp. 345-347, copy of the original). Collette states (2:211, without reference) that Rainer II Bigos was seneschal in 1158; he was still in that office in 1182 (act of Rainald, bishop of Noyon, for Fervaques; in Bouchot, p. 348). He probably died before 1186, when Philip, count of Flanders and Vermandois, confirmed the gifts of Rainer to Fervaques (Coll. Moreau, vol. 89, fol. 27).

88

Benevento

1169 March 4

Pope Alexander III confirms the named possessions¹ of Notre-Dame of Homblières and places it under the protection of the Holy See. The pope also grants exemption from tithe of newly cleared lands that the monks cultivate by their own hands, the right to bury on its grounds anyone not under excommunication or interdict, and the election of their abbot by the common consent of all the monks or by those with the wiser counsel.

B: Lat. 13911, fols. 1-3r, without title. C: H 588, pp. 1-4, without title.

Pub.: (a) Ramackers, pp. 239-242, no. 117, based on C (formulae abbreviated).

Ind.: Matton, p. 93. Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 11598. GC, 9:1078. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 7.

Alexander episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Petro abbatii monasterii Sanctae Mariae et Sanctae Hunegundis virginis, quae Humolariensis vocatur ecclesiae, eiusque fratribus tam praesentibus quam futuris regularem vitam professis in perpetuum. Quotiens illud a nobis petitur quod religioni et honestati convenire dignoscitur, animo⁴ nos decet libenti concedere et potentium desideriis congruum suffragium impertire. Ea propter, dilecti in Domino filii, vestris iustis postulationibus clementer annuimus et praefatum monasterium sanctae Dei genitricis semperque virginis Mariae atque Hunegundis, in quo divino estis obsequio mancipati, sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscipimus et praesentis scripti privilegio communimus. In primis equidem statuentes ut ordo monasticus, qui secundum Deum et beati Benedicti regulam in eodem monasterio institutus esse dignoscitur, perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter⁵ observetur. Praeterea quascumque possessiones, quaecumque bona idem monasterium in praesentiarum iuste et canonice possidet aut in futurum conces-sione pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis iustis⁶ modis praestante Domino poterit adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata permaneant. In quibus haec propriis⁷ duximus exprimenda vocabulis: Vineam quam habetis apud Laudunum subtus refectorium Sancti Vincentii. Apud Semeliacum vineam unam. Apud Moncellum mansuram unam et quatuor vineas quas ibidem habetis, vineam videlicet Anselmi, vineam in manso Riccardi, vineam in manso Iuvini, vineam Petura. Apud Montem Nautolii vineam unam et pratum de Filanis. Apud Ursellum curtem cum vineis quas emistis a monachis Sancti Salvatoris Aquicincti.² Omnes etiam alias vineas quas apud Ursellum habetis, videlicet apud Mailli tres faissas. In Criptella vineam unam. Apud Villare duas vi-neas et vineam quae dicitur Falva. Apud Villemontel unam. Apud aliam Villemontel unam. In Valle Proilli⁸ unam.⁹ In Fundo item unam. In Lateritiis item unam. In mediano Lateritio unam. In Late-ritio Ernaldi unam, retro ecclesiam unam. Apud Fait unam. In Cam-berone duas faisas.¹⁰ Item apud Ursellum tres faisas hortorum et tria nemora quorum duo tenetis cum Hermundo, tertium cum monachis Sancti Vincentii; duo etiam nemora quae tenetis cum domina Eru-burga, et hortum quem tenetis cum illis de hospitali et cum domina Eruburga.¹¹ Item duo prata quorum unum tenetis cum Anselmo Peregrino et aliud per vos vinagis¹² vestra de Montibus. Apud Mecuniam quatuor solidos de censu et sextam gerbam de alia terra, quartam partem de omni decima de Perroit quam reddidit vobis Gerardus miles, filius Evrardi de Morencavenu. Novem modios frumenti et unum modium avenae quos vobis dat ecclesia Praemonstratensis pro terra vestra de Ferrariis. Apud Maserias*i* decimam et altare hospitagia de Halincurt. Apud Sairiacum sex solidos de censu. Castellionem curtem vestram cum terris, pratis et hospitibus, duo molendina et altare et decimam. Apud Sessiacum hospicium, censum, terras et duo prata, sextam partem totius decimae de Tenesla.⁴ Curtem de Bernot⁵ et duas partes decimae, tertiam partem allodiorum, in parte etiam Gerardi³ quartam partem, in parte conversorum de Monasteriolo quintam, et modium unum frumenti quem iidem conversi vobis persolvunt. Decimam de Graisle. Apud Vaudencurt XX solidos de censu pro terra sanctae Hunegundis, tertiam apud Arsunvillam, tertiam de Leherii, in allodiis de Luveniis sextam partem. Apud Gauchy⁶ duos solidos. Altare de Seguuncurt, et decimam maiorem et minorem, furnum et medietatem terrae cultae et incultae intra villam et extra villam. Quartam partem in toto territorio de Resteutes.⁷ De terra vestra de Landrecurt⁸ XX modios frumenti quos recipitis a conversis Clarifontis; altare eiusdem villa cum decima tota. Apud Fraxinetum curtem, villam, altare, terras cultas et incultas, nemora et decimam. Decimam de Reuloco. Terram de Govilla.⁹ Curtem de Curcellis cum duobus molendinis et vinariis et caeteris omnibus quae ibidem habetis. Curtem quae dicitur Morrecourt,¹⁰ et villam et decimam; terras et molendinum et vinarium¹¹ de Branecourt¹² quod dedit vobis Galterus Oisons.¹³ Aquam de Lucuriis.¹⁴ Apud Rouverium¹⁵ altare, terras, furnum, hospites et censum. Apud Harli¹⁶ furnum, terras et censum. Quidquid habetis apud Sanctum Quintinum in castello et ad portam claustralem. Apud Remicurt¹⁷ hospites et censum, XII modios frumenti et tres modios avenae quos solvit vobis ecclesia Sancti Martini. Quidquid habetis apud Lauci intra villam et extra villam, terram, census et hospites. Curtem quae vocatur Frisia, medietatem unius furni de Peron[a]. Curtem quae vocatur Abbatis villa et terram de Brunansossa. Sartum de Pericelieu. Terram quam tenetis sub militibus de Brenort sub nova garba iuxta territorium Fontanen[sem].¹⁸ Apud Abbatis villam tres modiatas terrae, furnum et sex curtilia de Fontanis. Curtem de Marchi, altare, terras et decimam. Sartum quod tenetis a Raim[baldo] milite sub nova garba, tres modiatas terrae quas dedit vobis uxor Wicard[i] de Benais.¹⁹ Terram quam Petrus Vetula dedit vobis.²⁰ III modios frumenti in molendino de Roumancourt, et dimidium modium in eadem villa. Duos²¹ modios frumenti in decima de Fontanis in Colle.²² Modium²³ frumenti quem dedit vobis Almaericus,²⁴ Modium quem dedit vobis Paganus.²⁵ Duas modiatas terrae et dimidium in territorio de Sorbi.²⁶ Altare de Urvillari et tertiam partem decimae Lambais cum appendiciis suis. Caciaccum cum consuetudinibus suis, molendinum, terras, nemora, hospites et censem. Duas modiatis terrae quas dedit vobis Petrus de Lico. Apud Ruminiacum: censem et hospites, terram et nemus. Cauviniacum¹¹ cum appendiciis suis; libertatem curtis quam dedit vobis Gerardus dominus Hamensis.¹¹ Apud Fonsomas hospitagia. Apud Troncoit modium frumenti et dimidium modium avenae. Sane novalium vestrorum quae propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, sive de nutrimentis¹² vestrorum animalium nullus a vobis decimas exigere praesumat. Sepulturam quoque ipsius loci liberam esse concedimus ut eorum devotioni et extremae voluntati qui se illic sepeliri deliberaverint, nisi excommunicati vel interdicti sint. Nullus obsistat salva iustitia matricis ecclesiae. Obeunte vero te loci eiusdem abbate vel tuorum quolibet successorum nullus ibi qualibet subreptionis astutia seu violentia praeponatur, nisi quem fratres communi consensu vel fratum pars consilii sanioris secundum Deum et beati Benedicti regulam providerint eligendum. Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum licet at praesatum monasterium temere perturbare aut eius possessionem auferre vel ablatas retinere, minuere seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare, sed omnia integra conserventur eorum pro quorum gubernatione ac sustentatione concessa sunt usibus omnimodis profutura, salva nimirum sedis apostolicae autoritate et diocesani episcopi canonica iustitia. Si qua igitur in futurum ecclesiastica saecularisve persona hanc nostrae constitutionis paginam sciens contra eam venire temere tentaverit, secundo tertiove commonita, nisi reatum suum congrua satisfactione correxerit,¹³ potestatis honorisque sui dignitate careat reamque se divino iudicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat et a sacratissimo corpore ac sanguine Dei et Domini redemptoris nostri Iesu Christi aliena fiat, atque in extremo examine districtae ultiōni subiaceat. Cunctis autem eidem loco sua iura servantibus sit pax Domini nostri Iesu Christi quatenus et hic et in futurum fructum bonae actionis percipient, et apud districtum iudicem praemia aeternae pacis inveniant. Amen. Amen. Ego Alexander catholicae ecclesiae episcopus. [sigillum, monogramma] Ego Hubaldus Ostiensis episcopus. Ego Bernardus Portuensis episcopus. Ego Hubaldus presbyter cardinalis tituli¹⁴ Sanctae Crucis in Hierusalem. Ego Ioannes presbyter cardinalis tituli Sanctae Anastasiae. Ego Albertus¹⁵ presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Laurentii in Lucina. Ego Boson¹⁶ presbyter cardinalis Sanctae Pudentianae tituli Pastoris. Ego Petrus presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Laurentii in Damaso. Ego Ioannes presbyter cardinalis tituli¹⁷ Sancti Marci. Ego Theodinus presbyter cardinalis^{} Sancti Vitalis tituli^{} Vestinae. Ego Arditio^{*} diaconus cardinalis Sancti Theodori. Ego Hugo diaconus cardinalis Sancti Eustachii iuxta templum Agrippae. Ego Vitellus diaconus cardinalis Sanctorum Sergii et Bacchi. Datum Beneventi per manum Gratiani Sanctae Romanae Ecclesiae subdiaconi et notarii, IV nonas martii, inductione II, incarnationis Dominicae MCLXVIII. Pontificatus vero domini Alexandri papae III anno decimo.

^{} omnino corrected to animo C. ^{} inviolabiter C. ^{} iustis omitted C. ^{} propriis corrected to propriis B. ^{} Proilly C. [†] The scribe of B jumped to In Lateritio and copied through duas saisas before he crossed it out and resumed the correct order with In Fundo. ^{} faissas C. ^{} Eremburga B. ^{} vinagia B. ^{} Manserias C. ^{} Tenella C. ^{} Bernet B. ^{} Gauchi B. ^{} Resteutis C. ^{} Landecurt corrected to Landrecut B, Landocurt C. ^{} Govillam B. ^{} Maurrecourt B. ^{} vinarium changed to vivarium B. ^{} Bravécourt BC. ^{} Lurcuis B. ^{} Roverium B. ^{} Harti corrected to Harly B. ^{} Remicort B. ^{} quos corrected to duos B. ^{} Medium through Almaericus omitted C. ^{} Rominiacum BC. ^{} Cauniacum BC, changed to Cauviniacum B. ^{} instrumentis BC, corrected to nutrimentis B. ^{} correperit corrected to correxerit B. ^{} tituli omitted C. ^{} Herusalem C. ^{††} BC reverse the names of Boso and Albert: Boso presbyter cardinalis tituli Sancti Laurenti in Lucina and Albertus presbyter cardinalis Sanctae Pudentianae tituli Pastoris. ^{} cardinalis omitted B. ^{} et added C. ^{} Ardisio C.

¹ Many of the places named here are known only from this act.

² See act no. 67.

³ Probably Gerard Hatterel of Bernot; see also act no. 98.

⁴ See act no. 51.

⁵ See act no. 66.

⁶ See act no. 81.

⁷ See act no. 84.

⁸ See act no. 87.

⁹ Probably Robert Paganus of Fieulaine.

¹⁰ See act no. 80.

¹¹ Choigny in acts nos. 52, 78.

89

Benevento

[1168/1169] March 17¹

Pope Alexander [III] directs the bishop [Milo II] of Thérouanne and the abbot [Hugh]² of Mont-Saint-Quentin to settle a dispute over a certain wood [in Montigny-en-Arrouaise]³ between R[ichard I], abbot of Saint-Nicolas of Ribemont, P[eter], abbot of Homblières, the abbess of Montreuil-les-Dames, and G[erard], knight of Bernot. The case reached the pope on appeal after it had been argued for a long time and had already been mediated by Cardinal Odo, whose decision was accepted only by Ribemont.⁴ The pope directs that if the parties cannot reach an amicable agreement in the presence of the arbiters, the case should be terminated by binding arbitration.⁵

Pub.: (a) Martène and Durand, Amplissima collectio, 2:793-794. (b) PL, 200: 530-531, copy of a.

Ind.: Wauters, 2:497. Jaffé-Wattenbach, 2: no. 11496. Bled, p. 161, no. 820. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 8. Not in Stein, Cartulaire.

Alexander,⁴ Morinensi episcopo et abbati Sancti Quintini de Monte. Cum inter dilectos filios nostros R[icardum] Sancti Nicolai de Ribemonte⁵ et P[etrum] Humolariensem abbates, et de Monasteriolo abbatissam, et G[erardum] militem de Brenoth, de nemore quodam causa diutius ventilata fuisse, ad nostram tandem fuit audientiam per appellationem delata. Postremo autem tam priore Sancti Nicolai, quam responsalibus adversae partis in nostra praesentia constitutis, cum quisque assereret praescriptum nemus ad suum ius pertinere et idem prior causam ipsam, mediante dilecto filio nostro Odone Sancti Nicolai in Carcere Tulliano diacono cardinali, compositione interveniente, decisam fuisse constanter asseveraret, altera pars compositionem non fuisse factam de assensu praedictarum ecclesiarum et militis proposuit. Adiecit insuper quod ab eadem compositione fuerit resilitum et postea praedictus abbas Sancti Nicolai praescriptum nemus tenuit ad censem, licet prior, qui pro eo venerat, id omnino diffiteretur. Unde quia nec super his quae hinc inde allegabantur, nec de meritis causae nos poterant ad plenum certificare, nos decisioni ipsius negotii supersedentes, ipsum experientiae vestrae committimus audiendum et appellatione remota fine congruo terminandum. Quocirca discretioni vestrae per apostolica scripta mandamus, quatinus in unum pariter convenientes et partes ante praesentiam vestram convocantes, inter eos pacifice et amicabiliter componere studeatis. Quod si hoc fieri non poterit, rationibus hinc inde auditis diligenter et cognitis eamdem causam, appellatione cessante, iustitia terminetis. Si vero compositionem quae mediante praedicto cardinali facta dicitur, aut arbitrium ab eodem cardinali post compromissionem in eum factam prolatum abbas forte Sancti Nicolai praetenderit, nolumus quod iustitiae alterius partis, nisi rationabiliter constiterit, quod de communione compromissionem partium prolatum, aliquod debeat praeiudicium generare. Si autem compositio de beneplacito et voluntate eorumdem trium capitulorum et eiusdem militis facta fuit, seu arbitrium de communione compromissionem partium prolatum, aut etiam compositio postea a partibus extitit rata, volumus ut compositio seu arbitrium debeat stare. Si vero huic rei ambo interesse non poteritis, alter vestrum non minus negotium ipsum, ut praedictum est, exsequatur. Data Beneventi, XVI kalendas aprilis.

⁴ episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis omitted ab.

⁵ Alexander III (7 September 1159–30 August 1181) issued bulls from Benevento only in March 1168 and 1169. Bled dates this bull to 1177 and has it addressed to Didier, bishop of Thérouanne (1169–1191), and to R[alph], abbot of Saint-Nicolas-des Prés (1171–1186); that date seems impossible, for P[eter], abbot of Homblières, was succeeded in 1175 or 1176 by Hubert, and Hugh, abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin, became abbot of Corbie in 1172. Jaffé-Wattenbach give 1168/1169, while Lohrmann prefers 1169.

² He is identified in act no. 92.

³ Montigny-en-Arrouaise (see act no. 99, n. 2) is close to Bernot where both Homblières and Gerard of Bernot had important interests.

⁴ Odo, cardinal deacon of San Nicola in Carcere Tulliano (11 January 1153–17 February 1175), witnessed a number of bulls issued by Alexander III during his stay in France and decided this case probably in 1161; see Janssen, p. 72.

⁵ For the history of the dispute, see the Introduction, above, and act no. 99, comment.

⁶ Most bulls called Saint-Nicolas of Ribemont S. Nicolai de Pratis (see the papal acts in Stein, Cartulaire). The reference here identifies the monastery by location, in the same manner as the other two monasteries.

90¹

1171 April 16

A bull of Alexander III for Saint-Vincent of Laon states that Saint-Vincent holds land at Méchambré from Homblières.

B: Coll. Picardie, vol. 267, fols. 240–241, copy of 18th c.

Pub.: (a) Ramackers, p. 261, no. 133.

. . . apud Mechumiam terram Iohannis Piece quam ab ecclesia Humolariensi assensu abbatis et capituli sub censu quatuor solidorum tenetis . . .

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

91

Noyon

1172

Baldwin [III], bishop of Noyon, announces the settlement of a long-standing dispute between the monasteries of Homblières and Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés [of Ribemont] over the tithe of newly cleared lands (novales) in the territories of Abbeville and Fontaine-Notre-Dame. Saint-Nicolas will collect tithes from lands cleared before the bull of Eugenius [III] (act no. 59, of 1147) and Homblières will have the tithes from those cleared after that date. The papal bull was examined and found to have been granted twenty-five years ago. Each party issued a charter that was presented for confirmation to Baldwin, who sealed this chirograph.

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fols. 59v–60r, with the title “De ecclesia Humolariensi,” copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 121–122, no. 65.

Ad pontificale officium spectat ea que in lite versantur vel ad pacis vinculum, si fieri potest, reformare vel mediante iusticia decidere. Ego igitur Balduinus, Dei gratia Noviomensis dictus episcopus, tam presentibus quam futuris notum fieri volo quod controversia diu habita inter ecclesiam Humolariensem et ecclesiam Sancti Nicholai de Pratis super decimatione novalium in territorio de Abbatisvilla et de Fontanis consistentium, tandem per Dei gratiam ex utriusque ecclesie capitulorum assensu, ad hanc devenit concordiam: quod ecclesia Humolariensis in novalibus illis que, ante datum privilegium a domino Eugenio papa sancte recordationis exinde factum, ab eadem ecclesia facta fuerunt, nullas decimas percipiet, sed ecclesia Sancti Nicholai perpetuo percipiendas in pace dimitte. In his vero que postea a supra dicta ecclesia facta fuerunt, ecclesia Sancti Nicholai nullas decimas habebit sed libere et quiete ecclesia Humolariensis possidebit. Tempus quoque iam dictum privilegium Humolariensis ecclesie indultum fuit, sicut ex ipsius inspectione pro certo percepimus, diligenter notantes, huic scripto inservimus. Cum enim hec nostre constitutionis pagina facta fuit, spacium XXV annorum transierat. Hanc concordiam utraque approbavit ecclesia et proprio scripto confirmavit, nobisque per duos monachos suos Hubertum et Rainerum idem scriptum presentavit. Nos vero de pace gaudentes eandem concordiam tam cyrografi prescriptione quam sigilli nostri munimine per presentem paginam confirmavimus. Actum Noviom, anno Dominice incarnationis MCLXXII. Ego Balduinus Noviomensis cancellarius relegi et subscripsi.

91A

Tusculum

[1170-1172] December 18¹

Pope Alexander [III] orders the abbot [Peter II] of Saint-Remi of Reims and the dean of Reims to settle the complaint by the abbot [Peter I] of Notre-Dame of Homblières that the abbot of Notre-Dame of Ham had received a certain man as a monk to the detriment of Homblières.

Pub.: (a) Mansi, 21:927. (b) PL, 200:761.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 11960. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 9.

Alexander episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati Sancti Remigi et Fulconi decano Remensi, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. • Dilectus filius noster Humulariensis abbas transmis-sis nobis litteris intimavit quod abbas Hamensis quemdam^b hominem suum cum rebus suis ad habitum regularem suscepit, in quo praedictus abbas Humulariensis iustitiae suaे queritur non modicum derogatum. Quia igitur ex commisso nobis officio unicuique in iure suo adesse debemus, discretioni vestrae per apostolica scripta praecipiendo mandamus quatenus^c praedictum abbatem auctoritate^d nostra moneatis et districte compellatis ut praedicto abbati prae nominatum hominem cum rebus suis restituat vel secum amicabiliter pacificeque componat, aut in praesentia vestra sufficientem exinde iustitiam, appellatione remota, exhibeat. Datum Tusculum, XV kalendas ianuarii.

^a address omitted b. ^bquendam a. ^cquatinus a. ^dauthoritate a.

¹ Date assigned by Jaffé-Wattenbach.

92

Anagni

[1173] July 18¹

Pope Alexander [III] confirms to the abbot and monks of Saint-Nicolas [-des-Prés] of Ribemont the settlement over a certain wood that they reached amicably with the abbot of Homblières, the abbess of Montreuil-les-Dames, and Gerard of Bernot under the arbitration of Hugh, abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin.² Since the pope had been doubtful about the settlement, he charged Baldwin III], bishop of Noyon, and Walter II], bishop of Laon, to verify the findings contained in the report of the abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin. On summoning the parties involved, the two bishops found that the settlement was agreed to by all, and by their papal authority they ordered it to be strictly observed.³

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fols. 52v-53r, copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 105-106, no. 51.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 12314.

Alexander episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et fratribus Sancti Nicholai de Ribodiumonte, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Ea que compositione vel iudicio statuuntur, firma debent et inconvulsa existere et ne recidivum paciantur aut malignorum valeant presumptione mutari, apostolice convenit firmitatis robore communiri. Sane cum olim ad presentiam nostram perlatum fuisse quod causam quam adversum vos abbas Humolariensis et abbatissa de Monasteriolo et Gerardus de Brenorch super quodam nemore habebat, Hugo abbas sancti Quintini de mandato nostro, sicut a vobis recepimus, compositione amicabili terminasset, nos causam ipsam pro eo quod nobis dubium erat, an ita res se haberet, venerabilibus fratribus nostris B[auduino] Noviomensi et G[altero] Laudunensi episcopis commisimus audiendam et sine debito terminandam, expressius eis mandantes ut, si constaret sibi prescriptam compositionem de assensu fuisse partium factam, sicut in predicti abbatis de Monte Sancti Quintini scripto autentico continebatur, eam facerent auctoritate apostolica firmiter observari. Qui utique prout ex litteris suis accepimus, partibus ante se convocatis, rei veritatem studiosius inquirentes per authenticum scriptum prefati abbatis de Monte Sancti Quintini et ex testimonio plurium magnarum et honestarum personarum cognoverunt, quod predicta compositio de assensu partium fuerat celebrata et ideo eam stare debere iudicaverunt et auctoritate nostra preceperunt firmiter observari. Quorum siquidem litteris super hoc certificati, eandem compositionem ratam et firmam habentes, auctoritate apostolica confirmamus et presentis scripti patrocinio communimus, statuentes ut nulli omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostre confirmationis infringere vel ei aliquatenus contraire. Si quis autem hoc attemptare presumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei et beatorum Petri et Pauli apostolorum eius se noverit incursum. Datum Anagnie XV kalendas augusti.

¹ Stein and Jaffé-Wattenbach date this act 1173/1174. Alexander III issued bulls from Anagni from July of 1173 to 1176; therefore the extreme dates are 18 July 1173–1176. Hugh I was abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin from 1140 to 1172, when he became abbot of Corbie. He must have carried out papal instructions to reach a settlement (act no. 89) after September 1169 (when Milo II, bishop of Thérouanne, died) but before 1172. Thus Hugh reported to the pope between 1170 and 1172, and the two new papal representatives must have verified that settlement in 1173 or 1174 (Walter II was bishop of Laon, 1155–1174, and Baldwin III was bishop of Noyon, 1167–1175) before Alexander wrote to the archbishop of Reims (act no. 92A). Since this act of 18 July preceded act no. 92A of 13 April, the acts should be dated 18 July 1173 and 13 April 1174, respectively.

² See act no. 89.

³ See also acts nos. 94 and 95.

92A

Anagni

[1174] April 13¹

Pope Alexander [III] directs Henry, archbishop of Reims, to look into the dispute between Homblières, Ribemont, Montreuil-les-Dames, and Gerard of Bernot. The pope heard from a monk of Ribemont that the case was committed to the bishop of Tournai, although the bishops of Laon and Noyon had already concluded a settlement. The arch*bishop is to enforce the sentence of the bishops and to prevent the bishop of Tournai from proceeding in the case.*²

Pub.: (a) Mariène and Durand, Amplissima collectio, 2:964. (b) PL, 200:935-936.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 12263. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 10.

Alexander episcopus servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri Henrico Remensium archiepiscopo, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.⁴ Significarunt nobis dilecti filii nostri abbas et fratres de Homblieris quod cum causa quae inter eos et abbatem de Ribodiumonte et abbatissam de Monasteriolo et G[erardum] militem de Bresnoto vertebatur, sub examine Laudunensis et Noviomensis episcoporum, quibus causam ipsam terminandam commiseramus, finem debitum suscepisset; postmodem quidam monachus de Ribodiumonte pro negotiis thesaurarii Laudunensis ad praesentiam nostram accedens, eamdem causam, tacito quod fuerit terminata, postulavit episcopo Tornacensi committi, licet ab episcopis illis, multis reclamantibus vel appellantibus, fuisse sententia lata. Quoniam igitur qui tenemur litibus et contentionibus finem imponere, item sopitam nolumus suscitare, fraternitati tuae per apostolica scripta mandamus quatenus a praefatis episcopis et ab aliis qui veritatem neverunt rem ipsam diligenter inquiras, et si tibi constiterit praescriptam causam per eosdem episcopos terminatam fuisse, nec eorum sententiam per appellacionem suspensam, sententiam ipsam ratam habeas eamque facias inviolabiliter observari, nec obtentu commissionis nostrae, in eadem causa procedere praefatum Tornacensem episcopum patiaris. Data Anagniae, idus aprilis.

* address omitted b.

¹ Jaffé-Wattenbach give 1173/1174, but in view of the settlement of 18 July 1173 announced in act no. 92, 1174 is more likely here.

² See act no. 99.

92B

Anagni

[1173/1174] April 20¹

Pope Alexander [III] orders Henry, archbishop of Reims, to intervene in the dispute between Notre-Dame of Homblieres and T. of Nesle² because the bishop [Bartholomew]³ of Beauvais, who was initially ordered to settle the case, has failed to do so in a proper manner.

Pub.: (a) Martene and Durand, Amplissima collectio, 2:970. (b) PL, 200:939.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 12271. Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 122, no. 11.

Alexander episcopus servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri Henrico Remensi archiepiscopo, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.^a Iam pridem, si bene meminimus, venerabili fratri nostro B. Belvacensi episcopo causam inter abbatem et fratres Humolarienses et T. de Nigella super modio salis commisimus audiendam et fine debito terminandam. Qui utique, sicut ex insinuatione praedictorum fratrum accepimus, praenominatum T. in possessionem induxit, unde memorati fratres se plurimum gravatos esse affirmant, tum quia iudicem ipsum tamquam^b adversarium suspectum habuerunt, tum quia tenorem litterarum quae super hoc a nobis emanarunt non fuerunt permissi, eodem episcopo prohibente, videre. Caeterum quia iidem fratres se iustitiam adversus praedictum T. habere confidunt et nos eis denegare non possumus nec debemus, quod universis ex officio nobis commisso exhibere tenemur, fraternitati tuae per apostolica scripta mandamus quatenus si praedicti fratres de proprietate agere voluerint, tu convocatis partibus causam, si ab eo non fuit terminata, nec alii commissa, diligentius audias et eam, appellatione remota, ita iustitia mediante decidas, quod tua beat exinde discretio non imerito commendari. Data Anagniae, XII kalendas maii.

^a address omitted b. ^b tanquam b.

¹ Date assigned by Jaffé-Wattenbach.

² Either Ivo II of Nesle, as suggested by Lohrmann (who assumes that the I. of the original was transformed into T. in the two editions) or Thierry of Nesle, provost of Notre-Dame of Cambrai; see Newman, Les seigneurs de Nesle, 1:61, no. 12, and 63, no. 17.

³ Bishop of Beauvais, 1162–17 May 1175.

93¹

Anagni

1174 August 18

Pope Alexander III confirms the possessions and rights of Saint-Prix, including a census of ten modii of wheat and two fields held from Homblières free from all tithes.²

B: Coll. Baluze, vol. 75, fol. 44v–51r, copy of the 17th c.

Pub.: (a) Ramackers, p. 305, no. 163.

. . . ab Humoliarensi ecclesia decem modios frumenti censuales de altari de Morecurt et de duobus campellis de dote altaris de Iissigniaco liberis ab omni decima et de aliis decimis quas Humolariensis ecclesia tenet . . .

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

² See acts nos. 60, 65.

94

1178

Rainald, bishop of Noyon, describes the settlement that he, as papal legate, arranged between the abbot of [Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés off Ribemont and the abbot of Homblières, the abbess of Montrœuil-les-Dames, and Gerard of Bernot.¹ The land in dispute² was divided and assigned with fixed boundaries to each party. The coloni will return to the status quo ante and will pay the crop share to the appropriate lord; also they may not clear any uncultivated land or woods or sell or alienate any land here without the consent of the appropriate lord.³

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fol. 29r-v, with the title "De abbatie Sancti Nicholai et abbatie Humolariensi," copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 60-61, no. 25.

Ego Rainaldus, Dei gratia Noviomensis episcopus, notum fieri volo tam futuris quam presentibus quod cum causa que inter venerabiles fratres nostros abbatem de Ribodimonte et abbatem Humolariensem et abbatissam de Monsteriolo et Girardum de Brenort vertebatur, nobis a domino papa delegata esset terminanda, hinc inde rationes audire plenius et cognoscere curavimus, et tandem, Deo annuente, querela ipsa, nostro examine et concordia mediante, huiusmodi finem sortita est. Consilio itaque prudentium virorum et personarum honestarum que nobiscum aderant in hunc modum inter eos composuimus: quod utriusque parti certam partem territorii assig-navimus et certas metas hinc inde apponi fecimus, ita quod in parte alterius alter absque assensu alterius cuius est pars nullatenus intrare presumat, et coloni in utriusque parte quod ad cultum tunc temporis reduxerant, salva garba domini cuius est fundus, in pace possideant.
 De incultis autem terris vel nemoribus, absque assensu domini cuius est pars, ex tunc colere vel sartare non possint nec debeant. Si autem contigerit quod ipsi coloni aliqua occasione terras illius territorii vendere velint aut alienare, non licet eis nisi domino ipsius territorii vel absque licentia ipsius domini. Quod ut ratum habeatur in posterum tam sigilli nostri impressione quam testium sub assignatione robora-

mus. Signum Evrardi abbatis Sancti Preiecti. Signum Mathei abbatis Sancti Quintini de Insula. Signum Raineri abbatis Calniacensis. Signum Huberti abbatis Humolariensis. Signum Gaufridi cantoris Noviomensis. Signum magistri Ingeranni. Signum Balduini cancellarii. Signum Iohannis capellani. Signum Nicholai decani. Signum magistri Martini. Actum anno incarnationis Dominice MCLXXVIII.

¹ The original settlement was confirmed by Rainald's predecessor, Baldwin III, in 1173 (act no. 92). Perhaps Rainald was charged by the pope to reaffirm the settlement after the intrusion of the bishop of Tournai (act no. 92A).

² See act no. 99, n. 2.

³ Pope Urban III confirmed this settlement in 1186/1187 (act no. 102).

95

[1178]¹

H[ubert], abbot of Homblières, writes to the abbot and chapter of Saint-Nicolas f-des-Prés of Ribemont confirming the peace made between the two monasteries by the bishop of Noyon.

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fol. 67v, with the title "De abbatie Humolariense," copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 139–140, no. 88.

Venerabilibus et in Christo karissimis abbati et capitulo Sancti Nicholai fratribus, H[ubertus] abbas Humolariensis et communis eiusdem loci conventus unitatem spiritus in vinculo pacis. Pacem inter nos factam et per manum domini Noviomensis auctoritate apostolica roboratam, ratam habemus et communis sigilli testimonio communimus.

¹ The settlement by Rainald, bishop of Noyon (act no. 94), is dated 1178; Hubert was abbot of Homblières from 1176 to 1192. Stein suggests a date of ca. 1175, which might have been possible if the letter referred to the original settlement reached by Bishop Baldwin III of Noyon in 1173 (act no. 92) rather than the one announced by Bishop Rainald in 1178 (act no. 94).

96

[1176–1180]¹

Hubert, abbot of Homblières, enumerates what the mayor of the villa of Homblières has by hereditary right.² The mayor receives food offerings³ when he supervises the four corvées of the villa and on the occasion of the three general pleas: at the Feast of Saint Etienne, at the Nativity of the Virgin, and when he collects the payment known as the calcitra. The food and wine should be of the same type and quantity as served to the monks and may be consumed at the abbey or taken to his house. The mayor concerns himself with investitures, pledges, redemptions, purchases, sales, searches, summonses, boundary settlements, and carrying service only with the abbot's permission, and he then receives 8 d. for each of them while the scabini receive 4 d. He must bring all claims, suits, and requests for judgment before the abbot to be settled by him or the abbot's agent. He takes 3 d. per mediatus of land he assigns in tenure but takes nothing from land cultivated by the monks themselves or assigned by them to coloni. The then mayor, Walter, and his family agreed to these arrangements.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 74r-v, with the title "Iura maioris." C: H 588, pp. 64-65, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Omnium fere mortalium opera nisi litteris inserta fuerint obliuio-ni subiecta citius abolentur. Que de causa, ego Hubertus, Dei gratia Humolariensis abbas, omnisque fratrum congregatio tam nobis quam posterioris nostris consulentes ea qua maior huius villae ab ecclesia nostra haereditario iure possidere debet, sub paucis nominare et tam praesentium quam futurorum notitiae commendare pacis gratia necessarium duximus. Debet igitur maior, sicut diximus, de iure omni anno a nobis recipere equina quatuor pro quatuor corveis quas in hac villa habemus quibus maior debet interesse, quas etiam ad profectum ecclesiae pro posse custodire et ad operandum mittere. Tria propter tria placita generalia: unum in festo Sancti Stephani, unum in nativitate Sanctae Mariae virginis cum affert unum inferendum aut duos solidos, unum pro culcitris colligendis. Et ne quis forte de modo et mensura horum conviviorum dubitet, hunc habeat modum et mensuram ad unum quodque convivium habebit: panem unum qualem monachus, mensuram unam talis potus qualem habent monachi; scutellam^b unam pisorum aut iure generale unum qualemcumque die illo monachi comedent. Si voluerit in abbatia comedet, [et] quod si nolue-rit prandium suum ad domum suam deferri faciet. Investituras . . .^c invadationes,^d redemptions et venditiones et emptiones et scrutinia et inbannationes^e et assessiones metarum et les tenements^f et conducedtum, omnia haec non potest maior facere sine assensu et licentia domini abbatis; tamen per eius licentiam omnia faciet salvo iure ipsius maioris ad unumquoque horum^g omnium quae dixerimus: ad inves-titurae et^h invadationis,ⁱ et^h redemtionis, venditionis et emptionis scrutinii—si tamen inventum fuerit quod, quaeritur quod si nihil invenit nihil accipiet—inbannationis, assessionis metarum et de le[s]

tenement¹ et conductus, habebit maior octo denarios et scabini habebunt² quatuor, excepto solum in assessmente metarum habebit unum sextarium vini et scabini unum. Omnia quaerelarum clamores qui ad maiorem referuntur aut submonitiones³ quas ipse fecerit per se aut per alium quemlibet,⁴ non poterit commune maior minuere et quasi parvi pendere aut adnihilare licet; omnes clamores et quaerelas et submonitiones ante dominum abbatem adducet, et ibi aut ipsum dominum abbatem aut alium quemlibet qui sit loco abbatis aut ecclesiae omnia desumentur salvo ipsius maioris iure pro quaerela quae est vel abbatis potest abbas quemlibet submonere per famulum suum⁵ salvo nihilominus iure maioris. In terris nostris quas carrucis nostris excolimus seu in illis quas ad excolendum aliis colonis⁶ tradimus, maior nihil accipiet. De remanentibus vero terris quas ipse maior ad excolendum dabit licentia domini abbatis de modiata accipiet tres denarios. Abbatis autem erit ad quem gerbam illam terra dabit decimam. Si inter terras nostras et terras quae non sunt nostrae maior posuerat⁷ metam ex parte nostra nihil accipiet, ex altera vero parte quod de iure debet habere habebit. Haec omnia sicut praenotata sunt laudavit Walterus maior cuius tempore ista tractata sunt, iuramento super sacras reliquias facto se et uxorem suam suosque liberos, bona fide firmiter⁸ tenere affirmans compromisit. Huic rei multi fideles interfuerunt quorum nomina ex parte subter annotavimus. Signum domini Huberti abbatis.⁹ Signum Rainaldi prioris. Signum Harduini. Signum Boluini subprioris. Signum Bertulfi. Signum Hugonis Calvi. Signum Alberti, Evrardi, Gerardi, fratum. Signum Henrici. Signum Ioannis. Signum Iacobi. Signum Petri. Signum Ioannis. Wilardi patris puerorum. Signum totius conventus. De clericis: signum magistri Martini.

¹ inferendem changed to niferendet B, niferendem changed to niferendet C. ² scutellam changed to scutellitam B, scutellatam C. ³ a space for future entry BC. ⁴ invadationes B. ⁵ inbanniations changed to inbannitiones B. ⁶ letenements changed to les tenements B. ⁷ quodque eorum for quoque horum C. ⁸ et omitted C. ⁹ invadationis B. ¹⁰ letenement BC. ¹¹ habebitur corrected to habebunt B. ¹² submonitur corrected to submonitiones B. ¹³ quemlibet alium B. ¹⁴ suum famulum C. ¹⁵ alias colonis omitted C. ¹⁶ posuerit B. ¹⁷ firmiter omitted C. ¹⁸ abbatis Huberti C.

¹ Hubert was abbot from 1176, and Rainald was prior to 1180. Marginal notations in both copies give 1180.

² The chapter of Noyon had similar agreements regarding the rights of mayors from 1143 (Oise, A.D., G 1984, Cartulaire du chapitre de Noyon, fols. 316r-317r, with analyses in Desjardins and Rendu, p. 316ff.).

³ Equina seems to refer to a food payment.

A notice states that the controversy between Notre-Dame of Homblières and Walter Sauari over certain land was resolved through the mediation of wise men. Walter and his son Ralph returned the land to the monastery—half of a valley and two fields, which the knight Simon held from him for one-seventh of the crop—and received from the abbot 25 s. and one modium of wheat in the presence of Waleus,¹ mayor of the villa of Homblières, and the scabini Fulk, Paumar, John Rufus, and Peter Authemier. In the presence of the monks and all the men of the villa [at the general assembly], Walter and Ralph swore not to reclaim that land. Walter will continue to pay an annual census of 8 s. for the rest of the land he holds from the monastery.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 91r-v, without title. C: H 588, p. 73, without title.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Notum facimus praesentibus et futuris quod controversia quae vertebatur inter ecclesiam Humolariensem et Walterum Sauari super quamdam terram ita mediantibus viris sapientibus ad pacem et concordiam devenit. Reddidit idem Walterus et Radulfus filius eius terram illam his verbis designatam: medietatem suae vallis quae subtus Gerli castelzalium campum qui extenditur a predicta valle usque ad curtem nostram de Beauvoir super valle Huberti de Petris, et alios duos campos quos tenebat Simon miles^a ab ipso Waltero ad septimam garbam per medium unius vadii,^b . . . et alterius^c ad querum de Beauvoir in manu domini Huberti abbatis ecclesiae quam se iniuste tenuisse memoraverant. Praesentibus Waleo, maiore villae Humolariensis, et scabinis Fulcone, Paumare, Ioanne Rufo,^c et Petro Authemier, acceptis proinde de bonis ecclesiae per manum praefati abbatis XXV solidis quintiniensis monetae et uno modio frumenti, praenominatus quoque Walterus Sauari et Radulfus filius eius in praesentia conventus, praesentibus fere totius villae hominibus, iuraverunt super sancta sanctimonii terram illam quam reddiderunt nihil amplius reclamaturos, et ea integro libere et quiete possidendam in perpetuum sicut dictum ecclesiae concesserunt. In terra autem quae Waltero remansit ab illo die et deinceps praescriptus abbas et monachi se nihil amplius reclamare sponderunt. Sciendum vero quid pro omni terra quam retinuit scilicet quam reddidit nobis solvebat annuatim idem Walterus VIII solidos de censu pro his, autem quatuor tantum pro censu, tres pro mensura sua, duos denarios et unum caponem omni anno annuatim ecclesiae^d reddet. Huius rei testes sunt: dominus Hubertus abbas, Henricus prior, Harduin, Ioannes, Petrus, Willelmus,⁴ Bardulfus,⁴ Hugo, Petrus, Robertus, pueri et omnis conventus, magister Martinus de Oisonville, Walterus huius rei author et Radulfus filius eius et omnes fere totius villae homines. Actum anno incarnationis Dominicae MCLXXX.

⁴ nullat? corrected to miles B. ⁴ vadii changed to vadit B. ⁴ BC indicate an omission. ⁴ alterius changed to alterit B. ⁴ Russo B. ⁴ ecclesiae omitted C. ⁴ Wilielmus C. ⁴ Bardalfus B.

¹ Probably the same as Walter, mayor of Homblières (see act no. 96).

98

Homblières

1180

Hubert, abbot of Homblières, announces the settlement of a dispute between the monastery and Gerard Hatterel, knight of Bernot. At issue were woods, water, a mill, a meadow, an oven, and all the allods in the villa of Bernot. The two parties exchanged several pieces of land, and Gerard allowed the monks fishing rights on the water passing his house, which was next to the monastery's grange, while Homblières permitted him to have a mill, provided that their grain be processed free of charge. Gerard also received twelve capons annually for the parcel of land that the monastery had enclosed within the walls of its grange. Gerard and his son swore on the relics of Saint Hunegund in the presence of witnesses to observe this agreement.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 92r-v, without title. C: H 588, pp. 73-74, without title.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Ego Hubertus abbas Humolariensis. Notum facio praesentibus et futuris quod de controversia quae inter nos et Gerardum militem de Bresnot⁴ cognomine⁶ Hatterel⁴ diu fuerat agitata, tali convenimus pace et convenientia. Controversia siquidem erat de nemoribus et aquis, de molendino, de furno, de prato quod vocatur Souveraine Pree, de omnibus alodiis ad ipsam villam quae dicitur Bresnot⁴ pertinentibus. Unde pro nemoribus dedit nobis idem Gerardus: quatuor modiatis terrae, tres in loco qui dicitur Vallis Ermengardis, medietatem unius in Monte, et aliam medietatem in campo qui vocatur Doisles, libere omnimode possidendas; et duos hortos ante curiam nostram quos ad usum ecclesiae idem Gerardus et haeres⁴ eius unicus dare et liberos facere debet perpetualiter; et nemora ei concessa pari modo libere possidenda. Et quae ei etiam tali pacto concessit quod a domo ipsius quae iuxta curiam nostram⁴ fuit per totam aquam inferam omni tempore unum piscatorem cum una navi et omnibus ad piscandum necessariis ad libitum nostrum habere debemus. Molendinum ei hac ratione⁴ habendum permisimus, quod semper triticum nostrum ad usum curiae nostra de Bresnot⁵ primo post eum cuius⁶ triticum in Tremuia fuerit famulus suus absque mora vel ulla contradictione⁷ molere debet, nullam inde accipiens molituram. Pro prato Souveraine Pree dedit nobis unum quod suum erat et vocatur Bone-tieres, et Souveraine Pree ei remansit. Pro furno vero de villa in quo partem nostram ei dedimus, furnum nostrum in curia nostra libere possidemus. Alodia porro omnibus participibus debent esse communia. Terrae vero iurisdictionis nostra sive ipsius Gerardii a communibus alodiis separatae sunt. Super haec omnia ipsa curia de Bresnort⁸ ab omnibus exactionibus et querelis libera est et immunis, tantum pro quadam particula terrae ipsius Gerardii quam infra muros eiusdem curiae incluseramus, XII⁹ capones annuatim ei¹⁰ persolvimus. Haec omnia sicut praenotata sunt supradictus Gerardus Hatterellus¹¹ et Amoricus filius eius bona fide et pace laudaverunt, et ante altare beatae Mariae semper virginis super corpus sacratissimae Hunegundis fidelibus coram adstantibus firmiter conservare iuraverunt. Huius rei testes sunt: dominus Hubertus abbas, Henricus prior, Hugo, Ioannes Sarpa et totus conventus ecclesiae. De clericis: Martinus clericus et Radulfus Iampart.¹² De militibus: Rainardus¹³ et Robertus fratres eiusdem Gerardii, et Robertus de Fraisnoy. De laicis: Herbertus maior de Bresnot,¹⁴ Galterus cocus, Rainerus filius eius, Fulco, Radulfus, Henricus, Robertus faber et alii multi. Actum in monasterio Humolariensi anno ab incarnatione Domini MCLXXX.

⁴Brenoth C. ⁵cognomento B. ⁶Haterel B. ⁷gaeres C. ⁸nostram curiam B. ⁹undecipherable reading B. ¹⁰Bresnoth C. ¹¹eius B. ¹²ulla contradictione vel mora B. ¹³ei added in margin by a later hand B, XII ei C. ¹⁴ei omitted B. ¹⁵Saterellus B. ¹⁶Iampars B. ¹⁷Rainaldus B. ¹⁸Brenethot B.

¹Gerard Hatterel's two brothers, both knights, witnessed this act. An act of 1189 states that he had two sons, Amalric and Evrard (act of Werric of Moy for Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, in Rodière and Vallée, 2:25-26, no. 65). A nephew was Evrard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte (act of Baldwin II, bishop of Noyon, for the lepers of Saint-Quentin in 1166, in Colliette, 2:346).

Anagni	(Probably forged)	[1174] July 15 ¹
--------	-------------------	-----------------------------

Pope Alexander [III] writes to the abbot and monks of Saint-Nicolas [des-Prés] of Ribemont that since they rejected the settlement (act no. 92) proposed by the abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin in their dispute with Homblières, Montreuil-les-Dames, and G[erard] of Bernot, and likewise rejected the later adjudication of the bishops of Laon and Noyon (act no. 94), he delegated the bishop of Tournai to determine the truth about the disputed land of Montigny² and to return that land to Saint-Nicolas if the facts warranted. After hearing the testimony of many provincials of the area, the bishop of Tournai returned the land to Saint-Nicolas, and the pope here confirms that decision.

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fols. 54v-55r, copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 109-110, no. 55.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 12313.

Alexander episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis suis abbatii et fratribus Sancti Nicholai de Ribodimonte, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Ea que compositione vel iudicio statuuntur firma et inconcussa debent existere et ne recidivum patiantur aut malignorum valeant presumptione mutari, apostolice convenit firmitatis robore communiri. Sane cum ad audientiam nostram perlatum fuisse quod ecclesia beati Nicholai de Ribodimonte non potuit habere compositionem illam quemadmodum terminata ab abbe de Monte Sancti Quintini inter ecclesiam de Humbleries et ecclesiam de Monasteriolo et G[erardum] de Brenort et ecclesiam beati Nicholai de Ribodimonte, et postea ab episcopis Laudunensi et Noviomensi iudicata fuit super terra de Monteni, mandavimus episcopo Tornacensi ut super hoc diligentius inquisita veritate, ecclesiam beati Nicholai, si ita esset, libere et pacifice faceret possidere. Cuius litteris et testimonio cognovimus quod idem episcopus, ut perfectius veritate inquireret, convocata ante se utraque parte super terram compositionis venit cum multis provincialibus circummanentibus quorum testimonio et probatione, ut decuit, suscepta et hoc modo cognita veritate, ecclesiam beati Nicholai auctoritate nostra integraliter in suam misit possessionem, secundum tenorem compositionis. Et quia auctoritate nostra factum est, presenti pagina hoc munimus atque confirmamus, statuentes ut nulli omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostre confirmationis infringere vel ei aliquatenus contraire. Si quis hoc attemp-tare presumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei et beatorum Petri et Pauli apostolorum eius se noverit incursum. Datum Anagnie, idus iulii.

¹ Stein and Jaffé-Wattenbach date this bull 15 July 1173 or 1174, while Newman dated it 1178-1181 (although he realized that Alexander III did not issue any known bulls from Anagni after 1176). Since the text refers to the decision of the bishops of Noyon and Laon of 18 July 1173 (act no. 92), this letter, if authentic, must be dated 15 July 1174. See comment below.

² Stein identifies terra de Monteni as Montigny-Carotte; it is probably the same place as the Montiniacus which appears in a number of acts from Ribemont from 1143 to 1224 and which is identified as Montigny-Carotte (Matton, Dictionnaire topographique, p. 182). Today it is Montigny-en-Arrouaise.

COMMENT

If Ribemont did in fact appeal the sentence of the bishops of Laon and Noyon to the bishop of Tournai, this bull might be an authentic confirmation by Alexander III, before he wrote to the archbishop of Reims (13 April 1174) denying the bishop of Tournai's jurisdiction in the case (act no. 92A). However, Ribemont's cartulary does not contain any decision by the bishop of Tournai, as it surely would have in the case of a successful appeal. Ribemont's cartulary does contain acts nos. 92, 94, 95, which document the settlement reached by the bishops of Laon and Noyon and agreed to by all the parties in 1172/1173. Thus Ribemont apparently considered the case closed at that time. This bull was probably forged after the death of Evrard, bishop of Tournai, in 1191, perhaps to reopen the case. Newman suspected it was modeled on Alexander's bull of 15 July (1167?) in Ribemont's possession (in Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 112-113, no. 59).

100¹

Verona 1185 February 14 (N.S.)

A bull of Lucius III confirms that Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise is exempt from the tithe on the church of Margères and its dependencies, namely, the curtis of Beaulieu with oratory, cemetery, and small tithe, for which it owes an annual census of 2 s. to Homblières and 12 d. to the church of Ham. Arrouaise also has lands obtained by exchange with the monks of Homblières and confirmed in a chirograph.

B: Amiens, B.M., MS 1077, Cartulaire d'Arrouaise, fol. 30v, copy of the 12th or 13th c.

Pub.: (a) Ramackers, p. 439, no. 286.

Ind.: Michel, "Inventaire sommaire," p. 255.

. . . ecclesiam de Margellis ab omni decimatione penitus liberam cum omnibus appenditis suis, scilicet curtem de Bello Loco in Bena liberam cum oratorio et cimiterio et tota minuta decima sub annuo censu duorum solidorum Humolariensi et XII denariorum Hamensi ecclesie solvendarum . . . terras cum pratis et nemore de Albincont cum toto districto et iusticia earum et maioria ipsius nemoris, commutationem etiam terrarum quam fecistis cum monachis Humolariensis ecclesie, sicut et cyrographi divisione et sigillorum vestrorum impressione firmata est . . .

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

100A

[1186]¹

Hubert, abbot of Homblières, and Hugh, dean of Saint-Fursy of Péronne, announce that they were commissioned by the pope [Urban III] to hear and decide the case between the monasteries of Saint-Quentin and Ham and the church of [Notre-Dame off] Vermand concerning the tithe of the newly cleared woods of Horvennes near Roupy. The sworn testimony of several old villagers affirms that the woods are within the territory of Roupy, and therefore the papal judges decide for Saint-Quentin and Ham.

A: A.N., L. 738, no. 7, fonds Saint-Quentin, with seals.

Pub.: Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, pp. 601-602, no. 292a.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, amen. Hubertus Humolariensis abbas et Hugo Peronensis decanus omnibus in perpetuum. Notum fieri volumus tam futuris quam presentibus quod dominus papa causam que inter ecclesiam Sancti Quintini et ecclesiam Hamensem et Viromandensem super decima de Horvennes vertebatur, nobis audiendum et fine debito appellatione remota commisit terminandam. Nobis igitur ad audiendum in medio sedentibus, ecclesia[e] Sancti Quintini et Hamensis assurerunt nemus de Horvennes de territorio de Rupi, cuius territorii decimatio ad eos sine contradictione spectat, et nunc esse et ab antiquo fuisse. Ob hanc igitur causam decimam nemoris de Horvennes de novo ad culturam redacti, que ab ecclesia Viromandensi detinebatur, ecclesie iamdicte sui iuris esse contendebant. Super assertione sua testes produxerunt: Robertus, presbiter, iuratus, dixit se audisse ab antiquoribus ville de Rupi quod iustitia predicti nemoris de iure territorii pertinet ad dominationem de Rupi, ita quod maior eiusdem ville iustitiam faciebat et forifacta^a accipiebat, et obolos quando vendebatur nemus. Robertus Flamens, iuratus, dixit se bis vendidisse nemus illud et obolos maiorem vel servientem ipsius recepisse; iustitiam vero maior ipse de Rupi faciebat et forifacta^a recipiebat. Haymo de Saux, iuratus, idem quod Robertus dixit, addens etiam apes quandoque in nemore illo inventas per licentiam et iustitiam maioris de Rupi ab eis qui eas invenerant fuisse receptas. Haymericus, serviens comitis, iuratus, dixit idem quod Robertus de receptione obolorum, de iustitia, de forifactis, addens etiam quod maior de Rupi in natali Domini panes et capones, quos vulgariter oblationes vocant, a silvariis eiusdem nemoris recipiebat. Id ipsum tamen Robertus asserebat. Iohannes Cretons, iuratus, ad ipsum prorsus quod Haymericus testatus est. Hii testes, homines videlicet antiqui, integre ut audivimus fame et sane opinionis, he testium attestiones. Pars adversa, ecclesia videlicet Viromandensis, predictum nemus de territorio de Rupi esse infitiata est; nichil tamen in contrarium, licet a nobis pluries super hoc fuissest amonita, probare nec testibus nec attestationibus in aliquo voluit obviare. Predictis igitur rationibus invitati de consilio discretarum personarum decimam de Horvennes ecclesie Sancti Quintini et ecclesie Hamensi adiudicavimus, auctoritate apostolica eas in possessionem eiusdem decime mittentes.

* fori facta A.

¹ Abbot Baldwin of Vermand confirmed the findings of this inquiry in 1186 (B.N., nouv. acq. lat. 2591, no. 117; cited by Lohrmann, Papsturkunden, p. 603, no. 292b).

101

1186¹

A chirograph, sealed and divided, states that Homblières gave whatever it possessed in Le Hérie-la-Viéville in woods, lands, and revenues to Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont for an annual census of four modii of wheat to be delivered to the grange of Homblières at Châtillon-sur-Oise.

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fol. 30r, with the title "De ecclesia Humolariensi," copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 62-63, no. 26.

In nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, amen. Quoniam inter cetera humane fragilitatis incommoda quamplurimum noxia tolerat oblivio, necesse est litteris mandari quod inter filios ecclesie pacis gratia constat actitari. Quapropter scire volumus presentes et futuros ecclesiam beati Nicholai in Pratis, sub Ribodiumte sitam, ab ecclesia Humolariensi censualiter accepisse quicquid habebat in territorio de Leheris in silvis, in terris cultis et incultis, et in omnibus proficuis, tali conditione ut singulis annis quatuor modios frumenti boni et legittimi ad mensuram Sancti Quintini infra festum Omnium Sanctorum predice ecclesie persolvat, et apud Castellionem, curiam videlicet Humolariensis ecclesie, vehiculo suo perduci faciat. Quod ut ratum atque inconcussum permaneat et in perpetuum maneat, scripto firmavimus et sigillorum nostrorum impressionibus munivimus, et invicem nobis per cyrographum divisimus. Actum tempore dompni Huberti abbatis Humolariensis et dompni Ricardi abbatis Sancti Nicholai, anno incarnationis Dominice MCLXXXVI. Huius rei testes sunt et cooperatores supradicti abbates. De monachis Humolariensibus: Henricus prior, Heldradus, Iacob, Acardus, Iohannes, Wilardus et totus conventus. De monachis sancti Nicholai: Herbertus prior, Robertus prepositus, Sygerus, Robertus, Matheus et totus conventus. Dompnus Matheus abbas Sancti Quintini de Insula et Nicholaus m[onachus] eius. De militibus: Wenricus de Fillanis, et Nicholaus, et Andreas.

¹ The text states that the arrangement described herein was reached in the time of Abbot Hubert in 1186. This chirograph was probably written after 1192 (the last known date for Hubert as abbot) and perhaps after 1197 (the extreme date for Richard II, abbot of Ribemont). See also act no. 103.

102

Verona

[1186/1187] February 13¹

Pope Urban [III] confirms to the monks of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont the settlement (act no. 94) arranged by R[ainald], formerly bishop of Noyon, between them and Homblières, Montreuil-les-Dames, and Gerard of Bernot, by which each party received part of a disputed territory.²

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fol. 56r, copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 111-112, no. 58.

Ind.: Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 15790.

Urbanus episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis abbati et monachi Sancti Nicholai de Ribodimonte, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Cum inter vos ex una parte, et ex alia dilectum filium nostrum, ..^a abbatem Humolariensem, ..^b abbatissam quoque de Mosteriolo, et Girardum de Brenort, super quodam territorio, in presencia bone memorie R[ainaldi] quondam Noviomensis episcopi de mandato apostolico questio verteretur, tandem controversia ipsa per eundem episcopum fuit amicabili compositione decisa et utriusque parti per transactionem ipsam certa portio illius territorii assignata. Quia igitur ea que a fratribus et coepiscopis nostris precipue auctoritate sedis apostolice ratione previa statuuntur, firma debent et illicita persistere, compositionem ipsam sicut sine pravitate facta est, et ab utraque parte recepta et in scripto autentico predicti episcopi continetur, ratam habentes eam auctoritate apostolica confirmamus et presentis scripti patrocinio communimus. Statuentes ut nulli omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostre confirmationis infringere vel ei ausu temerario contraire. Si quis autem hoc attemptare presumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei et beatorum Petri et Pauli apostolorum eius se noverit incursurum. Datum Verone, idus februarii.

^a space left for later insertion of a name B.

¹ Stein gives 1187, Jaffé-Wattenbach 1186/1187. Urban III issued bulls from Verona in both years and died 20 October 1187. Rainald, bishop of Noyon, issued his last act in 1185 (for the cathedral chapter of Noyon, in Oise, A.D., G 1984, Cartulaire du chapitre de Noyon, fol. 191v, and indicated in Desjardins and Rendu, p. 326).

² For a history of the dispute, see the Introduction, above.

103

Verona

[1186/1187] July 30^t

Pope Urban [III] directs the abbots of Foigny and Bohéries to hear the dispute between Homblières and Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont over land ceded by the former in return for a census from the latter (act no. 101) and to render a final judgment.

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fol. 19r-v, copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, pp. 40-41, no. 13.

Ind.: Wauters, 7:356-357. Jaffé-Wattenbach, no. 15904.

Urbanus episcopus servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis Fusniacensi et de Boheris abbatibus, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem. Cum dilecti filii nostri prior Sancti Salvii, nuntius Humolariensis monasterii, et Iesse presbyter, nuntius ecclesie Sancti Nicholai de Ribodimonte, ad sedem apostolicam accessissent super terra quadam quam abbas et monachi Humolarienses sub annuo censu possidenda abbati et fratribus Sancti Nicholai dicuntur in perpetuum concesse, hinc inde varias allegationes et inter se^a proponebant. Sane quia nobis de rei veritate constare non potuit, de assensu nuntiorum utriusque partis, causam illam discretioni vestre committimus audiendam et sine debito terminandam, mandantes quatinus utriusque plenius audiatis et cognitis^b causam ipsam, appellatione remota, mediante iusticia. Datum Verone, III kalendas augusti.

^a a space left after se B. ^b cognoscatis a.

¹ Urban III (25 November 1185-20 October 1187) issued bulls from Verona in July of 1186 and 1187.

103A

1187

Hubert, abbot of Homblières, attests that his monastery gave land at Croix-Fonsomme to the monastery of Saint-Feuillien [du Roeulx] in return for terragium and tithe elsewhere.

A: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, Chartier Saint-Feuillien, Croix-en-Vermandois, no. 36, with a fragment of the seal. B: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, MS 57, Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx, p. 81, with the title "De conventione inter nos et abbatem de Homblières," 13th-c. copy of A. C: Copy of B of the 16th c., attached to A. D: Bibliothèque de l'abbaye de Tongerloo, MS 20A, no. 58, copy of B by Van Spilbeeck, 19th c.

Ind.: Devillers, p. 292, no. 63. Wymans, pp. 140-141, no. 53.

Ego Hubertus Dei gratia Humolariensis abbas et totus conventus noster scire volumus presentes et futuros concambium quoddam quod fecimus cum ecclesia beati Foillani^a super quadam terra quam hereditarie possidebamus in territorio de Crois, iuxta vivarium sitam, quam prenominatae ecclesie fratribus perpetuo possidendam concessimus pro terragio et decimatu terre eorumdem fratrum quam excolit Robertus li Cretes de Fraisnoit et terre quam Loves de Muerincurt tenet ab eadem ecclesia hereditarie et pro decimatu de Mascherumval quam idem^b fratres hereditarie possidebant. Sciendum autem est quod terra predicti Lovet sita est en Lescatiere. Huius conventionis testes sunt dompnus Hubertus abbas, Henricus prior, Iacobus cantor, Acardus, Hugo capellanus, Iohannes et omnis conventus. Actum anno incarnationis Dominice MCLXXXVII.

^a Foyllani B. ^b idem B. ^c incarnationis B.

104

1192¹

Hubert, abbot of Homblières, and the chapter declare that they owe the canons of Saint-Quentin five modii of wheat to be delivered annually not later than the feast of Saint Martin [11 November].

B: Aisne, A.D., G 790, Registre des titres du chapitre de Saint-Quentin, pp. 1491-1492, "d'après une charte de l'armoire 3, liasse 43" (fragment), copy of 1775.

Hubertus Humolariensis abbas et universum ecclesie nostre capitulum notum fieri volumus . . . nos debere canonici Beati Quintini

propter Iohannem le Fayhe quinque modios frumenti valentis octo denarios² minus meliori singulis annis ad claustrum predictorum canonicorum usque ad festum Sancti Martini vecturis nostris adducendos et uni eorum qui ad recipiendum assignatus fuerit solvendos.³

¹The date given in the register (copy B).

²The phrase valentis octo denarios is unusual for this period. It is not clear whether the transcription in the register was an exact copy or a paraphrase.

³The analysis in B states "à la mesure du cloître des dits chanoines."

105

1194

Homblières and Vicoigne agree to exchange lands, the former acquiring lands near its monastery possessed by Vicoigne, the latter receiving five other fields.

*B: Nord, A.D., 59 H 95, Cartulaire de Notre-Dame de Vicoigne, fol. 78v-79r, no. 123 (also numbered in red: CXVIII), with the title "De concambio facto inter nos et Humolariensem," copy of the 13th c. C: Coll. Moreau, vol. 96, fol. 51, "d'après . . . le cartulaire de parchemin de l'abbaye de Vicoigne contenant 117 feuillets . . . du XIV^e siècle . . . acte no. 118" (i.e., B), copy of 1771.*

Ind.: Coll. Picardie, vol. 250, fol. 305v-306r. Piétresson de Saint-Aubin, 2:264.

Noverint presentes et futuri quod inter ecclesiam Humolariensem et ecclesiam Viconiensem, assensu Hugonis abbatis Humolariensis et Arnulfi abbatis Viconiensis et capitulorum utriusque ecclesiae, factum est tale concambio: ecclesia quippe Viconiensis possidebat quandam terram, terris ecclesie Humolariensis contiguam, quam eidem Radulfus Molniers dederat in elemosinam, que est sub nemore de Marchi; aliam quoque terram predicta ecclesia Viconiensis habebat vicinam terris ecclesie Humolariensis supra Hunchies. Has igitur prefatas terras, ecclesia Viconiensis concessit ecclesie Humolariensi imperpetuum possidendas pro quinque campis, quorum IIII sunt iuxta Baienpont,¹ quintus vero iuxta Orgeval,¹ tali conditione quod utraque ecclesia alteri warandiam prestabit de hoc concambio adversus eos qui eisdem aliquam molestiam intulerint, si iudicio et iusticie stare voluerint. Ut autem hoc ratum habeatur utriusque ecclesie sigillum huic scripto appensum est et ydoneis testibus confirmatum. Huius rei testes: Hugo abbas Humolariensis, Arnulfus abbas Viconiensis, Iacobus prior, Iohannes cantor, Rainoardus prepositus, Ioscelinus prior,² Nicholaus supprior,³ Theodericus prepositus,⁴ Guido et Martinus presbiteri. Actum anno verbi incarnati MCXCIII.

¹ Bayempont and Orgeval have been identified as "located a good league from the town of Saint-Quentin in the direction of Ribemont" (Queinsert, in Coll. Moreau, vol. 96, fol. 52), but Orgeval does not appear in Matton, Dictionnaire topographique.

² Joscelin was witness as subprior of Vicoigne in 1173 (act of Stephen, abbot of Vicoigne; in Coll. Moreau, vol. 78, fol. 155v, from the "Cartulaire de Vicoigne," no. 90). He was prior in 1186 (act of Eva de Erin for Vicoigne; ibid., vol. 89, fol. 54r) and 1189 (act of Evrard, castellan of Tournai, for the abbey of the castle; Herbomez, 2:18-20, no. 15).

³ Nicholas was subprior in 1186 (see above n. 2, act of 1186), and prior in 1197 (Coll. Moreau, vol. 98, fol. 169r).

⁴ Theodericus prepositus de Viconia was witness in 1188 (act of Arnold, abbot of Vicoigne; Nord, A.D., 59 H 95, "Cartulaire de Vicoigne," fol. 70r, no. 101).

106

[1136-1146]¹

A fragmentary inventory of Homblières's villages lists the rents and customary payments owed by each tenant manse in Morcourt and Rocourt.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 62, with the title "De sex mansis qui sunt apud Harleium."²

C: H 588, p. 55, with the same title as B.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

Qui etiam debet nobis XV solidos in medio martii et totidem in festo Sancti Remigii apud Sanctum Quintinum, quinque solidos et dimidium [. . .],⁴ qui simul faciunt XXXV et dimidium, et hos de manu maioris istius villae accepimus. Apud Morincurtem sunt mansi XIV et terrae pars unius quinti qui, sicut Humolarienses antiquitus eadem quae superius diximus,³ persolvebant servitia modo vero pro istis consuetudinibus: singuli mansi X solidos persolvunt in festivitate Sancti Ioannis et Sancti Remigii, VII de consuetudine et quatuor pro bontuario, hac tamen conditione quod si abbas huius loci eos^b remittere voluerit ad eam legem quam tenent Humolarienses, qui eos possident, nullomodo recusare possunt. Praeter haec solvuntur nobis: de molendino IV solidi, de Bertocurte VIII solidi, de hospitibus decem capones et duo solidi et sex denarii. Est ibi ecclesia I cum camba I, duo sedis molendini, unum in Morincurte, et aliud in Hadulficurte,^c tertium in loco qui Solinum dicitur. In Hadulficurte^c sunt mansi decem et dimidiis, unusquisque mansus debet solvere solidos VII de consuetudine et III pro bontuario, medietatem in festo Sancti Ioannis et reliquum in festo Sancti Remigii et hoc fiet quamdiu dominus abbas voluerit. Si enim eos remittere voluerit ad supradictas consuetudines Humolariensium, recusari omnino non poterit. Est adhuc ibi mansolium unum de Brocure Sanctae Hunegundis qui solvit II solidos et VII denarios et obolum, de furno debentur II solidi.

^a Neither B nor C indicates an omission here, although the sense of the entry requires another phrase. ^b eos omitted C. ^c probably an error for Rodulficurte.

¹ This fragment was dated by Newman to the late twelfth century. However, it clearly belongs to the inventory dated 1136–1146 (see act no. 44, n. 1, and comment).

² Harly is not named in the text.

³ Reference to act no. 44 (chap. 21).

107

[Twelfth century]¹

These are the revenues of the master cook: half of all the breadcrusts from meals, 9 d. for his shoes, one sextarius of wine weekly, one small piece of pork and the abdomen from every pig that he kills, the feathers from birds or geese that he plucks, and the heads of all the eels and large perch. Each day he receives a half-loaf of bread and on feast days double his allotment of bread and wine. He receives two sextarii of wheat monthly [for baking], but two and a half sextarii in August and two modii on All Saints' Day.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 69, without title. C: H 588, p. 61, without title.

Iste est redditus quem magister cocus noster debet habere: medietatem omnium crustarum panis qui in pulmentis nostris expenditur, et novem denarios pro calceamentis suis, et in hebdomada sextarium unum vini, ita ut sextarium illud fiat de septem mensuris. De porco quem ipse occidit aut facit occidi de quo facit saginem debet habere frustum unum quod vulgariter dicitur cacutium. Cum de porco quem ipse excatulisat^a aut alium facit excatulisare^b debet habere abdomen quod vulgari nomine dicimus ambanam. Si deplumat anseres aut aves alias, plumas habebit. Omnium anguillarum et patulorum pectinum capita sua sunt. Quotidie habet dimidium unius panis^c et in omnibus praecipuis festis duplicatur eius praebenda in pane et vino. Singulis mensibus debet habere duo sextaria frumenti, in mense augusti habet duo sextaria et dimidium unius, in festivitate Omnium Sanctorum debet habere duos modios frumenti. Notandum autem quod in omnibus servitiis quae in coquina exercentur debet ipse per se aut per alium a se mercede conductum omne medium adimplere.

^a excatulizat B. ^b excatulizare B. ^c panis unius C.

¹ This text appears among acts of the 1160s.

108

1209

Hugh [III], abbot of Homblières, and the chapter declare that with their assent Ralph, mayor of Morcourt, gave a certain terragium, part of which he held from Homblières, to the monastery of Vicoigne.

B: Coll. Moreau, vol. 113, fol. 56, copy made by Queinsert, 20 December 1771, from a cartulary of Vicogne of ca. 1450.

Ind.: Coll. Picardie, vol. 250, fol. 310v.

Ego Hugo Humolariensis abbas totiusque eiusdem ecclesie conventus presentibus et futuris notum facimus quod Radulfus, maior de Morecort, assensu nostro et tocis capituli, dedit ecclesie Viconiensi quoddam terragium cuius partem de nobis tenebat, fide interposita in presencia nostra permisit nunquam se prefatam ecclesiam super hac largitione inquietaturum; igitur ne ex eo quod in presencia nostra sollempniter actum est, predicta ecclesia aliquam molestiam paciatur, presens scriptum sigilli nostri appensione roboravimus. Actum anno incarnationis Dominice MCC nono.

109

1209

Hugh [III], abbot of Homblières, declares that Robert li Frans¹ of Lesdins paid the monastery's mayor Ralph of Morcourt 90 l., money of Paris, for the three modiatae of land that Robert holds as a liege fief from the monastery. Robert obtained the money by selling his wife Elizabeth's marriage portion (the tithes of Lesdins) to the monks of Longpont, and to compensate her, he assigned this land as her dower. Later Robert and his wife mortgaged the land to the monks of Longpont for an annual revenue during Elizabeth's lifetime, or until they redeem the land.

*B: Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Longpont, at the château of Lesdins (Aisne), copy of the 13th c. (not seen). C: Coll. Moreau, vol. 126, fol. 170, copy of B of 1774.
D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 24, Cartulaire de Longpont, p. 183, no. 42, with the title "De recompensatione dotis Elizabeth uxoris Roberti de Lesdin," incomplete copy made by Colliette from the original charter in 1764.*

Ego Hugo dictus abbas ecclesie Humolariensis et eiusdem loci conventus, paginam istam lecturis,⁴ notum facimus quod Robertus li Frans⁴ de Lesdin emit precio XC^c librarum parisiensium a Radulfo, maiore nostro de Morecort, tres modiatas terre quas ipse Robertus de nobis in feodo ligie tenet. Hec pecunia uxori sue Elisabeth⁴ ad huiusmodi⁵ emptionem faciendam apud Longum Pontem servabatur. Quam terram ipse Robertus predicte uxori sue Elisabeth⁴ et⁶ in dotem et in recompensationem dotalicii⁷ quod ipsa habebat in decimis de Lesdin, quas fratribus Longi Pontis, ipsa concedente et laudante, vendiderat, assignavit. Hanc ipsam terram tam ipse Robertus⁸ quam dicta uxor eius Elisabeth,⁹ fratribus Longi Pontis, nobis¹⁰ concedentibus et laudantibus,¹¹ obligaverunt et in plegium dederunt ut¹² si quando de predicto dotalicio dictis fratribus veatio² aliqua oriretur, ipsi fratres predictam terram saisirent et tenerent quamdiu dicta Elisabeth¹³ viveret, nisi prius ecclesie Longi Pontis satisficeret. Quod ut ratum et firmum permaneat sigilli nostri appensione roboravimus.¹⁴ Actum anno verbi incarnati MCCIX.¹⁵

⁴ paginam istam lecturis omitted D. ⁵ Franc D. ⁶ pretio nonaginta D. ⁷ Elizabeth D. ⁸ ad suii III modi C. ⁹ et omitted D. ¹⁰ dotalicii D. ¹¹ R. C. ¹² Elisabeth omitted C. ¹³ nobis concedentibus et laudantibus omitted D. ¹⁴ ut through roboravimus omitted D. ¹⁵ E. C. ¹⁶ millesimo ducentesimo nono D.

¹ Robert li Frans or li Franc appeared in 1207 (act of Longpont for its grange at Tronquoy; in Coll. Moreau, vol. 126, fol. 143).

² Perhaps the same as veagium or viagium, an annual pension for life (Du Cange, 6:800, viagium, second definition).

Stephen, bishop of Noyon, declares that Peter, cleric of Homblières, sold his share of the tithe of Fonsommes to the church of Fervaques. Peter placed this possession in the hands of the bishop, who invested Fervaques. The sale was conceded by Geoffrey, knight of Homblières, from whom Peter held the tithe in fief, and was approved by Peter's brother-in-law, John of Combles. Since John's wife Marie could not be present because she was nursing very young children, the bishop sent canon Sigbert to receive her approval in his hands. Peter also guaranteed the approval of his brother who was overseas. The abbot of Homblières granted two modii of grain from the same tithe to Fervaques and surrendered the title deed to the bishop, who transferred it to Fervaques with the possession of the two modii.

Pub.: (a) Lemaire, "Chartes des XII^e et XIII^e siècles," pp. 485-487, no. 2, copy of the original (which has since disappeared from the Société historique de Saint-Quentin).

Ind.: Aisne, A.D., H 1624, Cartulaire de Fervaques, p. 146, 17th-18th c.

Ego Stephanus, Dei gratia Noviomensis episcopus, omnibus presentem paginam inspecturis imperpetuum. Notum fieri volumus quod Petrus, clericus de Hummolaria, in presentia nostra constitutus, portionem decime Fontissomene que eum contingebat ecclesie de Favarkes vendidit, et quicquid in ea pater suus dum viveret possidebat in manus nostras resignavit et ad opus eiusdem ecclesie quitum et liberum werpivit. Nos autem ad eius petitionem ipsa decima dictam ecclesiam investivimus. Hanc autem venditionem Godefridus, miles de Hummolaria, a quo decima tenebatur in feodum, libere concessit et feodum suum quitavit. Iohannes quoque de Cumbles, dicti clerici sororius, ipsam venditionem approbavit. Maria quoque, ipsius Iohannis uxor, dicti clerici soror, quia parvolorum liberorum cura ac nutrimento detenta coram nobis comparere non potuit, in manus socii nostri Sygeberti, canonici Noviomensis, quem loco nostro ad eam misimus, quicquid in illa decima iuris habebat resignans, dictam venditionem voluit et concessit. Firmaverunt autem fide interposita prescripti Petrus clericus, soror et sororius eius, quod super illa decima ecclesiam de Favarkes de cetero nunquam impeterent vel aliquatenus molestarent. Dedit etiam fidem dictus clericus quod si fratrem suum a transmarinis partibus reverti contingenteret, ab ipso decimam illam ecclesie firmiter guarandiret. Ad hec abbas et conventus Hummoliensis duos modios frumenti quos in eadem decima habebant ad opus ecclesie de Favarkes in manus nostras resignantes, litteras nostras quas de illa portione habebant nobis reddiderunt, et nos ad eorum petitionem illos duos modios cum predictis litteris ecclesie de Farvarkes concessimus absolute. Quia vero propter malitiam hominum dies mali dicuntur et sunt, ne qua malignitate hominum actionis huius puritas valeat immutari, ipsam presenti scripto commendare ac sigilli nostri munimine duximus roborare. Actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo decimo.

110A

1211

The chapters of Homblières and Prémontré agree in a chirograph to reduce the amount of census owed by the latter for land at Lehéricourt by decreasing the number of sextarii originally [in 1146] calculated in each modius.¹

A: A.N., L 995, no. 58, chirograph; upper half of the word chyrographum, in red ink, is written along the left margin. B: Soissons, B.M., MS 7, Cartulaire de Prémontré, fol. 47r-v, copy of A of ca. 1275.

Ind.: Matton, pp. 94, 116.

Per hoc publicum instrumentum tam modernis quam posteris innotescat quod olim inter Humolariensem et Premonstratensem ecclesias scriptum autenticum factum fuit, in quo continetur quedam censualis conventio in hec verba: [text of act no. 58, without the witnesses]. Procedente vero tempore cum prescripta conventio per LX annos et eo amplius iam durasset, tandem occasione cuidam mensure veteris ad quam fratres Premonstratenses predictum censum se proponebant semper ab antiquo solvisse, sed monachi Humolarienses ipsum amplius ad illam mensuram nolebant recipere. Cum secundum apostolum servos Dei litigare non oporteat, de utriusque ecclesie assensu communi, nova quedam et amicabilis conventio nullum complete iam prescriptioni factura preiuditum, sed eidem potius continuanda, mediante bonorum et ad hoc electorum virorum arbitrio intercessit. Talis videlicet quod salvo quantum ad alia scripto veteri superius annotato, pro censu predicto unus modius avene et novem modii frumenti a modo duobus sextariis minus ad mensuram Sancti Quintini eo tempore quo scriptum hoc ultimo factum fuit currentem, perpetuo singulis annis solventur. Et si deinceps mensura creverit vel decreverit, id ipsum quod de mutatione mensure nuntianda et reformanda in superiori et veteri scripto contentum est et conventum observabitur. Ceterum ne iste due conventiones diversis facte temporibus pro scriptorum diversitate sibi fidem aliquatenus derogarent, bona fide que omnium et maxime religiosorum debet conventionibus sive contractibus interesse, communiter fuit provisum ut utraque conventio eodem stilo et in una pagina sub cyrographo scriberetur quod utrinque partum hinc sigillo Humolariensis, inde sigillo Premonstratensis ecclesie, ad firmitatem perpetuam est munitum. Actum anno gratie MCC undecimo.

¹ This act modifies the agreement of 1146 (act no. 58). See also act no. 138.

[of Ribemont] and that Homblières did not object that the share of Saint-Nicolas was assigned on the land of Le Mesnil-Saint-Laurent.

B: A.N., LL 1015, Cartulaire de Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés, fol. 64r-v, with the title "De Havidim, domina de la Mousse," copy of ca. 1250.

Pub.: (a) Stein, Cartulaire, p. 131, no. 76.

Ego Hugo Humolariensis ecclesie dictus abbas totumque eiusdem ecclesie capitulum omnibus ad quos presens pagina pervenerit, in Domino salutem. Cum honesta veritas semper in lucem preponi desideret, eam ibi manifestare tenemur ubi rerum ignorantia alicui possit generare dispendium. Significamus igitur universitati vestre quod de LX libris Marbotinorum^{*} quas domina Hauvidis de la Musse nobis et ecclesie Sancti Nicholai in Pratis pro remedio anime sue in elemosinam contulit, prenominata ecclesia Sancti Nicholai suam integrum recepit medietatem, absque aliqua a nobis facta in posterum reclamatione, super terram del Maisnil in perpetuum assignatam. Ut autem hoc ratum et inconcussum permaneat, sigilli nostri appensione roboravimus.

* Marb' B, Marliacis a; see n. 2.

¹ Hugh III was abbot of Homblières from 1194 to 1209, and perhaps to 1219. The latest certain date is 1209. Stein dates this act to ca. 1140.

² The manuscript clearly reads Marb', which Stein transcribed as Marliacis and called Marle. Marbotinorum is written in full in a number of charters for Fervaques. There are four confirmations of the librae Marbotinorum that Rainer II Bigos, seneschal of Vermandois, gave to Fervaques (two original acts of 1186 in Coll. Picardie, vol. 290, Fervaques, nos. 4 and 6; a copy of another act of 1186 in ibid., vol. 39, fol. 12r, and in Coll. Moreau, vol. 89, fol. 27; and original chirograph confirmations of 1188 by Stephen, bishop of Noyon, in A.N., L 1001, nos. 7-8, which are printed in Bouchot, "Chartes du XII^e siècle," pp. 349-351). In 1200 Fervaques purchased several tithes pretio quater centum librarum Marbotinensis monete (copies from originals, Coll. Picardie, vol. 39, fol. 24, and Coll. Moreau, vol. 100, fol. 178); a confirmation of June 1200 by Stephen, bishop of Noyon, refers to the payment in monete marbotin(ensi)s (original, Coll. Picardie, vol. 290, Fervaques, no. 8). Gold "Morabetinos" were issued in Muslim Spain to ca. 1170 and then by the Christian kings of Castile, Leon, and Portugal to ca. 1221 (Spufford, p. 155). See also Bisson, p. 79.

and one of oats, and that at Gerard's request they agreed unanimously to give that revenue to the church of Vicoigne.¹

C: Coll. Moreau, vol. 126, fol. 166, copy made by Queinsert in 1771 from a cartulary of Vicoigne of ca. 1450.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis, Balduinus Dei gracia abbas totusque conventus de Humblieris, salutem in vero salutari. Notum esse volumus universitati legentium quod cum ecclesia nostra a possessore decime de Rumalcort perciperet annuatim IIII modios tritici et unum modium avene ex suorum largitione et munificentia predecessorum quia vix aliquando sine mora difficultate et diminutione solvebantur ab eodem possessore, videlicet Gerardo de Bellaincort, ecclesie nostre est provisum unde et nos ad petitionem ipsius unanimi consensu predictos modios ad ecclesiam Viconiensis transtulimus iure perpetuo possidendos, et quantum in nobis est presencium conscriptione nostrorum et sigillorum nostrorum appensionibus confirmamus. Actum anno gracie MCCXIX.

¹ Stephen, bishop of Noyon, confirmed the act in 1219 (Coll. Moreau, vol. 126, fol. 141). The confirmation reads "quod Gerardus de Berlancourt in dominorum suorum Egidii, senescalli Viromandiae, et Odonis, domini de Faiel, et hominum eorundem potentia constitutus quicquid ipse habebat in decima de Rumalcort." It also states that Gerard acted with the consent of his mother Agnes, his brother Ralph, and his sister Beatrice.

113

1220 July

Abbot Baldwin and the monks of Homblières declare that they sold to Vivian of Morcourt the one modium of wheat and half of oats owed them annually at the curtis of Tronquoy, and they freed the monastery of Longpont of that payment.

B: Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Longpont at the château of Lessin, Aisne, copy of the 13th c. (not seen). C: Coll. Moreau, vol. 127, fol. 204, copy of 20 April 1774 by Queinsert from B. D: Coll. Picardie, vol. 24, Cartulaire de Longpont, p. 184, no. 44, for Tronquoy, copy of 1764 of Collette's Cartulaire de Longpont (incomplete).

Balduinus^a Dei misericordia dictus abbas et conventus ecclesie Beatae Marie Humolariensis omnibus^b hec visuris, in Domino salutem.^b Noverint universi quod nos per concambium vendidimus Viviano de Morecort et^c resignavimus eidem Viviano^c unum modium frumenti et dimidium modium avene annuos qui nobis apud curtem de Tronchoi debebantur, et curtem illam de Troncoi^d et ecclesiam Longi Pontis quitavimus^{*} in perpetuum de blado predicto[†] videlicet uno modio frumenti et dimidio modio avene. In cuius rei testimonium et memoriam scriptum hoc nostris sigillis fecimus roborari.[‡] Actum anno gratie MCC vicesimo, mense iulio.

*B.C. *omnibus through salutem omitted D. + et resignavimus eidem Viviano omitted D. +Tronchoi D. +quitavimus D. †predicto through roborari omitted D.

114

1221 January (N.S.)

Abbot Baldwin and the entire chapter of Notre-Dame of Homblières announce that they sold to lord Peter, knight of Lesquielles-Saint-Germain, a census of twenty white solidi¹ that he owed them annually at the feast of Saint Remi [1 October] after the grape harvest of Vadencourt for his lands, meadows, and buildings.

A: A.N., L 1001, liasse 4, fonds Homblières, no. 93; two pendant seals lost.

Balduinus divina miseratione sancte Marie Humolariensis dictus abbas et totum eiusdem loci capitulum, omnibus tam presentibus quam futuris, salutem in eo qui salutis est auctor. Noverint universi quod nos, de communi et unanimi consensu, pro commoditate ecclesie nostre vendidimus domino Petro militi de Lescheriis viginti solidos alborum anni censu cum toto iure ad illum redditum spectante qui nobis debebantur annuatim in festo sancti Remigii post vindemias apud Waudencort, de terris, de pratis, et masuris, ab ipso domino Petro vel eius heredibus iure perpetuo pacifice possidendos, et pecuniam inde acceptam convertimus in commodiores et utiliores ecclesie nostre usus, quitantes imperpetuum eidem Petro et eius heredibus predictos viginti solidos et totum ius quod in illis habebamus. In cuius rei testimonium et perpetuam firmitatem presentem paginam inde fieri, et nostrorum sigillorum appensione fecimus confirmari. Actum anno gratie millesimo ducentesimo vicesimo, mense ianuarii.

¹ White solidi were of pure silver, as opposed to other smaller coinage containing only some silver (Dieudonné and Blanchot, 2:35). The earliest act referring to white solidi is in 1212 (act of Milo, lord of Soissons, and his wife Agathe in favor of Vauclair; in Beauvillé, 4:39, no. 29, copy of original).

115

1223 December 17

Abbot Baldwin and the entire chapter of Homblières declare that the monastery of Mont-Saint-Martin redeemed the revenue of three modii of wheat¹ from Matthew of Walincourt, burgess of Saint-Quentin, for 33 l., money of Paris. Matthew had purchased that wheat from Alold, son of Vivian, knight of Remaucourt,² who had held it formerly from Rainer Gordel of Fresnoy-le-Grand, a feudal tenant of Homblières.³

- B: B.N., lat. 5478, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, fol. 116r, with the title "Item eiusdem de tribus modiis frumenti quos debebamus apud Brancort," copy of 13th c.
 C: B.N., lat. 9128, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, p. 462, copy of 1740 of B.

Ego Balduinus Dei permissione Humolariensis abbas eiusdemque loci conventus omnibus visuris hanc cartam, salutem in Domino. Noveritis quod cum ecclesia Montis Sancti Martini redditum trium modiorum frumenti a Matheo de Wallaincourt, burgensi Sancti Quintini, XXXIII libris parisiensis monete redemisset quos idem Matheus emerat ab Aloldo, filio Viviani militis de Roumaucourt, qui eos a Renero Gordel, homine nostro de Fraisnoy, prius tenebat. Nos redemptionem illam quam fecit ecclesia a prefato Matheo approbare curavimus et laudare, volentes et concedentes ut dicta ecclesia premissos tres modios frumenti ad mensuram Sancti Quintini, qui sine consensu nostro alienari non poterant, pacifice futuris temporibus possideat et quiete secundum quod in litteris prefati Reneri Gordel,³ nostri hominis, continentur. Actum anno domini MCCXXIII, XVI kalendas⁴ ianuarii.

¹ kalendis BC.

² The title of B states that the wheat was collected at Brancourt (see also n. 3).

² Possibly the same as Vivian of Morcourt (act no. 113).

³ The charter of Rainer Gordius, knight, of 10 January 1222 and his confirmation of 22 December 1223 do not mention Homblières but do state that the wheat came from the farm at Brancourt (B.N., lat. 5478, "Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin," fols. 46v-47r, copy of the thirteenth century; B.N., lat. 9128, "Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin," pp. 81-84, 164-166, copy of 1740; Aisne, A.D., H 1116, "Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin," fols. 82r-84r, 150r-v, copy of the eighteenth century; indicated in Matton, p. 167). In his charter Rainer Gordel calls Vivian of Remaucourt homo meus and miles, and states that Vivian had sold to Matthew of Walincourt three modii of wheat held from Rainer in feudum; Rainer invested Matthew with the three modii and quit him of all "feudum et homagium et servitium" for a census of 1 d. annually. In effect, a feudal tenure was transformed into a tenure by census.

116

(Perhaps forged)

1224 [February]¹

Baldwin, abbot of Homblières, declares that according to ancient custom the men of Homblières rendered military service to the lord of the land, who extorted payments of money according to his whim for commutation of that service. In order to free the men from these burdensome exactions, the monks transferred all their hereditary rights at Remigny and Neuville-en-Beine to King Louis [VIII], who was at that time lord of the land. The men of Homblières reimburse the monks by paying 12 l., money of Paris, annually on All Saints' Day. Exempt from the payment are the keepers of the monastery's stables, the master cook, the gatekeeper, the baker, and servants of the monastery for as long as they remain in service.

Pub.: (a) Hémér., pp. 213-214, "chartae Humolar." (b) Colliette, 2:673, copy of a.

Ind.: Bréquigny, 5:216.

Balduinus,^o abbas, [etc.]. Ad notitiam singulorum volumus pervenire quod ex antiqua consuetudine diutius observata homines nostri de Humolariis exercitum et equitaturam domino terrae reddere tenebantur, pro cuius servitii redēptione dominus terrae solebat ab eis quandam pecuniae solutionem, quandoque maiorem quandoque minorem, pro suae voluntatis arbitrio, annis singulis, extorquere.
Quia vero dominus terrae praedictos homines nostros per huiuscē-modi exactiones quam plurimum aggravabat, nos propter liberandos homines nostros ad eorum instantiam tradidimus excellentissimo regi Francorum Ludovico, qui tunc erat dominus terrae, totam haereditati-tem quam habebamus apud Rumigniacum et apud Novam Villam in Bainna ab ipso rege et suis successoribus iure perpetuo possidendam.
Et per hanc haereditatem a nobis traditam domino regi pro liberatione nostrorum hominum, idem rex quittavit in perpetuum et quittos clamavit praedictos homines nostros ab omni servitio praedictorum exercitus et equiturae et omni exactione quam occasione illius servitii ab eis erat solitus extorquere. Nostri autem homines memorati, pro facienda nobis restitutione praemissae haereditatis, tenentur et pepigerunt reddere nobis in perpetuum XII libras parisiensis monetæ annui redditus super omnia bona sua et super omnes eorum possessiones assignatas et nobis in festo Omnium Sanctorum, singulis annis, persolvendas. Hoc autem sciendum est quod abbatis et ecclesiae no-straee garsiones stabulorum, magister cocus, portarius, furnarius, nisi furnum ad censivam tenuerit, a praestatione praedicti redditus sunt vel erunt in perpetuum liberi. Similiter et omnes servientes ecclesiae no-strae, puta boskillonnes, bubulci qui de villa Humolariis non sunt nati, ab huius solutione sunt et erunt in perpetuum absoluti, nisi extra servitium ecclesiae nostrae in villa de Humolariis cubantes et levantes moram fecerint per annum et diem. Illi vero servientes ecclesiae nostrae qui de villa oriundi sunt [etc.], propter hoc ab hac consuetudine non erunt liberi [etc.]. [Actum] anno MCCXXIII.

¹ Humolariensis added b.

¹ Acts nos. 117 and 118, on which this act is based, are dated 1224 February (N.S.).

COMMENT

Newman regarded this act as a forgery on the grounds that a number of expressions are unusual for the thirteenth century (e.g., dominus terrae, quandoque maiorem quandoque minorem, extorquere). Moreover, the text is known only from Hémeré's edition. It was probably a loose document that Hémeré found in the archives of Homblières, perhaps stored at Saint-Remi. Newman argued that the monks were attempting to impose a new tax on the inhabitants of Homblières.

117

Paris

1224 February (N.S.)¹

Louis [VIII], king of France, abolishes the military service owed him by the men and hospites of the villa of Homblières and frees the monastery of what it owes him, namely, a boar, a corona² of grapes annually, and a packhorse whenever he goes on military expedition.³ In return, the monastery gives the king all it has at Neuville-en-Beine and in the villa of Remigny in justice and in dependencies except the small tithe belonging to the altar of Remigny. The king does not abolish the 30 s. for food that the monastery owes him annually, nor does he permit the monks to accept in the villa of Homblières any hospes who owes the king service or military service.

- B: B.N., lat. 9778, Register F of Saint Louis, fol. 126, copy of 1247, with the title "Carta abbatis et conventus ecclesiae Humolariensis" without formulae and witnesses.
- C: A.N., JJ 26, Register E (of 1220) of Philip Augustus, fol. 157v, no. 87, copy of B, with same title, added to Register E.
- D: Lat. 13911, fol. 3r-v, with the title "De commutatione expeditionis et exercitus villae Humolariensis."
- E: H 588, pp. 4-5, with the same title as D.
- F: Wiard, p. 40, copy of a.

Pub.: (a) Hémeré, regestum, pp. 52-53, "E chartulario Humolarien." (b) Collette, 2:672-673, copy of a.

Ind.: Matton, p. 93. Petit-Dutaillis, p. 459, no. 74.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Ludovicus Dei gratia Francorum rex. Noverint universi praesentes pariter et futuri quod cum nos^a ex speciali^b dominio expeditionem et servitium pro expeditione ad submonitionem nostram haberemus super villam et super omnes homines et hospites villaे Homblariensis^c nos in hoc cum abate Balduino et conventu ecclesiae Humolariensis, sub cuius iurisdictione et dominio dicta villa consistit, convenimus quod expeditionem illam et servitium illud quod nobis pro dicta expeditione a dictis hominibus et hospitibus ville^d Humblariensis^e debebatur,^f abbatii et conventui predictis et prefatis^g hominibus et hospitibus^h in perpetuum quitavimusⁱ et remisimus, nichil^j iuris in hac parte nobis in posterum retinentes. Quitavimus^k etiam dictis abbatii et conventui in perpetuum verrem^l unum quem nobis singulis annis debebant, et coronam unam de racemis quam similiter nobis annuatim debebant, et quitavimus^k eis sommarium unum quem nobis debebant quando in exercitum ibamus. Memorati vero abbas et conventus in recompensationem omnium predictorum nobis donaverunt et concesserunt de cetero iure perpetuo et haereditario possidendum quicquid ipsi^m habebant apud Novam Villam que sita est in bosco deⁿ Beine in omnibus proventibus, in tota iustitia alta et bassa in toto districto illo, et in omnibus appenditiis et pertinentiis illius ville et districti, excepta tamen minuta decima que pertinet ad altare illius ville. Donaverunt etiam nobis et concesserunt cum premissis quicquid habebant apud villam de Rumiliaco in omnibus proventibus, in tota iustitia alta et bassa in toto districto illo, et in omnibus appenditiis et pertinentiis illius ville et districti. Nec propter hoc absoluti sunt a solutione XXX solidorum parisiensium quos nobis debent^o singulis annis pro pastu. Praeterea dicti abbas et conventus de cetero aliquem novum hospitem in villam suam de Humblariensis^p recipere^q non possunt nec debent qui nobis debeat expeditionem vel servitium. Quae^r ut perpetuae stabilitatis robur obtineant praesentem paginam sigilli nostri autoritate et regii nominis caractere^s inferius annotato confirmavimus.^t Actum Parisius^u anno Domini^v MCCXXIII, regni^w nostri^x primo, mense februario,^y astantibus in palatio nostro^z quorum nomina supposita sunt et signa. Dapifero nullo. Signum Roberti buticularii. Signum Bartholomaei camerarii. Signum Matthaei constabularii. Data per manum Garini Sylvanectensis episcopi cancellarii.

^a BC omit invocation, they begin Ludovicus et cetera. Notum et cetera. Quod cum nos. ^b spirituali DEa. ^c Humolariensis DEa. ^d ville through hospitibus added in margin D. ^e et added D. ^f praefatis DE, corrected to praefatis E. ^g quittavimus DEa. ^h nihil DEa. ⁱ vierem DE, corrected to verrem ?E. ^j ipsi omitted E. ^k des E. ^l debebant corrected to debent E. ^m Homblariis

DE, Humblariis a. "retinere DEa. • Quod ut perpetuum et cetera for Quae through confirmavimus BC. " charactere Da. " Parisiis Ea. " Dominicae incarnationis DEa. " vero added DEa. " anno added DEa. " mense februario omitted Dea, BC end here. " nostro added above D.

¹ The royal chancery began the year at Easter from the reign of Philip Augustus; February 1223 would thus be February 1224 (N.S.). See also acts nos. 118, 119.

² Corona is a measure of capacity still used in Belgium; see Gorissen, "Capitulaire de Villis: Corona de racemis."

³ These obligations were originally imposed by the count of Vermandois; see acts nos. 44 (chap. 21), 53.

118

1224 February (N.S.)¹

Baldwin, abbot of Homblières, and the chapter confirm the agreement made with King Louis [VIII] (act no. 117).

A: A.N., J 229, no. 6, with seals of Abbot Baldwin and of the chapter, both of dark green wax. The oval seal of the abbot reads "+ S/[IGILLUM] BALDUINI ABBATIS HUMOLARIENSIS +." The round seal of the chapter reads "+ S/[IGI]LL/[UM] EC/CJLESIE SANCTE MARIE HUMOLARIENSIS +." (See Fig. 4.) B: A.N., JJ 31, Register of Saint Louis, fol. 61r-v, copy of the 13th c.

Ind.: Teulet, 2:25, no. 1634. Douët d'Arcq, 3:17 no. 8242, 3:19, no. 8759. Comart, "Etude sur les sceaux du Vermandois," p. 17. Petit-Dutaillis, p. 459, no. 75.

B[alduinus] divina miseratione Humolariensis ecclesie dictus abbas totusque eiusdem loci conventus. Omnibus hec visuris, in Domino salutem. Noverit universitas vestra quod cum vir excellentissimus et dominus noster L[sudovicus], Dei gratia Francorum rex, ex speciali dominio, expeditionem et servitium pro expeditione ad submonitionem suam haberet super villam et super omnes homines et hospites nostros de Homblariis, nos in hoc cum dicto domino rege convenimus, quod ipse et expeditionem illam et servitium illud quod eidem regi pro dicta expeditione a dictis hominibus et hospitibus nostris de Homblariis debebatur, et nobis et prefatis hominibus in perpetuum quittavit pariter et remisit nichil sibi iuris retinens in hac parte. Quittavit etiam nobis et ecclesie nostre in perpetuum verrem unum quem ei singulis annis debebamus et coronam unam de racemis quam similiter ipsi regi annuatim debebamus, et somarium unum quem eidem debebamus quando in exercitum ibat. Nos vero in recompensationem omnium predictorum dicto domino regi donavimus et concessimus de cetero iure perpetuo et hereditario possiden-dum, quicquid habebamus apud Novam Villam que sita est in bosco de Baine in omnibus proventibus, in tota iusticia alta et bassa in toto districto illo, et in omnibus appendiciis et pertinentiis illius ville et districti, excepta tamen minuta decima que pertinet ad altare illius ville. Donavimus etiam et concessimus cum premissis domino regi quicquid habebamus apud villam de Rumeliaco similiter in omnibus proventibus, in tota iusticia alta et bassa in toto districto illo, et in omnibus appendiciis et pertinentiis illius ville. Propter hoc tamen absoluti non sumus a solutione triginta solidorum parisiensium quos singulis annis debemus domino regi pro pastu. Preterea aliquem novum hospitem decetero in villam nostram de Homblariis recipere non possumus nec debemus qui expeditionem debeat domino regi. Quod ut ratum sit et stabile, presentem paginam sigillorum nostrorum appensione duximus confirmandam. Actum anno domini MCC vicesimo tercio. Mense februario.

¹ See acts nos. 117, n. 1, and 119, n. 2.

119

1224 February (N.S.)¹

Gerard, bishop of Noyon, confirms the charter [act no. 118] that Baldwin, abbot of Homblières, and the chapter sent to King Louis [VIII].²

A: A.N., J 229, no. 5, with a seal of green wax of Gerard of Bazoches, bishop of Noyon.

Ind.: Douët d'Arcq, 2:528, no. 6746. Teulet, 2:25, no. 1635.

G[erardus] Dei gratia Noviomensis episcopus. Omnibus hec visuris, in Domino salutem. Noverint universi presentes pariter et futuri quod nos litteras abbatis et conventus Humolariensis ecclesie inspeximus in hec verba. [Text of act no. 118 to Quod ut] Nos vero ad petitio[n]em predictorum abbatis et conventus eorum in hoc utilitate provisa, quicquid in hac parte ab ipsis gestum est et tractatum, ratum habemus et acceptum et dictorum bonorum permutationem pontificali munimine confirmamus. In cuius rei memoriam presentem paginam sigilli nostri appensione fecimus confirmari. Actum anno domini MCC vicesimo tercio. Mense februario.

¹ See act no. 117, n. 1.

² Acts nos. 118 and 119 were written by the same hand and probably sent together to the royal chancery.

120¹

1230 August

Conrad, abbot of Prémontré, and his entire chapter announce an agreement whereby the nuns of Notre-Dame of Fervaques transfer their share of the major tithe of Hérouel to Prémontré.² The church of Homblières also has a share of that tithe.

A: A.N., L 995, fonds Prémontré, no. 74, lower half of chirograph; seal lost.

In nomine sancte et individue trinitatis, amen. Ego Conradus Dei patientia abbas totusque conventus ecclesie Premonstratensis notum facimus universis tam presentibus quam futuris quod nos, ex una parte, et religiose mulieres Maria abbatissa totusque conventus tam sororum quam fratrum Sancte Marie de Favarchiis, Cysterciensis ordinis, ex parte altera, inspecta ecclesiarum nostrarum utilitate pariter et profectu de communi assensu et voluntate fecimus cum eadem ecclesia de Favarchiis quoddam excambium sicut inferius est expressure. Ecclesia siquidem de Favarchiis quicquid habebat tempore huius scripti in maiori decima de Herouues, in qua etiam nos et Hummoliensis ecclesia participes eramus cum ipsa, tradidit et concessit nobis in perpetuum. . . . Actum est hoc sollempniter et publice in capitulo nostro, anno gratie millesimo ducentesimo tricesimo, mense augusto.

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

² The same transfer is mentioned in another charter of the same date by Marie, abbess of Notre-Dame of Fervaques (A.N., L 1001, fonds Fervaques, no. 35): "Nos siquidem quicquid habebamus tempore huius scripti in maiori decima de Herouues in qua etiam ipsa Premonstratensis et Hummoliensis ecclesia participes erant nobiscum. . . ."

121

1234 August

The eskevin of Homblières announce that Estevenes Minante and his wife, Havis, gave as a marriage gift all the land that they held from the monastery to their daughter Lussain and her husband, Estevenes le Borgne, who gave Lussain's sister Bertha 15 l., money of Paris, for her own marriage.

A: Saint-Quentin, B.M., L 265, fonds Homblières. Charter is now missing.

Pub.: (a) Le Proux, p. 451, no. 13, copy of A. (b) Lemaire, Archives anciennes, I:421-422, no. 361, copy of A.

. . .^a eskevin de Honblieres^b font savoir a tous chiaus qui cest escrit verront . . .^c Estevenes^c Minante et Havis se femme ont donee leur terre le quele il tienent⁴ . . .⁵ Gobert de Honblieres a Estevenon le Borgne avec leur fille Lussain en mariage,⁶ et tout leur enfant le werpiren et issirent fors de mainburnie par lor volente;⁷ et si donerent Estevenes et Havis se femme a Estevenon le Borgne et a Lussain leur fille en mariage tote le terre qu'il tienent de Nostre Dame de Honblieres et de l'abe, et a camp et a vile, et tot lor enfant le werpiren bien et loiaument et si issirent fors de mainburnie. Et Estevenes li Borgnes dut rendre et a rendu a Bertain le mainsnee, fille Estevene Minante et Havwi se femme, XV lib. de paresis por sen mariage, et Berte werpi l'iretage bien et loiaument, com ele eust aage. Et Este[ve]nes li Borgnes et Lusse se femme en paierent leur drois a le iustice bien et loiaument. Ce fu fait en l'an de l'incarnation nostre Segneur, M ans et II. CC ans et XXXIII ans, eu mois d'aoust.

⁴ The charter was damaged when Le Proux and Lemaire copied it. ⁵ Homblieres b. ⁶ [Esteven] es b.
⁷ deu added b. ⁸ mariage omitted b. ⁹ [vole]nté b.

122

1235 April 5 (N.S.)¹

B[aldwin], abbot of Homblieres, and Droard of Pinon, royal provost in Vermandois, announce that at their request Peter, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, and his chapter gave to Homblieres the willow trees located between the vicus of Saint-Eloi² in Saint-Quentin and their own house.

B: Aisne, A.D., H 534, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, pp. 145-146, copy of the 17th c.

Ind.: Matton, p. 88.

B[alduinus], divina permissione Humolariensis monasterii dictus abbas, et Droardus de Pinon, domini regis praepositus in Viromandia, universis praesentes litteras inspecturis, salutem in Domino. Noverint universi tam praesentes quam futuri quod viri religiosi, Petrus abbas Sancti Quintini in Insula totusque eiusdem loci conventus, ad preces et petitionem nostram, proprias suas salices sitas in celle qui est sita⁴ inter vicum Sancti Eligii in Sancto Quintino et suam domum qui . . .⁵ proprius est fundus eorumdem qui etiam Salceyum vulgariter nuncupatur, ad preces et petitionem nobis liberaliter concesserunt et benigne in curte sua tanquam suas proprias iam adductas. In cuius rei testimonium praesentes litteras sigillorum nostrorum munimine roborarimus et tradidimus dictis abbatii et conventui robo-ratas. Actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo tricesimo quarto, die iovis ante resurrectionem Domini.

^asitus B. ^ba space left in B.

¹Dated 1234, Thursday before Easter. If the year was counted from Easter, which is probably the case here (see the Introduction), the date would be 1235, N.S., as Easter fell on 8 April 1235.

²"La rue Saint-Eloi" (Matton, Inventaire, p. 88).

122A

1237 January (N.S.)

The eskevin of Homblières announce that Helvis li Veskenesse purchased three pieces of land from his father, John le Clerc.

A: Saint-Quentin, B.M., L 265, fonds Homblières. Charter is now missing.

Pub.: (a) Le Proux, p. 455, no. 20, copy of A. (b) Lemaire, Archives anciennes, 1:426, no. 368, copy of A.

Li iustice et li eskevin de Hombleiieres font savoir a tous caus ki veront cest escrit que Helvis li Veskenesse akata a Jehan le Clerc, sen pere, trois pieces de terre, s'en siet li une piece en Biauvooir, li autre piece siet a le Soussele^a . . . et li tierce siet en Bliscaus, quan k'il^b avoit en ces trois pieces. Jehans li Clers werpi cele terre par devant le iustice et Helvis le recut comme sen iretage, et si en fu tenans bien et loiaument par le iustice et par les eskevins. Et Helvis en paia bien et loiaument tous ses drois; et si savoir font ke Helvis li Veskenesse akata a Jehen le Clerc sen pere le quarte part d'un capon et I d. a prendre sour le maison Marien Flameske . . . werpi Jehans li Clers par devant le iustice et Helvis en fu tenans bien et loiaument comme de sen iretage et si en paia bien tous ses drois. Ce fu fait en l'an de l'incarnation, M ans CC ans XXXVI ans, el mois de genvier.

^aFoussele b. ^bquank'il b.

123

1249 March (N.S.)¹

Abbot Thomas and the monks of Homblières announce the settlement through mediation of their dispute with the nuns of Montreuil [-les-Dames], who claimed exemption from payment of two parts of the tithe on lands of their curtis at Bernot because they had acquired those lands before the [Fourth Lateran] Council² and cultivated them by their own hands and expense, and also because they had a papal exemption from paying tithes of this kind. It was agreed that Homblières would continue to collect the tithe, no matter who cultivated those lands, but would forgive the arrears and reduce the annual payment.

A: A.N., L 994, liasse 2, fonds Montreuil, no. 24. The four pendant seals are lost.

Omnibus hec visuris. Th[omas] divina permissione ecclesie beate Marie Humolariensis abbas totusque eiusdem loci conventus, salutem in Domino. Noverint universi quod cum causa verteretur auctoritate apostolica coram venerabili viro et discreto .. officialis Laudunensis inter nos ex una parte, religiosas mulieres .. abbatissam et conventus de Mousteriolo, Cisterciensis ordinis Laudunensis dyocesis ex altera, super duabus partibus decime terrarum appendentium ad curtem ipsarum .. abbatisse et conventus de Brenot, quas duas partes decime dicte mulieres dicebant nos non debere percipere pro eo quod dictas terras acquisierant ante concilium generale et easdem excolebant propriis manibus vel sumptibus, ut dicebant, et quia exempta per privilegium domini pape erant a solutione decimatarum terrarum huiusmodi, ut dicebant, necnon et super fructibus quos dicebant nos et Petrum de Menechamp in dictis duabus partibus precepisse^a indebita; item super uno modio bladi et septem solidis et tribus obolis alborum vel parisiensium que dicebant nobis soluta fuisse indebita a quodam converso monasterii sui. Tandem inter nos ex una parte et dictas mulieres ex altera super premissis de consilio bonorum compositum fuit in hunc modum: quod predicte .. abbatissa et conventus in hoc consenserunt et voluerunt quod nos de cetero dictas duas partes decime terrarum predictarum annuatim et in perpetuum pacifice et quiete percipiamus a quounque seu quocumque modo dicte terre excolantur. Et promiserunt dicte .. abbatissa et conventus quod in predicta decima, ratione privilegii ab ipsis vel ab ordine Cisterciensi impetrati vel impetrandi seu quacumque alia ratione, nichil de cetero reclamabunt vel facient reclamari. Nos vero in recompensatione premissorum quitavimus eisdem .. abbatisse et conventui in perpetuum dictum modium bladi et septem solidos et tres oboli predictos, sive modius bladi et septem solidi et tres oboli predicti nobis deberentur vel non deberentur et sive soluti essent nobis debite vel indebita, et etiam omne ius quod habebamus vel habere poteramus in blado et pecunia predictis et in arrieragis eorum quocumque modo vel titulo. Preterea cum predicte mulieres tenerentur nobis annuatim in decem caponibus et dimidio, ut dicebamus, nos mediante dicta compositione quitavimus eisdem .. abbatisse et conventui quinque capones de illis decem et dimidio caponibus et promisimus quod in predictis modo [bladi et] septem solidis et tribus obolis et quinque caponibus quietatis nichil de certo reclamabimus vel faciemus reclamari. Insuper per eandem compositionem et in recompensatione dictarum duarum partium dicte decime, nos tenemur reddere singulis annis in perpetuum eisdem .. abbatisse et conventui in curte nostra de Brenot in festo beati Martini hyemalis sex modios bladi ad mensuram de Sancto Quintino tales quale percipietur in dictis duabus partibus decime supradicte. Et mediantibus predictis quitavimus nos ad invicem et dicte .. abbatissa et conventus dictum Petrum de Menechamp de omnibus arrieragiis et expensis habitis et factis hinc inde occasione premissorum quitaverunt. Predicta autem compositio facta fuit coram dicto .. officiali Laudunensi et auctoritate prestante auctoritate apostolica qua fungebatur in causa predicta. Et propter hoc sigillum curie Laudunensis apposuit dictus .. officialis litteris confectis supra compositione predicta. Et ut hec omnia rata sint et firma presentes litteras sigillis nostris cum sigillo predicto curie Laudunensis fecimus roborigari. Actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo quadragesimo octavo, mense martio.

prececepisse A.*

¹ If this act was dated from Annunciation (25 March) and written after that date, it would have fallen in 1248.

² Canon 55 of the Fourth Lateran Council declared that land acquired before 1215 and cultivated by a monastery at its own expense was exempt from the payment of tithes; see Mahn, pp. 112-113, and Constable, ch. 3.3.

124

1251 June

Abbot Thomas and the monks of Notre-Dame of Homblières announce that they acquired from the chapter of Saint-Quentin the houses formerly belonging to the goldsmith Yzembard and the physician Walter located in the district of the Temple in Saint-Quentin. Homblières will pay an annual census in denarii and capons, and if wine is sold in those houses, the wine tax¹ will be paid. The houses with gardens and appurtenances are free from all tithes except the tithe of sheep, if sheep are pastured there, and Homblières will pay a compensation for exemption from the garden tithe.

B: A.N., LL 985^b, Cartulaire du chapitre de Saint-Quentin, fol. 245r-v (foliation in red), with the title "Littera abbatis et conventus de Homblerii de domo sua in vico Templi in qua habemus foragium, decimas pecorum et census. Et littera domini abbatis de Homblerii quam debet etc.", copy of ca. 1380.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis. Th[omas] Dei permissione humilis abbas beate Marie Humolariensis totusque eiusdem loci conventus, salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra quod nos domum que quondam fuit Yzembardi aurifabri et domum que fuit magistri Galteri phisici sitas in villa de Sancto Quintino in vico Templi in dominio et censuali ecclesie Sancti Quintini, sicut se portant ante et retro, de assensu et voluntate virorum venerabilium capituli Sancti Quintini acquisivimus, bene et legitime iure perpetuo a nobis possidentas sub censu annuo qui hactenus solvi consuevit pro domibus supradictis tam in denariis quam in caponibus. Hoc adiecto tenore quod quotienscumque novus abbas in monasterio nostro Humolariensis creatus fuerit, pro qualibus dictarum domorum solvere tenebitur sua sponsalia, ad usus et consuetudines ville Sancti Quintini, predicte ecclesie Sancti Quintini seu personis loco ipsius ecclesie deputatis ad recipiendum censem et sponsalia domorum predictarum. Ita etiam quod si contigerit nos in dictis domibus vel altera ipsarum aliqua vina vendere per nos vel per alium quemcumque, reddere tenebitur foragia ecclesie Sancti Quintini ad usus et consuetudines ville predicte. Preterea sciendum est quod nos dictas domos cum gardinis et suis appenditiis prout se portant ante et retro liberas possidebimus ab omni iure onere decimarum exceptis decimis pecorum si nutriantur ibidem. Et nos pro recompensatione et precio decimarum fructuum ortorum et gardinorum ad dictas domos spectantium quamdam pecunie summam solvimus ecclesie Sancti Quintini predicte. Sciendum est etiam quod nos dictas domos aut aliqua earum appendentia nullis personis religiosis aut loco religioso conferre poterimus aut vendere aut alio quocumque modo alienare. Quod si forte contra fecerimus, reddere tenebimus viginti libras parisienses nomine pene ecclesie Sancti Quintini predicte. Et nichilominus ipsa collatio, venditio et alienatio non tenebunt, ymmo pro infectis habebuntur. Et si pena fuerit commissa, nichilominus remanebit dicte ecclesie Sancti Quintini ius salvum quoad censem et alia supradicta. In cuius rei testimonium presentes litteras inde scriptas sigillorum nostrorum munimine fecimus confirmari. Actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo quinquagesimo primo, mense iunio.

¹ Foragium was a tax on the sale of wine.

125

1253 January 28 (N.S.)¹

Abbot Thomas and the monks of Notre-Dame of Homblières state that they have a dispute with the nuns of Montreuil [-les-Dames], who claimed to be exempt from tithes on their lands at the curtis of Piseux that they acquired before the [Fourth Lateran] Council and cultivated at their own expense and labor.² Homblières claimed that lands in the parishes of Cerizy and Urvillers were under its protection for forty years or more, before and after the council, and had paid tithe. Both parties agreed that James of Troyes, arch-deacon of Laon, would arbitrate the dispute (see act no. 126).

A: A.N., L 1001, liasse 4, fonds Homblières, no. 94. The two pendant seals are lost.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis. Th[omas] divina permissione abbas Beate Marie Humolariensis et eiusdem loci conventus, salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra quod cum inter nos et religiosas mulieres abbatissam et conventum de Monasteriolo esset controversia exorta super eo quod eadem abbatissa et conventus dicebant se non teneri nobis ad prestationem decimarum de terris suis appendentibus ad curtem de Puisieus acquisitis ab ipsis ante concilium generale, quas terras propriis sumptibus et laboribus excolunt tum de iure communi tum per privilegia eisdem a sede apostolica in-dulta, ut dicebant, nobis asserentibus quod decimas terrarum dicte curtis sitarum infra parochiatus de Chirisiaco et de Ursvilari quorum patroni sumus, ut dicebamus, per quadraginta annos et amplius tam post concilium generale quam ante pacifice perceperimus et ab eo tempore et ante in possessione fuimus et sumus dictas decimas percipiendi in terris predictis, ut dicebamus. Et propter hoc et alias rationes dicebamus dictam abbatissam et conventum teneri nobis ad prestationem decimarum de quibus est contentio de terris dicte curtis sitis in dictis parochiatibus. Tandem pro bono pacis nos et dicte abbatissa et conventus supra dicta controversia compromisimus in arbitrum, videlicet in magistrum Iacobum de Trecis, archidiaconum Laudunensem, sub hac forma quod quicquid idem arbiter super premissis et aliis ad hoc negocium spectantibus prius inquisita veritate tam per iuramenta partium quam per testes si opus fuerit pace vel iudicio pronuncian-dum duxerit sive ordinandum inviolabiliter observabimus, vallata compromissione pene centum librarum parisiensium reddendarum ab illa parte que a premissis pronunciatione seu ordinatione presump-serit resilire, parti adverse eandem ordinationem seu pronunciatio-nem observanti, eisdem pronunciatione et ordinatione nichilominus in suo robore duraturis. Hoc adiecto quod pars illa quae non venerit sufficienter ad dies sibi assignandas ab arbitro predicto tenebitur parti alteri sufficienter comparanti pro defectu cuiuslibet diei in quadraginta solidos parisienses. Debet autem dictus arbiter perferre arbitrium suum seu ordinationem infra quintanam proximo venturam nisi dictum terminum^{*} idem arbiter duxerit prorogandum. Quem prorogare potest pro sua voluntate et in hoc nos et dicte abbatissa et conventus consentimus expresse. In cuius rei testimonium presentes litteras emisimus sigillorum nostrorum munimine roboratas. Datum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo quinquagesimo secundo, feria quinta ante purificationem beate Marie Virginis.

^{*} arbitrum crossed out and replaced by terminum A.

¹ Five days before the Purification (2 February) was 28 January. A settlement was reached in May 1253 (act no. 126).

² See acts nos. 62, 123, n. 2.

126

1253 May 22¹

James of Troyes,² archdeacon of Laon, announces a settlement to the dispute (act no. 125) between Homblières and Montreuil [les-Dames] over tithes owed from land in the curtis of Puisieux that the nuns acquired before the [Fourth Lateran] Council and cultivated by their own labor and expense.³ After an inquiry as to which lands were at issue, James of Troyes decided that the nuns would be free from paying tithe on the lands they cultivate there by their own labor (see also act no. 127).⁴

A: Coll. Picardie, vol. 291, fonds Montreuil, no. 98.

Ind.: Lauer, Collections manuscrites, 2:229.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis. Iacobus de Trecis, Laudunensis ecclesie archidiaconus, salutem in Actore salutis. Noverit universitas vestra quod cum inter viros religiosos .. abbatem et conventum ecclesie Beate Mariae Humolariensis Noviomensis dyocesis, ex una parte, et .. abbatissam et conventum de Mosteriolo^a Cistercien sis ordinis Laudunensis dyocesis, ex altera, controversia esset exorta super eo videlicet quod dicte .. abbatissa et conventus dicebant se non teneri dictis .. abbati et conventui ad prestationem decimatarum de terris suis appendentibus ad curtem suam de Puisieux Noviomensis dyocesis, acquisitis ab ipsis ante concilium generale, quas terras propriis sumptibus et laboribus excoluerant et excolunt, ut dicebant, tam de iure communi quam per privilegia eisdem a sede apostolica indulta, ut dicebant. Dicti vero abbas .. et conventus e contrario dicebant quod decimas terrarum dicte curtis sitarum infra parochiatus de Urs-villari et de Cherisiaco quorum patroni sunt, ut dicebant, per quadraginta annos et amplius tam post concilium generale quam ante pacifice et quiete perceperant, et ab eo tempore et ante fuerant et sunt in possessione percipiendi dictas decimas, ut dicebant. Et propter has rationes et alias dicebant dicti .. abbas et conventus easdem abbatissam et conventum sibi teneri ad prestationem decimarum de terris dicte curtis sitis in dictis parochiatibus. Tandem pro bono pacis, dicti .. abbas et conventus, ex una parte, et dicte .. abbatissa et conventus, ex altera, super premissis in nos compromiserunt sub hac forma quod quicquid super hiis et aliis ad hoc negotium spectantibus de alto et basso duxerimus ordinandum sive pronunciandum inviolabiliter observabunt, vallata dicta compromissione, pena centum librarum parisiensium reddendarum ab illa parte que a predictis ordinatione et pronunciatione presumeret resilire, alteri parti easdem pronunciationem et ordinationem^b observanti, eisdem ordinatione et pronunciatione nichilominus in suo robore duraturis. Nos vero onere dicti compromissi in nos suscepto pro bono pacis^c inquire fecimus diligenter de campis et petiis terre ad ius et proprietatem dicte curtis pertinentibus ante concilium generale acquisitis sitis in parochiatibus antedictis, et inventum est, sicut predicte partes deliberatione habita confesse sunt coram nobis, quod campi et pecie terre que inferius exprimuntur site in dictis parochiatibus pertinent ad curtem predictam de Puisieux et pertinebant ante concilium generale, videlicet in campo ad vinarium pecia que continet sexaginta sex virgas vel circiter. Item in campo qui partitur ad campum Matheu tres sextariate et dimidia et quatuor virge. Item in campo a Landier tres sextariate et dimidia. Item in campo ad viam Hamensem decem sextariate triginta virgis minus. Item in campo a Loiermont undecim sextariate et dimidia. Item in campo a la Marliere tres sextariate et sexdecim virge. Item in campo domicelle Emeline viginti sextariate et dimidia. Item in campo a Laguillom una sextariata et octo virge. Item in campo retro domum Thome as Oies pecia continens quindecim sextariatas duodecim virgis minus. Item in campo iuxta portam de Puisieux pecia continens duas sextariatas septem virgis minus. Item in campo ad vinarium pecia continens duas sextariatas quatuor virgis minus. Item in campo retro aucas qui partitur ad campum Gerardi Priere pecia continens quatuor sextariatas et dimidiad. Item in campo au Saulom pecia continens quatuor sextariatas sexdecim virgis minus. Item in campo a Laguillon inter duas valles ante Puisiex pecia continens quinque sextariatas. Item in campo ante portam de Puisiex pecia continens tres modiatas. Et recognoverunt coram nobis procuratores partium predictarum quod omnes terras superius nominatim expressas acquisierunt abbatissa et conventus predicte ante concilium generale, excepto campo de Vaucello subtus Avesnam continentem quatuor sextariatas sexdecim virgis minus, de quo campo procurator dictarum .. abbatisse et conventus recognovit quod ipsum campum acquisierunt dicte .. abbatissa et conventus post concilium antedictum, et quod ille campus est decimalis etiam si propriis sumptibus et laboribus dictarum .. abbatisse et conventus excolatur, et propter hoc voluit idem procurator dictarum de Mousteriolo⁴ et expresse consensit ut in decima eiusdem campi percipienda, salvum sit ius dictorum .. abbatis et conventus Humolariensium et cuiuscunque alterius in quantum debuerit esse salvum. Nos igitur die assignata, dictis partibus coram nobis ad audiendum nostrum arbitrium et ordinationem sive pronunciationem nostram, procuratoribus dictarum partium coram nobis presentibus et ordinationem sive pronunciationem nostram super premissis a nobis proferri postulantibus, de bonorum virorum consilio ita duximus ordinandum et pronunciandum: ut videlicet predicte .. abbatissa et conventus quamdiu possessiones superius nominatas expresse ad dictam curtem de Puisiex pertinentes quas acquisierunt ante concilium generale, sicut ex confessione procuratorum dictarum partium ut superius expressum est, constat nobis, propriis sumptibus et laboribus suis excolent, a prestatione decimarum de eisdem possessionibus maneant libere et immunes, et dicti .. abbas et conventus super eisdem decimis ipsas de cetero nullatenus per se vel per alios inquietent. Cum nobis constet tam de preallegato iure communi quam de ipsarum super hoc privilegio speciali constat etiam nobis quod si prefati .. abbas et conventus dictas decimas aliquando perceperunt vel post vel ante concilium generale in terris superius nominatis, tunc dicte .. abbatissa et conventus easdem possessiones propriis sumptibus et laboribus suis non excolebant; ordinamus etiam et pronunciamus quod si prefate abbatissa et conventus predictas possessiones ad dictam curtem de Puisiex pertinentes vel alias sitas in dictis parochiatibus vel etiam aliquas ex ipsis dederint aliquando laycis vel aliis personis ad firmam sive ad censam vel alio quoquo modo, ita quod ipse .. abbatissa et conventus easdem terras non excolant vel excoli non faciant propriis suis laboribus et expensis, prefati .. abbas et conventus decimas ex illis possessionibus percipient et dicte .. abbatissa et conventus se in illo casu eisdem .. abbati et conventui non opponant quin eas percipient sicut prius eas percipere consueverunt, scilicet ante quam ipse abbatissa et conventus dictas possessiones suis propriis sumptibus et laboribus excolere incepissent, salvo tamen iure in predictis omnibus alieno in quantum debuent esse salvum. Et predicta omnia ordinavimus et pronunciavimus sub interpositione dicte pene a partibus predictis esse inviolabiliter observanda in perpetuum. In cuius rei testimonium presentes litteras patentes emisimus sigilli nostri munimine roboratas. Actum anno domini millesimo ducentesimo quinquagesimo tertio, feria quarta post dominicam qua cantatur cantate.

¹ Mouteriolo in act no. 128. ² ordinationem et pronunciatione in act no. 128. ³ pro bono pacis in nos suscepto in act no. 128. ⁴ Mouteriolo in act no. 128.

¹ The Cantate Domino is chanted on the fourth Sunday after Easter (20 April in 1253); four days after the fourth Sunday (18 May) was 22 May 1253.

² James Pantaléon of Troyes was archdeacon of Laon until 1253, when he became bishop of Verdun. He later became Pope Urban IV (1261-1264).

³ See acts nos. 62, 123.

⁴ James of Troyes decided a similar case at the same time involving Montreuil's lands held from Saint-Quentin at Pisieux (Coll. Picardie, vol. 291, no. 96).

127

1253 May 22¹

James of Troyes, archdeacon of Laon, announces the resolution of a dispute in which the nuns of Montreuil [les-Dames] claimed that last August the monks of Homblières and their agents unjustly carried off bundles of old peas and other vegetables from lands belonging to the curtis of Pisieux and also caused violence and injury. Homblières denied the accusations. It was agreed by the respective procurators, master John for Homblières and Robert, a lay brother, for Montreuil, that all charges would be dropped.

A: Coll. Picardie, vol. 291, fonds Montreuil, no. 99.

Ind.: Lauer, Collections manuscrites, 2:229.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis. Iacobus de Trecis, Laudunensis ecclesie archidiaconus, salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra quod cum inter viros religiosos .. abbatem et conventum ecclesie Beate Marie Humolariensis, ex una parte, et .. abbatissam et conventum de Mouteriolo, Cisterciensis ordinis Laudunensis dyocesis, ex altera, controversia esset exorta super eo quod dicte .. abbatissa et conventus dicebant dictos .. abbatem et conventum minus iuste et sine causa rationabili tum per se tum per suos servientes in augusto ultimo preterito absportasse quasdam garbas pisorum vetiarum et aliorum leguminum, contra ius et voluntatem earundem .. abbatisse et conventus, de terris pertinentibus ad curtem suam de Puisieux et super quibusdam violentiis et iniuriis quas dicebant dicte .. abbatissa et conventus sibi esse illatas a quibusdam monachis et censariis sive servientibus dicte ecclesie Humolariensis, dictis .. abbate et conventu negantibus predictam iniuriam et violentiam et absportationem garbarum iniustum. Tandem procuratores dictarum partium coram nobis constituti amicabiliter convenerunt in hunc modum, videlicet et procurator dictarum .. abbatisse et conventus nostre earundem coram nobis expresse remisit et quitavit dictos .. abbatem et conventum Humolarienses servientes et censares eorumdem de omnibus premissis et de omni actione que competit eisdem .. abbatisse et conventui super predictis. In cuius rei testimonium presentes litteras, ad instantiam dictorum procuratorum videlicet magistri Iehannis clerici procuratoris dictorum .. abbatis et conventus et fratris Roberti conversi et procuratoris dictarum de Mosteriolo, sigilli nostri munimine patentes emisimus roboratas. Actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo quinquagesimo tercio, feria quarta post cantate.

¹ This act was issued as part of the settlement described in act no. 126. For the date, see act no. 126, n. 1.

128

1253 May 27¹

Abbot Thomas and the monks of Notre-Dame of Homblières issue a vidimus of the charter of James of Troyes (act no. 126).

A: Coll. Picardie, vol. 291, fonds Montreuil, no. 100.

Ind.: Lauer, Collections manuscrites, 2:229-230.

Universis presentes litteras visuris. Th[omas], permissione divina ecclesie Beate Marie Humolariensis Noviomensis dyocesis dictus abbas, totusque eiusdem loci conventus, salutem in Domino semperternam. Noverit universitas vestra nos litteras venerabilis viri Iacobi de Trecis, Laudunensis ecclesie archidiaconi, vidisse et de verbo ad verbum diligencius perlegisse in hec verba. [Text of act no. 126.]² Nos autem abbas et conventus supradicti omnia et singula predicta prout superius fuerit expressa et in dictis litteris eiusdem archidiaconi .. continetur rata habemus et grata permittentes nos ea omnia et singula inviolabiliter in perpetuum observatueros. In cuius rei testimonium presentes litteras patentes abbatisse .. et conventui supradictis concessimus et tradidimus sigillorum nostrorum munimine roboras. Datum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo quinquagesimo tercio, feria secunda ante ascensionem Domini.

¹ Ascension in 1253 was on 29 May.

² Variants are given with act no. 126.

128A

1258 December

The abbot and the monks of Homblières announce that their dispute with the abbey of Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx concerning the tithe of fields at Fresnoy-le-Grand is now under arbitration (see also act no. 128B).

A: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, Chartier Saint-Feuillien, Croix-en-Vermandois, no. 118. Two seals are missing.¹ A': Another version of the same act, in the same location, no. 118 bis; two seals are missing.² B: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, MS 57, Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx, pp. 84-86, with the title "Commissio inter nos et abbatem de Homblières," copy of A' of the 13th c. C: Copy of B of the 16th c., attached to A.

Pub.: Ruelle, pp. 79-82, nos. 62A (after A' here) and 62B (after A here).

Ind.: Devillers, p. 292, no. 66. Wymans, pp. 214-215, no. 189.

A tous chiaus ki ces lettres veront et ouront,⁴ li abbes et li couvens, de Homblieres, salus en nostre Signer. Sachent tout ke cum il eust descort entre nous, dune part, et entre les religieus homes labbe et le couvent de Saint Foylien, d'autre part, de le^b grant dime de ches cans, chest asavoir deu camp Gerart de Leheries^c ki siet^d eu liu con apele Brai eu sart ki fu Perron le Grant, deu camp Wauchier de Muerin-court ki siet eu liu devant noume, deu camp Frapart ki siet eu liu devant dit, et deu camp Iehan de Harcies^c ki siet la meismes, esques chans nous disiens ke nous estiens en possession et en saisine de recevoir le moitie de le grant dime; et ausi, cum il fust descors entres nous et le^f devant dit abbe et le couvent de Saint Foylien,^f de le dime deu camp Frapart ki siet eu liu devant noume cum apele le cortisel Saint Eloy, que^e Frapars tient eu lieu devant dit; es kes terres derrainnement nounees et eskes cans^e nous disiens que nous estiens en possession et en saisine de recevoir toute le dime de⁴ l'ong tans ca en ariere,⁴ et li devant dit abbes et li couvens de Saint Foylien disoient encontre ke li dime des terres et des cans devant dis apartient a aus et kil en ont este en possession et en saisine de recevoir le dime toute es lius devant dis. A darrains par conseil de bonnes gens, pour bien de pais, nous et li devant dit abbes et couvens de Saint Foillien de descort devant dit, nous soumes mis en arbitres, cest asavoir mon signeur Wion de Noiasle, chevalier, et Bauduin de Fiulaines, en tel forme ke li devant dit arbitre enquirront en bonne foi par tesmoins souffissant et iures, cest avoir X tesmoins dune part et X d'autre, de la possession et de la saisine de la dime des terres devant noumees de nous et dou devant diet abbe et convent de Saint Foillien, et apres cou kil aront enqueste la verite de ce descort, il se doivent conseiller as homes le roi de le court de Saint Quentin selonc la verite quil auront enqueste. Et ce que li doi arbitre par le conseil des homes pournonceront et diront deu descort devant dit, et selonc le forme devant dite, nous et li devant dit abbes et couvens de Saint Foillien devons tenir fermement, et a ce nous sommes nous aloie seur painne de XL lib. de paris a rendre au devant dit abbe et convent de Saint Foillien, se nous en aliens encontre, et por ce ne demouroit mie que li dis des arbitres ne fust fers et estaules. Et cest asavoir que li devant dit arbitre doivent rendre leur dit dedans le miquaresme et outre ce terme il ni ont pooir, se ce nest par lasens des parties. Et se sommes nous et li devant dit abbes et convens de Saint Foillien tenu a envoier souffissamment a tous les iours que li devant dit arbitre meteront nous et aaus en ceste cause, et li partie qui ensi ne le feroit renderoit a lautre partie pour chascun iour quille defauroit XX sols de paris et pour ce ne demouroit mie que ceste mise ne fust ferme et estaule. Et⁵ cest asavoir que li possessiens et li saisine de cest derrain aoust naide ne ne porte force a lune partie na lautre et que li une partie ne li autre ne puet cheir en la painne de XL lib. de ci atant qui li arbitre aront dit leur dit.⁶ Et toutes ces coses prometons nous a tenir fermement et ces coses sont faites sauf le droit de le proprieté des dimes devant dites et a nous et a labbe et au convent de Saint Foillien devant dis. Et pour cou que ce soit ferme chose et estaule, nous avons cest present escrit conferme de nos saiaus. Ce fu fait en lan de l'incarnation nostre Signeur MCCLVIII, el mois de decembre.

⁴ et ouront omitted A' and act no. 128B. ⁵ A repeats de le on the next line, obviously a scribal error.

⁶ Deheries A' and act no. 128B. ⁷ seiet changed to siet A. ⁸ Harchies A' and act no. 128B. ⁹ Act no. 128B substitutes iaus for le through Saint Foillien. ¹⁰ Act no. 128B substitutes en quel camp for que through cans. ¹¹ Act no. 128B omits de through ariere. ¹² Et through dit leur dit omitted A'.

¹ The text of A seems to have been the preliminary agreement, which was sealed. A' was sealed in the same month but omits a clause (variant i) and contains a great number of orthographic variants not indicated here (see Ruelle's edition, no. 62A). Act no. 128B also is taken from A, but with orthographic variants, while copy B here is taken primarily from A'. The preferred text here is A.

128B

1259 May

The abbot and monks of Homblières announce the decision of the arbiters concerning their dispute with Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx over the tithe of the fields of Fresnoy-le-Grand (see act no. 128A).

*A: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, Chartier Saint-Feuillien, Croix-en-Vermandois, no. 120. B: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, MS 57, Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx, pp. 86-88, with the title "De pace inter nos et abbatem de Homblieres de decima de Fraisnoit," copy of A of the 13th c. C: Copy of B of the 16th c., attached to A.*

Pub.: Ruelle, pp. 83-84, no. 64.

Ind.: Devillers, p. 292, no. 67. Wymans, p. 216, no. 191.

A^e tous chiaus qui ces lettres verront, li abbes et li couvens de Homblieres, salus en nostre Segneur. Sachent tout que com il eust descort entre nous dune part et entre les religieus hommes labe et le couvent de Saint Foillien d'autre part de le grant disme de ces cans, cest asavoir deu camp Gerart de Deheries qui siet eu liu con apele Brai eu sart qui fu Perron le Grant, deu camp Wauquier de Meurincourt qui siet eu liu devant nommei, deu camp Frappart qui siet eu liu devant dit, et deu camp Iehan de Harchies qui siet la meesmes, es queis cans nous disiens que nous estiens en possession et en saisine de rechevoir le moitet de le grant disme; et ausi, com il fust descors entre nous et iaus, de le disme deu camp Frappart qui siet eu liu devant nommei con apele le courtisel Saint Eloy, en quel camp nous disiens que nous estiens en possession et en saisine de rechevoir toute le disme, et li devant dis abbes de Saint Foillien et li couvens disoient en contre que li disme des terres et des cans devant dis apartenoit a iaus et quil ont este en saisine et en possession de rechevoir le disme toute es lius devant dis. A daerains par conseill de bonnes gens pour bien de pais, nous et li devant dis abbes et li couvens de Saint Foillien deu descort devant dit nous mesimes en arbitres, cest asavoir mon seigneur Wion de Noiasle, chevalier, et Bauduin de Fiulaines, selonc la fourme^a de le mise de que li devant dis abbes et li couvens de Saint Foillien ont nos lettres seelees et nous avons les leur. A daerains li devant dit arbitre, quant it eurent enquise le verite deu descort devant dit par tesmoins souffissans et iureis, per no volente et par le volentei deu devant dit abbe et couvent de Saint Foillien, assent iour a rendre leur dit de le mise devant dite. Et a ce iour cil arbitre, par conseill de bonnes gens et des hommes le roi, rendirent leur dit en teil maniere, cest asavoir que toute li disme deu camp devant nommei con apele le courtisel Saint Eloy nous demeure quite et empais a tous iours. Et se dient en leur dit ques autres cans devant dis, la ou li devant dis abbes et li couvens de Saint Foillien ou nous avons le terage, que li disme demeurt a celui qui le terage i a. Et sil i avoit aucun camp qui ne deust point de terage na nous na iaus, li disme de celui camp ou de ces cans, se plus en i avoit, demouerra a celui qui i a le segneigrie. Et nous ce dit, en si com il est devant espresseis, tenons ferm et estaule et pourmetons en bonne foi que iamais a nul iour ne venrrons encontre ce dit. Et pour chou que che soit ferme chose et estaule, ces presentes lettres qui faites en sont, nous les avons confremees de nos seiaus et donnees au devant dit abbe et couvent de Saint Foillien. Che fu fait en lan de lincarnation nostre Segneur, mil et CC et cuinquante nuef, el mois de may.

* text through fourme is copied, with orthographic variants, from act no. 128A.

128C

1262

A list of payments owed by Homblières is followed by a description of the duties and fees of the curé of Homblières: he must assist in religious feasts and processions at the abbey and in all processions and public prayers in the villa, but is prohibited from leading processions beyond the church and the cemetery and cannot sound the church bell on feast days until the abbey church bells are rung. He is also prohibited from giving last rites, which are the prerogative of the prior of the abbey.¹

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 94, with the same title as C, except "soing de nom. payer," incomplete copy. C: H 588, pp. 74-75, with the title "A qui on doit les soins de payer," preferred text.

Au dien de Saint Quentin XV sols VI deniers. Au dien de Chau-ny^a II sols pour la Neuville en Beine.^b Au dien de Vendeuil II sols pour Urviller.^{c,d} Au dien de Vendeuil II sols^e pour Remigny. Item, au dien de Vendeuil XVIII deniers pour Cerisy.^f Si^g doit payer li censier^h de Lambayⁱ pour Urviller^j et^j Cerisy.^j Item, on doit a Laon XLIII deniers⁴ et lo payer li censier⁵ de Catillon⁶ Li quartier des forains de Keugny⁷ doivent VI deniers de taille a la Saint Remy.⁸ Item, chacune des maisons de la ville de Homblieres⁹ contenant LX verges doivent XII deniers, et chacune¹⁰ est taillee selon son annuel. Li curé d'Homblieres doit pour la cure X sols VI deniers a la Saint Remy. Item, il doit au prieur d'Homblieres moitié de tout ché qui vient a l'autel de la parroisse sinon messe qu'on renouvelle et messe qu'on dit pour argent. Item, aux obseques de chacun enfant il doit au prieur II sols VI deniers, et aux obseques de chacun chef d'hostel il doit moitié de ché qui vient a ly. Item, il doit assistance aux croix et bannieres en l'abbaye aux festes de la vierge, aux processions et messes. Item, il doit assistance a toutes processions par la ville, et y doit venir aussy aux croix et bannieres, et se font les assemblees pour ichelles processions dans l'abbaye, ainsy que pour toutes prières publiques et ne pour li curé faire procession hors l'église et cimitiere de la parroisse, et ne pour sonner ou faire sonner aux festes solemnelles qu'apres qu'on a sonné a l'abbaye. Item, il ne prend a la ville q'une dixme de chacun genre de bestiaux, si comme un pourcel, un agnel, un viaubric de l'annee, un carrin, on oye, une dixme de poires et navettes, et ainsy des autres. Item, ne doit li curé benir le buys au I Pasques, ne faire aucun office en la parroisse au jour monsieur Saint Estienne, n'administrer le dernier sacrement aux paroissiens: ce sont les droits piera gardez au prieur de Homblieres comme prenier curé. Actum anno MCCLXII.

⁴ Chauni B. ⁵ Beinne B. ⁶ Curviler B. ⁷ B places this sentence after the next one. ⁸ X obl. (?) B. ⁹ Cerisi B. ¹⁰ Se B. ¹¹ les censiers B. ¹² Lambais B. ¹³ et pour B. ¹⁴ 1 obol? added B. ¹⁵ Castullong changed to Castillong B. ¹⁶ Reugny B. ¹⁷ et pmi tant chill. de la ville doivent estre quittes si comme ils dient added B. ¹⁸ de Homblieres omitted B. ¹⁹ rest of sentence in B reads dien. chill. de la ville quon taille chacun selon son annuel et [space] actum anno LXII; B ends here.

¹ See also act no. 139.

128D

1276 July

Rainald, abbot of Homblières, declares that his abbey has settled a dispute with Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx over half of the tithe of a piece of land at Courcelles that Homblières had enclosed within its curtis and converted into a garden.¹

A: Archives d'Etat in Mons, Belgium, Chartrier Saint-Feuillien, Croix-en-Vermandois, no. 149. B: Archives d'Etat in Mons, MS 57, Cartulaire de l'abbaye

de Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx, pp. 73–75, with the title "Pro decima de Courcelles," 13th-c. copy of A.

Ind.: Devillers, p. 291, no. 57 (incorrectly dated 1158). Wyman, pp. 242–243, no. 244.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis, R[ainaldus], divina patientia abbas humilis Beate Marie de Homblieres, ordinis sancti Benedicti Noviomensis dyocesis, totusque loci eiusdem conventus, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Noverit universitas vestra quod cum inter nos, ex una parte, et viros religiosos abbatem et conventum Sancti Foyllani de Rodio, ordinis Premonstratensis, ex altera, discordia verteretur super eo quod prefati religiosi Sancti Foyllani dicebant medietatem decimarum cuiusdam pecie terre site prope Malum Ingenium, quam nos incluseramus intra curtem nostram de Curcelles et eam reduxeramus ad culturam ortorum nostrorum, esse suam, et eos esse et fuisse in possessione vel quasi a tempore a quo non erat memoria, percipiendi et habendi medietatem decimarum predictarum; nobis in contrarium asserentibus et dicentibus nos esse liberos a solutione huiusmodi decimarum, eo quod religiosi generaliter sunt exempti a prestatione decimarum ortorum suorum, et etiam cum habeamus super hoc privilegium speciale, et dicebamus nos esse privilegiatos a sede apostolica quod non tenebamus solvere decimam orthorum predictorum. Ipsi religiosis Sancti Foyllani contrarium asserentibus et dicentibus quod ante clausuram et post consueverant in loco predicto percipere medietatem decimarum predictarum et habere. Tamdem de prudentum et bonorum virorum consilio super dicta discordia, compromisimus in viros discretos et honestos, videlicet R., decanum christianitatis de Ribodium, et magistrum Iohannem Hanstarum, curatum ecclesie Sancti Eligii in Sancto Quintino, arbitros sive arbitratores seu amicabiles compositores, nos et prefati abbas et conventus Sancti Foyllani sub hac forma, quod quicquid dicti arbitri sive arbitratores seu amicabiles compositores super dicta discordia arbitrarentur, ordinarent, dicerent seu componerent, de alto et basso inviolabiliter observaremus sub pene quadraginta librarium parisiensium, parti observanti arbitrium, ordinationem, dictum seu compositionem ipsorum a parte resiliente reddendarum, arbitrio, ordinatione, dicto seu compositione eorum nichilominus firma et stabili permanente. Qui arbitri, arbitratores, seu amicabiles compositores, arbitrium suum ordinationem, dictum sive compositionem partibus presentibus protulerunt in hunc modum, quod dicta medietas dictarum decimarum erit nostra et eam percipiems et habebimus in futurum. Pro qua mediatae, nos tenemur acquirere ad opus dictorum abbatis et conventus Sancti Foyllani viginti duos denarios parisienses et obolum annui et perpetui redditus, sub dominio et districtu eorum vel alibi prope districtum suum, bene et sufficienter assignatum, et reddere eos eis et solvere singulis annis in festo Omnium Sanctorum, donec fuerint, ut dictum est, acquisiti et assignati, et ex tunc in antea erimus liberi et immunes a solutione eorumdem. Et tenebuntur dicti abbas et conventus Sancti Foyllani predictum acquestum, si sub districtu et eorum dominio fuerint inventi, concedere, laudare et approbare, tamquam domini loci. Nos vero arbitrium ordinationem, dictum seu compositionem dictorum arbitrorum, secundum quod superius est expressum, laudamus et approbamus et promittimus nos inviolabili-ter servaturos. In cuius rei testimonium, presentibus litteris sigilla nostra duximus apponenda. Datum et actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo septuagesimo sexto, mense iulio.

¹ See also act no. 135.

129

1281 August

Abbot R[ainald] and the monks of Homblières announce an exchange of lands with the nuns of Montreuil [-les-Dames]. Homblières gave about six sextarii of land at Cerizy free from all rent and tithe, except if the land is leased to a colonus for a census, in which case Homblières will collect the tithe. Montreuil gave about six sextarii of land below the orchard of Homblières in the curtis of Lambay.

A: A.N., L 994, liasse 2, fonds Montreuil, no. 34. Two pendant seals are lost.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis R[ainaldus], Deo permissione abbas ecclesie Beate Marie Hombleriensis, ordinis sancti Benedicti, Noviomensis dyocesis, totusque eiusdem loci conventus, salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra quod nos, nomine permutationis, dedimus et concessimus imperpetuum religiosis mulieribus .. abbatisse et conventui de Monasteriolo, Cysteracensis ordinis Laudunensis dyocesis, tres sextarias terre duodecim virgis minus quas habebamus sitas in uno campo in territorio de Cherisi, qui campus vocatur campus de Rouval, liberas et quittas ab omni solutione decime et alterius redditus cuiuscumque, ab eisdem mulieribus et earum successoribus tenendas et possidendas in futurum pacifice et quiete, nec est praetermittendum quod si dicte religiosae dictam terram ali-cui colono ad censam concederent quod decimam dicte terre penes nos retinemus. Et ipse .. abbatissa et conventus, nomine permutacionis et in recompensationem ipsius terre, nobis dederunt et concesserunt duas piechias terre sitas in territorio de Urvilari iuxta et subtus vinarum curtis nostre de Lambais, quas ipse tenebant et possidebant quittas et liberas, ut dicebant, ab omni solutione decime et alterius redditus cuiuscumque, continentes tres sextarias terre decem virgis et dimidum minus, a nobis et ecclesia nostra in futurum tenendas et possidendas pacifice et quiete. Et promittimus bona fide quod contra huiusmodi permutationem non veniemus in futurum. Nichil etiam iuris in predicta terra a nobis ipsis religiosis, ut dictum est, data et concessa penes nos retinentes, nos et successores nostros ad obligationem ipsius permutationis ipsis religiosis tenore presentium obligantes. In cuius rei testimonium presentibus litteris sigilla nostra duximus apponenda. Datum anno Domini MCC octagesimo primo, mense augusto.

130

1285 July 17¹

The deans of the chapters of Laon and Saint-Quentin make known their dispute with Homblières over the tithes and territory of Sissy. Under penalty of 100 l., both sides submit to the binding arbitration of master John of Flacy, dean of Orléans,² Milo of Durbia,³ canon of Laon, and John of Ribemont, monk and provost of Homblières. The power of the arbiters will expire on the feast of the Assumption [15 August], and if no agreement is reached, the status quo ante will be observed (see also act no. 132).

B: A.N., LL 985^b, Cartulaire du chapitre de Saint-Quentin, fol. 191v-192r (foliation in red), with the title "Arbitrium inter capitulum Laudunensis et nos ex una parte et abbatiam de Hombleriis ex altera super decimis de Syssi," copy of ca. 1380.

Universis presentes litteras visuris. Stephanus, decanus et capitulum Laudunensis, ac I[ohannis],⁴ decanus et capitulum ecclesie Sancti Quintini in Viromandia, salutem in Domino. Noveritis quod cum inter nos decanos et capitula Laudunensis et Sancti Quintini predictos, ex parte una, et religiosos viros abbatem et conventum de Hombleriis Noviomensis dyocesis, ex altera, discordia mota esset super decimis ville et territorio de Sissiaco, Laudunensis dyocesis. Tandem post multas altercationes et aliquas allegationes factas et habitas hinc et inde pro bono pacis de bonorum virorum consilio, nos decani et capitula Laudunensis et Sancti Quintini predicti, ex una parte, et dicti abbas et conventus de Hombleriis, ex altera, super dicta discordia et super omnibus tam ratione proprietatis et possessionis quam alio quovismodo ad eandem discordiam quomodolibet pertinentibus, compromisimus de alto et basso in venerabiles et discretos viros magistrem Iohanem de Flaciaco, decanum Aurelianensis, et dominum Milonem de Durbia, concan[onic]os nostros, et dominum Iohanem de Ribodimonte, monachum et prepositum monasterii de Hombleriis predicti, tanquam in arbitros arbitratores seu amicabiles compositores sub pena centum librum parisium reddendarum parti dictum seu ordinationem eorundem arbitrorum arbitratorum concorditer factam observare volenti a parte observare nolente pena commissa soluta vel non soluta dicto seu ordinatione huiusmodi nichilominus valitus. Promittentes bona fide et sub pena predicta nos integraliter adimplere et tenere quidquid dicti tres arbitri arbitratores super dicta discordia proprietate et possessione et super omnibus aliis negotiis ipsum quomodolibet contingentibus concorditer statuendum duxerint seu etiam ordinandum. Et ad hoc nos successores nostros ecclesias nostras et bona ipsarum ecclesiarum nostrarum per presentes litteras obligamus. Poterunt autem dicti arbitri arbitratores in negotio huiusmodi compromissi et ad prolationem sui dicti sive sue ordinationis predicte diebus feriatis semel vel pluries partibus presentibus vel absentibus tamen vocatis. Et terminabitur istud arbitrium infra instans festum assumptionis beate Marie virginis, alioquin extunc dictorum arbitrorum arbitratorum potestas expirabit, nisi interim eorum terminus de consensu partium fuerit prorogatus, ita tamen quod si infra dictum terminum ut dictum est prefixum vel ut predictum est prorogatum negotium presentis compromissi seu arbitrii non fuerit terminatum, illa que usque tunc super premissae acta fuerint neutri partium prevident: ymmo omnia remaneant in illo eodem statu in quo erant tempore facto^a huiusmodi compromissi et tunc prosequatur utraque pars vis suum prout sibi melius viderit expedire. De consensu partium siquidem predicta de quibus contendunt partes et que levata fuerunt et que levanda remanent ponentur et remanebunt in manu dictorum arbitrorum arbitratorum tanquam in manu salva usque ad terminum predictum prefixum vel usque ad alium prorogandum si prorogari contingat eundem. In cuius rei testimonium nos, Stephanus decanus et capitulum Laudunensis predicti, et nos, I[ohannes] decanus et capitulum ecclesiae Sancti Quintini predicti, sigilla nostra presentibus litteris duximus apponenda. Actum anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo octogesimo quinto, die martis post divisionem apostolorum.

*scôms B.

¹ The act is dated Tuesday after the Division of the Apostles (15 July), or 17 July 1285.

² Dean of Orléans in 1283 and also canon of Saint-Quentin, he died in 1287 (Cuisard, p. 139).

³ He appears in the last will and testament of Gossuin le Grenetier in February 1304 N.S. (text in Collette, 2:281-282).

⁴ John II of Barastre became dean of Saint-Quentin in 1278 (Collette, 3:480-481).

131

1289 May

Abbot Rainald and the monks of Homblières make known their dispute with the masters and brothers of [the Hospitallers of] Eterpigny over one hundred eels that Homblières claimed from the mills of Les Creutes.¹ The parties agree to the arbitration of Rainald, curé of Brie, and Rainer, curé of Urvillers. If the arbiters cannot agree, the abbot of Arrouaise will arbitrate.

A: A.N., S 5222, liasse 4, fonds Eterpigny, no. 11 (formerly S 5223, no. 26). One seal is lost, the other remains as a fragment.

Ind.: Cocheris, 2:54, no. 45.

A tous chiaus qui ces letres veront. Renaus par le souffranche de Ihsu Crist abbes del eglise de Nostre Dame de Honblieres et tous li couvens de ce meisme lieu, salut en nostre Singneur. Nous faisons a savoir a tous comme descors fust v[el] debas entre nous abbe et covent devant dis, dune part, et le maistre et les freres dele maison d'Esterpenig del hospital d'autre mer, d'autre part, seur un cent d'anguilles qe nous demandiemes as devant dis maistre et les freres, et ke nous disiens qe nous deviens prendre et avoir sur les molins des Creutes a Frise ki sont dele maison d'Esterpenig. Et li maistres et li frere disoient quil estoit en leur volente de paier un cent d'anguilles ou vint et chiunt sols de paris. Du quel descort pour bien de pais et par conseil de preudommes, nous sommes mis et metons en arbitres arbitratheurs ou amiables compositeurs. Cest asavoir en homes discreis, maistre Renaut cureit de Brie et en monsingeur Renier cureit d'Urvilleir, sil se pueent acorder ensiaule, et sil ne se pueent acordeir, nous prendons et eslisons de maintenant entiers home relegiens labbe d'Arrouaise et proumetons sur painne de quarante livres de paris atenir fermement et estaulement chou qui fera dit et ordene de haut et de bas pour le miex par les devant dis Renaut et Renier sil se pueent acordeir en une sentensse. Et sil ne se pueent acorder che que li abbes devant dis dira avoekes les deus miseurs devant dis ou avoekes lun des deus se tout troi ne se pueent acordeir. Dies toutes voies tout premierement les bonnes raisons de lun partie et de lautre et le verite enquisse selon leur pouvoir. De lequel painne le moitiet doit estre rendue et le proumetons arendre au maistre et as freres devant dis selle estoit commise de par nous que ia naviugue, et lautre moitiet au roi. Et volons et otroions ke li iustice le roi nous puist constraindre a warder de tout en tout chou qui est contenu en ces presentes lettres et en cest compromis par le prise de nos biens. Et a ces choses tenir proumetons nous et a nous en couvent et obligons nos biens envers le maistre et les freres devant dis. Et si nous plaist bien que li arbitre puissent aleir avant eu compromis eu iour quil soit feste ou quil ne soit mie feste et otroions qe bonnes lettres de baillie en soient faites. Et pour chou que ce soit ferme chose et estaule nous avons seele ces ^{xx} presentes lettres de nos seiaus. Ce fu fait en lan de grasse mil CC IIII et IX, eu mois de mai.

¹ Homblières had long possessed a rent of eels from Frise (see act no. 42). In May 1219 Hugh, lord of Béthencourt, confirmed the gift by John, former lord of Villers-Carbonel, of the mills at Frise and added a rent of two hundred eels to be collected from those mills (analyzed in Loise, "Le cartulaire de la commanderie d'Eterpigny," p. 180, no. 50). In April 1228 the knight Walter of Honnecourt attested that his father, John of Villers-Carbonel, gave two mills at Creutes to Eterpigny (ibid., p. 191, no. 72). Acts of 1230, 1246, and 1283 also concern those mills (ibid., p. 192, no. 75; p. 198, no. 88; p. 213, no. 119).

132

1291 May 7¹

Abbot R[ainald] and the chapter of Homblières announce the settlement of a dispute by which the chapters of Laon and Saint-Quentin will have all the tithes in the villa and territory of Sissy except at the places named in this act. The act begins and ends in Latin but uses French² for the substance of the provisions (see also act no. 130).

B: A.N., LL 985^b, Cartulaire du chapitre de Saint-Quentin, fols. 190r-191v (foliation in red), with the title "Compositio inter abbatem et conventum de Homblerii ex una parte et nos decanum et capitulum ecclesie Laudensis ex altera super decimis de Sissi," copy of ca. 1380.

Universis tam presentibus quam futuris presentes litteras inspecturis. R[ainaldus], Dei patientia abbas ecclesie beate Marie Hom-bleriensis Noviomensis dyocesis, totusque eiusdem loci conventus, in eo qui salvus est eterna, salutem. Quoniam humana pactio de facile a memoria labitur nisi sufficienti bonorum testimonio roboretur, eapropter notum fieri volumus universis quod cum inter nos abbatem et conventum predictos, ex una parte, et venerabiles viros decanos et capitula ecclesiarum Laudunensis et Sancti Quintini in Viromandum, ex altera, controversia verteretur super decimas quarumdem terrarum territorium seu parrochiatus ville de Sissiaco, Laudunensis dyocesis. Tandem pro bono pacis et tam propter nostram quam ipsorum venerabilium virorum decanorum et capitularum Laudunensis et Sancti Quintini utilitatem talis compositio intervenit, videlicet, quod predictis decanis et capitulis pro portionibus inter eos consuetis remanebit decime imperpetuum totius territorium et parrochiatus ville predictorum libere et quiete exceptis terris sitis in locis inferius nominatis que sunt, ut dicitur, maioris de Harli et quas tenere dicitur in feodum a domino de Faignoles videlicet: ² a Rougemont vint et wit ialois³ tenant a le terre de Casteillon dune part et d'autre part a le terre monsieur de Sissi et tenant a le terre labbe d'Isle. Item, tenant a le Val le Conte chiunquante et deus ialois tenant a le terre de Nocort de Casteillon dune part et a le terre monsieur de Sissi et a le terre Gillon de Marchi en deus lius et les ries tenant a celi terre qui onques ne furent alienne. Item, aus Grossus Lius chuiinc ialois tenant a le terre monsieur de Sissi de deus pars et a le terre Iehan Loudart d'autre part. Item, a le Val Seigneur oendon sept ialois se va li voie Ribecoiste per IIII, et se tient a le terre de le court de Casteillon dune part et d'autre part a le terre maistre Iehan de Ribemont. Item, au Mares chiunc ialois tenant dune part et d'autre a le terre Blanc Toupet. Item, trois ialois d'esseme le Croisette tenant a le terre Huart Cornet dune part et d'autre part a le terre monsieur de Sissi. In quibus supradictis terris sic declaratis pro octo modiatarum terre decimam perpetuo percipiemus et habebimus.

Et exceptis etiam aliis terris subsequentibus in locis infrascriptis situatis videlicet: deus moiies a le couture entre Casteillon et Sissi tenant au chemin per dessous et a Gillon de Marchi. Item, tenant a ce chemin per desseure et a le terre le seigneur de Sissi de une moiie. Item, tenant as deus chemins et as terres de le mairie trois ialois. Item, tenant au grant chemin et a le terre de le mairie un ialois. Item, tenant au chemin et as terres de le mairie dune moiie. Item, en Rougemont tenant a Gillon de Marchi et a le terre de le mairie trois ialois. Item, en Rougemont et tenant a le terre Gillon de Marchi et a le terre le seigneur de Sissi, une moiie. Item, tenant a celi meisme et a le terre le conte de Maisieris dis et wit ialois. Item, tenant a celi meismes et a le terre les cleris de Laon dis ialois. Item, tenant au camp Paillart et as terres Saint Hubert quatre ialois. Item, au camp Paillart tenant a Saint Hubert et a Saint Germain trois ialois et demi. Item, et tenant au chemin et au camp Saint Nicolay au camp con dist a Pie d'Aignel treize ialois. In quibus dicti decani et capitula decimam percipiunt et percipient in futuris de quatuor ialois.

Item, as Amnaus tenant an seigneur de Sissi et a Gillon de Marchi chiunc ialois. Item, en Boechon tenant a Saint Germain un ialois. Item, tenant au seigneur de Sissi et a le terre de le mairie ou camp con dist Beraut neuf ialois. Item, a le voie Ribecoiste tenant a le terre de le mairie et au maieur de Harli deus ialois. Item, a l'Ormissel Brisiet tenant a Gillon de Marchi et a le terre de le mairie deus ialois. Item, desseure le Val le Comte tenant encore a le terre de le mairie et a Gillon de Marchi chiunc ialois. Item, a Chievre rue tenant encore a chiaus meismes sis ialois. Item, a Rougemont tenant au maieur de Harli et a Iehan de Priers quatre ialois. Item, au Locibus tenant au bos de Sissi et as terres de le court de Regni qui est labbe d'Isle neuf ialois. Item, al espine a Gillevale tenant as hoirs Manet et a Gillon de Hamel trois ialois. Item, tenant a le terre monseigneur de Sissi et les hoirs Thyaut et a le voie de Saint Quintin dis ialois. Item, en Bachinem tenant a Blanc Toupet et as hoirs Thyaut trois moiies. In quibus predicti decani et capitula decimam percipiunt et percipient in futuris de quatuor ialois a la terre versus nemus.

Item, au camp au Capel tenant au bos et as terres de le mairie dis et wit ialois. Item, tenant au bos et au seigneur de Sissi trente et sept ialois. In quibus dicti decani et capitula percipiunt et percipient in futuris decimam de octo ialois a la terre versus Sissi.

Item, au camp des Pitances quarante et wit verges. Item, dessous Pie d'Aignel tenant au chemin royal et as Pitances sept ialois. Item, es terres de plusieurs gens con tient de nous et dautres seigneurs, cest asavoir en le terre maistre Iehan de Ribemont tenant a no couture et au Sanchoi Bordin selonc lyaue sis ialois. Item, en le terre Symon de Villis tenant a le terre le saint de Casteillon soissante verges. Item, en le terre le saint et le prestre de Casteillon tenant a celi meisme sis ialois. Item, en le terre maisseur Iehan tenant a celi meisme et au chemin un ialois. Item, en le terre de le mairie se va le voiette per un dis ialois. Item, en le terre les manetiaus de Saint Quintin entre les terres de le court de Casteillon deus ialois. Item, en le terre le maieur de Casteillon et ses nieches tenant a celi meismes un ialois. Item en le terre Saint Hubert entre les terres de no eglise un ialois. Item, en le terre Huon le Mammer tenant as terres de le maison de Casteillon quarante et wit verges. Item, en le terre le maieur de Casteillon tenant as terres de le court de Casteillon trois ialois et demi. Item, en le terre les enfans Ermengart d'Ouchette tenant a celi meismes deus ialois.

Item, en le terre les enfants Symon Burri tenant a celi meismes deus ialois. Item, en le terre les hoirs Manet tenant as terres de le court de Casteillon trois ialois et demi. Item, en Rougemont en le terre maistre Iehan tenant as terres de la court de Casteillon trois ialois. Item, en le terre les hoirs Berte Panarde tenant a le terre le seigneur de Sissi et Blanc Toupet deus ialois et demi. Item, en le terre de le mairie a la voie Ribecoise tenant a le terre de le court de Casteillon deus ialois. Item, en le terre maistre Iehan au camp Beraut tenant a le terre de le court de Casteillon neuf ialois. Item, desseure lour missel Brisiet tenant a le terre de le court de Casteillon deus ialois. Item, en Roechon en le terre maistre Iehan tenant a le terre Saint Germain deus ialois. Item, en Roechon en le terre le femme Rogenel tenant a cheli meismes trois ialois. Item, en le terre les hoirs Thumas Noket tenant a Saint Germain un ialois. Item, en Roechon en le terre leglise de Sissi deus ialois. Item, es Amnaus en le terre Pianme tenant a le terre de le court un ialois. Item, en le terre de leglise et chiaus de Priers tenant au camp Saint Nicolay un ialois. Item, en le terre qui fu Michiel Lamner tenant a le terre Saint Nicolay trois ialois. Item, en le terre les hoirs Mahout Loudart tenant a le terre maistre Iehan demie moiie; se doit terrage a le mairie de Castellon. Item, en le terre Aderon le Grumeliere tenant au chemin et a Pie d'Aignel deus ialois. Item, en le terre Renaut Marbotin tenant au chemin et as terres de le court trente verges. Item, es Amnaus en le terre de le mairie tenant a le terre de le court un boistel. Item, en le terre le conte de Maisieres tenant a le terre Gillon de Marchi et Iehan de Bargare deus ialois. Item, en Chievre rue en le terre de le mairie tenant a le terre de le court de Casteillon demie moiie. Item, en le terre les hoirs Mairel tenant as terres de le court de Casteillon et al espine a Gillevval trois ialois. Item, en le terre les hoirs Perron de Maisieres tenant entre deus chemins deus moiies. Item, en le terre maistre Wistace al espine a Gillevval et tenant a le terre Perron de Maisieres qui fu deus ialois. Item, en le val au Caisue en le terre Iehan de Maisieres tenant au chemin et au conte de Maisieres demie moiie. Item, en le terre le conte encoste tenant au chemin chiunc ialois. Item, en le terre labbe d'Isle tenant a cheli meismes et au chemin une moiie. Item, en le terre au seigneur de Loisi et le conte de Maisieres en ce meisme liu tenant au chemin une moiie. Item, en le terre labbe d'Isle tenant au bos de Leuseval une moiie. Item, en le terre Wion de Maisieres tenant a celi demie moiie. Item, en le maison de Cameri et en chiunc moiies et demie de terre tenant a celi maison et a le terre maistre Iehan de Ribemont. In quibus quidem terris immediate declaratis que se extendunt usque ad summam quadraginta modiatarum terre predicti decani et capitula nullas decimas petent nec reclamabunt sed expresse volunt et consentiunt quod decime earundem terrarum nobis perpetuo remaneant et quod in eisdem pro summa et quadragintate predictis decimas percipiamus in futuris. Dunc tamen ad garandiam octo modiatarum terre et quadraginta modiatarum terre predictarum nobis minime teneantur.

Hoc etiam notato et acto expresse inter nos et predictos decanos et capitula quod tamen nos quam dicti decani et capitula decimas in decimadio de Reigniaco et de Tenellis colligemus, percipiemos et habebimus; colligent, percipient et habebunt sicuti hactenus colligere, percipere et habere consuetum est. Salvo tamen in omnibus premissae tam nobis quam predictis decanis et capitulis secundum usum et consuetudinem patrie reportagio quod vulgaliter appellatur poursuite. Hanc autem compositionem et omnia premissa in omni parte sui, nos predicti abbas et conventus bona fide et etiam iuramento a nobis interposito et corporaliter prestito et sub pena centum librarum turonensium¹ dictis decanis et capitulis ex parte nostra reddendarum si dicta pena a nobis committatur, quod absit, promisimus et promittimus inviolabiliter observatueros et in nullo in futuris contra venturos. Rato nichilominus manente pacto, ita quod si dicta pena committatur valeat nichilominus et teneat in omni parte sui compositio antedicta. Obligantes nos ecclesiam nostram et bona eiusdem ad observationem omnium et singulorum premissorum, renunciantes expresse omni exceptioni doli mali vis et metus ac fraudis ac specialiter beneficio restitutionis in integrum ac omnibus aliis exceptionibus que nobis prodesse et dictis decanis et capitulis in aliquo nocere possent. In quorum omnium testimonium et munimen presentibus litteris sigilla nostra duximus apponenda. Datum anno Domini M ducentes nonagesimo primo, die lune post dominicam qua cantatur Misericordia Domini.

¹ The Monday after the Sunday on which the Misericordia Domini was chanted would have been 7 May (the second Sunday after Easter in 1291 was 6 May).

² The text in French was probably taken directly from oral testimony.

³ Du Cange (3:745) defines ialotus as a measure of grain assessment; his earliest reference is from 1312.

133¹

1295 May

Philip IV, king of France, confirms the possessions of the hospital of Saint-Ladre of Saint-Quentin, including a field next to the land of Homblières.

. . . Item acquisierunt quatuor sextariatas terre et dimidiam in territorio de Maissemi,^a situatas loco qui nuncupatur Campum de Tailli, iuxta terram abbatis de Homblieris. . . .

^a Messemi a

¹ Text printed here is an extract.

134

Saint-Quentin

1300 March 31 (N.S.)

William of Hangest, bailiff of Vermandois, announces a judgment rendered at the royal assize of Saint-Quentin concerning the dispute between Homblières and Mont-Saint-Martin. Homblières complained that Mont-Saint-Martin had raised ditches in Fresnoy-le-Grand that changed the course of the water and caused flooding on its land, but Mont-Saint-Martin claimed that the ditches should not be removed because they were on land that it held in full possession, a position that was upheld.

B: B.N., lat. 5478, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, fol. 59v, copy of the 14th c.

C: B.N., lat. 9128, Cartulaire du Mont-Saint-Martin, pp. 220-222, defective copy of the 18th c.

Pub.: (a) Waquet, pp. 213-214, copy of B.

A tous cheus ki ces letres verront, Guillaumes de Hangiest, baillius de Vermendois, salus. Comme plais de descors fust meus entre relegieus houmes labbe et le couvent de Hombelieres, dune part, et relegieus houmes labbe et le couvent dou Mont Saint Martin, d'autre, sur che ke chil de Hombelieres se doloient ke chil dou Mont Saint Martin avoient leves fosses et deffenses ou liu dont veue a estet faite ou terroit de Fraisnoi, en estouplant, en destourbant et en empeechant et tourblant et de nouvel le cours de liaue deskavant, disant ke kant li aue deskavant croissoit ou autre cretine de pluies, li cours de ces yaues se desgorgoit parmi ces lius ou li dit fosset sont fait de nouvel, et avoient leur droit cours par illuec a venir a Hombelieres, et en sont et ont estet chil de Hombelieres en saisine de si long tans ki convient a saisine aquerre, et se autre fois chil dou Mont Saint Martin se sont efforchie de faire fosses et deffense ou dit liu, chil de Hombelieres ont estet en saisine de faire cheoir par coi il requeroient ke chil tourbles et chil empeechemens fust ostes, par coi ladite yaue euist son droit cours per le liu desus dit: se chil dou Mont Saint Martin connoissent ches coeses et sil les noioient, chil de Hombelieres en offroient a prouver che ke il leur souffroiroit; et la contre chil dou Mont Saint Martin disoient ke li lius dont veue estoit faite estoit en leur propre terre, en leur demaine, et ke il estoient et avoient estet eus, ou chil dont il cause, en saisine pasiule de si long tans ki souffisoit a bonne saisine aquerre, de faire fosses et deffenses ou liu desus dit, pour destourber le yaue, ke ele ne alast ne demourast en leur terres dou dit terroi, et pour defenses de leur terres et ke de ceste saisine avoient il use et esploitie de si long tans kil devoit souffire par coi il disoient ke en ceste saisine il devoient demourer a ke chil de Homblieres ne sen pooient doloir de nouvel tourble ne de nouvel enpeechement, et en offroient a prouver che ke il leur souffiroit, tiesmoins de cascune partie iures et examines diligamment, veue et regardee la deposition des tiesmoins et tout che ke li une partie vaut dire et pourposer contre lautre en lassise de Saint Quentin ki fu le iuedi devant Paskes flories, lan de grasse mil et quatre vins et XIX, prounonchie fu, et par droit des hommes le roi iugeours en la dite court, ceus dou Mont Saint Martin avoir souffissamant prove leur entention et chil de Homblieres mains souffisamant la leur, par coi chil dou Mont Saint Martin demourront en la sasine de faire les dis fosses et deffense au dit liu, et leur est aiugie la dite sasine, sauf le droit de la proprietie. En tiesmoing de che, nous avons mis en ces lettres le sail de la ballie de Vermendois, lan et le iour desu dis. Isti sententie proferende interfuerunt: dominus Gobertus tunc existens istius ecclesie abbas; frater Balduinus prior; frater Gobertus de Muile prepositus, et frater Ingerannus cappellanus; et tanquam homines regis: dominus Symon de Folloviel; dominus Guido dictus Gouillardus de Moy; dominus Guillelmus de Lehaucourt et de Rouveroy; dominus Oudardus de Hem; dominus Iohannes de le Planoies; dominus Iohannes de Ramicourt; dominus de Fonsonmes, senescallus de Vermendois; dominus Guido dictus li Moines; Iohannes de Hem; Robertus de Gauchi; Wiardus de Moyri; Egidius de Roucourt; Gerardus de Kievresis; et Quintinus li Cambrelens. Inquisitores autem cause huius fuerunt dominus Guido li Moines et Robertus de Gauchi predicti.

Abbot Arnold and the monks of Homblières announce that the monastery of Fervaques claimed the great tithe from four sextariatae of land that Homblières enclosed within its curtis at Courcelles. Homblières already had compensated Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx for that enclosure (act no. 128D) and now submits the claim of Fervaques to arbitration. It was decided that Homblières would pay Fervaques 22 d. for exemption from the tithe.

A: A.N., L 1001, no. 80, Fervaques. Six seals are missing. B: Aisne, A.D. H 1631, no. 80, 18th- or 19th-c. copy of A.

Ind.: Cocheris, 2:101, no. 82. Matton, p. 241.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis. Arnulphus, abbas monasterii Beate Marie de Hombleriis, ordinis Sancti Benedicti Noviomensis diocesis, totusque eiusdem loci conventus, salutem in eo qui est omnium vera salus. Cum nos iamdiu est aut predecessores nostri quandam peciam terre ad agrorum culturam existentem, continentem in mensura quatuor sextariatas terre vel circiter, sitam ante portam domus nostre Mali Ingenii ad clausuram alterius curtis nostre de Curcellis site prope Malum Ingenium posuissemus, et adiunxissemus eandem peciam ad culturam ortorum disponendo et ordinando, religiosi viri abbas et conventus sancti Folliaci iuxta Rodum, Premonstratensis ordinis Cameracensis diocesis, tunc nobis obviam occurrerunt dicentes nos predicta facere non posse nec debere cum in dicta pecia terre dicti abbas et conventus Sancti Folliaci haberent et a retroactis temporibus habuissent medium partem grossarum decimorum et in possessione percipiendi decimam ante dictam essent et fuisse. Nobis contrarium asserentibus, tandem de consensu et voluntate abbatis et conventus Beati Folliaci, predictis et nostris fuit huiusmodi discordia via arbitrali sopita prout in litteris super hoc confectis sigillis suis et nostris plenius continetur, in quibus litteris inter alia fuit scriptum et ab arbitrio ordinatum ut nos abbas et conventus de Hombleriis predicti teneremur solvere et solveremus anno quolibet abbati et conventui Beati Folliaci predictis viginti duos denarios parisienses cum obolo pro parte dimidia decimorum, sibi pro pecia terre predicte debitarum, donec predictos viginti duos denarios cum obolo sub districtu et dominio suis emissemus pro eisdem et ad opus eorumdem. Post multum vero temporis discordie terminate ut dictam est et sotope, religiose mulieres abbatissa et conventus monasterii de Farvaciis, Cisterciensis ordinis Noviomensis diocesis, pretendentes se in pecia terre antedicta aliam partem decimorum habere et habuisse et esse in possessione decimam percipiendi et fuisse antequam dicta pecia terre curti nostre de Curcellis fuisse clausa seu adjuncta, super hiis nobis querelam moverunt. Nos abbas et conventus de Hombleriis et abbatissa et conventus de Farvaciis predicti ut omnis materia quaestionis tollatur istius nove discordie seu controvercie elegimus et eligimus arbitros arbitratores seu amicabiles compositores venerabiles viros et discretos magistros Hugonem de Suessione, Iohannem d'Oisi* et Ponthardum de Communia, clericos, compromittentes et nos compromisso recognocentes in eosdem tanquam in arbitros arbitratores seu amicabiles, ut dictum est, compositores, promittentes bona fide et sub pena quadraginta librarum parisiensium parti dictum seu ordinationem observanti a parte resiliente solvendarum, dicto et ordinatione predictis nichilominus durantibus et duraturis tenere et inviolabiliter observare quicquid dicti arbitri arbitratores seu amicabiles compositores super premissit et ea tangentibus de alto et basso iuris ordine servato vel non servato duxerint arbitrandum et statuendi seu etiam ordinandum. Nos autem magistri predicti, onere huius arbitrii in nobis suscepto, cognito de cause meritis et ea tangentibus, habito super hoc diligenti et mature tractatu, dictum nostrum seu nostram arbitralem sententiam, statutum seu ordinationem diximus et protulimus in hunc modum. Quia comprovimus per informationem et inquisitionem solempnes a nobis factas super predictis, abbatissam et conventum de Farvachiis predictos habere et habuisse ius grossarum decimarum pro media parte in pecia terre predicta et quod ibidem percipiebant et perceperant medium partem decime antedictae pro equali portione cum ecclesia Beati Folliaci predicti antequam pecia terre antedicta fuisse et esset curti ecclesie de Homblériis dicte de Curcellis inclusa seu adiuncta; condempnavimus et condempnamus abbatem et conventum de Homblériis predictos et eorum successores pro media parte decime grosse predicte ecclesiam de Farvachiis contingente ad prestationem et solutionem viginti duorum denariorum parisiensium cum obolo abbatisse et conventui de Farvachiis successoribus et procuratoribus earumdem annis singulis anni et perpetui redditus in festo Beati Remigii in capite octobris. Ita tamen quod quam cito abbas et conventus de Homblériis seu alias pro eisdem acquisiverint, vel emerint, adquisiverit vel emerit predictos viginti duos denarios cum obole ad opus ecclesie de Farvachiis et pro eisdem in districtu et dominio ecclesie de Farvachiis, predicti abbas et conventus de Homblériis et eorum successores ex tunc erunt a prestatione et solutione dicti redditus liberi et immunes. Si vero abbatissa et conventus de Farvachiis aliquas litteras habuerint et habeant discordiam istam alias pacificatam tangentes, illas et nunc pronunciamus irritas et inanes; et si eas inveniant, eas reddant abbatii et conventui de Homblériis predictis, salvo dictis ecclesiis omni munimine aliarum litterarum, omnium aliorum privilegiorum et instrumentorum quorumcunque. Nos vero abbas et conventus de Homblériis, abbatissa et conventus de Farvachiis predictis, dicto ordinationi statuto seu sententia predictorum arbitrum arbitratorum seu amicabilium compositorum unanimiter et concorditer consentes et ea expresse volentes et ad probantes et sepedictos dictum, statutum, ordinationem et sententiam tenere et observare promittentes et ad hoc nos obligantes ut predicta omnia et singula in istis litteris contenta habeant robur in perpetuum et vigorem litteras presentes ad memoriam futurorum sigillis nostris sigillavimus. Requirentes insuper dictos arbitros consiliarios nostros ut ad ampliorem securitatem sigilla sua presentibus cum nostris adponant. Et nos Hugo, Iohannes et Ponchardus predicti ad requisitionem parcum predictarum sigilla nostra cum suis duximus in testimonium premissorum adponenda. Datum anno Domini millesino trecentesimo quarto in crastina animarum.

*Doisi AB.

136

1305 May

In the presence of the mayor and eskievin of Homblieres, Wautiers Lingnoles, priest of Houdain, gave his house to the monastery. The pittancers of Homblieres leased that house to Peter Quaille for payment of ostage, cens, and rente.

A: Amiens, B.M., MS 998, Collection Le Proux; chirograph never sealed.

Ind.: Michel, Manuscrits, p. 229.

Sachent li maires et li eskievin de Homblieres qui sont et qui avenir sont et tout chil qui chest escrit verront et orront que messires Wautiers Lingnoles de Homblieres, prestres cures de Houdain, en se plainne vie et en se plainne sante donna pour Dieu et en aumosne a tous iours pour le salut de same as pitanches de leglise Nostre Dame de Homblieres se maison ensi com ele se porte devant et derriere que maistres Estievenes a tenu qui siet entre le maison dame Agnes Quaille qui fu et le maison dame Ade Cokenarde qui fu Renier des Clipes. Apres avint que li pitanchier de le devantdite eglise Nostre Dame de Homblieres, cest assavoir dans Gerars de Brenot et dans Iakes de Camach, donnent a hostage a main ferme a tous iours, par le gre et par le volente de tout le convent de le devantdite eglise, a Perron Quaille le devantdite maison ensi comme ele se porte devant et derriere parmi VIII sols de parisie chascun an dostage a tous iours que li devant dis Pierres ou si hoir ou si successeur ou chil qui le devant dite maison tenront sont tenut de payer as pitanciers de le devant dite eglise chascun an a II termes, cest assavoir a feste Saint Remi, eu chies doctembre, IIII sols de parisis, et au iour de miquaresme IIII sols de parisis. Et est assavoir que li devantdis Pierres ou si hoir ou si successeur ou cil qui le devant dite maison tenront sont tenut daquiter chascun an le dite maison de tous cens et de toutes rentes, cest assavoir a le devant dite eglise IIII capons au noel et XVI deniers a II termes, VIII deniers a le Saint Remi et VIII deniers a miquaresme, et le doit li dis Pierres amender dedens I an de le valeur de C sols de parisis bien et souffissanment par dit de menestreus et^a de la en au an retenir bien et souffissanment.^a Et sil avenoit par aventure que li devant d' Pierres ou si hoir ou si successeur ou chil qui le dite maison tenront de fausissent de paier en aucun tans les VIII sols dostage devantdis as termes devantdis, li pitanchier de ledite eglise porront recraire a le devant dite maison comme en leur hyretage a tous iours. Ce fu fait par le maieur et par les eskievins de Homblieres devantdis par tenement et sauf tous drois ce seu eurent leur drois en lan de grasse mil CCC et V, el mois de mai. La fu comme maires Mahius Roussiaus et comme eskievin Reniers Testars, Gerars li Parmentiers et Iakes li Tuiliers.

^a et through souffissanment added after the document was written.

137

1309 April

Abbot John [II] and the monks of Homblieres announce that the rent they owe for their house at Abbeville is reduced from 5 muids to 2 muids annually, and in return they forgive the entire rent of 3 muids and 4 s. 46 d. owed them by Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile for several other properties.

B: A.N., LL 1016, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, fols. 56v-57r, with the title "De ecclesia Insulensis et de Homblieriis," copy of 1386. C: Aisne, A.D., H 535, Cartulaire de Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, pp. 307-310, with the same title as B and with text in modern spelling, copy of the 18th c. D: B.N., lat. 10116, pp. 488-493, copy of C of 1764.

A tous ceuls qui ces presentes lettres verront et orront, Iehan par la souffrance de Diu, abbes del eglise Nostre Dame de Homblieres, et tous li couvens de ce meisme lieu, salut en nostre Signeur. Comme religieux hommes et honneste li abbes et li couvens del eglise Saint

Quentin en Isle fussent tenus envers nous et no dite eglise en certaines rentes perpetuelles, cest assavoir en trois muis de ble pour le cause et le raison des terres ou des plates disme que nous aviens en le ville et ou terroir de Regny, laquelle disme est et sera puis ore en avant as dis religieux d'Isle perpetuellment a tous iours. Item, en quatre saulz parisis pour le cause et pour le raison des dismes de leur maison de Cannery. Item, en vint et wit deniers parisis pour le cause et le raison de leur vigne de Bertignicourt. Item, en deulz saus parisis pour le cause et le raison dune de leur maisons que il ont feant en leur destroit d'Isle en Saint Quentin qui fu iadis Iehan Abede. Item, en dis wit deniers parisis pour le cause et le raison dune piece de terre que il ont feant en leur terroir de Cameri, tenant as terres de le dite eglise d'Isle, lequelle nous leur avons aftranquise. Et nous et no dite eglise fussiens tenus aussi envers yaulx et leur dit eglise en certaine rente perpetuelle, ceit assavoir en chiunc muys de ble de no meilleur ble apres la semence mene et conduit et mesure a no court en le maison et en leur abbeye d'Isle a Saint Quentin pour le cause et le raison de no maison d'Aberville. Sacent tout que nous, pour bien de pais et par le conseil de bonnes gens, avons fait ensamble une amiable permutation perpetuel et dont cascune partie a bonne recompensation et rester souffissant des rentes dessus dites que il nous doivent et que nous leur devons en la somme et en le maniere qui s'ensievt. Cest assavoir que nous, no successeur, et no eglise sommes et serons tenus casun an desorenavant a tous iours perpetuelment aux dis religieux d'Isle, a leurs successeurs et a leur eglise en deus muis de ble tant seulement pour tous les chiunt muis de ble dessus dis a paer as terres chi dessous nommees et selonc les conditions chi dedens escriptes. Premierement, nous devons si paierons et renderons as dis religieux d'Isle, a leur successeurs et a leur eglise desorenavant cascun an a tous iours perpetuelment au iour de le fest Saint Andrieu l'Apostre ou dedans les octaves deus muis de ble secq, sain, et moitain a le prisie et a le mesure de Saint Quentin, conduit, menet et mesuret a no court, en leur abbeye d'Isle a Saint Quentin, et parmi lacort et tout ce qui est deseure dit et devise, nous sommes quitte et delivre envers les dis religieux d'Isle desorenavant a tous iours de trois muis de ble que nous leur deviesmes pour le raison de no maison d'Aberville avec ces deulz muis de ble dessus dis, lesquelz deux muis de ble nous leur devons et deverons a tous iours cascun an au iour dessus dit. Et li seront et sont encore li dit religieux d'Isle desoresmais en avant a tous iours quitte et delivre envers nous de toutes les rentes dessus dites que il nous soloient devoir, cest assavoir de trois muis de ble des plates dismes de Regni dessus dittes, des quatre sauls, des vint et wit deniers des deus saus, et des dis et wit deniers dessus dis. Et quant a toutes les choses dessus dites et cascune delles fermement tenir et warder a tous iours, nous obligons et aloions tous les biens de no eglise meubles et non meubles, presens et avenir, partout ou que il soient en puissent estre trouve pour prendre, saisir, arrester, et detenir, vendre et dependre tel fuer, tel vente iusques a plain accomplissement de toutes ses coses dessus dites; et les promettons a tenir et faire tenir et accomplir a tous iours loyaument, en bonne foy, sans aller iamais en nul iour, ne venir ne faire aler, ne venir par nous ne par aultrui encontre le permutation et lacort dessus dis. En tesmoignage des quelz coses, nous tous ensemble estans en no plain capitile, pour le poursuit de nous et de no eglise, avons mis nos seaulz a ces presentes lettres qui furent faites en lan de grace mil trois cens et neuf, le mois davrill.

138

1310 September

Adam, abbot of Prémontré, and John [II], abbot of Homblières, agree to simplify the rents they owed each other. The rent Prémontré owes for its house at Frères-Faillouël is reduced from 9 modii of wheat to 6 modii of wheat and 1 of oats, in return for which Homblières is relieved of the 2 modii of wheat it has paid in rent for a house in Lambay.¹

A: A.N., L 995, fonds Prémontré, no. 147. Four seals, of the two abbots and the two chapters, are missing.

Universis presentes litteras inspecturis. Adam, permissione divina monasterii et ecclesie Premonstracensis Laudunensis dyocesis, et Iohannes, eadem permissione ecclesie et monasterii Humolariensis Noviomensis dyocesis, abbates totique eorumdem locorum et ecclesiarum conventus, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Noveritis quod cum nos Premonstracensis abbas et conventus et ecclesia nostra predicte teneremur annis singulis ecclesie Humolariensi predicte in novem modiis bladi duobus sextariis minus et uno modio avene ad mensuram ville de Sancto Quintino, ratione et nomine annui perpetui redditus sive census, assignatos super domum de Ferrare nostram Laudunensis dyocesis. Et nos abbas et conventus Humolariensis et ecclesia nostra predicte ex adverso teneremur dictis Premonstracensis abbati et conventui singulis annis in perpetuum in duobus modiis bladi, ratione et nomine annui perpetui redditus sive census, assignatos singulis annis in perpetuum supra domum nostram de Lambais. Nos abbates et conventus predicti pro nobis et ecclesiis nostris predictis bonorum ad hoc dicti consilio commodum nostrum et ecclesiarum nostrarum predicte ac utilitatem evidentem considerantes et in omnibus attendentes super huius modi redditibus annuis, concordamus et unanimiter convenimus in hunc modum, videlicet quod nos abbates et conventus predicti pro nobis et ecclesiis nostris predictis volumus unanimo consensu et ex prosse consentimus quod predicti duo modii bladi in quibus nos Humolariensis abbas, conventus et ecclesia nostra supra domum nostram de Lambais predictam tenebamur dictis Premonstracensis abbatii, conventui et ecclesie singulis annis in perpetuum de predictis novem modiis bladi duobus sextarius minus et uno modio avene in quibus nos Premonstracensis abbas, conventus et ecclesia supra domum nostram de Ferrare predicti ipsius Humolariensis abbatii, conventui et ecclesie singulis annis in perpetuum tenebamur, de cetero singulis annis discomputentur et etiam deducentur. Et sic remanebunt ipsius discomputatis perpetuo et de dictis solvendi et reddendi singulis annis in perpetuum nobis abbatii, conventui et ecclesie Humolare a nobis abbate, conventu et ecclesie Premonstracensis et successoribus nostris supra domum nostram de Ferrare predicte dumtaxat sex modii et sex septare bladi ac unus modius avene in quibus dumtaxat nos abbas, conventus et ecclesia Premonstracensis et domus nostra de Ferrare predicti ipsius abbatii, conventus et ecclesie Humolare singulis annis in perpetuum tenemur et tenebimur. Et est sciendum quod predicti sex modii et sex sextare bladi ac modius avene a nobis abbate, conventu et ecclesia Premonstracensis predicte ipsius abbatii, conventui et ecclesie Humolare dumtaxat remanebunt singulis annis in perpetuum solvendi et rendendi inter villam de Sancto Quintino ubicunque et in quocumque loco voluerint dicti Humolare vel eorum mandarum in eadem villa et ad mensuram eiusdem ville sub pretio seu valore trium solidorum parisiensium subtus bladum quod dicitur pagabile ac burgenses dicte ville a festo Sancti Remigii in capite octobris usque ad festum purificationis beate Marie virgine inde sequens cum et quando nos abbas et conventus Premonstracenses predicti voluerimus et nobis placuerit. Ita quod tenebimur et tenebimur solutionem huismodi bladi et avene ipsius Humolare abbatii et conventui singulis annis de cetero sicut est dictum faciendum per sex vel septem dies ante solutionem eamdem nuntiare seu facere nuntiari. Omnibus premissibus conventione et concordia mediantibus nos abbates et conventus predicti, videlicet nos Premonstracensis dictis, Humolare abbatem, conventum et ecclesiam ac domum suam de Lambais predicte de premissibus duobus modiis bladi in quibus nobis ut predictum est fuerant obligati nobis ac ecclesie nostre predicte et cetero presolvendi; et nos Humolare abbas et conventus predicti, predictos Premonstracensis abbatem, conventum et ecclesiam ac domum suam de Ferrare predicte de predictis novem modiis duobus sextare minus bladi et uno modio avene usque ad sex modios et sex sextare bladi ac uno modio avene. Nobis Humolare abbati, conventui et ecclesie predicte a dictis Premonstracensis abbatे, conventu et ecclesia ac suis successores singulis annis de cetero dumtaxat solvende in modum predictum et redditum alter alterum quitamus et perpetuo liberamus, volentes, consentientes et expresse concedentes omnes litteras et obligationes veteres super premissibus redditibus inter nos et nobis hinc et inde usque nunc factas et litteras premissibus in presenti littera nostra contentis mediantibus nullius valoris et efficacie remanere. Obligantes nos et quemlibet nostrum successores nostros et omnia bona nostra quo ad premissa omnia et singula in omnibus articulis ex nunc imperpetuum tenenda et inviolabiliter observanda et specialiter. Nos abbas et conventus Premonstracensis predicte domum nostram de Ferrare predicte et omnia ad eam spectantia ad predictos sex modios et sex sextare bladi ac modum avene ipsis abbati et conventui ac ecclesie Humolare singulis annis imperpetuum ut predictum est a nobis persolvendis et ab eis percipiendis et inde eisdem Humolare abbati conventui et ecclesie obligantes et perpetuo asstantes. In cuius rei testimonium nos abbates et conventus predicti presentibus litteris sigilla nostra duximus apponenda. Datum anno Domini millesimo trecentesimo decimo, mense septembri.

¹ See also acts nos. 58, 110A.

139

Homblières

1319 November 11

Foucard,¹ bishop of Noyon, announces a settlement to the dispute between the priest of the church of Saint-Etienne in the villa of Homblières and the monks of Homblières. The bishop decides that henceforth the monks will have only half of the offerings made in Saint-Etienne on Sundays and feast days, except for the feast of Saint Etienne on 3 August, which they will have entirely. However, the priest must continue to pay tithes to the monks, since the parish has long been subject to the monastery.²

B: H 588, p. 75, with the title "De oblationibus ecclesiae added] Sancti Stephani." Not in lat. 13911.

Ind.: Matton, p. 95.

In nomine sanctae et individuae Trinitatis. Foucardus,^{*} Dei gratia Noviomensis episcopus, notum fieri volumus omnibus fidelibus tam modernis quam futuris quod super querela quam faciebat presbyter ecclesiae Sancti Stephani in villa Humolariensi contra monachos Beatae Mariae eiusdem villae, ex eo quod omnes decimas et medietatem oblationum in eadem parrochia perciperent^[t], nos, adhibito testimonio antiquorum et proborum hominum, iudicavimus rem ita componendam, videlicet quod monachi Beatae Mariae aliquid de suo iure antiquo remittentes contenti sint medietate omnium oblationum quae fieri in ecclesia Sancti Stephani in dominicis et festis, tantum excepto principali festo illius ecclesiae quod est III augusti in quo monachi omnes oblationes percipient, quia totum officium illius festi ad ipsos pertinet. In decimis autem sicut et in aliis omnibus iuribus monachorum in dictam parochiam nihil innovari volumus, sed ipsa parochia cum suo presbytero remaneat semper subiecta praedictis monachis Beatae Mariae sicut ab antiquo fuisse dignoscitur, salvo tamen in omnibus iure nostro episcopali. Quae ut firma et inconvulsa permaneant in perpetuum sigilli nostri impressione signavimus. Datum in abbatia Humolariensi, die sancti Martini hyemalis, anno incarnationis Dominicæ MCCCXIX.

* Florentius, probably an expansion by the modern copyist of F in the original charter. Fourcard was bishop of Noyon in 1319.

¹ See note a.

² The rights and revenues of the parish priest are described in act no. 128C.

140

[Early fourteenth century]

A list of minor revenues (owed by residents in the village of Homblières?).

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 93, without title. C: H 588, p. 74, without title.

Hugo presbyter debet X denarios et II capones.

Theodericus [debet] IV denarios et II capones.

Wiburgis li Plaideresse [debet] IV capones.

Robertus Branestiaux^a [debet] V denarios et II capones.

Ioannes Venter [debet] III solidos.

Lambertus Parvus [debet] II solidos et III capones.

Robertus li Normand [debet] III solidos et III capones.^b

Hilbertus Piscator [debet] III solidos et III capones.^b

Molinasi [debent] XII denarios in festo Sancti Ioannis.
 Petrus li Molnier^c [debet] VIII denarios et II capones.
 Robertus Canesteaux [debet] IV galoi frumenti.^d
 Odo Moreau^e et sorores eorum [debent] IV galoi.^d Ad haereditatem Petri Molnarii habemus unum modium frumenti in/molendino per annum.
 Hugo Maior debet unum modium frumenti per annum et census de Sairi.
 Filius Galteri de Pontruel [debet] XVIII denarios.
 Stephanus li Bordeaux [debet] XVIII denarios.
 Girardus li Vilain^f [debet] XII denarios.
 Radulphus Cuscout^g et sui participes [debent] XVIII denarios.
 Domina Bona [debet] XI galoi.
 Robertus sine Carne [debet] I galoi.
 Monachi de Bertincourt [debent] XVIII denarios.

* Banestiaux B. ^a entire item added in margin B. ^b Molniers B. ^c items placed after Radulphus Cuscout B. ^d Moreavo B. ^e cum changed to in B. ^f Vilains B. ^g Curscout B.

141

1323 August 30

A notice states that John of Morcourt, who was condemned in 1262, was executed by order of Peter of Beaumont, royal bailiff of Vermandois.¹

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 95, without title. C: H 588, pp. 75-76, without title.

En l'an de grace 1323 fut l'eglise d'Homblieres ressaisie d'un homme qui fut mourdrit a la Montjoye^a dessus Mourcourt le vendredi apres la Sainte Hunegonde par le commandement^b de Pierre de Beaumont,^c baily de Vermandois. Si y fut Iean de Quenersis,^d prevost de Saint Quentin, et li homme le roy, cest assavoir^e Quentin Nanemers et^f . . . li Grenetiers. A cheste ressaisine^g fut dans Iean de Sacrois abbe, et dans Iean de Sairi^h prevost, et du conseil de l'eglise: messire Thomas Nanemers, maistre Adrienⁱ Apois, maistre Guillaume li Grenetier et son temoignage Colines de la Croix, freres audit abbe, [et li] grans^j censiers de Mourcourt, Robert Hamas. Iean de Mourcourt fit tailler au dernier bos a la Saint Remy l'an [12]62 et fut fait che mourdre^k le jour des ames en l'an susdit.

^a Montioye B. ^b commandemen C. ^c Biaumont B. ^d ascavoir B. ^e et omitted C. ^f a space left in BC, Guillaume? ^g resaisine B. ^h Sarui? C. ⁱ Andrius B. ^j grands C. ^k mourdres B.

¹ Peter of Beaumont, bailiff of Vermandois (1322–1326), was an abusive and corrupt official whose dismissal was requested by the townsmen of Saint-Quentin (Waquet, pp. 157, 179–180).

² Probably John of Chevressis-les-Dames, provost of Saint-Quentin in 1310–1314, 1321, 1325, 1338, 1344–1346, and 1350 (ibid., p. 202).

³ John of Sérty-les-Mézières, knight. In 1305 he paid 160 l. relief to the king for the land of Peter of Ribécourt's widow (ibid., p. 215).

142

22 May 1351

John, abbot of Homblières, writes to Bishop H[ugh] of Laon¹ notifying him of the appointment of procurators who will represent the abbey at the bishop's synod.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 96, without title. C: H 588, fol. 76, without title.

Reverendo in Christo patri ac domino H[ugoni], Dei gratia Noviomensi vel Laudunensi episcopo, seu vicario aut vicariis eiusdem reverendi patris in spiritualibus, Joannes,^a Dei patientia humilis abbas monasterii Beatae Mariae de Humblieris, ordinis Sancti Benedicti, Noviomensis vel Laudunensis diocesis, salutem cum omni reverentia, obedientia et honore. Noverit vestra paternitas reverenda quod nos pro nobis et ecclesia nostra dilectos suos vel nostros et fideles dominos Jo[hannem] dictum . . .^b curatum et B . . .^c curatum, presbyteros latores praesentium et nuntios facimus, et ordinamus procuratores generales et nuntios speciales et eorum quemlibet insolidum ita quod non sit melior conditio occupantis ad comparendum pro nobis et ecclesia nostra coram vobis seu vicariis vestris hac instanti feria tertia post Ascensionem Domini in vestra sancta synodo dicta die celebranda, audiendique et nobis referendi praecepta vestra synodalia qua parati sumus prout intererit observare et facere observari. In cuius rei testimonium sigillum nostrum praesentibus litteris duximus apponendum. Datum anno domini 1351, dominica^d post Ascensionem Domini,

^a a name crossed out and Joannes added in margin B. ^b a space left in BC. ^c dominica added above B.

¹ The bishop of Laon was Hugh d'Arcy (1339–1351). It is not clear why the abbot addressed the letter to the bishop of "Noyon or Laon" and placed Homblières in the diocese of Noyon "or" Laon. Perhaps the bishop of Laon was administering Noyon as well, after the death of its bishop Philip of Arbois (23 January 1350–1351). See also act no. 143.

143

[Fourteenth century]¹

William, abbot of Homblières, writes to the representative of the vacant bishopric of Laon that he is sending procurators to represent the abbey at the episcopal synod.

B: Lat. 13911, fol. 97, without title. C: H 588, fol. 76, without title.

Venerabilibus et^a circumspectis viris dominis vicariis in spiritulibus, ecclesiae Laudunensis sede vacante, Guillelmus^b permissione divina Beatae Mariae de Humbliariis,^c ordinis sancti Benedicti Novio-mensis diocesis, abbas humilis reverentiam et honorem ad vestram sanctam synodus hac instanti die martis proxima celebrandam dilec-tos nostros dominos et presbyteros et eorum quemlibet insolidum pro-curatores nostros tenore praesentium destinamus ad comparendum pro nobis et intercessendum ibidem et ad audiendum et referendum vestra paecepta synodalia quae parati sumus, prout dicet, observare.
[In] huius rei testimonium sigillum nostrum duximus litteris praesen-tibus apponendum etc.

^a ac C. ^bGuillelmus C. ^cHumbliariis C.

¹ Perhaps around 1351; see act no. 142.

144

[Fourteenth century]¹

The ordo of the episcopal synod of Noyon begins with a Mass followed by a procession of the participants (rural deans, abbots, finally the bishop) to the center of the church. After the public service ends with a sermon, the names of the synodal participants are read, and all others, both laymen and clergy, must leave on pain of excommunication. The synod opens with a reading of the canons of the Lateran Council and the Council of Lyon, then proceeds to the synodal decrees and the appointment of preachers and confessors; a memorial for recently deceased clergy closes the session.

B: H 588, fols. 76-77, with the title "Ordo synodi Noviomensis." Not in lat. 13911.

In ecclesia cathedrali die synodi debet ad mandatum domini No-viomensis episcopi totum usque nonam, summo mane servitium can-tari. Item in fine missae signum ad convocandam synodum ter pulsari.
Item sedes pontificalis cum aliis sedibus in medio templi, sedes deca-norum christianitatis ex opposito praeparari. Item processio debet ordinari quam sequuntur decani christianitatis in albis et stolis ordinatim. Abbates in cappis sericeis et baculis pastoralibus et ad ultimum dominus episcopus in pontificalibus cum suis consiliariis. Item ordinata processione cantor incipit alta voce responsum honor virtus; quo finito legitur in medio synodi evangelium Designavit Dominus. Postmodum incipit dominus episcopus hymnum Veni Creator et tunc ab omnibus genua flectuntur; quo finito dicit episcopus versum Emitte Spiritum et orationem Deus qui corda. Item synodo residente archidiaconus stans a dextris episcopi vel alias loco eius, legit alta voce assumus; et hoc dicto dicunt omnes amen. Tunc fit sermo in ecclesia, deinde fit decretalis per quemdam clericum. Hac finita vocantur personae quae debent interesse in sancta synodo: Capitulum Noviomense, archidiaconus Noviomensis, cancellarius Noviomensis. Abbatis Sancti Eligii Noviomensis, de Hombleris, Sancti Bartholomaei Noviomensis, Sancti Quintini in Insula, Sancti Praeiecti, Montis Sancti Quintini, Beatae Mariae Hamensis, de Vermando, Sancti Eligii Fontium, Sancti Nicolai Riboldemontis, Montis Sancti Martini, Beatae Mariae de Nogento, Praemonstrati, Sancti Foillani iuxta Rodin, Sancti Crispini Suessionensis, Sancti Vincentii Laudunensis, Sancti Quintini Bellovacensis, Aroasiae, Sancti Theoderici iuxta Rhemos, Cuissiacensis, Hamensis. Morinorum diocesis: Ancintensis, Sancti Bertini, Hunnoccurtensis, Sancti Vedasti Atrebensis. Decanus et capitulum Sancti Quintini, canonici Sanctae Perinnae. Presbyteri id est pastores ss. Andrae, Ioannis, Iacobi, Martini, Thomae, Omnia Sanctorum, Margaretae, Perinnae, Catharinae eiusdem loci. Prior de Capi. Capitulum ecclesiae Peronensis, decanus et capitulum Nigellense. Prior de Villari Sylva. Abbatissa Sanctae Mariae Suessionensis, abbatissa Beatae Mariae de Fervagiis, abbatissa Cortrensis, [abbatissa] Mergrinae. Fratres militiae templi Hospitalarius, Sancti Ioannis Noviomensis. Quatuor capellani de Bello Loco. Praesentes absolvimus, gratias nostras renovamus, absentes reputamus contumaces. Hoc facto porrigitur litterae excusatoria et leguntur. Postmodum decani christianitatis vocantur in suo ordine presbyteri et personae. Item omnes qui non debent interesse in sancta synodo tam clerici quam laici sub excommunicationis paena removendi. Item constitutiones de Lateranensi et Lugdunensi concilio tunc debebunt legi de paena et remissione omnis utriusque sexus. Item de baptismo et effectu prima et secunda quaestio. Item de usuris. Qui in omnibus. Item Lugdunensis concilii de usurariis et alia quae placuerint domino episcopo. Item debent praecepta synodalia recitari. Item constituta nova, si quae fuerint, in aperto promulgari. Item praedicatores et confessores authoritate domini episcopi in plena synodo debent nominari. His rite completis, temporale legatur. Presbyteri anno defuncti nominentur. Pro eis omnibus missa omnibus presbyteris iniungatur. Postmodum dominus episcopus vel eius vicarius ecclesias ubi bene fieri debet recommendat in synodo. Orat episcopus pro universo statu ecclesiae pro se et pro suis vivis et defunctis subditis et pro his omnibus tres missas postulat ab omnibus in synodo existentibus de spiritu sancto, de beatae Virgine, de defunctis. Postmodum dominus episcopus incipiat alta voce Salve Regina et cantando ab omnibus genua flectuntur. Qua decantata dicit dominus episcopus synodo surgente faciens benedictionem omnipotentis Dei etc. Quibus peractis recordant omnes pransuri. Item post prandium ad excusationes in loco quem assignaverit dominus episcopus vel eius officialis vel vices gerens.

¹ Perhaps around 1351; see act no. 142.

III. BIBLIOGRAPHY

1. SOURCES

A. Manuscripts

Archives Départementales

Aisne (Laon)

G 790

H 325, 477, 534, 535, 588, 589, 791, 802, 1116, 1624, 1631

Nord (Lille)

59 H 95

Oise (Beauvais)

G 1984

H 4079, 5989

Somme (Amiens)

20 H 5

Archives d'Etat, Mons, Belgium

Chartrier Saint-Feuillien

MS 57

Archives Nationales (Paris)

J 229

JJ 26, 31

L 738, 994, 995, 1101

LL 985^b, 986, 1015, 1016

S 5222

Bibliothèques Municipales

Amiens

MSS 998, 1077

Saint-Quentin

MS 95 (R. Wyard, "Humolariensis monasterii historia")

Senlis

Collection Afforty, vol. 13

Soissons

Collection Perin, 3308

MS 7

Bibliothèque Nationale (Paris)

Collection Baluze, vol. 75

Collection Moreau, vols. 8, 10, 11, 13, 19, 21, 23, 36, 51, 52, 61, 63, 67, 68, 75, 78, 89, 96, 100, 113, 126, 127

Collection Picardie, vols. 24, 39, 100, 126, 143, 195, 197, 199, 217, 218-220, 233, 234, 235, 250, 255, 257, 290, 291

Français, 9468, 33085

Latin, 5460, 5473, 5478, 9128, 9778, 10116, 11069, 11073, 12895, 13911, 17144, 18375

Latin, nouvelle acquisition, 1204, 2591

B. Printed Works Containing Sources

Acta sanctorum. 3rd ed. 62 vols. Brussels-Paris, 1863-1925.

Arbois de Jubainville, Henri d'. Histoire des ducs et des comtes de Champagne. 7 vols. Paris, 1859-1869.

Barbiche, Bernard, ed. Les actes pontificalo originaux des Archives Nationales de Paris. 3 vols. Paris, 1975-1982.

Beauvillé, Victor de, ed. Recueil de documents inédits concernant la Picardie. 5 vols. Paris, 1860-1862.

Bernard, Auguste, and Alexandre Bruel, eds. Recueil des chartes de l'abbaye de Cluny. 6 vols. Paris, 1876-1903.

Bled, O., ed. Regestes des évêques de Thérouanne, 500-1553, I: 500-1414. Saint-Omer, 1914.

Böhmer, Johann Friedrich. Regesta chronologico-diplomatica Karolorum. Frankfurt am Main, 1833.

Böhmer, Johann Friedrich, and Harald Zimmermann, eds. Regesta Imperii, II: Sächsische Zeit, 5: Papstregesten, 911-1024. Vienna-Cologne-Graz, 1969.

Bouchot, Henri, "Chartes du XII^e siècle relatives aux anciennes abbayes de Fervaques, d'Ourscamp et de Saint-Quentin-en-Isle," Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin, 4^e série, 3 (1879-1880), 344-355.

Bouchot, Henri, and Emmanuel Lemaire, eds. Le Livre rouge de l'hôtel de ville de Saint-Quentin (1045-1725). 2 vols. Saint-Quentin, 1881.

Bréquigny, Louis Georges de. Table chronologique des diplômes, chartes, titres et actes imprimés concernant l'histoire de France. 8 vols. Paris, 1769-1876.

Brunel, Clovis, ed. Recueil des actes des comtes de Pontieu, 1026-1279. Paris, 1930.

Charles. See Hémeré.

Cocheris, Hippolyte. Notices et extraits des documents manuscrits conservés dans les dépôts publics de Paris et relatifs à l'histoire de la Picardie. 2 vols. Paris, 1854-1858.

Cocquelaines, Charles, ed. Bullarum, privilegiorum ac diplomatum Romanorum pontificum amplissima collectio. 14 vols. Rome, 1733-1762.

- Colliette, Louis-Paul. Mémoires pour servir à l'histoire ecclésiastique, civile, et militaire de la province du Vermandois. 3 vols. Cambrai, 1771-1772.
- Depoin, Joseph, ed. Recueil de chartes et documents de Saint-Martin-des-Champs. 5 vols. Paris, 1912-1921.
- Desjardins, Gustave, and Armand Rendu. Inventaire-Sommaire des Archives départementales antérieures à 1790: Oise, Archives ecclésiastiques, Série G. Vol. 1. Beauvais, 1878.
- Devillers, Léopold, "Description sommaire du cartulaire de l'abbaye de Saint-Feuillien, au Roeulx," Annales du Cercle archéologique de Mons 21 (1888), 285-316.
- Douët d'Arcq, Louis Claude. Collection de sceaux. 3 vols. Paris, 1863-1868.
- Du Cange, Charles du Fresne. Glossarium mediae et infimae Latinitatis. 7 vols. 1840-1850.
- Dudo of Saint-Quentin. De moribus et actis primorum Normanniae ducum, ed. Jules Lair. Mémoires de la Société des Antiquaires de Normandie, 23. Paris, 1865; and separately: Caen, 1865.
- Duvivier, Charles, ed. Actes et documents anciens intéressant la Belgique. 2 vols. Brussels, 1898-1903.
- Flodoard. Les annales de Flodoard, ed. Philippe Lauer. Collection de textes pour servir à l'étude et à l'enseignement de l'histoire, 39. Paris, 1905.
- Florival, Adrien de. Etude historique sur le XII^e siècle: Barthélémy de Vir, évêque de Laon. Paris, 1877.
- Fossier, Robert, ed. Chartes de coutume en Picardie (XI^e-XIII^e siècle). Collection de documents inédits sur l'histoire de France, section de philologie et d'histoire jusqu'à 1610, 10. Paris, 1974.
- Gallia Christiana in provincias ecclesiasticas distributa*. 16 vols. Paris, 1716-1865.
- Gordière, L.-A. Le prieuré de Saint-Amand. Compiègne, 1886.
- Grierson, Philip, ed. Les annales de Saint-Pierre de Gand et de Saint-Amand: Annales Blandinienses, Annales Elmarenses, Annales Formoselenses, Annales Elnonenses. Brussels, 1937.
- Guibert of Nogent. Guibert de Nogent: Histoire de sa vie (1053-1124), ed. Georges Bourgin. Collection de textes pour servir à l'étude et à l'enseignement de l'histoire, 40. Paris, 1907.
- Halphen, Louis, and Ferdinand Lot, eds. Recueil des actes de Lothaire et de Louis V, rois de France (954-987). Paris, 1908.
- Hémeré, Claude. Augusta Viromanduorum vindicata et illustrata duobus libris, quibus antiquitates urbis et ecclesiae Sancti Quintini Viromandensiumque comitum series explicantur, adj. est regestum veterum chartarum. Paris, 1643. Book II is the Regestum, an edition of selected charters. An incomplete translation is by Charles, L'Auguste de Vermandois par Claude Hémeré in La Petite Revue (1873-1874), 3^{me} partie.
- Hugo, Charles-Louis. Sacri et canonici ordinis Praemonstratensis annales. 2 vols. Nancy, 1734-1736.

- Jaffé, Philipp, and Wilhelm Wattenbach, eds. Regesta pontificum Romanorum. 2nd ed. 2 vols. Leipzig, 1885-1888.
- Lauer, Philippe. Collections manuscrites sur l'histoire des provinces de France: Inventaire. 2 vols. Paris, 1905-1911.
- _____, ed. Recueil des actes de Louis IV, roi de France (936-954). Paris, 1914.
- Le Proux, F., ed., "Chartes françaises du Vermandois de 1218 à 1250," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 35 (1874), 437-477.
- Lemaire, Emmanuel, ed. Archives anciennes de la ville de Saint-Quentin. 2 vols. Saint-Quentin, 1888-1910.
- _____, "Chartes des XII^e et XIII^e siècles relatives aux anciennes abbayes de Fervaques, Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés et Foigny," Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin, 4^e série, 14 (1899-1900), 482-499.
- _____, "Essai sur l'histoire de la ville de Saint-Quentin," Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin, 4^e série, 1 (1876-1878), 349-501; 2 (1878-1879), 383-510; 8 (1886-1887), 264-361.
- Lepaige, Jean. Bibliotheca Praemonstratensis Ordinis. Paris, 1633.
- Lohrmann, Dietrich, ed. Papsturkunden in Frankreich, Neue Folge, 7: Nördliche Ile-de-France und Vermandois. Abhandlungen der Akademie der Wissenschaften in Göttingen, Philologisch-historische Klasse, 3 F., 95. Göttingen, 1976.
- Loisne, Auguste de, ed., "Le cartulaire de la Commanderie d'Eterpigny," Bulletin trimestriel de la Société des Antiquaires de Picardie (1911), 150-213; and separately: Amiens, 1911.
- _____, ed. Le cartulaire du chapitre d'Arras. Arras, 1896.
- Longnon, Auguste, "Nouvelles recherches sur les personnages de Raoul de Cambrai," Romania 38 (1909), 218-253.
- _____, ed. Pouillés de la province de Reims. 2 vols. Paris, 1908.
- Lot, Ferdinand. Les derniers Carolingiens: Lothaire, Louis V, Charles de Lorraine, 954-991. Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Hautes Etudes, Sciences philologiques et historiques, 87. Paris, 1891.
- Mabillon, Jean, ed. Acta sanctorum Ordinis Sancti Benedicti. 9 vols. Paris, 1668-1701.
- _____. Annales Ordinis Sancti Benedicti. 6 vols. Paris, 1703-1739.
- _____. De re diplomatica. Paris, 1681.
- Mansi, J. D. Sacrorum conciliorum nova et amplissima collectio. 31 vols. Florence-Venice, 1759-1798.
- Marlot, Guillaume. Metropolis Remensis historia. 2 vols. Reims, 1666-1679. Enlarged French version: Histoire de la ville, cité, et université de Reims, métropolitaine de la Gaule belgique. 4 vols. Paris, 1843-1847.
- Martène, Edmond, and Ursin Durand, eds. Thesaurus novus anecdotorum. 5 vols. Paris, 1717.
- _____, eds. Veterum scriptorum et monumentorum historicorum, dogmaticorum, moralium, amplissima collectio. 9 vols. Paris, 1724-1733.

- Matton, Auguste. Inventaire sommaire des Archives départementales antérieures à 1790: Aisne, Archives ecclésiastiques, séries G et H. Laon, 1885. Citations here are to pt. 2 (série H).
- Melleville, Maximilien. Dictionnaire historique, généalogique et géographique du département de l'Aisne. 2 vols. Laon, 1857. New edition with texts edited by M. Castaing: 2 vols. Laon, 1865.
- Michel, Henri, "Inventaire sommaire du cartulaire d'Arrouaise," Bulletin trimestriel de la Société des antiquaires de Picardie (1919), 251-273.
- _____. Manuscrits de la bibliothèque d'Amiens. Catalogue général des manuscrits des bibliothèques publiques de France, 48. Paris, 1933.
- Misonne, Daniel. Eilbert de Florennes: Histoire et légende, la geste de Raoul de Cambrai. Recueil de travaux d'histoire et de philologie, 4^e série, 35. Louvain, 1967.
- Monumenta Germaniae Historica: Scriptores.* In fol. 32 vols. Hanover, 1826-1934.
- Morel, Emile, ed. Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Saint-Corneille de Compiègne. 2 vols. Montdidier, 1904-1909.
- Newman, William Mendel. Catalogue des actes de Robert II roi de France. Paris, 1937.
- _____. Charters of Mont-Saint-Quentin. Edition under preparation by Mary A. Rouse.
- _____, ed., with the assistance of Mary A. Rouse. Charters of St-Fursy of Péronne. Mediaeval Academy of America, Publication 85. Cambridge, Mass., 1977.
- _____. Les seigneurs de Nesle en Picardie (XII^e-XIII^e siècle): Leurs chartes et leur histoire. 2 vols. Bibliothèque de la Société d'histoire du droit des pays flamands, picards et wallons, 27; Memoirs of the American Philosophical Society, 91, pt. 1. Philadelphia-Paris, 1971.
- Obituaires de la province de Sens: I: Diocèses de Sens et de Paris.* Ed. Auguste Molnier. 2 vols. Paris, 1902.
- Omont, H. Inventaire des manuscrits de la Collection Moreau. Paris, 1891.
- Parisse, Michel. Le nécrologie de Gorze: Contribution à l'histoire monastique. Mémoires des Annales de l'Est, 40. Nancy, 1971.
- Patrologiae cursus completus . . . series Latina*, ed. J. P. Migne. 222 vols. Paris, 1844-1864.
- Peigné-Delacourt, Achille, ed. Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Notre-Dame d'Ourscamp. Mémoires de la Société des Antiquaires de Picardie, Documents inédits, 6. Amiens, 1865.
- Piétresson de Saint-Aubin, Pierre, and Anne-Marie Piétresson de Saint-Aubin. Répertoire numérique, Archives départementales du Nord: Série H. Vol. 2. Avesnes-sur-Helpe, 1943.
- Piette, Amédée, ed. Cartulaire de l'abbaye de Saint-Michel en Thiérache. Vervins, 1883.
- Ponthieu, Alfred, "Notice historique sur Villeselve et son ancien prieuré," Comptes-rendus et mémoires du Comité archéologique de Noyon 15 (1899), 213-294.

- Poupardin, René, "Cartulaire de Saint-Vincent de Laon," Mémoires de la Société de l'histoire de Paris et de l'Ile-de-France 29 (1902), 173-267.
- _____, "Quatre chartes anciennes d'évêques de Noyon provenant de la Collection Phillipps," Comptes-rendus et mémoires du Comité archéologique, historique et scientifique de Noyon 22 (1910), 214-222.
- _____, ed. Recueil des chartes de l'abbaye de Saint-Germain-des-Prés. 2 vols. Paris, 1909-1932.
- Prentout, Henri, "Quelques chartes de Richard II et de Richard III: Date de la mort de ces princes," Bulletin de la Société des antiquaires de Normandie 33 (1918), 208-225.
- Prou, Maurice, ed. Recueil des actes de Philippe I^r, roi de France (1059-1108). Paris, 1908.
- _____, "Supplique et bulle du XII^e siècle." In Mélanges offerts à M. Emile Châtelain. Paris, 1910. Pp. 614-621.
- Ramackers, Johannes. Papsturkunden in Frankreich, Neue Folge, 4: Picardie. Abhandlungen der Gesellschaft der Wissenschaften zu Göttingen, Philologisch-historische Klasse, 3 F., 27. Göttingen, 1942.
- Recueil des historiens des Gaules et de la France*, ed. Dom Martin Bouquet, Léopold Delisle, et al. 24 vols. Paris, 1738-1904.
- Regestum Clementis papae V*. 8 vols. Rome, 1885-1892.
- Robert, Ulysse. Bullaire du pape Calixte II, 1119-1124. 2 vols. Paris, 1891.
- _____. Etude sur les actes du pape Calixte II. Paris, 1874.
- Ruelle, Pierre. Chartes en langue française antérieures à 1271 conservées dans la province de Hainaut. Documents Linguistiques de la Belgique Romane, 1. Paris, 1984.
- Soehnée, Frédéric. Catalogue des actes d'Henri I^r, roi de France (1031-1060). Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Hautes Etudes, Sciences historiques et philologiques, 161. Paris, 1907.
- Stein, Henri. Bibliographie générale des cartulaires français ou relatifs à l'histoire de France. Manuels de bibliographie historique, 4. Paris, 1907.
- _____, ed. Cartulaire de l'ancienne abbaye de Saint Nicolas des Prés sous Ribemont. Saint-Quentin, 1884; originally published in: Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin, 4^e série, 5 (1883), 112-337.
- Tardif, Jules, ed. Monuments historiques. Paris, 1866.
- Teulet, Alexandre, et al., eds. Layettes du Trésor des Chartes. 5 vols. Paris, 1863-1909.
- Van der Straeten, Joseph, "Sainte Hunégonde d'Homblières: Son culte et sa vie rythmique," Analecta Bollandiana 72 (1954), 39-74.
- Waquet, Henri. Le bailliage de Vermandois aux XIII^e et XIV^e siècles: Etude d'histoire administrative. Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Hautes Etudes, Sciences historiques et philologiques, 213. Paris, 1919.
- Wauters, Alphonse G. G. Table chronologique des chartes et diplômes imprimés concernant l'histoire de la Belgique. 11 vols. Academie Royale des Sciences, des

- Lettres et des Beaux-Arts de Belgique, Commission Royale de l'Historie, Publications in quarto, 12. Brussels, 1866-1946.
- William of Jumièges. Gesta Normanorum ducum, ed. Jean Marx. Paris-Rouen, 1914.
- Wymans, Gabriel. Inventaire des archives de l'abbaye de Saint-Feuillien du Rœulx. Brussels, 1975.
- Zimmermann, Harald, ed. Papsturkunden, 896-1046. 2 vols. Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Philosophisch-Historische Klasse, Denkschriften, 174. Vienna, 1984-1985.

2. SECONDARY WORKS

- Barthélémy, Dominique. Les deux âges de la seigneurie banale: Pouvoir et société dans la terre des sires de Coucy (milieu XI^e-milieu XIII^e siècle). Publications de la Sorbonne, Série Histoire Ancienne et Médiévale, 12, Paris, 1984.
- Bautier, Robert-Henri, "Caractères spécifiques des chartes médiévales." In Informatique et histoire médiévale, ed. Lucie Fossier, André Vauchez, and Cinzio Violante. Collection de l'Ecole Française de Rome, 31. Rome, 1977. Pp. 81-96.
- Becquet, Jean. Abbayes et prieurés de l'ancienne France, 17: Province ecclésiastique de Reims; Diocèse actuel de Soissons, in Revue Mabillon 299-304 (1985-1986).
- Bisson, Thomas N. Conservation of Coinage. Monetary Exploitation and Its Restraint in France, Catalonia, and Aragon (c. A.D. 1000-c. 1225). Oxford, 1979.
- Brixius, Johannes Matthias. Die Mitglieder des Kardinalkollegiums von 1130-1181. Berlin, 1912.
- Bur, Michel. La formation du comté de Champagne, v. 950-v. 1150. Mémoires des Annales de l'Est, 54. Nancy, 1977.
- Canivez, J.-M., "L'Aumône." In Dictionnaire d'histoire et de géographie ecclésiastiques. Paris, 1912-. 5:679-681.
- Chédeville, André. Chartres et ses campagnes, XI^e-XIII^e siècles. Publications de l'Université de Haute-Bretagne, 1. Paris, 1973.
- Coët, Emile. Histoire de la ville de Roye. 2 vols. Paris, 1880.
- Constable, Giles. Monastic Tithes from Their Origins to the Twelfth Century. Cambridge Studies in Medieval Life and Thought, n.s. 10. Cambridge, Eng., 1964.
- Cuissard, Charles, "Les chanoines et les dignitaires de la cathédrale d'Orléans d'après les nécrologes manuscrits de Saint-Croix," Mémoires de la Société archéologique de l'Orléanais 28 (1902), 59-228.
- Dauphin, Henri. Le bienheureux Richard, abbé de Saint-Vanne de Verdun, †1046. Bibliothèque de la Revue d'histoire ecclésiastique, 24. Louvain, 1946.
- De Cagny, Paul. Histoire de l'arrondissement de Péronne et de plusieurs localités circonvoisines. 2nd ed. 3 vols. Péronne, 1869-1887.

- Dieudonné, Adolphe, and J.-Adrien Blanchet. Manuel de numismatique française. 4 vols. Paris, 1912-1936.
- Duby, Georges, "La diffusion du titre chevaleresque sur le versant méditerranéen de la Chrétienté latine." In La noblesse au moyen âge, ed. Philippe Contamine. Paris, 1976. Pp. 39-70.
- _____, "The Origins of Knighthood." In his The Chivalrous Society, tr. Cynthia Postan. London, 1977. Pp. 158-170.
- _____. The Three Orders: Feudal Society Imagined, tr. Arthur Goldhammer. Chicago, 1980.
- Dumas, Auguste, "L'église de Reims au temps des luttes entre Carolingiens et Robertiens (888-1027)," Revue d'histoire de l'église de France 30 (1944), 5-38.
- Duval, R., "Histoire de l'abbaye bénédictine de Saint-Nicolaus-aux-Bois au diocèse de Laon," Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin, 4^e série, 12 (1893-1896), 153-258; 13 (1897-1898), 351-472.
- Estienne, Joseph, "Usage du style de l'Annunciation à Arras et à Amiens au début du XIII^e siècle," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 98 (1937), 217-220.
- Flach, Jacques. Les origines de l'ancienne France. 4 vols. Paris, 1886-1917.
- Fossier, Robert. La terre et les hommes en Picardie jusqu'à la fin du XIII^e siècle. 2 vols. Publications de la Faculté des Lettres et Sciences Humaines de Paris-Sorbonne, Série Recherches, 48-49. Paris, 1968.
- Gasnault, Pierre, "Les actes privés de l'abbaye de Saint-Martin de Tours du VIII^e au XII^e siècle," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 112 (1954), 24-66.
- Genicot, Léopold, "Le premier siècle de la curia de Hainaut (1060 env.-1195)," Le Moyen Âge 49 (1953), 36-60. Reprinted in his Etudes sur les principautés lotharingiennes, pp. 199-216. Recueil de travaux d'histoire et de philologie, 6^e sér., 7. Louvain, 1975.
- Giry, A. Manuel de diplomatique. Paris, 1894.
- Gomart, Charles, "Etude sur les sceaux du Vermandois." In vol. 3 of his Etudes Saint-Quentinoises, pp. 1-24. 5 vols. Saint-Quentin, 1851-1878.
- _____, "Les seigneurs et gouverneurs de Ham," Mémoires de la Société des antiquaires de Picardie 18 (1862), 177-208; and in vol. 3 of his Etudes Saint-Quentinoises, pp. 177-208. 5 vols. Saint-Quentin, 1851-1878.
- Gorissen, M., "Capitulare de Villis: Corona de racemis." In Miscellanea J. Gesseler. Deurne-Anvers, 1948. Pp. 548-551. French summary in Bulletin Du Cange 20 (1950), 275.
- Guilhiermoz, Paul. Essai sur l'origine de la noblesse en France au moyen âge. Paris, 1902.
- Guyotjeannin, Olivier. Episcopus et Comes. Affirmation et déclin de la seigneurie épiscopale au nord du royaume de France (Beauvais-Noyon, X^e-début XIII^e siècle). Mémoires et documents publiés par la Société de l'Ecole des Chartes, 30. Geneva-Paris, 1987.

- Hachet, Jules, "Notice sur le village de Fayet et ses seigneurs," Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin, 4^e série, 14 (1899-1900), 301-392.
- Héliot, Pierre, "L'abbaye d'Homblières et la chasse de Sainte Hunégonde aux X^e et XI^e siècles," Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Chartes 119 (1961), 226-233.
- Herbomez, Armand d', Histoire des châtelains de Tournai de la maison de Mortagne. 2 vols. Société Historique et Archéologique de Tournai, Mémoires 24-25. Tournai, 1895.
- Higounet, Charles, "Essai sur les granges cisterciennes." In L'économie cistercienne: Géographie - Mutations du moyen âge aux temps modernes. Auch, 1983. Pp. 157-180.
- _____, "Les grandes haies forestières de l'Europe médiévale," Revue du Nord 62 (1980), 213-217.
- _____. La grange de Vaulerent: Structure et exploitation d'un terroir cistercien de la plaine de France, XII^e-XV^e siècle. Les hommes et la terre, 10. Paris, 1965.
- Janssen, Wilhelm. Die päpstlichen Legaten in Frankreich vom Schisma Anaklets II. bis zum Tode Coelestins III. (1130-1198). Kölner historische Abhandlungen 6. Cologne-Graz, 1961.
- Journei, Charles, "Sainte Hunégonde et l'abbaye d'Homblières," Mémoires de la Société académique de Sciences, Arts, Belles-Lettres, Agriculture et Industrie de Saint-Quentin 51 (1935), 419-466.
- Knowles, David. Great Historical Enterprises: Problems in Monastic History. London, 1964.
- _____. The Historian and Character and Other Essays. Cambridge, Eng., 1963.
- Lauer, Philippe. Le règne de Louis IV d'Outre-Mer. Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Hautes Etudes, Sciences philologiques et historiques, 127. Paris, 1900.
- Le Glay, A. J. G. Cameracum Christianum, ou Histoire ecclésiastique du diocèse de Cambrai. Lille-Paris, 1849.
- Leclercq, H., "Homblières." In Dictionnaire d'archéologie chrétienne et de liturgie, ed. F. Cabrol, H. Leclercq, and H. I. Marrou. 15 vols. Paris, 1907-1950. 6:2737-2739.
- Lohrmann, Dietrich. Kirchengut im nördlichen Frankreich: Besitz, Verfassung und Wirtschaft im Spiegel der Papstprivilegien des 11.-12. Jahrhunderts. Pariser Historische Studien, 20. Bonn, 1983.
- _____, "Le rétablissement du grand domaine à faire-valoir direct en Beauvaisis au XII^e siècle," Francia 8 (1982), 105-126.
- Longnon, Auguste, "Etudes sur les pagi: Le pagus Otmensis et le pagus Bagensonensis," Revue archéologique, n.s., 19 (1869), 361-371.
- Luchaire, Achille. Etudes sur les actes de Louis VII. Paris, 1885.
- Mahn, Jean Berthold. L'ordre cistercien et son gouvernement des origines au milieu du XIII^e siècle (1098-1265). 2nd ed. Bibliothèque des Ecoles françaises d'Athènes et de Rome, 161. Paris, 1951.
- Matton, Auguste. Dictionnaire topographique du département de l'Aisne. Paris, 1871.

- Mennesson, E., "Notice sur l'abbaye de Saint-Michel," La Thiérache: Bulletin de la Société archéologique de Vervins (Aisne) 19 (1900), 114-134.
- Musset, Lucien, "Observations historiques sur une mesure agraire: Le bonnier." In Mélanges d'histoire du moyen âge dédiés à la mémoire de Louis Halphen. Paris, 1951. Pp. 535-541.
- Petit-Dutaillis, Charles. Etude sur la vie et le règne de Louis VIII (1187-1226). Bibliothèque de l'Ecole des Hautes Etudes, Sciences philologiques et historiques, 101. Paris, 1894.
- Poirier-Coutansais, Françoise. Gallia monastica, I: Les abbayes bénédictines du diocèse de Reims. Paris, 1974.
- Prentout, Henri. Etude critique sur Dudon de Saint-Quentin et son histoire des premiers ducs normands. Paris, 1916.
- _____. Etudes sur quelques points d'histoire de Normandie. Caen, 1929.
- Remy, F., "Arrouaise." In Dictionnaire d'histoire et de géographie ecclésiastique. Paris, 1912-. 4:727-731.
- Robert, G., "Le style usité pour les actes depuis le XIII^e siècle," Le Moyen Age 15 (1911), 236-253.
- Rodière, Roger, and Eugène Vallée. La maison de Moy. 3 vols. Le Mans, 1928.
- Roehl, Richard, "Plan and Reality in a Medieval Monastic Economy: The Cistercians," Studies in Medieval and Renaissance History 9 (1972), 83-113.
- Sars, Maxime de. Le Laonnois féodal. 5 vols. Paris, 1924-1934.
- Spufford, Peter. Handbook of Medieval Exchange. Royal Historical Society Guides and Handbooks, 13. London, 1986.
- Tessier, Georges. Diplomatique royale française. Paris, 1962.
- Vacandard, E. Vie de Saint Bernard, abbé de Clairvaux. 2 vols. 4th ed. Paris, 1927.
- Vanderkindere, Léon, "Regnier V." In Biographie nationale de Belgique. 28 vols. Brussels, 1866-1944. 18:882-883.
- Vercauterens, Fernand, "Note sur un texte du cartulaire d'Homblières et sur un passage de la Vita altera sanctae Hunegundis." In Recueil de travaux offert à M. Clovis Brunel. 2 vols. Mémoires et Documents, 12. Paris, 1955. 2: 651-659.
- White, G. H., "The First House of Bellême," Transactions of the Royal Historical Society, 4th series, 22 (1940), 67-99.

IV. INDICES

1. INDEX RERUM

References are to the acts, except where otherwise noted.

- abbatiola, 5, 6
advocatio, 32, 34, 44 (chaps. 21, 22), 54, 59, 71 advocatus, 8, 31, 44 (chap. 21), 53; see also custos
aedificare, 5 (constructum), 8, 15, 39, 44 (chap. 4) agricola, 71
agrūm, 76
All Saints' Day, 43, 65, 101, 107, 116, 128D
alodium, 7, 13, 19, 27, 30, 34, 36, 41, 44
 (chaps. 11, 16, 20), 46, 53, 56, 81, 86,
 88, 98; see also praedium
altare, 1, 8, 12, 13, 17, 33, 37, 38, 40, 41, 44
 (chaps. 1, 2, 11, 20), 46, 49, 50, 51, 53,
 54, 55, 57, 59, 60, 62, 65, 72, 76, 80,
 82, 84, 87, 88, 93, 98, 117, 118
ambana, 107
amici, 61, 77, 81, 83; see also propinquus
ancilla, 35, 44 (chap. 21)
angaria, 46A
anguilla, 42, 44 (chap. 26), 53, 107, 131; see also Robert Anguillula
annonia, 24, 42
annulus, 4, p. 24
appelatio, 89; see also petitio aprūm, 44 (chap. 21), 53; see also verres
aquosa. See terra petrosa
arabilis, 9, 38, 44 (chaps. 2, 3), 64, 65, 79
aratrum, 66, 71
arbiter, 128A, 128B, 128D, 130, 131, 135
arbitrium, 37, 58, 66, 67, 89, 110A, 116, 125, 126, 128D, 130
arbor, 71
aries, 10, 44 (chap. 22)
arrieragium, 123
Ascension, 128
assensio metarum, 96
assize, 134
Assumption, 130
auca, 126
auctoritas, authoritas, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 12, 16, 17, 20, 21, 24, 25, 30, 36,
 48, 49, 50, 53, 57, 59, 61, 63, 64, 67,
 68, 75, 91A, 92, 95, 99, 102, 117, 123
Augustinian Rule, 44 (chap. 4); see also regula aurea crucis, 44 (chap. 10)
aurifaber, 124
authoritas. See auctoritas
auxilium, 5, 6, 86
avena, 23, 43, 58, 65, 75, 77, 78, 88, 110A, 112, 113, 138
avesna. See terra petrosa
baillius, 134
bannus, 23, 25, 84; imbannatio, 96; imban- nire, 56
baptismus, 144
Benedictine Rule, 14, 20, 38, 88; see also regula beneficium, 5, 6, 8, 9, 12, 15, 18, 23, 27, 30,
 33, 44 (chaps. 1, 15, 22), 48, 49, 50, 51,
 53, 59, 83, 132; see also feodum, preca- rium benepacitum, 76, 89
bestia, 62

- bladum, 113, 123, 137 (ble), 138
bontuarium. See bunnarium boskillonnes, 116
bruseria, 43 bubulci, 116
bunnarium, 9 and n. 2, 106
burgenses. See under Saint-Quentin buticularius, 117
- cacutium (frustum), 107
camba, 44 (chap. 25), 106; cambire, 60 camerarius, 36, 39, 52, 67, 68, 117 campellus, 17, 60, 93
campus, 4, 44 (chaps. 1, 8, 9, 18, 21), 47, 65, 82, 97, 98, 105, 126, 129; camp or cans, 121, 128A, 128B, 132
cancellarius, 1, 2, 3, 8, 9, 10, 12, 14, 17, 19, 20, 21, 28, 29, 31, 36, 37, 40, 50, 52, 54, 55, 57, 94, 117 (royal) caninus, 15 and n. 4 cans. See campus
cantate, 33, 126, 127
capella, 37, 38
carpentarius, 44 (chap. 8), 61
carruca, 10, 96; carrucaria, 23 and comment carta, charta, karta, 1, 3, 8, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15
 and comment, 16, 18, 19, 23, 24, 25, 29, 44 (chap. 20), 71, 75, 115; see also instrumentum publicum, litterae, pagina, scriptio
cartula, chartula, 9, 10, 31, 71, 75, 82 casatus, 44 (chap. 11), p. 9
castell(an)us, 3, 17, 18, 20, 21, 23, 24, 25, 31, 80; castellulum meaning castellanus, 44
 (chap. 21); castellum, 56, 88; castelza- lium, 97; subcastellanus, 21
castrum, 15, 26
cella, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 122; see also under Notre-Dame of Homblières cellarius, 58, 77
censura, 76
census, 12, 15, 24, 36, 39, 43, 44 (chap. 8), 45, 48, 53, 56, 58, 60, 74, 75, 76, 79,
 86, 88, 89, 90, 97, 100, 101, 103, 110A,
 114, 115 n. 3, 116, 124, 126, 129, 136
 (cens), 138; censarius, 127, 141; censi- va, 116; censualis, 45, 56, 58, 74, 75, 93, 110A, 124; censualiter, 58, 60, 75,
 77, 101; censura, 76; see also redditus, rente
cera, 48, 62
cespes. See ramus
- charta. See carta
chevalier, 128A, 128B; see also miles
chirographum, chyrographum, 42 and n. 1,
 46A, 47, 49, 50, 58, 60, 63, 65, 66, 69,
 70, 71, 74, 75, 76, 82, 91, 100, 101, 110A, pp. 25-26
cimiterium, 100, 128C
circuitus, 25
civitas, 2
clausa, clausura, 128D, 135
claustrum, 44 (chap. 18), 104
cocus, 44 (chap. 21), 49, 50, 57 (comes), 83, 98; magister cocus, 107, 116
coemtio for coemptio, 14
cognati, 61; see also amici, parentes
colere, 71, 82, 88, 94; excolere, 66, 69, 70, 96, 103A, 123, 125, 126; see also sartum
colonus, 44 (chap. 8), 94, 96, 129, p. 10 comes, 57 (error for cocus), 132 (conte); see also Hugh Capet and under Château-Thierry, Flanders, Hainaut, Vermandois comitantia, 44 (chap. 30)
comitatus, 19, 34, 44 (chap. 30)
comitissa, 25
commanenti, 26
commutatio, 3, 9, 16, 17, 18, 23, 42, 43, 47, 53, 69, 70, 78, 82, 100; commutare, 47;
 see also traditio
compositio, 73, 89, 92, 99, 102, 123, 128D, 132, 135; see also constitutio, pactio
concabium, 103A, 105
concanonicus, 130
concilium generale (Fourth Lateran), 123 and n. 2, 125, 126, 144; concilium
 (Lyon), 144
conductum, 96, 107
confessor, 144
confinium, 25
consel, conseil. See consilium consentiens, 7
consilium, 1, 2, 8, 12, 19, 32, 36, 37, 38, 39, 41, 51, 54, 56, 62, 67, 79, 81, 86, 88,
 94, 100A, 123, 126, 128C, 130, 131, 137, 138; consel, conseil, 128B, 131, 137
constabularius, 117
constitutio, 15 and comment, 31, 38, 53, 91, 144; see also compositio, pactio
constructum. See aedificare consuetudines, 10, 23 and comment, 24, 26,
 37, 38 and n. 1, 44 (chaps. 1, 21, 22, 25), 53, 88, 106, 116, 124, 132, p. 8; see also us

- consul, 38 and n. 1, 44 (chap. 21), 48, 61; variant of comes, 49, 50 variant 1
- consultum, 34
- conte, 132; see also comes
- conventio, 24, 30, 36, 44 (chap. 26), 63, 67, 71, 110A
- conversi, 53, 61, 71, 88, 123, 127
- convivium, 96
- coquus. See cocus
- corona de racemis, 44 (chap. 21), 117 and n. 2, 118
- cortisel, 128A, 128B
- corveia, 10, 23, 96; see also p. 10
- court, 128A, 132, 137; see also curia
- cubantes et levantes, 116
- cultitrum, 96
- cultor, 82
- cultura, 60
- curé, cureit, 128C, 131
- curia, 27, 31, 34, 43, 101, 123; see also court. Curia meaning curtis: 52 and n. 4, 53, 60, 63, 75, 98, 101, p. 12 n. 39; see also curtis
- curtilia, 44 (chaps. 2, 3, 7, 17, 18), 47, 53, 88
- curtis, 42, 44 (chaps. 22, 26), 73, 78, 88, 97, 100, 113, 122, 123, 125, 126, 127, 128C, 129, 135, p. 12 n. 39; meaning curia: 34; see also curia
- custodia, 54
- custos, 3, 9, 10, 17, 18, 20, 21, 23, 25, 28, 29, 48 n. 2 (meaning thesaurarius); see also advocatus
- cyrographum, cyrographum. See chirographum
- dame, 136; see also domina
- dapifer, 48, 49 n. 2, 87, 117; see also Vermandois, seneschals
- debitum, 38, 48, 54, 74, 76 (servitium)
- decima, 17, 47, 49, 50, 52, 53, 57, 59, 60, 65, 72, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 82, 87, 88, 91, 93, 96, 100A, 109, 110, 112, 120, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128D, 129, 130, 132, 135, 137, 139; dime, 128A, 128B, 128C, 128D, 137; bestiarum, 62; porcum, 124; fructuum, 124; maiori, 120, 128A, 135; minuta, 62, 88, 100, 117, 118, novales, 88, 91, decimalis, 126; see also p. 12, p. 14
- decimadium, 132
- decimatio, 36, 91, 100, 100A, 103A
- didascalus, 9
- dime. See decima
- dissentio, 63
- distractor, 14
- districtio, 2, 5, 6, 25, p. 8 n. 23
- districtus, 10, 38, 44 (chaps. 21, 22), 53, 100, 117, 118, 128D, 135
- domaine. See dominium
- domesticus, 31, p. 9; see also famulus
- domicella, 126
- domicellus, 44 (chap. 1); see also escuier
- domina, 1, 49, 50, 83, 88, 111; see also dame
- dominium, 84, 117, 124, 128D, 135; dominatio, 31, 100A; dominicum, 27, 35, 52; dominicatus, 44 (chap. 26); domaine, 134; see also indominicatum, seigneignie
- dominus, 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 10, 11, 14, 16, 22, 27, 28, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 39, 41, 44 (chaps. 21, 22), 46A, 48, 49, 50, 52, 53, 56, 64, 65, 67, 68, 71, 83, 84, 85, 88, 94, 96, 97, 98, 101, 103A, 106, 112 n. 1, 114, 118, 122, 130, 132, 134, 135; see also monsigneur, seigneur
- dompnus. See dominus
- domus, 67, 96, 98, 122, 124, 126, 135, 138; maison, 128C, 132, 136, 137, 138; see also hostel
- dos, 53, 60, 65, 82, 93, 109
- dotalicium, 109
- dux. See Geoffrey, duke of Upper Lorraine; Hugh Capet; Hugh the Great
- edituus, 32
- eleemosyna, 48, 53, 57, 61, 66, 71, 72, 73, 76, 77, 79, 80, 81, 83, 87, 105, 111; helemosinarius, 41
- Epiphany, 56
- equina, 96
- equitatura, 116; see also exercitum, expeditio
- equus, 42, 44 (chaps. 13, 26)
- escuier, 83; see also domicellus
- eskevin, 121, 122A, 136; see also scabinus
- exactio, 38, 46A, 53, 62, 74, 98, 116
- excolere. See colere
- exercitum, 44 (chap. 21), 53, 116, 117, 118; see also equitatura, expeditio
- expeditio, 44 (chap. 21), 53, 117, 118; see also equitatura, exercitum
- faber, 83, 98, 124
- faissa, 88
- famulus, 31, 96, 98; see also domesticus

- feodum, feudum, 27, 43, 46A, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 57, 64, 71, 76, 78, 79, 80, 83, 84, 87, 110, 115 n. 3, 132; in feudo ligie, 109; fie, 132; see also beneficium, precarium, p. 9
- serculum, 33
- feretrum, 66
- fidelis, 1, 2, 3, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23 and comment, 29, 30, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41, 42, 44 (chap. 21), 51, 53, 59, 61, 64, 68, 78, 79, 80, 83, 84, 86, 87, 88, 96, 98, 139, p. 6; fidelitas, 34, 37, 61, 68; fideliter, 24, 46A
- fides, 108, 110, 110A, 132
- filiolus, 49, 50
- firma, 126
- fiscus, 7, 8, 11, 15
- foenerator, 51
- foragium, 124
- forefactum, 100A
- forum, 44 (chap. 26); see also mercatum
- fossa, 85; fossatum, 41, 78, 134
- frarinus, 44 (chap. 19)
- fructarium, 22; fructum, 124
- frumentum, 43, 44 (chaps. 19, 22), 46, 53, 58, 60, 65, 73, 74, 75, 76, 87, 88, 93, 97, 101, 104, 107, 110, 110A, 113, 115
- frustum, 107
- fundus, 35, 94, 122
- furnarius, 116
- furnus, 38, 42, 44 (chap. 26), 48, 53, 64, 79, 83, 88, 98, 106, 116
- furtum, 44 (chap. 21)
- fust (mensura), 60, 65
- galois, 140
- garba, 24, 43, 69, 70, 72, 88, 94, 96, 97, 127; nova garba, 43, 88; see also manipulum
- gardinum, 124; see also hortus
- gerba. See garba
- grammas, 9
- gyro, 44 (chap. 21)
- guarandisa, 67
- haereditas, 21, 44 (chap. 22), 76, 116, 136; haeredium, 22; haereditarium, 24, 34, 44 (chaps. 2, 15), 78, 81, 103A, 117, 118; hyretage, 136; see also patrimonia, proprietas
- haeres, 10, 48, 72, 74, 76, 83, 98, 114; see also propinquies
- haia, 23 and comment; see also nemus, sylva
- helemosinarius. See eleemosyna
- homagium, 115 n. 3
- hominium, 71
- homo, homines, 17, 23 and comment, 24, 30, 38, 44 (chaps. 20, 21, 25), 53, 59, 71, 83, 87, 88, 97, 99, 102, 110, 115, 116, 117, 118, 128A, 134; antiqui, 100A; pauperes, 23, 124; see also pauper, viri
- honor, 38, 53, 88
- hor(re)um, 96
- hortus, 38, 73, 78, 88, 98, 124, 128D (ortus), 135; see also gardinum
- hospicium, 88
- hospitagium, 88
- hospitalium, 88
- hospitarius, 67, 68
- hospites, 24, 36 n. 3, 53, 79, 83, 88, 106, 117, 118, p. 10, p. 12
- hostage, 136
- hostel, 128C; see also domus
- hyretage. See haereditas
- ialois, ialotus, 132 and n. 3
- imbannire, imbannatio. See bannus
- imperium, 1, 5, 6
- indominicatum, 24, 27, 35; see also dominium, segneignie
- inferenda, 96
- instrumentum publicum, 110A, 135; see also carta, litterae, pagina, scriptio
- invadatio, invadiare, 76, 96; see also vadium
- investitura, 96, 110
- iudicium, 12, 33, 38, 53, 74, 85, 92, 92B, 99, 105, 125
- iuramentum, 96, 97, 125, 132
- iurisdictio, 98, 117
- ius, 7, 41, 51, 71, 78, 84, 89, 100A, 110, 114, 117, 118, 123, 126, 127, 135, 139; antiquum, 139; commune, 125, 126; dominicum, 27; episcopale, 37, 38, 47, 139; feodum, 76; generale, 96; hereditarium, 34, 44 (chaps. 1, 15, 22), 53, 57, 66, 71 (paternum), 73, 78, 79, 81, 83, 84, 96, 104, 114, 117, 118, 136; perpetuum, 41, 76, 81, 84, 114, 116, 117, 118, 124; pontificale, 40, 55, 68; praedium, 44 (chap. 22); precarii, 8; proprietatis, 33, 126; regis, 2; synodale, 37, 38, 40, 55
- iusticia, 31, 34, 37, 38, 44 (chap. 21), 53, 56, 58, 59, 67, 74, 88, 89, 91, 92B, 100, 100A, 105, 117, 118, 131 (iustice); alta et bassa, 117, 118; sanguine, 48

- karta. See carta
- labor, 126
- laicus, 9, 20, 24, 32, 38, 49, 67, 74, 77, 78, 98, 126; see also secularis persona
- Lateran Council. See concilium generale
- latio, latro, error for latro
- latro, 23, 48, 84
- leges consuetudines, 23
- lettres, 128A, 128B (seelees), 131, 131 (de baillie), 134; see also litterae
- levita, 33, 56
- lex, 34, 76, 86; publica, 16, 22
- libertas, 31, 44 (chap. 21), 52, 74, 84
- librae, 51, 62, 84; argenti, 8, 13, 14, 16, 17; auri, 3, 4, 7, 11, 12, 15, 19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 35, 54; Marbotinorum, 111 and n. 2; see also under Châlons-sur-Marne, Paris, Provins, Saint-Quentin, Tours, Vermandois
- licentia, 14, 94, 96, 100A
- ligie. See seodium
- litigatio, 63
- litterae, 16, 35, 40, 49, 50, 55, 61, 65, 68, 73, 74, 87, 92, 92B, 96, 99, 101, 110, 115, 119, 122, 123, 124, 125, 127, 128, 128D, 129, 130, 131, 132, 135, 137, 138; patentes, 126, 127, 128; see also carta, instrumentum publicum, lettres, pagina, scriptio
- locus, locellus, 9, 22, 28, 51, 53, 62, 74; see also under Notre-Dame of Homblières
- Lyon, council of, 144
- magister, 48, 55, 74, 87, 94, 96, 97, 124, 125, 127, 128D, 130, 135; maistre, 131, 132, 136; cocus, 107, 116; ostiarii, 74
- maieur, maior, 30, 32, 39, 44 (chap. 9), 52, 53, 54 and n. 5, 61, 78, 83, 96 and n. 2, 98, 100A, 106, 108, 109, 132, 136, 140; see also maioria
- mainburnie, 121
- mainferme, 74, 126
- mainsnée, 121
- maioria, 100; see also maieur
- maison. See domus
- maistre. See magister
- mancipium, 35
- mandatum, 89, 92, 102; mandare, 21, 22, 46A, 91A, 92B, 103
- manipulum, 44 (chaps. 4, 26), 53, 66, 71; see also garba
- mansus, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 18, 22, 44 (chaps. 8, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30) and comment, 53, 61, 79, 88, 106; mansio, 5, 6, 54, 74; mansionile, 11, 13, 16, 21, 32, 44 (chap. 2), p. 4, p. 6; mansolum, 106; mansualis, 41 and n. 1; mansarius, 10, mansura (? mensura), 88
- manumissio, 21
- marbotin, money of, 111 and n. 2; see also Rinald Marbotin
- marchio, 22
- marchisius, 1
- marescalus, mariscalus, 31, 41
- mensura, 44 (chap. 21), 88 (mansura), 110A (veteris), 135; see also under Ham, Saint-Quentin
- mercatum, 42; see also forum
- meta, 94, 96
- miles, 1, 3, 7, 20, 21, 24, 25, 26, 27, 29, 30, 32, 35, 39, 43, 44 (chaps. 15, 26, 30), 48, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 64, 66, 71, 73, 74, 77, 80, 81, 83, 84, 86, 88, 89, 97, 98, 101, 110, 114, 115; militarum, 54; see also chevalier, p. 6
- miliaria, 74
- modiata, 57, 80, 81, 96, 98, 109, 126, 132
- modium, 43, 44 (chaps. 19, 22), 46, 53, 58 (of Saint-Quentin), 60, 65, 73, 74, 76, 77, 87, 88, 93, 97, 98, 101, 104, 110, 110A, 112, 113, 115, 123, 137; see also muis
- molendinum, 11, 38, 42, 44 (chaps. 21, 22, 26), 46, 47, 53, 56, 58, 60, 88, 98, 106, 131 (molin); molinarius, 83; molitura, 42
- moneta. See under Paris, Provins, Saint-Quentin, Tours
- monsieur, monsieur, 128A, 128B, 128C, 131, 132, 136; see also dominus, seigneur
- muīs, 138; see also modium
- munus, 5, 6
- mutuum, 44 (chap. 15), 83
- navis, 98
- nemus, 35, 39, 43, 53, 54, 67, 68, 76, 81, 82, 84, 88, 89, 92, 94, 98, 100, 100A, 105, 132; see also haia, sylva
- nobilis, 2, 14, 35; vir, 2, 14, 16, 27, 71; see also optimates, proceres
- notarius, 2

- novales. See decima
 nuntius, 103
 oblata, 60
 oblatio, 7, 37, 49, 50, 51, 53, 59, 88, 100A, 139
oblia. See oblata obolus, obulus, 44 (chap. II), 100A, 106, 128D, 135; obuli alborum, 123 optimates, 27, 31, 50, 54; see also nobilis, proceres oratorium, 100
 ordo, 144
ortus. See hortus
 ostage, 136
 ostiarium, 48
 pactio, 32, 43, 44 (chap. 4), 60, 66, 69, 70, 71, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 82, 83, 98; see also compositio, constitutio pagina, 72, 110A, 111, 117, 119; see also carta, instrumentum publicum, litterae, scriptio pagus. See under Laon, Vermandois palatium, 117
 palefridum, 83
 parentes, 35, 61, 87; see also amici, cognati, propinquos paria, 34
 parrochia, 69, 70, 71, 139; parrochiatus, 125, 126, 132
 patria, 34, 132
 patrimonia, 37; see also haereditas, proprietas patronus, 125, 126
 pauper, 23, 33, 37, 44 (chap. 4), 76; see also homo pecunia, 1, 5, 6, 12, 33, 57, 109, 114, 115, 116, 123, 124 pedagogus, 30
peregrinatio Francorum, 60
 petitio, 1, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, 15, 16, 23, 24, 25, 29, 36, 38, 39, 40, 41, 55, 67, 72, 76, 78, 83, 88, 110, 112, 119, 122; see also appellatio petrosa. See terra petrosa
 phisicus, 124
 piscatio, 27, 98; piscator, 98; piscis, 5, 6
 pitanchier, 136
 placitum, 43, 44 (chap. 21), 86; generale, 10, 96, 97; placitare, 58 plantare, 8, 15, 44 (chap. 26)
 plegium, 109
 portarius, 116
 portincula, 78
 potestas, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 12, 19, 20, 24, 25, 30, 34, 38, 53, 59, 88
 poursuite, 132
 praebenda, 107
 praedicator, 144
 praedium, 30, 32, 35, 38, 53; see also alodium praepositus, 3, 8, 10, 20, 21, 29, 31, 32, 33, 37, 48, 49, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 66, 67, 70, 72, 80, 87, 101, 105, 122, 130, 134
 prandium, 96
 prateolum, 47
 pratum, 7
 precarium, 8, see also beneficium, feodum prestatio, 125, 126, 128D, 135
 pseudomes, 131
 princeps, 5, 6, 26, 27, 34 and n. 3, 53, 59, 88
 proceres, 14; see also nobilis, optimates procurator, 24, 42, 44 (chap. 9), 126, 127, 135, 142 propinquos, 52, 71, 83; see also amici, cognati, haeres, parentes proprietas, 7, 13, 14, 33, 36, 44 (chap. 24), 83, 126, 130, 134; see also haereditas, patrimonia provincia, 53, 73; provincialis, 99
 provisor, 74
 pultrelus, 27
 Purification, 8, 125, 138
 ramus (et cespes), 44 (chaps. 1, 11), 49, 50, 51, 66, 71, 84, 87 rebelles, 53
 rector, 29
 redditus, 24, 32, 44 (chaps. 14, 21), 48, 53, 61, 74, 107, 114, 115, 116, 128D, 129, 135, 138; see also census, rente redemptio, 96, 115, 116
 regina, 8
 regnum, 4, 14
 regula, 2, 5, 6, 38, 44 (chap. 4), 49, 53, 88; regulariter viventes, 4, 44 (chap. 1); see also Benedictine Rule rente, 136, 137; see also census, redditus rex, 5, 6, 88; see also under names of kings of France rusticus, 80

- soccus, 43, 73
 saisine, 128A, 134
 salices, salceyum, 122
 saltus, 44 (chap. 21)
 salvamentum, salvamine, 25, p. 8 sanctimoniales, 3
 sanguine, 48, 84
 sartum, 43, 82, 88; sartare, 94; see also colere satrapa, 34 and n. 3, 35
 saulz. See solidus
 scabinus, 96, 97; see also eskevin scrinium, scrinolum, 6, 17, 21, 23, 25, 35
 scriptio, scriptis, 19, 20, 21, 22, 46A, 47, 49, 50, 51, 53, 54, 59, 60, 65, 73, 75, 77;
 scriptum, 28, 30, 34, 67, 76, 77, 78, 83,
 89, 91, 92, 92B, 101, 102, 105, 108, 110,
 110A, 113, 120; see also carta, instrumentum publicum, litterae, pagina scrutinium, 96
 scutella, 96
 seclusa, 44 (chap. 21)
 secularis persona, 5, 6, 10, 38, 53, 59, 61, 63, 68, 69, 70, 74, 88; see also laicus sedia, 20
 segneignie, 128B, see also dominium, in-dominicatum seigneur, 132, 134.; see also dominus, monsieur seminare, 73
 senescallus, 44 (chap. 22); see also Vermandois, seneschals sepultura, 44 (chaps. 1, 13, 14, 21), 86, 88;
 see also tumulatus
 serviens, 43, 52, 60, 73, 100A, 116, 127
 servitium, 23, 29, 53, 71, 76, 106, 107, 115
 n. 3, 116, p. 10; pro expeditione, 117, 118; see also debitum
 servus, 31, 38, 39, 44 (chap. 21)
 sextarium, 23 and comment, 58, 96, 107,
 110A, 126, 129, 138; sextariata, 126,
 133, 135
 signifer, 25
 socium, 110
 solidus, 1, 15, 22, 23, 32, 36, 39, 42, 44
 (chaps. 4, 8, 21, 26), 48, 53, 56, 73, 79,
 83, 96, 97, 100, 106, 117, 125; sol, 131, 136; saulz, 137; solidi alborum, 114 and
 n. 1
 somarium, summarium, 44 (chap. 21), 53, 117, 118
- sponsalia, 124
 subgregarius, 8
 sublevita, 56
 submonitio, 96, 117, 118
 subthesaurius, 48
 suffraganeum, 1, 54
 supellex, 35
 sylva, 7, 21, 25, 35, 44 (chaps. 3, 4), 58, 65, 101, miricis et frutetis, 15; see also haia, nemus synodalium, 142; synodus, 144 taille, 128C
 tenements, 96, 136 terra petrosa (or avesna or aquosa), 71
 terragium, 24, 61, 66, 71, 74, 79, 103A, 108, 128B, 132
 territorium, 41, 46A, 60, 65, 66, 75, 80, 82, 88, 91, 94, 100A, 101, 102, 103A, 129,
 130, 132, 133, 134
 terroir, 134, 137
 testamentum, 10, 35
 testimonium, 26, 30, 31, 46A, 67, 71, 75, 92,
 95, 99, 113, 114, 122, 124, 125, 126, 127,
 128A, 128D, 129, 130, 132, 138, 139;
 tesmoins, 128A, 134; sub testificatione, 22
 thesaurarius, 31, 33, 37, 48 and n. 2, 53, 58, 64, 67, 68, 83; see also custos thesaurus, 12, 35, 44 (chap. 2), 54 traditio, 7, 11, 13, 19, 22, 25, 41, 42; see also commutatio
 traditor, 14
 triennium, 66
 triticum, 98, 112
 tumulatus, 21, 44 (chap. 18), 81; see also se-pultura tutela, 71
 us, usus, 58, 124, 132; see also consuetudines vadimonium, 34, 44 (chaps. 2, 14) vadium, 44 (chap. 21), 96; invadiare, 76 vassalus, 3, 8, 9, 15, 17, 18, 19, 23
 veatio. See viagium
 vectura, 73, 104
 vehiculum, 74, 101
 venatio, 23
 venditio, 69, 70, 96
 verges, 128C, 132
 verres, 117, 118; see also aprum

- via, 19, 73, 126; viaticus, 25
 viagium, 109 and n. 2 vicus, 9, 44 (chaps. 1, 2, 5), 122, 124
 vienator, 56
 villa, 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, 17, 18, 19, 20, 23, 24, 29, 30, 38, 44
 (chaps. 1, 2, 11, 13, 16, 17, 20, 24), 53,
 64, 67, 68, 83, 84, 96, 97, 98, 100A,
 106, 116, 117, 118, 121, 124, 128C,
 130, 132, 137, 138, 139, p. 10
 villicus, 71
 villula, 44 (chap. 22), 58
 vinagium, vinarium, 88, 126, 129, 137; see also vinea
- vindemia, 47, 114
 vinea, 7, 14, 20, 53, 61, 67, 68, 88, 124, 137;
 see also vinagium
 virga, 126, 129
 viri: boni, 72, 110A, 126, 128C, 130; discreti, 100A, 123; honesti, 85, 94; illustri, 21; prudentes, 16; sapientes, 97; vene-
 rabilis, 4; bonnes gens, 128A, 128B, 137; probi homines, 139; see also homo vivarium, 103A
 warandia, 105
 werpire, 110, 121

2. INDEX NOMINUM

Personal names are rendered in English wherever possible, in accordance with Newman's plan for the edition. Individuals are cross-referenced by office or position, except for minor ecclesiastical positions such as deacon and subdeacon (probable identifications are in parentheses).

Place names appear in their modern French forms, with Latin forms cross-listed. All localities are in the département of Aisne except where otherwise noted; they are identified from Matton's Dictionnaire topographique du département de l'Aisne (1871) and the Dictionnaire national des communes de France (1972).

References are to the acts unless otherwise specified.

Abbreviations: dép. — département, ar. — arrondissement, c. — canton, com. — commune

- Abbatisvilia. See Abbeville*
 Abbeville (disappeared: ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, farm in com. Fontaine-Notre-Dame), Abbatisvilia, Abbeville, 38, 44 (chap. 10), 53, 60, 88, 91, 137; mayor, 44 (chap. 9), p. 14
 Abbo, bishop of Soissons (ca. 909-937), 1 and comment
Abede. See John Abede
 Ablaincourt (today Ablaincourt-Pressoir: ar. Péronne, c. Chaulnes), Albincont, Albincurtis, 49, 50, 52, 53, 100, p. 12
 Abo. See Abbo
 Absalon, abbot of Saint-Barthélemy of Nonon (1153/1154-1156), 72 and n. 1
 Acard, monk of Homblières, 101, 103A
 Achard, 12
 Achard, dean of Saint-Quentin, 9, 10
Acquicinensis. See Anchin
Adalbertus. See Albert
- Adam, abbot of Prémontré (1304-1327), 138
 Adam, abbot of Saint-André of Le Cateau (1132-1182), 67, 68
 Adam Palevir, nephew of Walter Oison, 51 and n. 2
 Adam, son of Isabel and Alger and grandson of Gerbert Rapin of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76
 Adam, subdeacon of Homblières, 70
Addo. See Aldo
Ade Cokenande, dame of Homblières and widow of Rainer of Clippes, 136
 Ade, deacon of Prémontré, 75
 Adelaide of Soupir, wife of Burchard of Guise, 43? 47 n. 1
 Adelaide, wife of Hugh Capet, 15
 Adelard, provost of Saint-André of Le Cateau, 32
 Adelelm, knight, 1
Adero le Grumeliere, 132

- Adrian Apois, master of Homblières, 141
- Adro (or Odo), son-in-law of Burdin of Monneppeuil, 61
- Adselin de Porta of Ribemont, father-in-law of Theoderic, 44 (chaps. 12, 13, 15), 53; same as Anselm of Ribemont?
- Aegidius.* See Giles
- Aelies.* See Alice
- Agapitus II, pope (946-955), 4 n. 1, 5 and n. 2, 6
- Agatha, wife of Milo, lord of Soissons, 114 n. 1
- Agelin, canon of Margères, 41
- Agellus, chancellor of Laon, 74
- Agnes, daughter of Wenric Vastel and wife of Manasses of Ramicourt, 87 n. 2
- Agnes, mother of Gerard of Berlancourt, 112 n. 1
- Agnes Quaille, dame of Homblières, 136
- Aimeric, chancellor of Pope Calixtus II, 38
- Aimo, advocate of Notre-Dame of Soissons, 8
- Alaincourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Halincurt, 88
- Alainsende.* See Milesinda
- Alard, 57
- Alard, archdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- Albano, cardinal bishop. See Hugh I, abbot of Homblières
- Alberic, abbot of Homblières, 20 and n. 1, 25, p. 8 n. 23, p. 16
- Alberic (canon of Laon), 14
- Alberic, cardinal bishop of Ostia (Italy), 59
- Alberic, chancellor of Saint-Quentin, 3
- Alberic, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 3, 10
- Alberic, didascalus of Saint-Quentin, 9
- Alberic, monk (of Homblières), 65
- Alberic, monk of Saint-Quentin, 16
- Alberic Rafus (error for Rufus?), 52
- Alberic of Roye, seneschal of Vermandois, 49 and n. 2, 50, 52, 54
- Alberic, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- Alberic, subdeacon of Prémontre, 58 variants
- Alberic Walbrun, knight of Homblières, 73, 74, 77 (laetus)? 83, 84, 87
- Albert, 67
- Albert, cardinal priest of San Lorenzo in Lucina (Rome), 88
- Albert, cook of Homblières, 49, 50, 57
- Albert I, count of Vermandois and abbot of Saint-Quentin (943-987/988), 2 and n. 1, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 12 and n. 1, 13, 16, 17, 18, 20 and n. 1, 21 and n. 1, 25, 27 n. 2, p. 3, p. 5, p. 6
- Albert II, count of Vermandois (ca. 1000-1021), 23 n. 1, 24 n. 1, p. 6, p. 17
- Albert, monk of Homblières, 96
- Albert of Morcourt, knight, 53
- Albert, priest (of Anchin), 67
- Albincort, Albincurtis.* See Ablaincourt
- Albo, canon of Saint-Quentin, 20, 21
- Albricus.* See Alberic
- Alchuus, monk of Homblières, 41
- Alcilde, wife of Burgard, 43; same as Adelaide, wife of Burchard of Guise?
- Aldo, abbot of Homblières, 36, 37, 38, p. 18
- Aldric, abbot of Saint-Thierry of Reims (1146-1165), 72 and n. 1
- Aleran, knight (of the abbey of Saint-André of Le Cateau), 32
- Alexander III, pope (1159-1181), 14 n. 1, 52 n. 4, 81 n. 1, 84 n. 1, 86 n. 1, 88, 89 and n. 1, 90, 91A, 92 and n. 1, 92A, 92B, 93, 99, pp. 14-15
- Alexis (monk of Homblières), 63
- Alger, husband of Isabel and son-in-law of Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76
- Alice, daughter of Hersend and Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76
- Alix of Estrées, wife of Guy II of Moy-de-l'Aisne, 80 n. 1
- Almaeric, Almoric, Almulric. See Arnalric
- Alneus, homo of Saint-Quentin, 17
- Alold (of Remaucourt), son of Vivian, 115
- Altavilla.* See Hauteville
- Altimons.* See Hautmont
- Alulf, abbot of Notre-Dame of Chauny (1139-1161), 72 and n. 1
- Amacharius, vassal of count of Vermandois, 18; probably same as Monacharius
- Amalcuin, chancellor of Saint-Médard of Soissons, 12
- Amalric, 88
- Amalric, abbot of Saint-Michel-en-Thiérache (ca. 1043-1052), 29 and n. 2
- Amalric (of Bernot), son of Gerard Hatterel, 98 and n. 1
- Amalric, knight and vassal of count of Vermandois, then monk of Homblières; father of Odo Pultrell; ancestor of Fulbert, 23, 24, 27, 34 and n. 1

- Amalric, son of Evrard of Marchavenne, 46A
- Amand, godfather or uncle of Gerbert and John, 49, 50
- Amiens (dép. Somme), Ambianensis, bishop, Derold; deacon, Ralph
- Amisard Lomel, rusticus, 80; same as Amisard, son of Bertha and Nauther? brother of Ralph Nitart?
- Amisard, son of Bertha, 61; see also Amisard Lomel
- Amoricus, Amoricus, Amulricus.* See Amalric
- Anagni, Italy, 92, 92B, 99
- Anchin (dép. Nord, ar. Douai, c. Marchiennes, com. Pecquencourt), Acquicennsis, Aquicentum, Aquincum, Aquicennsis, Aquicentum, 67; see also Saint-Saveur of Anchin
- Andrea.* See Saint André
- Andreas, knight (of Homblières), 101
- Angelbert, 13
- Angot, chancellor of Laon, 57, 61, 68
- Anguillula.* See Robert Anguillula
- Ansbert, monk of Saint-Quentin, 16
- Ansellus.* See Anselm
- Anselm, 88
- Anselm of Ato, 61
- Anselm (canon of Laon), 14
- Anselm, castellan of La Fère, 26
- Anselm, castellan of Saint-Quentin, 31
- Anselm, deacon of Homblières, 75; subdeacon, 73, 74
- Anselm, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 3, 9, 10
- Anselm, laicus, 78; same as Anselm of Lauergiis?
- Anselm of Lauergiis (or Leuergiis), knight of Homblières, 71, 74, 78? same as Anselm of Le Verguier?
- Anselm, mayor (of Fresnoy-le-Grand), and his son Anselm, 44 (chap. 2)
- Anselm Peregrinus, 88
- Anselm, priest (of Saint-Quentin), 40
- Anselm of Ribemont, 44 n. 12; same as Adselin de Porta of Ribemont?
- Anselm, son of Oilard, mayor of Saint-Quentin, 54
- Anselm, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- Anselm, subdeacon of Homblières. See Anselm, deacon of Homblières
- Anselm, subdeacon of Saint-Quentin, 33
- Anselm, vassal of count of Vermandois, 9
- Anselm of Le Verguier, laicus, 49, 50; same as Anselm of Lauergiis?
- Anser, knight and vassal of Gerbert and fidei of count of Vermandois, 3
- Ansfred, 19
- Antoine Thuret, prior of Homblières (1666–1716), p. 16, p. 20
- Apois.* See Adrian Apois
- Aquicentum, Aquincum, Aquicennsis, Aquicentum.* See Anchin
- Arblincourt (today Bac-Arblincourt: ar. Laon, c. Coucy-le-Château-Auffrique, hamlet in com. Bichancourt), Erblen-curtis. See Erzelin of Arblincourt
- Archies (ar. Saint-Quentin, farm in c. Boinain-en-Vermandois), Harchies, Haries. See John of Archies
- Arditius, cardinal deacon of San Teodoro (Rome), 88
- Ardoldus.* See Artold
- Armarius, priest (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Arnold, 13, 16
- Arnold, abbot of Homblières, 135, p. 19
- Arnold, abbot of Vicoigne (ca. 1190–1200), 105 and n. 4; deacon, 82; subdeacon, 69
- Arnold I, count of Flanders (918–965), 1, 11
- Arnold, deacon of Vicoigne. See Arnold, abbot of Vicoigne
- Arnold, dean of Homblières, 41, 42? 71, 72
- Arnold (of Florennes, stepson of Eilbert of Florennes), 13 and n. 2, 16, p. 3
- Arnold, marquisius. See Arnold I
- Arnold, monk of Arrouaise, 78
- Arnold, monk of Homblières, 36, 42, 49, 60? 71, 73
- Arnold, priest of Morcourt, 84
- Arnold, sacristan of Homblières, 41, 42?
- Arnold (of Seboncourt), 28
- Arnold, treasurer of Homblières, 58, 60?
- Arnulfus, Arnulphus.* See Arnold
- Arroasia, Arroisia.* See Arrouaise
- Arpardius, knight of count of Vermandois, 21
- Arras (dép. Pas-de-Calais). See Godescald, bishop of Arras; Ralph, bishop of Arras; Saint-Vaast of Arras
- Arrouaise (dép. Pas-de-Calais, ar. Arras, c. Bapaume, com. du Transloy), Arroasia, Arroisia, abbey: Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise; priories: Beaulieu, Margères
- Arsunvilla, 88
- Artold (or Artald), archbishop of Reims (931–940, 946–961), 1 and comment, 2, p. 2 n. 7
- Asleincourt.* See Englancourt

- Asselin de Porta.* See Adselin de Porta of Ribeumont
- Atavilla* (perhaps Altavilla). See Hauteville
- Athelli.* See Attilly
- Ata.* See Anselm
- Atteli.* See Attilly
- Attilly* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Athelli, Atteli, 79; see also Simon of Attilly
- Aubertus.* See Albert
- Aumône*, L' (dép. Loire-et-Cher, ar. Blois, c.
Ouzouer-le-Marché, com. La Colombe), Elemosina, abbey. See Philip, prior of Clairvaux
- Aurelianensis.* See John of Flacy
- Auriniacum.* See Origny-Sainte-Benoîte
- Authemier.* See Peter Authemier
- Authuin, Auton.* Perhaps Haution
- Aveniis.* See Avesnes
- Avesna.* See Avesne
- Avesne* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. and com.
Saint-Simon), Avesna? Avesnes, 126. See also Pagan of Avesne
- Avesnes* (today Avesnes-le-Comte; Pas-de-Calais, ar. Arras), Aveniis. See Nicholas of Avesnes, Walter Peluchel of Avesnes
- Aymer*, provost of cathedral of Noyon, 37
- Aysseni.* See Essigny-le-Grand
- Bacdobo.* See Baidobo
- Bachinem*, at Sissy, 132
- Bagare* See John of Bagare
- Baidalo* (or Baldalo), vassal of count of Vermandois, 13, 17, 18; probably same as Baidobo
- Baidobo*, Baildele, Bardelo
- Baidobo*, castellan (of Saint-Quentin), 20; probably same as Baidalo and Bardelo
- Baienpont.* See Bayempont
- Baildele*, 16, probably same as Baidalo
- Baine, Bainna.* See Neuville-en-Beine
- Baldric*, abbot of Saint-André of Le Cateau, 32 n. 1
- Baldric*, bishop of Noyon (1099–1113), 35
- Baldric*, subdeacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Baldwin*, abbot of Homblières, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 122, p. 19
- Baldwin*, abbot of Saint-Jean of Laon (1138–1148?), 56
- Baldwin II*, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile (1136–1164), 47, 72 and n. 1, 85, 87 n. 2
- Baldwin*, abbot of Saint-Vincent of Laon (d. 1153), 68 n. 1
- Baldwin*, archdeacon of Laon, 68
- Baldwin* of Béthancourt(-en-Vaux), son of knight Amalric, 27
- Baldwin II*, bishop of Noyon (1150–1167), 39 n. 2, 47 n. 3, 63 n. 1, 71, 72 and n. 1, 74 n. 1, 75, 78 n. 1, 87 n. 4, 98 n. 1
- Baldwin III*, bishop of Noyon (1167–1175), 91, 92 and n. 1, 92A, 99, p. 15
- Baldwin*, brother of Oillard, mayor of Saint-Quentin, 54 n. 5
- Baldwin* (canon of Laon), 14
- Baldwin*, chancellor of Noyon (1166/1168–1189), 91, 94
- Baldwin*, cleric of Sissy, then monk of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Ile, 44 (chap. 2)
- Baldwin IV*, count (marchio) of Flanders (988–1035), 22
- Baldwin*, deacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Baldwin*, dean of Noyon, 55, 72
- Baldwin* of Fieulaine, 128A, 128B
- Baldwin*, laicus, 74, 78
- Baldwin*, monk of Homblières, 49, 60?
- Baldwin*, priest (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Baldwin*, prior of Mont-Saint-Martin, 134
- Baldwin*, prior of Saint-Prix, 79
- Baldwin*, prior of Vicoigne, 85
- Baldwin*, provost of Noyon, 72
- Baldwin*, provost of Saint-André of Le Cateau, 32
- Baldwin* (?), provost of Saint-Quentin. See Waldin
- Baldwin*, son of Herlin, 52
- Baldwin*, son of Robert Paganus of Fieulaine, 71 n. 1
- Baldwin* of Soupir, 46A
- Baldwin*, subdeacon of Clairefontaine, 74
- Baldwin*, subprior of Clairefontaine, 74
- Balthulf*, monk of Homblières, 41
- Baninpons.* See Bayempont
- Barangarus* See Berengar
- Bardelo*, subcastellan (of Saint-Quentin), 21; probably same as Baidalo and Baidobo
- Bardulf*, monk of Homblières. See Bertulf
- Bagare* See John of Bagare
- Bartholomaeus.* See Saint-Barthélemy of Noyon
- Bartholomew*, bishop of Beauvais (1162–1175), 92B
- Bartholomew*, bishop of Laon (1113–1150), 39 n. 1, 46A, 47 and n. 1, 57, 67, 68
- Bartholomew*, camerarius. See Bartholomew of Roye
- Bartholomew*, chancellor of cathedral of Laon, 47

- Bartholomew, priest (of Anchin), 67, 68
 Bartholomew of Roye, royal chamberlain, 117
 Bartholomew, treasurer of cathedral of Laon (1138–1158), 68
 Bartholomew of Vir. See Bartholomew, bishop of Laon
Bauduin. See Baldwin
 Bayempont (destroyed: ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont, com. Regny), Baienpont, Baninpons, 44 (chap. 12), 105 and n. 1
 Bazoches-sur-Vesles (ar. Soissons, c. Braine). See Gerard of Bazoches Beatrice, sister of Gerard of Berlancourt, 112 n. 1
 Beaulieu (ar. Laon, c. Chauny, com. Beaumont-en-Beine), Bellus Locus (in Bena), priory of nuns of Arrouaise, 78, 100, 144
 Beaumont-en-Beine (ar. Laon, c. Chauny), Beaumont. See Peter of Beaumont-en-Beine Beauvais, Belvacensis, abbey: Saint-Quentin; bishops: Bartholomew, Henry Beauvois (today Beauvois-en-Vermandois: ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Beauvoir, Bellumvidere? Belvarium, 44 (chap. 22)? 53, 97
Beine. See Neuville-en-Beine
 Belial, 35
Bellaincort. See Berlancourt
 Bellême (dép. Orne, ar. Mortagne-au-Perche). See Ivo II of Bellême
Bellumvidere, 44 (chap. 22); perhaps Beauvois
Bellus Locus (in Bena). See Beaulieu
Belvacensis. See Beauvais
Belvarium See Beauvois
Bena. See Beaulieu
Benais. See Benay
 Benard, knight of Homblières, 73; same as Bernard (of Fieulaine)?
 Benay (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Benais. See Wicard of Benay, William of Benay
 Benedict, monk of Homblières, 41, 65
 Benedict, notary of Saint-Quentin, 9
 Benelin, 19
 Benevento, Italy, 88, 89
Barangarus. See Berengar
Beraut, 132
 Berengar, canon and provost of Saint-Quentin, 17, 18, 20, 21
 Berher, chancellor (of count of Château-Thierry), 19
 Berlancourt (ar. Vervins, c. Sains-Richau-mont), Bellaincort, Berlancourt. See Gerard of Berlancourt, Ralph (of Berlancourt)
 Berland, provost of Homblières, 10
 Bernard, abbot of Clairvaux (1114–1153), 62 and n. 1
 Bernard, abbot of Homblières, 29 and n. 1, 34 and n. 1, p. 17
 Bernard, cardinal bishop of Porto e Santa Rufina (Rome), 88
 Bernard, famulus of Homblières, 31
 Bernard (of Fieulaine), son of Robert Paganus, 71 and n. 1; same as Benard?
 Bernard (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
 Bernard of Laon, 44 (chap. 16)
 Bernard, priest (of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île), 85
 Bernard Senior (of Laon), 44 (chap. 16)
Bernevilla. See Bernoville
 Bern(a)er, 19
 Berner, abbot of Homblières, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 10, 12, 14, 16 and n. 1, 17 and n. 1, 18 n. 1, p. 2, p. 3, p. 4, p. 16
Bernonvilla. See Bernoville
 Bernot (ar. Vervins, c. Guise), Bernot, Bernotum, Bersnots, Brenhot, Brenorch, Brenort, Brenot, Brenoth, Brenotum, Bresnort(h), Bresno(s)t, Bresnot(h), Bronasco, 30, 44 (chaps. 20, 21), 47, 53, 81, 88, 98, 123, p. 10, p. 12; knights of: 88, Gerard Hatterel, Rainald, Robert, Wicard; mayor: Herbert. See also Gerard of Bernot; Ralph, priest of Bernot Bernoville (ar. Vervins, c. Guise, hamlet in com. Aisonville-et-Bernoville), Bernevilla, Bernonvilla, 44 (chaps. 8, 21)
 Berold, deacon (of Saint-Quentin), 10
 Bertain, Berte, daughter of Estevenes Minante and Havis, 121
 Bertha, abbess of Homblières, 1 and comment., p. 2
 Bertha, daughter of the knight Wallo, 7
 Bertha, wife of Nauther and mother of Ami-sard, 61
Berte. See Bertain
Berte Panarde, 132
Berten. See Henry of Berten
 Berthenicourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Bertignicourt, Berlincourt, 137, 140

- Bertignicourt, Bertincourt.* See Berthenicourt
- Bertold, chancellor (of Saint-Quentin), 20, 21
- Bertold, monk of Saint-Quentin, 24
- Berto(lsi)curtis*, near Harly, 44 (chap. 29), 106
- Bertulf, monk of Homblières, 66, 83, 84, 96, 97
- Berulf. See Rainulf
- Béthancourt (perhaps Béthancourt-en-Vaux: ar. Laon, c. Chauny), Betancurt, Betuncurtis. See Baldwin of Béthancourt(-en-Vaux), Hugh of Béthancourt(-en-Vaux)
- Betulfus.* See Bertulf
- Betuncurt.* See Béthancourt
- Bigos.* See Rainer II
- Bilgum*, 61
- Blanc Toupet, 132
- Boechon*, at Sissy, 132
- Boeni.* See Bony
- Bohéries (ar. Vervins, c. Guise, com. Vaden-court-et-Bohéries), Boheris, abbey, 103
- Boluin, subprior of Homblières, 96
- Bona, domina*, 140
- Bonard, cellarer of Homblières, 60, 77; monk, 65, 75
- Bonard (error of copyist), wife of Robert Buhuz, 44 (chap. 15)
- Bonetieres*, 98
- Bonneuil (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Ham, com. Esmery-Hallon), Bonolium, 63, 75, p. 13
- Bonolium.* See Bonneuil
- Bony (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Le Catelet), Boeni, 44 n. 1, 54 n. 4; precursor of Mont-Saint-Martin; see also Odo Vetus of Bony
- Bordeaux.* See Stephen li Bordeaux
- Borgne.* See Estevenes le Borgne
- Boseus de Beine.* See Neuville-en-Beine
- Boso, 12
- Boso, cardinal priest of Santa Pudenziana (Rome), 88
- Boso of Felcinum (perhaps Fluquières), 44 (chap. 18)
- Boso, subtreasurer (of Noyon), 48
- Bouvincourt-en-Vermandois (dép. Somme, ar. and c. Péronne), Bovencurtis, Bovin-curtis, 44 (chaps. 18, 19), 53
- Bouzincamp (today Boukincamp: ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois, com. Etaves-et-Bocquiaux), Busincamp, 74
- Bovencurtis, Bovincurtis.* See Bouvincourt-en-Vermandois
- Brai*, at Fresnoy-le-Grand, 128A, 128B
- Brancourt-le-Grand (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Braencortis, Brahencurtis, Brancort, Brancurtis, Brandi-curtis, Branecourt, 44 (chaps. 2, 4), 45, 51, 53, 65, 87 n. 2, 88, 115 n. 3
- Branestiaux.* See Robert Branestiaux
- Brasle (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont, com. Mont-d'Origny), Braslia, 77
- Brenhot, Brenorch, Brenort, Brenot(h), Brenotum, Bresnort(h), Bresno(s)t, Brestnoth.* See Bernot
- Breveric, subdeacon of Saint-Quentin, 29
- Brie (dép. Somme, ar. and c. Péronne). See Rainald, cure of Brie
- Brusiet*, 132
- Brocourt (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, farm in com. Omissy), Brocurt, 106
- Bronosco* See Bernot
- Bruhris, laicus, 78; same as Rohard of Wiège-Faty?
- Brunafossa, Brunelli fossa*, 85, 88
- Brunellus*, 53
- Bruno, abbot of Saint-Jean of Laon (1153-1158), 68
- Bucardus.* See Burchard of Guise
- Bucilly (ar. Vervins, c. Hirson), abbey, p. 3. See Louis, abbot of Bucilly
- Buda, wife of Maurice, 61
- Budo, knight and vassal of count of Vermandois, 18, 20; same as Dudo
- Bugare, Bugrus.* See John Bug(a)rūs
- Buhuz.* See Robert Buhuz
- Buisia.* See Guise
- Burchard of Guise (and Lesquielles), brother of Geoffrey, 43? 46A, 47 and n. 1, 59, 76 and n. 2; same as Buriard of Lesquielles
- Burdin of Monampteuil, 61
- Burgard, 43; same as Burchard of Guise?
- Burgard, vassal (of Hugh Capet), 15
- Buriard of Lesquielles. See Burchard of Guise
- Burri.* See Simon Burri
- Buschet.* See Hugh Buschet
- Busincamp.* See Bouzincamp
- Bux, villa*, 44 (chap. 24)
- Cacciacus, Caciacus.* See Quessy
- Cahuca.* See Ingelbert of Cahuca
- Calixtus II, pope (1119-1124), 37 n. 1, 38
- Calniacensis, Calviacensis.* See Chauny

- Calvus.* See Evrard Calvus, Hugh Calvus, William Calvus
- Camas* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon, hamlet in com. Jussy), Camach. See Lakes of Camas
- Camberon.* See Cambron
- Cambrai* (dép. Nord), Cameracensis, 32, 135
- Cambrai*, cathedral chapter; archdeacons: Alard, Gerard (and dean), John, Theodoric (and provost); bishops: Gerard II, Ingeran, Nicholas I; chancellor: Guerimbold; dean: Gerard; provosts: Theoderic, Thierry of Nesle
- Cambrelns.* See Quintin li Cambrelns
- Cambron* (ar. and c. Vervins, hamlet in com. Gercy), Cameron, 88
- Cameracensis.* See Cambrai
- Cameri, Camery.* See Chambry
- Campasnier, Campasuarius.* See Campigny
- Campigny* (Grand et Petit: ar. Laon, c. Chauny, farms in com. Neuville-en-Beine), Campasnier, Campasuarius, 39 and n. 2
- Caneteaux.* See Robert Caneteaux
- Caniery*, 137; perhaps Chambry
- Capel*, at Sissy, 132
- Capiniacum.* See Ralph of Capiniacum
- Carpentarius.* See Ermenold Carpentarius, Natal Carpentarius
- Casa Dei.* See Vicoigne
- Casteillon, Castelliacum, Castellionum, Castellum, Castellum, Catillon.* See Châtillon-sur-Oise
- Castellulum. Villula* near Châtillon-sur-Oise, 44 (chap. 22); see also Châtillon-sur-Oise
- Castellum (Novum).* See Le Gateau
- Catalaunensis.* See Châlons-sur-Marne
- Cateau, Le* (today Le Cateau-Cambrésis: dép. Nord, ar. Cambrai), Castellum (Novum), 32. See also Saint-André of Le Cateau
- Catillon.* See Châtillon-sur-Oise
- Cauniacus.* See Cugny
- Cauret*, son of Wenric Vastel, 87
- Cauvigny* (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, com. Lesdins), 15 n. 3
- Cauviniacus, Cavinacus.* See Choigny, Cauvigny, Cugny
- Caziacus* See Quessy
- Cerizy* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Cerisy, Cherisi, Cherisiacum, Chesiacum, 38, 125, 126, 128C, 129
- Châlons-sur-Marne* (dép. Marne), Catalaunensis; bishop: Gibuin; money of, 83
- Chambry* (ar. and c. Laon), Cameri, Camery, Caniery? 132, 137?
- Château-Thierry*, in county of Otmensis, chancellor: Berher; count: Herbert the Elder
- Châtillon-sur-Oise* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Casteillon, Castelliacum, Castellionum, Castellum, Castellulum, Catillon, 38, 44 (chap. 22), 53, 57, 58, 73, 88, 101, 128C, 132, p. 10, p. 12; mayor, 132; see also Nocort of Châtillon-sur-Oise
- Chauny* (ar. Laon), Calniacensis, Calviacensis, Chauny, 128C; see also Notre-Dame of Chauny, Wazelin of Chauny
- Chauvigny* (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, farm in com. Omissy), Cauviniacus? Choeni? 15 n. 3, 52 n. 5
- Chavigny* (ar. and c. Soissons), 15 n. 3
- Chelvillier*, 81
- Cherisi, Cherisiacum.* See Cerizy
- Chessoy* (dép. Somme, ar. Montdidier, c. Roye, com. Laucourt), 49 n. 2
- Cheuni, Cheuvi.* See Choigny
- Chevresis-les-Dames* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont, hamlet in com. La Ferté-Chevresis), Kievresis, Quenesis? See Gerard of Chevresis-les-Dames, John of Chevresis-les-Dames
- Chièvre rue*, at Sissy, 132
- Chirisiacum.* See Cerizy
- Choeni* See Choigny, Cugny
- Choigny* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne, hamlet in com. Brissay-Choigny), Cauviniacus? Cheuni, Cheuvi, Choeni, 38 n. 2, 52 and n. 5, 78, 88? mayor: Rainald; see also Cugny, Robert of Choigny
- Christian*, nephew of Romelide (wife of Gerard of Le Ponchaux), 44 (chap. 3)
- Cisnium* (error for Gisneum). See Wiège-Faty
- Clairefontaine* (ar. Vervins, c. La Capelle-en-Thiérache), Claraefons, Clar(a)efontanensis, Clarifons, Clarofontanensis, abbey, 74, 88; abbot: Gerard, prior: John; provost: Ricold; subprior: Baldwin
- Clairvaux* (dép. Aube, ar. and c. Bar-sur-Aube, com. Ville-sous-la-Ferté), Clarevallis, abbey; abbot: Bernard, prior: Philip (later abbot of L'Aumône)

- Clarafontanensis. See Clairefontaine*
- Clarebaldus. See Clarembald*
- Clarembald, knight of Homblières, 73; same as Clarembald, laicus?
- Clarembald, laicus, brother of Walter Cocus of Homblières, 49, 50, 57? 83; same as Clarembald, knight of Homblières?
- Clarembald, son of Ralph Piler, 43
- Clarembald III of Vendueil, brother of Hugh Captivus, 54 and n. 3, 59
- Clarembald of Wiège-Faty, brother of Rohard, 47 and n. 4, 76
- Clarembard, Clarembald. See Clarembald
- Clarevallis. See Clairvaux*
- Clarifons, Clansfontanensis. See Clairefontaine*
- Clastres (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Clastra, Clastris, vicus of Saint-Quentin, 44 (chap. 5) and n. 3; see also Guy of Clastres
- Clement, knight of count of Vermandois, 25
- Clement, subprior of Ourscamp, 41
- Clerc. See John li Clerc*
- Clippes. See Rainer of Clippes*
- Codiciacum. See Coucy-le-Château*
- Coivrel. See John Coivrel or Sacrois*
- Cokenarde. See Ade Cokenarde*
- Colin of Croix-Fonsommes, brother of Abbot John of Sacrois, 141
- Colteel. See Ralph Colteel*
- Combles (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne), Cumbles. See John of Combles
- Communia. See Ponchard of Communia*
- Compiègne (dép. Oise). See Saint-Corneille of Compiègne
- Condren (ar. Laon, c. Chauny), Condre, Coudre, 80 and n. 3; see also Geoffrey of Condren
- Conrad, abbot of Prémontré (1220-1232), 120
- Conrad, cardinal bishop of Sabina (Italy), 53
- Conson, laicus, 74
- Constantius, homo of Saint-Quentin, 17
- Constantius, servus (marshal) of Count Herbert IV of Vermandois, 31
- Corbiniacum. See Curbigny*
- Cornet. See Huart Cornet*
- Cortisel Saint-Eloi, at Fresnoy-le-Grand, 128A, 128B
- Coucy-le-Château (today Coucy-le-Château-Auffrique: ar. Laon), Codiciacum. See Guy of Coucy-le-Château
- Coudre (error for Condre). See Condren*
- Courcelles (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, com. Fonsommes), Courcellas, Curcellas, Courcelles, 29, 38, 44 (chaps. 1, 6), 53, 60, 82, 88, 128D, 135
- Courcelles (? dép. Somme, ar. and com. Péronne?), Curcellensis, Curticella, 16 and n. 1
- Courtenay (dép. Loiret, ar. Montargis). See Robert of Courtenay
- Crassus. See Odo Crassus*
- Cretes. See Robert li Cretes of Fresnoy-le-Grand*
- Cretons. See John Cretons of Roupy*
- Creutes, Les, at Frise, 131 and n. 1*
- Criptella, 88*
- Crispin, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 3; sacristan, 9, 10
- Crois. See Croix-Fonsommes*
- Croisette, 132*
- Croix-Fonsommes (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Crois, Croix, Crux, 44 (chap. 1), 103A; see also Colin of Croix-Fonsommes*
- Croix. See Croix-Fonsommes*
- Cugny (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Cauniacus? Cauviniacus, Caviniacus, Cauwiniacus, Choeni? Kahuncugum? Keugny, 5, 6, 15 and n. 3 and comment, 23, 38 and n. 2, 52 n. 5, 53, 78? 88, 128C, p. 4 n. 15, p. 6; see also Choigny
- Cuhuca. See Ingelbert of Cahuca*
- Cuissy-et-Geny (ar. Laon, c. Craonne), Cusciacensis, Cusiacum. See Notre-Dame of Cuissy*
- Cumbles. See Combles*
- Curbigny (disappeared: ar. and c. Vervins, farm in com. Houry), Corbiniacum, 53
- Curcellas, Courcellensis, Curcelles, Curticella. See Courcelles*
- Cuscoul. See Ralph Cuscoul*
- Cusiacensis, Cusiacum. See Cuissy-et-Geny*
- Dallon (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Dalon, 79
- Dediniacus. See Dinche*
- Deheries. See Le Hérie-la-Viéville*
- Deodat, chancellor of Saint-Quentin, 28, 29
- Deodat, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 9
- Deodat, prior of Saint-Prix, 60
- Derold, bishop of Amiens (d. 946), 1 and comment

- Dessigny.* See Essigny-le-Petit
- Deuillet* (ar. Laon, c. La Fère), Dulli, Dulliacum. See Evrard of Deuillet
- Diammicus* (deacon of Laon), 68
- Didier*, bishop of Thérouanne (1171-1186), 89 n. 1
- Diegnus.* See Doignies
- Dinche* (dép. Nord, ar. Avesnes-sur-Helpe, c. Landrecies, com. Prisches), Dedinicus, 32, 34 and nn. 1-2
- Doda*, daughter of Oilbald Porell and wife of Rainer of Guise, 44 (chap. 1)
- Doda*, mother of Levulf, Roger, and Robert, 44 (chap. 1)
- Doignies* (dép. Nord, ar. Cambrai, c. Marcoing), Diegnus, 56
- Doisles*, field in Bernot, 98
- Domicellus.* See Evrard Domicellus
- Droard* of Pinon, royal provost of Vermandois, 122
- Drogo* of Duvellun, 87
- Drogo*, knight of count of Vermandois, 25, 29
- Drogo*, prior of Saint-Pierre of Lihons, 63 n. 1
- Duchisa*, wife of John Bug(a)rus, 49 n. 4
- Dudo*, abbot of Valsecret. See Udo, abbot of Valledarenensis
- Dudo*, knight and vassal of count of Vermandois, 9, 18, 21; same as Budo
- Dudo* of Saint-Quentin, dean and historian, 23 n. 1, 34 n. 3
- Dulli, Duilliaccum.* See Deuillet
- Durbia.* See Milo of Durbia
- Dury* (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Duri. See Wibald of Dury
- Duvellun.* See Drogo of Duvellun
- Egidius.* See Giles
- Elbert* of Florennes, fidelis and vassal of count of Vermandois, 1 n. 3, 2 and n. 2, 4, 5, 6, 9 variant t, 13? 16 and n. 1, 19, p. 3, Table I
- Eilfrid*, dean of Saint-André of Le Cateau, 32
- Elbert*, seneschal of Geoffrey, lord of Ribemont, 44 (chap. 22)
- Elemasina.* See L'Aumône
- Elger* (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
- Eta.* See Helias
- Eligius.* See Saint-Eloi
- Eligius*, bishop of Noyon, p. 1
- Eligius*, monk of Homblières, 41; same as Giles?
- Elizabeth*, wife of Rainer I, seneschal of Vermandois, 87 n. 4
- Elizabeth*, wife of Robert Li Frans of Lesdins, 109
- Elizabeth*, wife of Robert Paganus of Fieu-laine, 71 n. 1
- Elizabeth*, wife of Wicard Senior, knight of Morcourt, and mother of William of Benay, 81
- Elone.* See Saint-Amand-les-Eaux
- Elvard*, prior of Margères, 41
- Emeline*, domicella, 126
- Emma*, countess and (first?) wife of Count Otto of Vermandois, 23, 25
- Engelbertus.* See Ingelbert
- Englancourt* (ar. Vervins, c. La Capelle-en-Thiérache), Asteincourt, 80. See also Guy of Englancourt
- Epinois, L'*(ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois, hamlet in com. Etaves-et-Bocquiaux), Espinot, Spinoy. See Richer of L'Epinois, Robert of L'Epinois
- Erbertus.* See Herbert
- Erblencurtis.* See Arblincourt
- Erchembod*, chancellor of bishop of Noyon, 1
- Erchembold* (vassal of count of Vermandois), 12, 23
- Erin* (dép. Pas-de-Calais, ar. Arras, c. Heuchin). See Eva of Erin
- Eringarde*, wife of Helvin, 44 (chap. 1)
- Erlebald* (canon of Laon), 14
- Erlebold*, dean then abbot of Homblières, 32 and n. 1, 33, p. 17
- Ermenfrod*, colonus, 44 (chap. 8)
- Ermengarde*, daughter of Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand and wife of Ralph Colteel, 76
- Ermengarde* of Ouchette, 132
- Ermengarde*, wife of Count Herbert III of Vermandois, 20, 21; mother of Count Otto of Vermandois, 23, 25 and n. 1, 30, 44 (chap. 20)
- Ermenold* Carpentarius, 61
- Ernald*, son of conversa Ohalt, 61
- Ernold*, homo of Bernot, 30, 44 (chap. 20)
- Ernulf*, subdeacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Eruburge*, domina, 88
- Erzelin* of Arblincourt, father of Thomas of Marle and Guy of Coucy-le-Château, 44 (chap. 12) and n. 6
- Escheline*, wife of Scot, 57

- Escot, son of Ralph Piler and not yet a knight, 43; same as Scot?
- Eselin, feudal tenant of Homblières, 59, p. 9
- Espinot.* See L'Epinois
- Essigny-le-Grand (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Ayseni, Issigniacum, 80, 93. See also Simon of Essigny-le-Grand
- Essigny-le-Petit (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Designy (for d'Essigny), Isianensis, Isinacum, Issimacum, Sissigni? 44 (chaps. 1, 6), 49? 60, 71; see also Mainard, Ralph (of Essigny-le-Petit), Ralph of Sissigni, Robert (of Essigny-le-Petit), Wicard (of Essigny-le-Petit?), Witbert of Essigny-le-Petit
- Esterpenig.* See Eterpigny
- Estevenes le Borgne, husband of Lussain, 121
- Estevenes Minante, father of Lussain, 121
- Estivenes, maître (of Homblières), 136
- Estrées. See Alix of Estrées
- Etaves-et-Bocquiaux (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Stabulis See Robert of Etaves-et-Bocquiaux, Waldo of Etaves-et-Bocquiaux
- Eterpigny (dép. Somme, ar. and c. Péronne), Esterpenig. Hospitallers of, 131; see also Hospitallers
- Euche, between Homblières and Tilloy, 84
- Eudoldicurtis.* See Heudicourt
- Eugenius III, pope (1145-1153), 14 n. 2, 42 nn. 1 and 3, 51 n. 1, 53, 59, 67 and n. 1, 81 n. 1, 86 n. 1, 91
- Eustace, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- Eva of Erin, 105 n. 2
- Evagrius, bishop of Utrecht, 1
- Ewaldus.* See Evrard
- Evrard, 12
- Evrard, abbot of Saint-Prix (1174-1182), 94
- Evrard (of Bernot), son of Gerard Hatterel, 98 n. 1
- Evrard, bishop of Tournai, 99 comment
- Evrard Calvus, brother of Stephen and monk of Homblières, 44 (chaps. 7, 21); same as Evrard, domesticus
- Evrard, castellan of Tournai, 105 n. 2
- Evrard, chancellor and subgregarius of Notre-Dame of Soissons, 8
- Evrard, deacon of Homblières, 70, 73, 74
- Evrard, deacon (of Saint-Quentin), 40
- Evrard of Deuillet, knight, 39, 52
- Evrard, domesticus (of count of Vermandois), 31, p. 9; same as Evrard Calvus
- Evrard Domicellus, 44 (chap. 1)
- Evrard, knight, 1, 86
- Evrard of Marchavenne, brother of Wicard of Bernot, 46A, 88
- Evrard, monk of Homblières, 96
- Evrard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, knight and brother of Wicard, 47, 66, 98 n. 1
- Evrard, priest of Saint-Quentin, 9, 10, 29
- Evrard, prior of Margères, 78 and n. 1
- Evrard, provost of Notre-Dame of Soissons, 8
- Evrard, son of Harduin of Ribemont, 44 (chap. 6)
- Evrard, son of Marie and grandson of Romélide of Prémont, 44 (chap. 2)
- Evirin, son of Rotlan, 52
- Faïel, Faïet.* See Fayet
- Faignoles, dominus of*, 132
- Faihel.* See Fayet
- Faillouël (ar. Laon, c. Chauny, hamlet in com. Frières-Faillouël), Folloviel. See Simon of Faillouël
- Fait.* See Fayet
- Falva*, 88
- Faluich, laicus, father of Roger, 78
- Fargny (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Combles, com. Curlu), 78 n. 1
- Farvaches, Farvachiis.* See Fervaques
- Fasticum, Fastis.* See Wiège-Faty
- Favarches, Favarkes.* See Fervaques
- Fayet (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Faïel, Faïet, Faihel, Fait, 53, 88; see also Oda of Fayet, Odo of Fayet, Richild of Fayet, Rogo of Fayet, Simon (of Fayet)
- Fayhe.* See John le Fayhe
- Felcheris.* See Fluquières
- Felcignum.* Perhaps Fluquières
- Fera, Feria.* See La Fère
- Fère, La (ar. Laon), Fera, Fena, 26 (castle), p. 10; castellans: Anselm, Saracen; knight: Ultric
- Ferold, 12
- Ferravae* See Frières-Faillouël
- Ferrariis.* See Ferrières
- Ferrières (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont, farm in com. La Ferté-Chevresis), Ferravis, 88
- Fervaques (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, com. Fonsomme), Farvaches, Favarchiis, Favarkes, Favaches, Fervagiis, abbey of Notre-Dame, 87 n. 4, 110, 111 n. 2, 120, 135; abbesses, 144, Marie

- Fieulaine (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Filanis, Fillanis, Fiuaines, Fuillanas, Fuillanes, Fuillas, 44 (chaps. 7, 9), 88; see also Baldwin of Fieulaine, Guy Senex of Fieulaine, Robert Paganus of Fieulaine, Weric of Fieulaine, Wildric (of Fieulaine)
- Filanis*, Fillanis, Fiuaines. See Fieulaine
- Flacy (perhaps: dép. Loiret, ar. Orléans, c. Neuville-aux-Bois, com. Loury), Flaciacum. See John of Flacy
- Flamen(s)* See Hugh Flamen, Robert Flamens of Roupy
- Flameske*. See Marien Flameske
- Flanders, counts of. See Arnold I; Baldwin IV; Philip, count of Flanders and Vermandois
- Flavigny (ar. Vervins, c. Guise), Flaviniacum, Flaviniacum, 46, 47
- Flooard, historian, 1 comment, 2 n. 1
- Florennes (Belgium, province Namur, ar. Philippeville). See Arnold (of Florennes), Eilbert of Florennes, Hersend (of Florennes)
- Florent. See Fouocard
- Fluquières (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Felcherius, Felcinum? See Boso of Felcinum, Robert of Fluquières
- Foigny (ar. and c. Vervins, com. La Bou teilie), Fusniacensis, abbey, 103; see also Robert, abbot of Foigny
- Foillanum*, Foillion, Foliacus. See Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx
- Folletum*. See Fouilloy
- Folloviel*. See Faillouël
- Fonsommes (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Fons Somonae, Fonsomas, Fonsommes, Fontissome, Fontissumma, 44 (chap. 1), 60, 87 n. 4, 88, 110, 134; see also Rainer, senechal of Vermandois and lord of Fonsommes
- Fontaine-Notre-Dame (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Fontanas (iuxta Fuillas), Fontanensis, Fontanis, Fontanellis, 3, 44 (chap. 9), 53, 66, 88, 91, p. 14
- Fontaine-Uterte (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bo hain-en-Vermandois), Fontanus in Colle, Fontanis in Monte, 44 (chap. 2), 87, 88
- Fontanas*, Fontanellis, Fontanensis, Fontanis. See Fontaine-Notre-Dame
- Fontanis in Colle*, in Monte. See Fontaine-Uterte
- Fontissomene*, Fontissumma. See Fonsommes
- Foucard, bishop of Noyon (1317-1331), 139
- Fouilloy (dép. Somme, ar. Amiens, c. Corbie), Folletum. See Walter of Fouilloy
- Foylien, Foyllanus. See Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx
- Frainetum*, Fraisindum, Fraisnedum, Fraisnoit, Fraisnote, Fraisnoy(l). See Fresnoy-le-Grand
- France, Francia, 27. See also kings: Henry I; Hugh Capet; Hugh the Great; Lothair; Louis IV, VI, VII, VIII; Philip I, IV; Robert II
- Francofurtus*. See Fressancourt
- Frans*. See Robert li Frans of Lesdins
- Fransiniacum*, Fransnium, Frasindum. See Fresnoy-le-Grand
- Frapart, 128A, 128B
- Fras*. See John le Fras
- Fraxinetum*, Fraxiniacus. See Fresnoy-le-Grand
- Frediburg, wife of the knight Arpadius, 21
- Frednid, wife of knight Wallo and mother of Frednid, 7
- Freessendis, daughter of Gerbert and Her send of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76
- Fresnoy-le-Grand (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Frainetum, Fraisindum, Fraisnedum, Fraisnoit, Frais note, Fraisnoy, Franoiet, Fransiniacum, Fransnium, Frasindum, Fraxinetum, Fraxinacus, 3, 6, 18, 37, 38, 44 (chaps. 2, 25), 53, 65, 74, 76, 81, 88, 115, 128A, 128B, 134, p. 10, p. 12; mayors: Anselm, John; see also Gerbert Rapin of Fresnoy-le-Grand; Rainer Gordel of Fresnoy-le-Grand; Robert li Creles of Fresnoy-le-Grand; Robert of Fresnoy-le-Grand; Roger of Fresnoy-le-Grand
- Fressancourt (ar. Laon, c. La Fère), Franconum curtis, 44 (chap. 16)
- Freudo, knight of count of Vermandois, 25
- Fridnid. See Frednid
- Frières-Faillouël (ar. Laon, c. Chauny), Ferrarae, 138
- Frise (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Bray sur-Somme), Frisia, 5, 6, 27, 38, 42 n. 3, 44 (chap. 26), 53, 88, 131 and n. 1
- Fuillanes*, Fuillanas, Fuillas. See Fieulaine
- Fulbert, abbot of Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise (1151-1161), 78 and n. 1
- Fulbert, cleric of Homblières, 77
- Fulbert, descendant of knight Arnalric, 34 and n. 1

- Fulbert, priest (of Laon), 57
 Fulcard, layman? 66; same as Fulchrad
 Fulcher, dean of Noyon, 37
 Fulchrad, casatus of Homblières, 44 (chap. 11), p. 9; same as Fulcard
Fulcio, Fulco. See Fulk
 Fulcuin (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
Fulga. See Fulk
 Fulguin, dean of Saint-Médard of Soissons, 12
 Fulk, abbot of Hasnon (1141-1179), 67, 68
 Fulk, canon of Prémontré, 75
 Fulk, cellarer of Prémontré, 58 variant s
 Fulk, dean of Reims, 91A
 Fulk, provost of Saint-Quentin, 33
Fulk, scabinus of Homblières, 97, 98 (laicus)
 Fulk, vassal (of count of Vermandois), 8
 Fulver, deacon of Clairefontaine, 74
Fundus, 88
Furseus. See Saint-Fursy of Péronne
Fusniacensis. See Foigny
- Galcer, monk (of Homblières), 65
 Galeran, abbot of Notre-Dame of Ourscamp (1129-1143), 41
Galgiacum, 44 (chap. 26)
Gallerus. See Walter
Garderus. See Gerard of Le Ponchaux
 Garembert, abbot of Mont-Saint-Martin (1136), 44 n. 1
 Garin I, abbot of Homblières, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77 and n. 1, 78, 79 and n. 1, 79A, p. 18
 Garin II, abbot of Homblières, p. 19
 Garin, abbot of Saint-Martin of Laon (1151-1171), 68
 Garin III, abbot of Saint-Prix (1145-1148), 47, 50, 54 and n. 4, 55, 60 and n. 1
 Garin, bishop of Senlis and royal chancellor, 117
 Garnier, abbot of Saint-Barthélemy of Noyon (1140-1153/1154), 72 n. 1
 Gauchy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Gauchi, Gauchy, 11 n. 2, 88; see also Robert of Gauchy
Gaufridus. See Geoffrey
Gaulterus. See Walter
Gaurinus. See Garin
 Gausmaur, 12
Gauterus. See Walter
 Gauzbert, advocate of Saint-Quentin (ca. 982-987), 17, 18, 20, 21; vassal (of count of Vermandois), 8
 Geila, wife of Jvo (of Nesle?), 15
Genesius. See Saint-Geniès
 Geoffrey, abbot of Saint-André of Le Cateau (1082-1118), 32 and n. 1
 Geoffrey (canon of Laon), 14
 Geoffrey, chanter of cathedral of Noyon, 94
 Geoffrey, chanter of Saint-Quentin, 36, 40
 Geoffrey of Condren, knight, 80
 Geoffrey II, dominus of Ribemont, 44 (chap. 22) and n. 12
 Geoffrey, duke of Upper Lorraine (1020/1027-1043), 34 and n. 1
 Geoffrey of Guise, knight of Homblières and brother of Burchard of Guise, 47 n. 1, 59, 74, 76
 Geoffrey, knight of Homblières, 110
 Geoffrey, knight and vassal of count of Vermandois, 21, 23, 24, 25, 28, 29
 Geoffrey, magister of Saint-Fursy of Péronne, 36
 Geoffrey Magnus (princeps of Péronne), 27
 Geoffrey, priest of Vicoigne, 69, 82
 George, secundicerius of Apostolic See, 6
Georgia. Error for Gerberge
Gerald. Error for Derold
 Gerald, abbot of Vicoigne (1153-1168), 69, 70, 82 and n. 1
 Gerard, 49
 Gerard, abbot of Clairefontaine (1131-1160), 47
 Gerard I, abbot of Saint-Prix (1043-1045/1047), 28, 29
 Gerard I, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île (1043-1075), 28, 29
 Gerard of Bazoches, bishop of Noyon (1222-1228), 119
 Gerard of Berlancourt, 112 and n. 1
 Gerard of Bernot, knight, 88 and n. 3, 89, 92, 92A, 94, 98 and n. 1, 99, 102, p. 12, p. 14
 Gerard of Bernot, pittancer of Homblières, 136
 Gerard II, bishop of Cambrai (1070-1092), 32 and n. 1
 Gerard, chancellor of Saint-Fursy of Péronne, 36
 Gerard of Chevresis-les-Dames, 134
 Gerard, deacon of Homblières, 73, 74, 82; monk, 42, 49, 96
 Gerard, dean and archdeacon of Cambrai, 56
 Gerard, dean of Saint-Quentin (1108-ca. 1141), 36, 40

- Gerard, eleemosinarius of Homblières, 41
 Gerard of Ham, dominus and son of Odo Pts Lopus, 52 and nn. 2 and 4, 88
 Gerard Hatterel. See Gerard of Bernot, knight
 Gerard of Hérie-la-Viéville, 128A, 128B
 Gerard, knight of count of Vermandois, 21;
see also Gerard Lopus
 Gerard Leprosus (of Homblières), 83
 Gerard Lopus, knight of Homblières, 71, 73, 77 (laicus)?
 Gerard, magister of chapter of Noyon, 36
 Gerard (of Marchavenne), knight and son of Evrard, 88
 Gerard, monk of Homblières. See Gerard, deacon of Homblières
 Gerard (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
 Gerard li Parmentiers, eskivin of Homblières,
 136
 Gerard of Le Ponchaux, 44 (chaps. 3, 7)
 Gerard Priere, 126
 Gerard, priest of Cambrai, 56
 Gerard, prior of Homblières, 36
 Gerard, provost of Homblières, 41, 42?
 Gerard (of Roupy), son of Oda and Robert,
 49, 50
 Gerard, son of knight Werric, 35
 Gerard, son of Wicard of Bernot, 46A
 Gerard, subdeacon of Vicoigne, 82
 Gerard, subtreasurer (of Laon), 68
 Gerard, vassal of count of Vermandois, 3
 Gerard li Vilain, 140
 Gerard Walter of Ham, 39
Gerardinus, fossatus, 41
Gerars. See Gerard
 Gerberge, queen of France, wife of King
 Lothair, 1, 8
 Gerberge, wife of Count Albert I of Vermandois, 3, 9, 10
 Gerbert, camerarius of Homblières, 36
 Gerbert, fidelis and vassal of count of Ver-mandois, 3; same as Gerbert, knight?
 Gerbert, knight, 1, 20; same as Gerbert, fidelis
 and vassal of count of Vermandois?
 Gerbert, laicus and godson or nephew of Amand, 49, 50
 Gerbert Rapin of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76 and
 n. 1, 81, p. 9
 Gerbert, son of Otimund (of Guise?), 57
 Gerelmanus, vassal (of Hugh Capet) and his son Gerelmanus, 15
Geribertus. See Gerbert
 Gerin, subdeacon (of Anchon), 67, 68 variant j
Gerlum, 97
 Gerold. Error for Derold
 Gerold, distractor, 14
 Gerold, knight of count of Vermandois, 25
 Gerold (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
 Gerold of Monticellum, 61
 Gerric, monk (of Homblières), 65
 Gertrude, wife of Simon Tuevillain of Hom-blières, 74 n. 1
 Gerzuin. Error for Gerin
 Gibuin I, bishop of Châlons-sur-Marne
 (947–998), 2
 Gilbert, abbot of Mont-Saint-Martin (1149– 1174), 65
 Gilbert, abbot of Saint-Martin of Laon, 61
 Gilbert, abbot of Saint-Nicolas-aux-Bois
 (1134–1156/1157), 72 and n. 1
 Gilbert (canon of Laon), 14
 Gilbert, son of knight Wallo, 7
 Gildier, bishop of Meaux, 1
Giles of Hamel, 132
Giles of Marcy, 132
Giles, monk of Homblières, 41? 65, 66, 71,
 82; priest, 70, 74; treasurer, 83
Giles of Rocourt, 134
Giles I, seneschal of Vermandois (1218– 1236), 112 n. 1
Gillernus. See William
Gilleval, at Sissy, 132
Gilo. See Giles
Girardus. See Gerard
Gioldus. See Gerold
Gislebert (canon of Laon), 14
Gisneia, Gisniacum. See Wiège-Faty
 Giso, advocate of Saint-Quentin, 3
 Gobert, abbot of Mont-Saint-Martin (1298– 1307?), 134
 Gobert of Homblières, 121
 Gobert of Muille-Villette, provost of Mont-
 Saint-Martin, 134
 Gobert (of Ribemont), son of Simon, 47 n. 3
 Gobert, subdeacon of Vicoigne, 82
Godefridus. See Geoffrey
Godernus. See Goteran
Godescalcus. See Godescald
Godescald. See Bernard Godescald
 Godescald, abbot of Mont-Saint-Martin
 (1140–1148), 47, 55
 Godescald, bishop of Arras, 82 n. 1
 Godescald (monk of Homblières), 65
 Godescald (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
Goiffridus, Goiffredus, Goiffridus. See Geoffrey

- Golancourt (dép. Oise, ar. Compiègne, c. Guiscard), Gollencurtis, 75
- Gombert, chancellor of Saint-Quentin, 31
- Gonfrid, 25 variant y; see Geoffrey, knight
- Gonter, priest (of chapter of Laon), 68
- Gordel*, Gordiaus. See Rainer Gordel of Fresnoy-le-Grand
- Gossuin le Grenetier, 130 n. 3
- Gossuin, monk of Homblières, 83
- Goszuinus*. See Gozuin
- Goteran(n), vassal of count of Vermandois, 3, 9, 17, 18
- Gothelin, duke of Lorraine (d. 1044), 34 n. 1
- Gotluin, monk of Homblières, 66
- Goufridus*. See Geoffrey
- Goulardus*. See Guy Goulardus VI of Moy-de-l'Aisne
- Govilla*. See Gulvile
- Gozuin, abbot of Saint-Sauveur of Anchim (1130/1131-1165), 67, 68
- Gozuin, priest of Prémontré, 75
- Gozuin, related to Helzelin of Origny-Saint-Benoîte? 77
- Gozzum, subdeacon of Homblières, 41
- Graisle*, 88
- Grarver (knight of count of Vermandois), 29
- Gratian, subdeacon and papal notary, 88
- Gregory, cardinal deacon of Sant'Angelo (Rome), 53
- Gregory, cardinal deacon of SS. Sergio e Bacco (Rome), 53
- Gregory, cardinal priest of San Callisto (Rome), 53
- Grenetier*. See Gossuin le Grenetier, William li Grenetier
- Gricourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), 87 n. 2
- Grimold, layman? 66
- Grimont (destroyed: ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne, com. Cerizy), Grimulbreias, 13
- Grimulbreias*. See Grimont
- Grinbert, deacon of Prémontré, 58 variant s
- Grossus Lius*, at Sissy, 132
- Grumeliere*. See Adero le Grumeliere
- Gualcherus*. See Walter
- Gualeranus*. See Galeran
- Gualina, wife of Wicard of Bernot, 44 (chap. 21)
- Gualterus*. See Walter
- Guarinus*. See Garin
- Guastel*. See Wenric Vastel
- Guerimbald, chancellor of Cambrai, 56
- Guerimbald, priest of Cambrai, 56
- Guibaud, abbot of Saint-Eloi of Noyon (1147?-1168), 72 and n. 1
- Guibert, abbot of Nogent, p. 9
- Guicardus*. See Wicard
- Guida*. See Guy
- Guidric, abbot of Liessies (1124-1147), 56
- Guidric, provost of Saint-Quentin, 29
- Guillaume*, Guillelm, Guillerm. See William
- Guise (ar. Vervins), Buisia, Guisia, Guisiensis? 44 (chap. 1)? 53, 56 n. 2; see also Burchard of Guise, Geoffrey of Guise, Herbert (of Guise), Otmund of Guise, Rainer (of Guise), Robert (of Guise), Saint-Gervais of Guise
- Gulvile*, Gulvilla, 65, 76, 88
- Gundibert, 19
- Guisiensis*. See Guise
- Guy, archbishop of Reims (1033-1055), 27
- Guy, bishop of Soissons (937-972), 2, 8
- Guy, cardinal deacon of SS. Cosma e Damiano (Rome), 53; papal chancellor, 59
- Guy, cardinal priest of San Lorenzo in Damaso (Rome), 53
- Guy, cardinal priest of San Crisogono (Rome), 53, 59
- Guy, castellan of Saint-Quentin, 44 (chap. 21)
- Guy, chancellor of Saint-Quentin, 33
- Guy of Clastres, 54
- Guy of Coucy-le-Château, brother of Robert of Marle and son of Erzelin of Arblincourt, 44 (chap. 12) and n. 6
- Guy of Englancourt, son of Guy II of Moy, 80; same as Guy Junior of Moy-de-l'Aisne
- Guy (of Fieulaine), son of Robert Paganus, 71 n. 1
- Guy Goulardus VI of Moy-de-l'Aisne, 134
- Guy Junior of Moy-de-l'Aisne, son of Guy II, 84; same as Guy of Englancourt
- Guy of Mézières-sur-Oise, 132
- Guy li Moines*, dominus, 134
- Guy II of Moy-de-l'Aisne, 48, 54, 57, 80 and n. 1, 84 and n. 1
- Guy of Noiasle (Noyales?), knight, 128A, 128B
- Guy, priest of Vicoigne, 105
- Guy of Remaucourt (knight of Homblières), 71

- Guy Senex of Fieulaine, 44 (chap. 12)
Guy Senex or Senior. See Guy II of Moy-de-l'Aisne
Guy of Soupir, 47 n. 1
Guy, treasurer of Saint-Quentin, 31
Guy of Ucceon, 80
Gypbnus, son of Witbert Rufus, 44 (chap. 10)
- Hadbrandeus, 19
Haderic, vassal of Eilbert of Florennes, 19
Haduilde, daughter of Harduin of Ribemont, 44 (chap. 6)
Hadulficurtis. Error for Rodulficurtis
Hagan, chanter of Noyon, 37
Haguncurtis. See Le Haucourt
Haimo, monk of Homblières, 75
Haimo of Saux, 100A
Hainaut, counts of. See Herman of Mons, Rainer V
Hairicurt, Hairiscut, 36 and n. 3
Haleium. See Harly
Halncurt. See Alaincourt
Halut. See Oilbald Porell of Halut, Robert of Halut
Ham (dép Somme, ar. Péronne), Ham, Hamensis, Hamium, Hem? 52, 75, p. 10; measure of, 75; via, 126; see also Gerard of Ham, Gerard Walter of Ham, Ivo, John of Hem, Notre-Dame of Ham, Odo Pes Lupus of Ham, Oudard of Hem, Robert Venator (of Ham)
Hamas. See Robert Hamas
Hamel (hamlet in c. Mézières-sur-Oise or c. de Beaurot?). See Giles of Hamel
Hamensis. See Ham
Hamsfred (or Hancfred), chancellor of Saint-Quentin, 9, 10, 17
Hangest-en-Santerre (dép. Somme, ar. Montdidier, c. Moreuil), Hangiest. See William of Hangest-en-Santerre
Hanoniensis. See Hasnon
Harbut, in Sissy, 132
Harchies, Haries. See Archies
Harduin, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 28, 29
Harduin, monk of Homblières, 42, 66, 75, 79, 96, 97
Harduin of Ribemont, 44 (chap. 6)
Harly (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Haleium, Harleium, Harli, 48, 64, 88, 106 n. 2, 132, p. 13; altar of Saint-Martin, 17; mayor, 132
Hasnon (dép. Nord, ar. Valenciennes, c. Saint-Amand-les-Eaux), Hanoniensis, Hasnnonensis, abbey. See Fulk, abbot of Hasnon
Hasnonnensis. See Hainaut, Hasnon
Hallerel. See Gerard Hallerel of Bernot
Hauart. See Wildric Hauart
Haucourt, Le (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Le Catellet), Haudiacurtis, Haguncurtis, Lehacourt, Ludolficurtis, 38, 53; see also William of Le Haucourt and Rouvroy
Haudiacurtis. See Le Haucourt
Hauteville (ar. Vervins, c. Guise), Altavilla, Atavilla? 22; see also Robert of Hauteville
Haution (c. Vervins), Authuin? Auton, 81, 82
Hautmont (dép. Nord, ar. Avesnes-sur-Helpe), Altimons. See Mainard, abbot of Saint-Pierre of Hautmont
Hauvid, domina of La Musse, 111
Havian, subdeacon (of Laon), 68
Havis, Havwi, wife of Estevenes Minante, 121
Haymeric, serviens of count of Vermandois, 100A
Haymo. See Haimo
Heilbert (perhaps Eilbert of Florennes), 13 and n. 2
Heilbert, knight, 1 and n. 3
Heldrad, castellan (of Saint-Quentin), 3
Heldrad, editius of Homblières, 32
Heldrad, monk of Homblières, 65, 101
Heldinus. See Hilduin
Helias, subdeacon of Homblières, 70, 73
Helier, 43
Hellin, priest of Rouvroy, 84
Helnona, Helnonnensis. See Saint-Amand-les-Eaux
Helsa, wife of Helzelin of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, 77
Helvida, provost of Notre-Dame of Soissons, 8
Helvin, brother of Tédzo and Eringarde, 44 (chap. 1); same as Hervin?
Helvis li Veskenesse, 122A
Helzelin, knight of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, 77
Hem (Ham?). See John of Hem, Oudard
Hennechy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois, farm in com. Seboncourt?), Hunchies, 105
Henry, abbot of Homblières (and of Saint-Remi of Reims), 31 and nn. 1 and 3, 44 (chap. 21) and comment, p. 8, p. 9, p. 17

- Henry, archbishop of Reims (1162–1175),
85 and n. 1, 92A, 92B, p. 15
- Henry of Berten, 61
- Henry, bishop of Beauvais, 49 n. 4
- Henry, deacon of Homblières, 70, 74, 75;
monk? 49
- Henry I, king of France (1031–1060), 23
comment, 27
- Henry, laicus (of Homblières), 98
- Henry Malus Clericus, 57
- Henry, monk of Homblières. See Henry,
prior of Homblières
- Henry, monk of Homblières, 49; then sub-deacon? 73, 74
- Henry, prior of Homblières, 97, 98, 101,
103A; monk? 96
- Henry, subdeacon of Homblières, 73, 74,
monk? 49
- Herbert. See also Helbert
- Herbert, abbot of Saint-Prix (1130–1134), 40
- Herbert II, count of Vermandois (900/907– 943), 1 and comment
- Herbert III, count of Vermandois (988–ca
1000), son of Count Albert I, 9, 10, 13, 16, 17, 18, 20 and n. 1, 21 and n. 1, p. 3
- Herbert IV, count of Vermandois (1045–
1081), 30 and n. 1, 31, 44 (chaps. 14,
20, 21) and comment, p. 8
- Herbert the Elder, count of Château-Thierry (943–980/984) and abbot of Saint-Médard of Soissons, 1 and comment, 12 and n. 1, 19 and nn. 1–2
- Herbert, father of Matthew, 52
- Herbert (of Guise), son of Rainer, 44 (chap.
1)
- Herbert, laicus, 24
- Herbert, mayor of Bernot, 98
- Herbert, monk of Homblières, 36, 42
- Herbert, prior of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont, 101
- Herbert, servus of count of Vermandois, 31
- Herbert, subchanter (of Laon), 68
- Herbert the Younger, count of Meaux (967– 994/995), 19 and n. 2
- Heribertus*. See Herbert
- Hérie-la-Viéville, Le (ar. Vervins, c. Sains-Richaumont), Deheries, Lecherias, Lehe-rias, Leheries, Leheris, 44 (chap. 16), 53, 88, 101, 128A, 128B; see also Gerard
- Herimanus*. See Herman
- Herisnidis*. See Hersend
- Herlin, 52
- Herman, cocus (of Homblières), 83
- Herman (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
- Herman of Mons, count of Hainaut (1039–
ca. 1050), 34 n. 1
- Hermengardis*. See Ermengarde
- Hermeran, 12
- Hermund, father of Robert Parvus, 61, 88?
- Hérouel (formerly a hamlet in ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand, com. Foreste), Heroues, 120 and n. 2
- Hersend, wife of Eilbert of Florennes, 2, 13
n. 2, 19, p. 3
- Hersend, wife of Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76
- Hertrad, monk of Saint-Quentin, 10
- Hervard, domicellus. See Evrard Domicellus
- Hervin, son of Mainard of Essigny-le-Petit, 44 (chap. 1); same as Helvin?
- Heszelin, knight of count of Vermandois, 25
- Heszelina, wife of cleric Theodoric of Urcel, 61
- Heudicourt (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c.
Roisel), Eudoldicurtis, 6
- Hilbert Piscator, 140
- Hildeberis, mother of Roger Mal and Ro-thard, 44 (chap. 1)
- Hildier, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 29
- Hildradus*. See Heldrad
- Hilduin, monk, 41, then provost of Hom-blières, 49, 52, 54, 58, 60, 65, 66, 70, 71, 74, 77, 78, 79
- Hincmar II, abbot of Saint-Rémi of Reims
(940–968), 1, 2, p. 2 n. 7
- Hisaperes*, 60
- Hivo*. See Ivo
- Homblières (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin),
Homblariensis, Homblariis, Humblarias,
Humolarius, Humolariensis, Humolarium,
13, 35, 41, p. 2
- abbey: see Notre-Dame of Homblières
- altar (church) of Saint-Etienne, 1, 17, 37, 38, 139
- cleric: Peter
- cure, 128C
- esk(i)evin* (see also scabini), 120, 121, 122A, 136, Gerard li Parmentiers, Lakes li
Tuiliers, Rainer Testars
- faber: Robert
- homines*, 44 (chap. 21), 97, 115, 116, 117, 118

- hospites*, 117, 118
 knights: Alberic Walbrun, Andreas, Anselm of Lauergiis, Benard, Bernard (of Fieulaine), Clarembald, Eselin? Fulchard, Geoffrey, Geoffrey of Guise, Gerard Lupus, Guy of Remaucourt, Nicholas, Odo, Ottimund of Guise, Rainer Gordel, Ralph of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, Robert of Hauteville, Simon Tuevillan, Walter of Marcy, Warchain? mayors: Mahius Roussias, Rainald I and II, Waleus, Walter parish, 128C priest: Hugh scabini (see also eskievin), 96, 97, Fulk, John Rufus, Peter Audemier, Paumar villa, 1, 4, 5, 6, 17, 25, 26, 38, 53, 83, 84, 96, 97, 116, 117, 118, 121, 128C, 139, 140
See also Ade Cokenarde; Agnes Quaille; Gerard Leprosus; Gobert of Homblières; Henry, laicus; Peter (Perron) Quaille of Homblières; Ulmund of Homblières; Walter, faber of Homblières; Wautiers Lingnoles of Homblières
- Honnecourt (dép. Nord, ar. Cambrai, c. Marcoing), Honnecourt, Hunnocurtensis. See Saint-Pierre of Honnecourt, Walter of Honnecourt
- Horegui*. See Origny-Sainte-Benoîte
- Horvennes*, woods near Roupy, 100A
- Hospinell, 73
- Hospitallers of Eterpigny, 144
- Houdain (dép. Pas-de-Calais, ar. Béthune), 136; see also Wautiers Lingnoles
- Huart Cornet, 132
- Hubald, cardinal bishop of Ostia (Italy), 88
- Hubald, cardinal priest of Santa Croce in Gerusalemme (Rome), 88
- Hubert, abbot of Homblières, 89 n. 1, 94, 95 and n. 1, 96 and n. 1, 97, 98, 100A, 101 and n. 1, 103A, 104, p. 15, p. 19; monk, 49, 66, 73, 84, 87, 91; prior, 74, 75, 77 and n. 1, 78 and n. 1, 79, 80, 82, 83, 91?
- Hubert, canon of Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise, 41
- Hubert, dean of Homblières, 31
- Hubert, monk of Saint-Quentin, 16
- Hubert, monk then prior of Homblières. See Hubert, abbot of Homblières
- Hubert of Petris, 97
- Hubert, prior of Homblières. See Hubert, abbot of Homblières
- Hubert, subdeacon of Saint-Quentin, 28
- Hugh, 12, 19
- Hugh I, abbot of Homblières (and cardinal bishop of Albano [Italy]), 39, 40, 41, 42 and n. 1, 46A, 62? and n. 2, p. 9, p. 18
- Hugh II, abbot of Homblières, 48, 49, 50, 51 and n. 1, 53, 54 and n. 1, 55, 56, 58, 59, 60 and n. 1, 61, 62? and n. 2, 63 and n. 1, 64, p. 9, p. 18; then abbot of Saint-Amand-les-Eaux, 79A; see also Hugh II, abbot of Saint-Amand-les-Eaux
- Hugh III, abbot of Homblières, 105, 108, 109, 111 and n. 1, p. 19
- Hugh II, abbot of Marchiennes (1148–1158), 67, 68
- Hugh I, abbot of Mont-Saint-Quentin (1140–1172), 72 and n. 1, 89, 92, p. 14
- Hugh I, abbot of Prémontré (1128–1161), 63 and n. 1, 75
- Hugh II, abbot of Saint-Amand-les-Eaux (1150–1168/1169), former abbot of Homblières, 67, 68 and n. 3, 69, 70, 79A
- Hugh (error for Walter), abbot of Saint-Martin of Tournai
- Hugh, archbishop of Reims (925–931, 946–961), son of Count Herbert II of Vermandois, 1 comment
- Hugh, archdeacon of Noyon, 37, 40
- Hugh of Béthancourt(-en-Vaux), lord, 131 n. 1
- Hugh, bishop of Laon (1339–1351), 142
- Hugh Buschet, provost of Notre-Dame of Ham, 52
- Hugh Calvus, monk of Homblières, 84, 87, 96, 97?
- Hugh Capet, duke and count, then king of the Franks (987–996), 14 n. 2, 15 and comment, 34 n. 3, p. 6
- Hugh Captivus of Vendeuil, knight and brother of Saracen, 54, 59, 80 n. 2
- Hugh, cardinal deacon of Sant'Eustachio (Rome), 88
- Hugh, cardinal priest of San Lorenzo in Lucina (Rome) and papal vicechancellor, 59
- Hugh II, chancellor of cathedral of Noyon (1110–1128), 36, 37

- Hugh III, chancellor of cathedral of Noyon (1129/1130–1163/1166), 40, 48, 50, 55, 72
- Hugh, chaplain of Homblières, 103A
- Hugh, dean of Saint-Fursy of Péronne, 100A
- Hugh, dean of Saint-Quentin, 9, 20, 21
- Hugh Flamen, 52
- Hugh the Great, duke of the Franks (d. 956), 1
- Hugh, mayor, 140
- Hugh, mayor of Solesmes, 32
- Hugh of Mézières-sur-Oise, 57
- Hugh, monk of Homblières, 49, 66, 97, 98;
see also Hugh Calvus
- Hugh, monk of Saint-Prix, 79
- Hugh of Monten, 44 (chap. 8)
- Hugh, priest (of village of Homblières), 140
- Hugh, priest (of Anchon), 67, 68
- Hugh, prior of Prémontré, 75
- Hugh, provost (of bishop of Laon), 14
- Hugh of Roye, son of Alberic, 49 n. 2
- Hugh, serviens of abbot of Notre-Dame of Ham, 52
- Hugh of Soissons, magister, 135
- Hugh, son of conversa Ohalt, 61
- Hugh of Trescault, 32
- Huga. See Hugh
- Huillardus. See Oilard
- Humbert, deacon of Homblières, 58
- Humblerias, Humolarias, Humolariensis, Humolarium. See Homblières
- Humuncalis. See John of Humuncalis
- Hunchies. See Hennechy
- Hunegund, saint, 2, 4, 5, 6, 20, 21, 23, 28, 32, 66; body of, 1, 7, 32, 98, 106; feast of, 28, Translatio, 34 n. 1, p. 3; see also p. 8 n. 26
- Hunnocurtensis. See Honnecourt
- Hunold (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
- Huon le Mammer, 132
- Jacobus*. See James
- Lakes of Camas, pittancer of Homblières, 136
- Lakes li Tuiliers, eskevin of Homblières, 136
- Iambertus. See Lambert
- Iampart. See Ralph
- Iean, Iehan. See John
- Legard (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
- Iesse, priest and nuntius of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont, 103
- Iger, priest (of Anchon), 67, 68 (Siger, in error)
- Imar, cardinal bishop of Frascati (Tusculum [Italy]), 59
- Immo, archdeacon (of Laon), 14
- Ingelbert of Cahua, 44 (chap. 17)
- Ingelbert, dean of Homblières, 71, 72, 84
- Ingelbert, servus of count of Vermandois, 31
- Ingenulf, deacon (of Laon), 14
- Ingeran, abbot of Saint-Médard of Soissons (1148–1177), 67, 68
- Ingeran, bishop of Cambrai (957?–960), 1 and comment
- Ingeran, chaplain of Mont-Saint-Martin, 134
- Ingeran, magister (of Noyon), 94
- Ingeran Oisun (vassal of count of Vermandois), brother of John Bug(a)rus, 49 and n. 4, 50
- Ingranius, Ingranus. See Ingeran
- Innocent II, pope (1130–1143), 46
- Insula. See Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île
- Johannes. See John, Saint-Jean
- Iordanus. See Jordan
- Iotcelinus. See Joscelin
- Isabel, daughter of Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand and wife of Alger, 76
- Isara, river Oise, 38
- Isianensis, Isinacum. See Essigny-le-Petit
- Isle. See Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île
- Issigniacum. See Essigny-le-Grand
- Issimacum. See Essigny-le-Petit
- Judith. See Judith
- Julianus. See Julian
- Iuvinus, 88
- Ivo, advocate of Saint-Quentin, 23? 28, 29; same as Ivo of Nesle?
- Ivo II of Bellême, 15 n. 2
- Ivo, fidelis and vassal of count of Vermandois, and his son Ivo, 23; later advocate of Saint-Quentin, 28, 29; probably Ivo of Nesle
- Ivo, fidelis and vassal of Hugh Capet, and his son Ivo, 15 and n. 2; probably Ivo of Nesle
- Ivo of Nesle, castellan of Ham, 15? and n. 2, 23 and n. 2, 25; same as Ivo, advocate?
- Ivo II of Nesle, 92B? and n. 2
- James Pantaléon of Troyes, archdeacon of Laon, 125, 126 and nn. 2 and 4, 127, 128; later Pope Urban IV (1261–1264)
- James, prior of Homblières, 105; chanter, 103A; monk, 82, 87, 96, 101

- James Signus, nephew of Simon of Essigny-le-Grand, 80
- John, 96, 97
- John I, abbot of Homblières, p. 19
- John II (of Couvert), abbot of Homblières, 137, 138, 142, p. 19; same as John of Sacris?
- John Abede, 137
- John, archdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- John of Archies, 128A
- John of Bagare, 132
- John Bug(a)rus, brother of Ingeran Oisun, 49 and n. 4, 50
- John, camerarius of Homblières, 39, 42?
- John, cardinal deacon of Sant'Adriano (Rome), 53
- John, cardinal priest of Sant'Anastasia (Rome), 88
- John, cardinal priest of San Marco (Rome), 88
- John, chanter of Homblières. See John Sarpa
- John, chaplain (of Noyon), 94
- John of Chevresis-les-Dames, royal provost of Saint-Quentin, 141 and n. 2
- John le Clec, 122A
- John, cleric, son of William Roiant, 44 (chap. 2)
- John of Combles, 110
- John Cretons of Roupy, 100A
- John, deacon of Homblières, 70, 73
- John, deacon of Prémontré, 75
- John (II of Barastre), dean of chapter of Saint-Quentin, 130 and n. 4
- John, famulus. See John, mayor
- John le Fayhe (of Saint-Quentin?), 104
- John of Flacy, dean of Orléans and canon of Saint-Quentin, 130
- John le Fras, nephew of Simon of Essigny-le-Grand, 80
- John Hanstarum, curé of parish church of Saint-Eloi of Saint-Quentin, 128D
- John of Hem (Ham?), 134
- John of Humuncalis, 32
- John, laicus, godson or nephew of Amand, 49, 50
- John Loudart, 132
- John, magister and procurator of Homblières, 127; same as John of Ribemont?
- John, magister of Saint-Quentin, 55
- John, mayor of Fresnoy-le-Grand and famulus of Homblières, 30, 31
- John (of Mézières-sur-Oise), brother of Robert, 57
- John, monk of Homblières. See John Sarpa
- John of Morcourt, 141
- John of Oizy, magister, 135
- John Piece (of Méchambre), 90
- John of La Plesnoye, 134
- John XII, pope (955-964), 4 n. 1, 5 n. 2, 6 and n. 1, 16 n. 1
- John of Priers, 132
- John, priest of Prémontré, 75
- John, prior of Clairefontaine, 74
- John, prior of Prémontré, 63 n. 1
- John, provost of Homblières, 32
- John of Ramicourt, dominus, 134
- John of Ribemont, provost of Homblières, 130, 132; same as John, magister and procurator of Homblières?
- John (of Roupy), son of Oda and Robert, 49, 50
- John (of Roye), son of Thomas, 78
- John Rufus, scabinus of Homblières, 97
- John of Sacris, abbot of Homblières, 141; same as John II?
- John Sarpa, monk of Homblières, 42, 65, 83, 84, 87, 96, 97, 98, 101, 103A; chanter, 105
- John, seneschal of Vermandois, 87 n. 4
- John of Sérilly-lès-Mézières, provost (of Homblières), 141 and n. 3
- John, son of knight Geoffrey, 29
- John, son of Otmund (of Guise?), 57
- John, son of Rainald, monk of Saint-Quentin, 29
- John, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- John, subprior of Homblières, 36
- John, treasurer of Saint-Quentin, 33
- John, vassal of count of Vermandois, 17
- John Venter, 140
- John of Villers-Carbonel, lord, 131 n. 1
- Jordan, deacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Jordan, deacon of Clairefontaine, 74
- Joscelin, canon, 30
- Joscelin, prior of Vicoigne, 105 and n. 2
- Judith, sister of Bernard Senior (of Laon) and mother of Robert Anguillula, 44 (chap. 16)
- Julian, monk (of Homblières), 65
- Julius, cardinal priest of San Marcello (Rome), 53
- Jumièges (dép. Seine-Maritime, ar. Rouen, c. Duclair). See William of Jumièges
- Kahuneugum*, Cugny? 38 and n. 2
- Kainard, 12 (error for Rainald?)

- Kamard, father of Robert, 72
Keugny. See Cugny
Kievresis. See Chevresis-les-Dames
- Laavale.* See Laval-en-Laonnois
Laguillom, Laguillon, at Pisieux, 126
Lambay (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne, com. Urvillers), Lambai, Lambais, Lambaidem, 53, 54, 73, 88, 128C, 129, 138, p. 1
Lambert, bishop of Noyon (1114–1123), 36 n. 1, 48 n. 2
Lambert (canon of Laon), 14
Lambert, canon of Prémontré, 75
Lambert, castellan of Saint-Quentin, 17, 18, 20, 21, 23, p. 9, p. 24; monk of Homblières, 24, 25
Lambert, dean of Saint-Fursy of Péronne, 36 and n. 2
Lambert, magister ostiarii (of chapter of Noyon), 48
Lambert, monk of Homblières. See Lambert, castellan of Saint-Quentin
Lambert Parvus, 140
Lambert, prior of Homblières, 41
Lambert, secretarius of Homblières, 36
Lambert, son of Heilbert (Eilbert of Flourennes?), 13 and n. 2
Lambert, treasurer of Saint-Sauveur of Anchin, 67, 68
Lamner. See Michel Lamner
Lanchy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Laniacum, Lantiacum, 24, 44 (chap. 26), 53; see also Robert of Lanchy
Landebert, 19; see also Lambert
Landercurt, Landicurtis. See Landricourt
Landier, at Pisieux, 126
Landrecies (dép. Nord, ar. Avesnes-sur-Helpe), Landrecii, 56
Landricourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois, farm in com. Fresnoy-le-Grand), Landercurt, Landicurtis, Landecurt, Landricuntis, 37, 44 (chap. 2), 53, 72, 88
Lanscelin, brother of Gerard, lord of Ham, 52 n. 2, 72 n. 1
Landbertus. See Lambert
Lantiacum. See Lanchy
Laon, Laudunensis, Laudunum, Laudunum Clavatum, Lugdunum, Mons Laudinum, 1 and comment, 11 and n. 1, 14, 47, 53, 57, 61, 68, 88, 98? 128C; abbeys: Saint-Jean, Saint-Martin, Saint-Vincent; bishops, 92A, 99, 142, 143, Bartholomew, Hugh, Ralph, Roricon, Walter I (of Saint-Maurice), Walter II; castle, 26; chancellor: Oidelard; chapter: Notre-Dame; church: Saint-Geniès; diocese, 61, 123, 126, 127, 129, 130, 132, 138; pagus, 13, 14, 20, 22, 67, 68; towns-men, 85 n. 3; see also Bernard of Laon Lateran, 38, 46; see also concilium generale in Index Rerum
Lateritium, near Laon, 88
Lateritium Eraldi, 88
Latois, Leuze? 9 and n. 3
Lauci, 88
Laudunensis, Laudunum (Clavatum). See Laon
Lauergis See Anselm of Lauergis
Laval-en-Laonnois (ar. Laon, c. Anizy-le-Château), Laavale, 53
Lecaitif. See Walter Lecaitif
Lecherias. See Hérie-la-Viéville
Lechene. See Lesquielles-Saint-Germain
Legard of Urcei, 61
Lehaucourt. See Le Haucourt
Leherias, Leheries, Leheris. See Hérie-la-Viéville
Lehéricourt (ar. Laon, c. La Fère, next to Fressancourt), Lehericurtis, 44 (chap. 16), 58, 110A
Lehone, Lehona, small stream of the Oise near Tergnier (ar. Laon, c. La Fère), 11
Leo, papal notary, 6
Leprosus. See Gerard Leprosus
Lescatiere (Lesquielles-Saint-Germain?), 103A
Lescherias, Leschieres. See Lesquielles-Saint-Germain
Lescuyer See Robert L'Escuyer
Lesdins (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Lesdin, 109; see also Robert li Frans of Lesdins
Leskeres. See Lesquielles-Saint-Germain
Lesquielles-Saint-Germain (ar. Vervins, c. Guise), Lecherie, Lescatiere? Lescherias, Leschieres, Leskeres, 53, 103A? see also Burchard of Guise, Buriard of Lesquielles, Geoffrey of Guise, Peter of Lesquielles-Saint-Germain
Lessiensis, Letiensis. See Liessies
Leudo, 12
Leudo (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
Leuirgis. See Anselm of Lauergis
Leuseval, at Sissy, 132
Leuze (ar. Vervins, c. Aubenton), 9 n. 3
Levulf of Fontaine-Uerte, 44 (chap. 2)

- Levulf, son of Doda (and Oilbald Porell), 44
 (chaps. 1, 9)
- Libret.* See Stephen Libret of Urvillers
- Lico.* See Peter of Lico
- Liessies (dép. Nord, ar. Avesnes-sur-Helpe, c. Solre-le-Château), Lessiensis, Letiensis, abbey. See Guidric, abbot of Liessies
- Liger, subdeacon of Prémontré, 75
- Lihons (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Chaulnes). See Drogo, prior of Saint-Pierre of Lihons
- Lingnoles.* See Wautiers Lingnoles of Homblières
- Linvilleir*, between Homblières and Tilloy, 84
- Lisiard, subdeacon (of Laon), 68
- Lodovicus.* See Louis
- Loiermont*, at Pisieux, 126
- Loisi*, seigneur of, 132
- Lotmel.* See Arnisdard
- Longpont (ar. Soissons, c. Villers-Cotterêts), Longum Pontem, abbey, 87 n. 2, 109, 113; see also Tronquoy
- Longpré (probably: farm in ar. and c. Vervins), Longus Pratus, 44 (chap. 21)
- Longus.* See Rainer Longus
- Lorraine. See Geoffrey, duke of Upper Lorraine; Gothelin, duke of Lorraine
- Lothair, king of France (954-986), 1, 4 and n. 1, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and n. 1, 11 and n. 1, 12, 13, 14 and n. 1, 15 and n. 1 and comment, 17 and n. 1, 18 and n. 1, p. 6
- Lothosa.* See Latois
- Lothriacus.* See Rothliacus
- Loudart.* See John Loudart, Mahout Loudart
- Louis, abbot of Bucilly, 47 n. 4
- Louis IV, king of France (936-954), 1 and n. 1, 2, 4, 6, 15 comment, p. 2, p. 3
- Louis V, king of France (986-987), p. 6
- Louis VI, king of France (1108-1137), 36 n. 1, 40
- Louis VII, king of France (1137-1180), 80, 85 n. 3
- Louis VIII, king of France (1223-1226), 116, 117, 118, 119, p. 8
- Loves (or Lovet) of Méricourt, brother of Robert li Crêtes of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 103A
- Lucas, abbot of Notre-Dame of Cuissy (1124-1155), 39 and n. 1
- Lucius III, pope (1181-1185), 100
- Lucuriis*, 88
- Ludolficurtis.* See Le Haucourt
- Ludovicus.* See Louis
- Lugdunum.* See Laon
- Lupus.* See Gerard Lupus
- Lussain, Lusse, daughter of Havis and Estevenes Minante, wife of Estevenes le Borgne, 121
- Luvengus, Luvenii.* See Le Moulin Brûlé
- Lyon, council of, 144
- Macarius, abbot of Homblières, p. 17
- Macerias.* See Mézières-sur-Oise
- Macharius (monk of Homblières), 63
- Madalgerius, fidelis of count of Château-Thierry, 12
- Mahinpon*, 53
- Maihuis Roussicus, mayor of Homblières, 136
- Mahout Loudart, 132
- Mailly (ar. Laon, c. Anizy-le-Château, hamlet in Laval-en-Laonnois), Mailli, 88
- Mainard, abbot of Saint-Pierre of Hautmont, 56
- Mainard of Essigny-le-Petit, 44 (chap. 1)
- Mairel, 132
- Maisieres.* See Mézières-sur-Oise
- Maisnil.* See Mesnil-Saint-Laurent
- Maisemy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Maisemi, 133
- Mal.* See Roger Mal
- Malum Ingenium*, near Courcelles, 128D, 135
- Malus Clericus.* See Henry Malus Clericus
- Mammer. See Huon le Mammer
- Manasses, 19
- Manasses of Ramicourt, 87 n. 2
- Manasses, subdeacon (of Laon), 68
- Manessiarum.* See Mennessis
- Manet, 132
- Manicamp (ar. Laon, c. Coucy-le-Château-Auffrique), Menechamp. See Peter of Manicamp
- Manum Firmam*, 74
- Marbotin.* See Morabetin, Rainald Marbotin
- Marceium.* See Marcy
- Marcheniensis.* See Marchiennes
- Marchavenne (ar. Vervins, c. Wassigny, farm in com. Grougis), Moreincavenne, Morencavenu. See Evrard of Marchavenne, Gerard (of Marchavenne)
- Marcheium, Marchi.* See Marcy
- Marchiennes (dép. Nord, ar. Douai), Marcheniensis, abbey, 72 n. 1; see also Hugh II, abbot of Marchiennes
- Marchioniasum* (same as Martis), 43

- Marsi.* See Marcy
- Marcy (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Marcius, Marcheium, Marci, Marti, Marci, 40, 41, 44 (chap. 11), 53, 59, 60, 69, 72, 88, 105, 132, p. 2 n. 3, p. 12, p. 13; see also Giles of Marcy, Walter of Marcy
- Mares, at Sissy, 132
- Margaret, wife of Gerard of Ham, 52 n. 2
- Margaret, wife of Simon of Urvillers, 87 n. 3
- Margellas. See Margères
- Margères (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Ham, com. Matigny), Margellas, priory of Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise, 41, 78, 100; see also Elvard; Evrard, prior of Margères
- Marguerite. See Margaret
- Maria. See Notre-Dame of Homblières
- Maricurtis. See Morcourt
- Marie, abbess of Notre-Dame of Fervaques, 120 and n. 2
- Marie, daughter of Romilide of Prémont, 44 (chap. 2)
- Marie, wife of John of Combles, 110
- Marien Flameske, 122A
- Marle (ar. Laon), Marla See Peter of Marle, Robert of Marle
- Marliere, La, at Pisieux, 126
- Maroilles (dép. Nord, ar. Avesnes-sur-Helpe, c. Landrecies), Maroliensis. See Ralph I
- Marteville (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand, com. Attilly), Marchionasum? Marte? 43
- Martin (of Oisonville), monk and magister of Homblières, 74, 87, 94, 96, 97, 98
- Martin I, pope (649-655), p. 1
- Martin, priest of Vicoigne, 105
- Martinus. See Mont-Saint-Martin
- Martis* (Marteville?), 43; same as Marchionasum
- Mascelinus. See Mazelin
- Mascherunval, 103A
- Maserias. See Mézières-sur-Oise
- Maslia, 47
- Maszelinus. See Mazelin
- Matheu, at Pisieux, 126
- Matheus. See Matthew
- Matilda, conversa and mother of cleric Theodoric of Urcel, 61
- Mattha. See Matthew
- Matthew, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île (1178-1216), 94, 101
- Matthew, canon of Prémontré, 75
- Matthew, cleric of Homblières, 77
- Matthew, constable. See Matthew of Montmorency
- Matthew, deacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Matthew, monk of Ribemont, 101
- Matthew of Montmorency, royal constable, 117
- Matthew of Sains (knight?), 71
- Matthew, son of Herbert, 52
- Matthew, son of Weric Vastel, 87
- Matthew, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
- Matthew of Walincourt, burgess of Saint-Quentin, 115 and n. 3
- Maurice, husband of Buda, 61
- Maurice, subdeacon of Clairefontaine, 74
- Maurincurtis. See Morcourt
- Mazelin, abbot of Homblières, 35 and n. 1, 44 (chap. 22), p. 18
- Meaux (dép. Seine-et-Marne), Meledensis, bishop: Gildier; count: Herbert the Younger
- Méchambre (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribeumont, farm in com. Renansart), Mechumia, Mecumia, Mecunia, 53, 86 and n. 1, 88, 90, p. 12; see also John Piece (of Méchambre), Wazelin of Méchambre
- Mechumia, Mecumia, Mecunia* See Méchambre
- Medardus. See Saint-Médard of Soissons
- Meledensis. See Meaux
- Menechamp. See Manicamp
- Mennensis (ar. Laon, c. La Fère), Manessarium, 41
- Méricourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois, com. Croix-Fonsommes), Merifcurtis, Merufcurtis, Merulfcurtis, Merulphi curta, Morincurtis, Muerincort, Muerincurt, 5, 6, 38, 44 (chap. 21); see also Loves of Méricourt; Roger, mayor of Méricourt and familus of Homblières; Vivian of Méricourt; Walter of Méricourt
- Merifcurtis, Merufcurtis, Merulfcurtis.* See Méricourt
- Mesnil-Saint-Laurent, Le (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Maisnil, 111
- Mézières-sur-Oise (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Macerias, Maisieres, Maisiers, Maserias, 44 (chap. 23), 53, 88; count of, 132, see also Guy of Mézières-sur-Oise, Hugh of Mézières-sur-Oise, John (of Mézières-sur-Oise), Perron of Mézières-sur-Oise, Robert of Mézières-

- sur-Oise, Saint-Remi of Mézières-sur-Oise
- Michaelis.* See Saint-Michel-en-Thiérache
- Michel Lamner,* 132
- Miles.* See Theoderic Miles
- Milesinda, deaconess of Notre-Dame of Soissons, 8
- Milo II, bishop of Thérouanne (1159-1169), 89, 92 n. 1, p. 14
- Milo, chanter of cathedral of Laon, 68
- Milo, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 10
- Milo of Durbia, canon of Laon, 130
- Milo of Soissons, lord, 114 n. 1
- Minante.* See Estevenes Minante
- Modat (error for Deodat), chancellor of Saint-Quentin, 29
- Moi.* See Moy-de-l'Aisne
- Moines.* See Guy li Moines
- Molinarius, 140
- Moliners, Molinerus.* See Ralph Molinerus or Moliners
- Molnier.* See Peter li Molnier
- Monacharius, vassal of count of Vermandois, 17; probably same as Amacharius
- Monampteuil (ar. Laon, c. Anizy-le-Château), Monantilum, Mons Nantolium or Nautolium, Monuntilum, 53, 61, 88; see also Burdin of Monampteuil
- Monasteriolum.* See Montreuil-les-Dames
- Moncellum, 88
- Mons (Belgium, province Hainaut), 34 n. 1
- Mons, Montes, 20, 88, 98; see Laon, Mons-en-Laonnois
- Mons-en-Laonnois (ar. Laon, c. Anizy-le-Château), Mons, Montes, 20, 88? 98
- Mons Laudunum. See Laon
- Mons Nantolium, Mons Nautolium. See Monampteuil
- Mons Sancti Martini. See Mont-Saint-Martin
- Monsteriolum.* See Montreux
- Montbenetum, Montbrahain.* See Montbrehain
- Montbrehain (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Montbenetum, Montbrahain, 65
- Monte, de. See Mont-Saint-Quentin
- Monteni, 44 (chap. 8), 99 and n. 2; same as Montiniacus?
- Montes. See Mons-en-Laonnois
- Monticellum. See Gerold of Monticellum
- Montigny (today Montigny-en-Arrouaise: ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Verman-
- dois), Monten? Montiniacus, 44 (chap. 8)? 89 n. 3, 99 and n. 2, p. 14
- Montiniacus.* See Montigny
- Montmorency (dép. Val-d'Oise). See Matthew of Montmorency
- Montreuil-les-Dames (ar. Vervins, c. La Chapelle-en-Thiérache, com. Rocquigny), Monasteriolum, Masteriolum, Mousteriolum, abbey, 62 and n. 1, 87 n. 3, 88, 89, 92, 92A, 94, 99, 102, 123, 125, 126, 127, 128, 129, p. 13, p. 14; procurator: Robert, conversus
- Montreux (ar. Vervins, c. Guise, hamlet in com. Lesquielles-Saint-Germain), Monsteriolum, 47
- Mont-Saint-Martin (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Le Câtelec), Mons Sancti Martini, abbey of Notre-Dame, 44 (chap. 4) and n. 1, 45, 46A, 53, 54 n. 4, 65, 76, 80 n. 1, 99, 115, 134, p. 13; abbots, 144, Garembert, Gilbert, Gobert, Godescald; prior: Baldwin; provost: Gobert of Muille-Villette
- Mont-Saint-Quentin (dép. Somme, ar. and c. Péronne, com. Allaines), Mons Sancti Quintini, Sanctus Quintinus de Monte, abbey, 36 n. 3, 42, 44 (chap. 26), 92, 99; abbots, 144, Hugh I
- Monuntihum.* See Monampteuil
- Morabetin, money of, 111 and n. 2
- Morcourt (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Mari curtis, Maurincurtis, Morcort, Morecourt, Morecurt, Morincurtis, Morocurt, Morocurtis, Morecourt, Mourcourt, 44 (chaps. 21, 25), 53, 58, 59, 60, 81, 82, 88, 93, 106, 141, p. 10, p. 12, p. 13; mayors, 109, Ralph; see also Albert of Morcourt; Arnold, priest of Morcourt; John of Morcourt; Robert Hamas of Morcourt; Vivian of Morcourt; Wicard Senior of Morcourt
- Morecourt, Morecurt, Morincurtis, Morocurt, Morecourt.* See Morcourt
- Moreincavenne, Morencavenu.* See Marchavenne
- Moricurtis.* See Méricourt
- Mornensis, Morins.* See Thérouanne
- Mosteriolum.* See Montreuil-les-Dames
- Moulin Brûlé, Le (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, com. Rouvroy), Luvengiis, Luveniis, 48, 88
- Mourcourt.* See Morcourt

- Mousteriolum.* See Montreuil-les-Dames
- Moy-de-l'Aisne* (ar. Saint-Quentin), Moi, Moy, Moyri? See Guy Goudardus VI of Moy-de-l'Aisne, Guy Junor of Moy-de-l'Aisne, Guy Senex II of Moy-de-l'Aisne, Werric of Moy-de-l'Aisne, Wiard of Moy-de-l'Aisne?
- Moyri.* Perhaps Moy-de-l'Aisne
- Muerincort, Muerincurt.* See Méricourt
- Muille-Villette* (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Ham), Muille. See Gobert of Muille-Villette
- Mulin Brûlé, Le.* See Le Moulin Brûlé
- Musse, La* (Moussy-Verneuil? ar. Laon, c. Craonne), Musse. See Hauvid
- Nalgum*, 61
- Nanemers.* See Quentin Nanemers
- Narina.* See Udo Narina
- Natal Carpentarius*, 44 (chap. 8)
- Naterius*, 54; same as Nauther?
- Nauther, husband of Bertha, 61; same as Naterius?
- Neiasla* Perhaps Noyales
- Nesle (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne), Nigella, chapter of, 144. See Ivo of Nesle, Peter of Nesle, T(hierry) of Nesle
- Neuville-en-Beine (ar. Laon, c. Chauny), Baine, Bainna, Beine, Nova villa in Bainna, 39 n. 2, 116, 117, 118, 128C
- Nevel, canon of Noyon, 40
- Nevel, canon (of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île), 85
- Nevel (vassal of count of Vermandois), 28
- Nicholas, abbot of Saint-Feuillien du Rœulx (1137-1153/1157), 56
- Nicholas of Avesnes, son of Walter Peluchel, 56 and n. 2
- Nicholas I, bishop of Cambrai (1137-1167), 45, 56 and n. 1
- Nicholas, cardinal priest of San Ciriaco nelle Terme (Rome), 53
- Nicholas, cleric of Homblières, 74
- Nicholas, deacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- Nicholas, dean of Noyon, 94
- Nicholas, knight (of Homblières), 101
- Nicholas, monk of Homblières, 41
- Nicholas, monk of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, 101
- Nicholas, subprior of Vicoigne, 105 and n. 3
- Nicolae de sylvae.* See Saint-Nicolas-aux-Bois
- Nigella* See Nesle
- Nitart.* See Ralph Nitart
- Nocort of Châtillon-sur-Oise, 132
- Noiasle.* See Guy of Noiasle
- Noket.* See Thomas Noket
- Normandy. See Richard II, duke; Robert li Normand
- Notre-Dame of Chauny, abbey, 128C; abbots: Alulf, Rainer
- Notre-Dame of Cuissy, abbey, 39; abbots, 144, Lucas
- Notre-Dame of Fervaques, abbey of nuns. See Fervaques
- Notre-Dame of Ham, abbey, 63, 100, 100A; abbots, 91A, 144, Rainald; camerarius: Rainer; chancellor: Roger; prior: Odo; provost: Hugh Buschet, serviens: Hugh
- Notre-Dame (and Sainte-Hunégunde) of Homblières, abbey:
- abbatiola*, 5, 6
 - abbots: 74, 144, pp. 16-20
 - advocate: p. 8
 - altar, 44 (chap. 1), 49, 50, 51, 54, 80, 98
 - camerarii*: Gerbert, John
 - cella*, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 12, 15, 16, 17, 18, 23, 24, 25, 26
 - cellarer: Bonard
 - curia*, 43
 - chanters: James, John Sarpa, Roger
 - chaplain: Hugh
 - cooks, 107, 116, Albert, Herman, Walter
 - deacons: Anselm, Evrard, Gerard, Henry, Humbert, John, Peter, Simon
 - deans: Arnold, Erlebold, Hubert, Ingelbert
 - editius*: Heldrad
 - eleemosinarius*: Gerard
 - famuli*: Bernard; John (mayor of Fresnoy-le-Grand); Rainald I, mayor of Homblières; Roger (mayor of Méricourt)
 - locus, locellus*, 1, 2, 20
 - magistri*: Adrian Apois, Estievenes, John, Martin of Oisonville, Ponchard of *Communi*a, Thomas Nanemers, William li Grenetier
 - monasterium*, 1
 - pittancers: Gerard of Bernot, Lakes of Camas
 - priors, 128C, Antoine Thuret, Gerard, Henry, Hubert, James, Lambert, Rainald
 - procurators: John, magister; John of Ribemont
 - provosts: Berland, Gerard, Hilduin, John, John of Ribemont, John of Sérilly-Mézières, Rainoard, Roger, Walter
 - sacristan: Arnold
 - secretarius*: Lambert

- subdeacons: Adam, Anselm, Gozzum, Helias, Henry, Rainoard, Richard,
Roger, Simon
subpriors: Boluin, John treasurers: 12, Arnold, Giles
- Notre-Dame of Laon, cathedral chapter, 85
n. 3, 130, 132, 144; archdeacons: 144,
Immo, James of Troyes, Richard,
Roger, bishops, 74, 85 n. 3, 99, Bartholomew of Vir, Ralph, Walter I of Saint-Maurice, Walter II; chancellors: 144, Agellus, Angot, Bartholomew, Oidelard; chanter: Milo; deans: Robert, Stephen, Walter; officialis, 123; provost: Hugh; subchanter: Herbert; subtreasurer: Gerard; treasurer, 92A, Bartholomew
- Notre-Dame of Mont-Saint-Martin. See Mont-Saint-Martin
- Notre-Dame of Nogent, abbot, 144, Guibert
- Notre-Dame of Ourscamp, abbey, 41; abbot: Galeran; marshal: Robert; subprior: Clement
- Notre-Dame of Soissons, abbey, 8; abbess, 144; advocate: Aimo; chancellor: Evrard; deaconess: Milesinda; provosts: Evrard, Helvida
- Notre-Dame of Vauclair, 85 n. 3, 114 n. 1
- Notre-Dame of Vermand, 100A, 144
- Notre-Dame of Vicoigne. See Vicoigne
- Notre-Dame of Villeselve. See Villeselve
- Nouvion-le-Vineux (ar. and c. Laon), Novihant, 20
- Nova villa.* See Saint-Christ
- Nova villa in Bainna, in bosco de Beine.* See Neuville-en-Beine
- Novihant.* See Nouvion-le-Vineux
- Noviomensis, Noviom.* See Noyon
- Novum Castellum.* See Le Cateau
- Noyales (ar. Vervins, c. Guise), Neiastia? Noiasle? 44 (chap. 17); see also Guy of Noiasle
- Noyon (dép. Oise), Noviomensis, Noviom, 37, 91, 95; abbeys: Saint-Barthélemy, Saint-Eloi; diocese, 126, 128, 128D, 129, 132, 135, 138; see also Noyon, cathedral chapter
- Noyon, cathedral chapter, 96 n. 2, 102 n. 1, 144; archdeacons, 144, Hugh, Richard; bishops (of Noyon and Tournai until 1146), 17, 38, 74, 92A, 95, 99, 142, 144, Baldric, Baldwin II, Baldwin III, Eligius, Foucard, Gerard of Bazoches, Lambert, Philip of Arbois, Rainald, Simon, Stephen, Transmar; chancellors, 144, Baldwin, Erchembod, Hugh II, Hugh III; chanters: Geoffrey, Hagan, Peter; chaplain: John; deans: Baldwin, Fulcher, Nicholas; magistri: Gerard, Ingeran, Lambert (ostianii); provosts: Aymer, Baldwin, Simon; subtreasurer: Boso; synod of, 144; treasurer: Walter
- Obrik, deacon of Cambrai, 56
- Octavian, cardinal deacon of San Nicola in Carcere Tulliano (Rome), 53
- Oda, domina, wife of Robert of Roupy, 49, 50, 52
- Oda of Fayet, domina, 48 n. 3
- Oda, wife of Rainer of Roion, 87 n. 2
- Odo. See Odo
- Odila, wife of Robert of Mézières, 57
- Odilo, notary of cathedral of Reims, 2
- Odo, 57, 71 (knight?)
- Odo (or Adro), son-in-law of Burdin of Monapteuil, 61
- Odo (canon of Laon), 14
- Odo, canon of Noyon, 36, 40
- Odo, cardinal deacon of San Giorgio in Velabro (Rome), 53, 59
- Odo, cardinal deacon of San Nicola in Carcere Tulliano (Rome), 89 and n. 4, p. 14
- Odo, count of Vermandois. See Otto
- Odo Crassus, 65? 71? 79
- Odo, deacon of Laon, 68
- Odo, deacon of Noyon, 1
- Odo, deacon of Vicoigne, 82; subdeacon, 69
- Odo, dean of Saint-Corneille of Compiègne, 49 n. 4
- Odo, dean of Saint-Quentin, 31
- Odo, domesticus of count of Vermandois, 31
- Odo of Fayet, dominus, 112 n. 1
- Odo Frarinus, 44 (chap. 19)
- Odo, knight of count of Vermandois, 25, 30
- Odo (knight of Homblières), 71, 74?
- Odo, laicus, 71? 74
- Odo, monk (of Homblières), 65
- Odo Moreau, 140
- Odo Pes Lupus of Ham, father of dominus Gerard, 52 and n. 2
- Odo, prior of Notre-Dame of Ham (1144–1150/1153), 63 and n. 1
- Odo Pultrellus, son of knight Amalric, 27

- Odo of Sissy, knight, 73
 Odo, subdeacon of Vicoigne, 69; deacon, 82
 Odo of Vadencourt, 47
 Odo Vetus of Bony, 52
 Odo Warcasui, 66
 Ohalt, conversa, 61
 Oidelard, chancellor of bishop of Laon, 14
Oies, at Pisieux, 126; see also Thomas of Oies
 Oilard, mayor of Saint-Quentin, 54 and n. 5
 Oilbald, domesticus of count of Vermandois, 31, p. 9; same as Oilbald Porell
 Oilbald (or Oilbold) Porell (or Senex) of Halut (or of Roye), monk of Homblières, 44 (chaps. 1, 5, 11, 12) and comment; brother of Robert of Halut; same as Oilbald, domesticus of count of Vermandois; same as Olbert?
 Oise, river, Isara, 38, p. 10, p. 12, p. 13
Oisi. See Oizy
Oison, Oisun. See Ingeran Oisun, Walter Oison or Oson of Saint-Quentin
Oisonville. See Martin (of Oisonville)
 Oizy (today Oisy: ar. Vervins, c. Wassigny), Oisi. See John of Oizy
 Olbert, knight of count of Vermandois, 25; same as Oilbald?
 Oliver, knight, 48, 64
 Oliver, priest of Vicoigne, 82
 Omois, Otmensis, county of, 19 and n. 2; see also Château-Thierry
 Orgeval, near Saint-Quentin, 105 and n. 1
 Origny-Sainte-Benoîte (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont), Auriniacum, Horegui. See Evrard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte; Hel-sa; Helzelin; Ralph of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte; Robert, knight; Wicard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte
 Orléans. See John of Flacy
Ormissel Brissiel, at Sissy, 132
 Osmund, subdeacon of Prémontre, 75
Osonis. See Walter Oison
Otobodius. See Saint-Geniès
 Otimund (of Guise?), father of Gerbert and John, 57
 Otimund of Guise, knight of Homblières, 57? 74
Otmensis. See Omois
 Otrad, vassal of count of Vermandois, 9
 Otto, count of Vermandois (1021-1045), grandson of Count Albert I, 20 21, 23, 24 and n. 1, 25 and n. 1, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30 and n. 1, 44 (chap. 20), p. 17
 Otto, son of Count Albert I of Vermandois, 9, 20
Ouchette. See Ermengarde of Ouchette
 Oudard, dominus of Hem (Ham?), 134
 Ourscamp (dép. Oise, ar. Compiègne, c. Ribécourt, com. Chiry-Ourscamp), Uriscampum. See Notre-Dame of Ourscamp, Robert, marshal of Ourscamp
 Pagan, 88
 Pagan of Avesne, 76
 Pagan of Fieulaine. See Robert Paganus of Fieulaine
Paillart, at Sissy, 132
Palevir. See Adam Palevir
Panarde. See Berte Panarde
 Panno, monk of Homblières, 65
 Paris, 59, 117; money of, 109, 115, 116, 117, 118, 121, 123, 124, 125, 126, 128A, 128D, 130, 131, 135, 136, 137, 138
Parmentiers. See Gerard li Parmentiers
Parvus. See Lambert Parvus, Robert Parvus
 Paumar, scabinus of Homblières, 97
 Pavia, mother of Count Herbert IV of Vermandois, 30, 44 (chap. 20)
Peluchel. See Walter Peluchel of Avesnes Peregrinus. See Anselm Peregrinus
Pericelieu, 88
 Péronne (dép. Somme), Perona, Peronensis, horse market, 42 and n. 4, 44 (chap. 26), oven, 42, 44 (chap. 26) and comment, 53, 88; see also Geoffrey Magnus, Mont-Saint-Quentin, Rabold of Péronne, Robert Magnus, Saint-Fursy of Péronne
Perrout, 88
Perron le Grant, 128A, 128B
 Perron of Mézières-sur-Oise, 132
 Perron Quaille of Homblières, 136; same as Peter Quaille of Homblières
Pes Lopus. See Odo Pes Lopus of Ham
 Peter, 19
 Peter I, abbot of Homblières, 84 and n. 1, 87 and n. 1, 88, 89 and n. 1, 91A, 92B, p. 18; deacon, 75; monk, 41, 49, 65, 66, 80
 Peter, abbot of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île (1234-1236), 122
 Peter II, abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims (1162-1181), 85 n. 2, 91A
 Peter Authemier, scabinus of Homblières, 97
 Peter of Beaumont-en-Beine, bailly of Vermandois, 141 and n. 1
 Peter, brother of Alberic Rafus, 52

- Peter, canon of Arrouaise, 78
 Peter, cardinal deacon of Santa Maria in Portico (Rome), 53
 Peter, cardinal priest of San Lorenzo in Damaso (Rome), 88
 Peter, chanter of Noyon, 72
 Peter, cleric of Homblières, 110
 Peter, deacon of Homblières. See Peter I
 Peter of Lesquielles-Saint-Germain, knight, 114
 Peter of Lieq, 88
 Peter of Manicamp, 123
 Peter of Marle, 44 (chap. 16)
 Peter li Molnier or Molnarius, 140
 Peter, monk of Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise, 78
 Peter, monk of Homblières, 96, 97
 Peter, monk of Homblières. See Peter I
 Peter, monk of Noyon, 48
 Peter, nephew of Count Herbert IV of Vermandois, 44 (chap. 14)
 Peter of Nesle, 44 (chap. 11)
 Peter, prior of Vicoigne, 69, 82 and n. 1
 Peter, provost (of chapter of Saint-Quentin), 54
 Peter Quaille of Homblières, 136; same as Perron Quaille of Homblières
 Peter of Ribécourt, 141 n. 3
 Peter of Roye, 44 (chap. 11)
 Peter Vitula of Rouvroy, knight, 84, 88
Petrosus Mons. See Prémont
 Petura, 88
 Philip, 59
 Philip, abbot of L'Aumône (1156–1172), 85 and n. 3
 Philip of Arbois, bishop of Noyon-Laon (1350–1351), 142 n. 2
 Philip, count of Flanders and Vermandois, 49 n. 2, 87 n. 4
 Philip I, king of France (1060–1108), 31 and n. 1, 33 and n. 1, 35, p. 17
 Philip IV, king of France (1280–1314), 133
 Philip of Pontru, laicus, 49, 50, 57? 59?
 Philip, prior of Clairvaux, later abbot of L'Aumône, 85 and n. 3
 Philip Rut, nephew of Simon of Essigny-le-Grand, 80
 Pie d'Aignel, 132
Piece. See John Piece
Piler. See Ralph Piler
 Pinon (ar. Laon, c. Anizy-le-Château). See Droard of Pinon
Piscator. See Hilbert Piscator
 Pisieux (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne, farm in com. Cerizy), Puisieux, Puisieux, Puteolis, 13, 62, 125, 126 and n. 4, 127, 128
Pitances, at Sissy, 132
Plaideresse. See Wiburgis li Plaideresse
Planoies. See Plesnoye
 Plesnoye, La (ar. Vervins, c. La Chapelle-en-Thiérache, farm in Englancourt), La Planoies. See John of La Plesnoye
 Pliny, Roman author, 87
Pomertia, 44 (chap. 21)
Poncellis. See Le Ponchaux
 Ponchard of Communia, magister of Homblières, 135
 Ponchaux, Le (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Le Catellet, hamlet in com. Beaurevoir), Poncellis, 53; see also Gerard of Le Ponchaux
Pondrusium. See Pontru
 Pontru (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Pondrusium, Pontruel, Pontrusium, Prondusium, 53; see also Philip of Pontru, Walter of Pontru
 Popes: Agapitus II, Alexander III, Calixtus II, Eugenius III, Innocent II, John XII, Lucius III, Martin I, Urban III, Urban IV
Porell. See Olibald Porell of Halut
Porta. See Adselin de Porta of Ribemont
Posiosus, 44 (chap. 8)
Praeictus. See Saint-Prix
Praemonstrata. See Prémontré
Prandrugium, 44 (chap. 28)
Pratella, at Montigny? 44 (chap. 8)
Pratis. See Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont
Praume, at Sissy, 132
Preiectus. See Saint-Prix
 Prémont (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Petrosus Mons., 44 (chaps. 2, 31); see also Romelide of Prémont Prémontré (ar. Laon, c. Coucy-le-Château-Auffrique), Praemonstrata, abbey, 52 n. 2, 58, 75, 87 n. 2, 88, 110A, p. 13; abbots, 144, Adam, Conrad, Hugh I; cellarar: Fulk; priors: Hugh, John, Ralph; subprior: Rainald
Priere. See Gerard Priene
Priers. See John of Priers
Projectus. See Saint-Prix
Proillum, 88
Proix (ar. Vervins, c. Guise), Perrot, 88
Prondusium. See Pontru

- Provins (dép. Seine-et-Marne), money of, 67, 68
- Puisieux, Puisiex.* See Pisieux
- Pultrell.* See Odo Pultrell
- Puteolis.* See Pisieux
- Quaille.* See Agnes Quaille, Peter Quaille of Homblières
- Quenensis.* See Chevresis-les-Dames
- Quentin Nanemers, 141
- Quercy, 60
- Quessy (ar. Laon, c. La Fère), Cacciacus, Caciacus, Caziacus, 11 and n. 2, 26, 53, 88, p. 4 n. 15, p. 6
- Quintin li Cambrelens, 134
- Quintiniensis.* See Saint-Quentin
- Quintinus de Monte.* See Mont-Saint-Quentin
- R., dean of Christianity of Ribemont, 128D
- Rabold of Péronne, knight, 30, 42, 44 (chap. 26: erroneously called Robert), 30
- Radulfus.* See Ralph
- Rafus.* See Alberic Rafus
- Ragenold, count (of Roucy), 2
- Raimbald, knight, 88
- Rainald, 12 (Kainard)? 65
- Rainald, abbot of Homblières, 128D, 129, 131, 132, p. 19
- Rainald I, abbot of Notre-Dame of Ham (1141/1143–1157/1160), 52, 63 and n. 1, 72 and n. 1
- Rainald I, abbot of Saint-Prix (1148–1161/1164), 67, 68, 69, 70, 72 and n. 1, 73, 79 and n. 1
- Rainald (of Bernot), knight and brother of Gerard Hatterel, 98
- Rainald, bishop of Noyon (1175–1187), 87 n. 4, 94, 95 n. 1, 99, 102 and n. 1, p. 15
- Rainald, cure of Brie, 131
- Rainald, deacon of Prémontré, 75
- Rainald, famulus. See Rainald (I), mayor
- Rainald, knight, 1
- Rainald Marbotin, 132
- Rainald, mayor of Choigny, 39? 52, 78
- Rainald (I), mayor of Homblières and famulus of the abbey, 30, 31
- Rainald (II), mayor of Homblières, 39? 65? 78
- Rainald, monk of Saint-Quentin, 29
- Rainald, prior of Homblières, 58, 66, 70, 77 n. 1, 84, 87, 96 and n. 1; monk, 65, 71, 73, 75, 80, 82, 83
- Rainald of Regny, 66
- Rainald, subprior of Prémontré, 58 variant s
- Rainard. See Rainald
- Rainer, abbot of Homblières, 80, 82 and n. 1, 83 and n. 1, p. 18; monk, 75, 78, 91
- Rainer, abbot of Notre-Dame of Chauny (1162–1185), 94
- Rainer Bigos. See Rainer II, seneschal
- Rainer, brother of Wenric (provost of Saint-Quentin), 48; same as Rainer of Roinon?
- Rainer, camerarius (of Notre-Dame of Ham), 52
- Rainer (canon of Laon), 14
- Rainer, canon of Saint-Fursy, 36
- Rainer of Clippes, 136
- Rainer V, count of Hainaut, 34 and n. 1
- Rainer, cure of Urvillers, 131
- Rainer, dapifer. See Rainer I and II
- Rainer Gordel (or Gordiaus) of Fresnoy-le-Grand, homo of Homblières, 115 and n. 3
- Rainer Guisiensis (Guise?), husband of Doda, 44 (chap. 1)
- Rainer Longus, knight of Homblières, 83 and n. 2
- Rainer, lord of Fonsommes. See Rainer, seneschal of Vermandois and lord of Fonsommes
- Rainer, monk of Homblières. See Rainer, abbot of Homblières
- Rainer, monk (prior?) of Ribemont, 91
- Rainer (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
- Rainer of Roinon (or Roinum), 87 n. 2; same as Rainer, brother of Wenric?
- Rainer I, seneschal of Vermandois, 48? 87 n. 4
- Rainer II (Bigos), seneschal of Vermandois, 48? 87 and n. 4, 111 n. 2
- Rainer (?), seneschal of Vermandois and lord of Fonsommes, 134
- Rainer, son of Walter (cocus of Homblières), 98
- Rainer Testars, eskievin of Homblières, 136
- Rainoard, provost of Homblières, 105
- Rainoard, subdeacon of Homblières, 75
- Rainoldus.* See Rainald
- Rainulf, chanter of Saint-Quentin, 29
- Ralph, 12
- Ralph I, abbot of Maroilles (1142–1151), 56
- Ralph, archbishop of Reims (ca. 1108–1124), 36 n. 1
- Ralph (of Berlancourt), brother of Gerard, 112 n. 1
- Ralph, bishop of Arras (1203–1221), 70 n. 2
- Ralph, bishop of Laon (936–948), 1

- Ralph (canon of Laon), 14
 Ralph, canon of Saint-Fursy, 36
 Ralph of Capiniacum, 61
 Ralph, cardinal deacon of Santa Lucia in Septasolio (Rome), 53
 Ralph, castellan (of Saint-Quentin), 24; son of castellan Lambert, 23
 Ralph, chanter of Saint-Quentin, 10
 Ralph Collet, husband of Ermengarde and son-in-law of Gerbert of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 76
 Ralph, count of Vermandois (1117–1152), 36 n. 2, 46A, 48 and n. 2, 49, 50, 54 and n. 5, 64, 78 n. 2, 87 n. 2
 Ralph Cuscout, 140
 Ralph, deacon of Amiens, 87 n. 2
 Ralph, deacon of Cambrai, 56
 Ralph, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 9, 10
 Ralph (of Essigny-le-Petit), knight, 71; same as Ralph of Sissigni and Origny-Sainte-Benoîte?
 Ralph Lampart, cleric of Homblières, 98
 Ralph, laicus, 66? 77 (of Homblières), 98; same as Ralph of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte?
 Ralph, mayor of Morcourt, 108, 109
 Ralph, mayor (of Urcel?), 61
 Ralph Molinerus or Molniers, 83, 105
 Ralph Nitart, rusticus, 80; son of Nauther? brother of Amisard Lomel?
 Ralph of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, knight of Homblières, 73, 77? 98 (laicus)? same as Ralph of Essigny-le-Petit?
 Ralph Piler, father-in-law of Wildric Hauart, 43
 Ralph, priest of Bernot, 73
 Ralph, prior of Prémontré, 58 variant s., 63 and n. 1
 Ralph of Sissigni, knight, 49; same as Ralph of Essigny-le-Petit and Origny-Sainte-Benoîte?
 Ralph, son of Lambert. See Ralph, castellan
 Ralph, son of Walter Sauari, 97
 Ralph Strabo, 46A
 Ralph, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
 Ralph, subprior of Vicoigne, 69
 Ralph, vassal of count of Vermandois, 17, 18 and n. 3
 Ramald, son of Ralph Piler, 43
 Rambald, chanter of Saint-Quentin, 31
 Ramicourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois). See John of Ramicourt, Manasses of Ramicourt
 Ranardus, Ranoldus. See Rainald
 Rapin. See Gerbert Rapin of Fresnoy-le-Grand Raubert, monk (of Saint-Quentin), 16
 Réaulieu (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, farm in com. Neuville-Saint-Amand), Reulocus, 88
 Regny (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont), Regni, Regny, 70 and n. 2, 132, 137, p. 13; see also Rainald of Regny
 Reims (dép. Marne), Remensis, Rhemensis, Remorum, Rhemis, 2; abbeys: Saint-Pierre, Saint-Remi, Saint-Thierry; archbishops: Artold, Guy, Henry, Hugh, Ralph; dean: Fulk; notary: Odilo
 Remaucourt (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Ramalcort, Roumancourt, Roumaucort, Rumalcort, Rumalidcurtis, Rumandicurtis, 53, 88, 112; see also Alold, Guy of Remaucourt, Vivian of Remaucourt
Remeivilla, Remenvallis, 44 (chaps. 3, 5)
 Remigius. See Saint-Remi
 Remicourt (hamlet in ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Remicurt, Rumulficurtis, 18, 88
 Remigny (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Remiliacum, Rominiacum, Rumeliacum, Rumigniacum, Rumiliacum, Ruminacensis, Ruminiacus, 7, 8, 12, 41, 53, 88, 116, 117, 118, 128C, p. 5 n. 16
Remiliacum. See Remigny
 Renaldus, Renaus, Renaut, Renoldus. See Rainald
 Renerus, Renier. See Rainer
Resteutis. See Retheuil
 Retheuil (ar. Saint-Quentin, hamlet in c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Resteutis, Rulus, 53, 88
Reulocus. See Réaulieu
Rhemensis, Rhemis. See Reims
Ribecoste. Perhaps Ribécourt
 Ribécourt (dép. Oise, ar. Compiègne), Ribe-coiste? Ribecourt, 132; see also Peter of Ribécourt Ribemont (ar. Saint-Quentin), Ribodimons, Riboldemons, Robodomons, 43, 73, 92A, 144, p. 14; see also Adselin de Porta of Ribemont; Anselm, Elbert, seneschal;

- Evrard, son of Harduin of Ribemont; Geoffrey II; Gobert (of Ribemont); Harduin of Ribemont; John, magister and procurator of Homblières; John of Ribemont; Robert, provost of Ribemont; Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont; Siger, monk of Ribemont; Simon of Ribemont
- Ribodimons, Riboldemons.* See Ribemont
- Ricardus.* See Richard
- Richard, 19, 88
- Richard, abbot of Saint-Amand (1014–1018), 22; then abbot (I) of Homblières, 23 and n. 1, p. 16
- Richard II, abbot of Homblières (1095), p. 17
- Richard I, abbot of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont (1147–1170?), 68, 73, 89
- Richard II, abbot of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont (1186–1197?), 101 and n. 1
- Richard, archdeacon of Laon, 68
- Richard (canon of Laon), 14
- Richard II, duke of Normandy, 23 n. 1
- Richard, monk of Homblières, 83, 87
- Richard, monk of Saint-Prix, 79
- Richard, provost of Saint-Prix, 60
- Richard, subdeacon of Homblières, 75
- Richard, subdeacon of Prémontré, 75
- Richer of L'Epinois, 76
- Richer, son of Bernard of Laon, 44 (chap. 16)
- Richild of Fayet, wife of Ingeran Oisons, 49 n. 4
- Richold, 12
- Richulf, priest (of cathedral of Laon), 14
- Ricold, provost of Clairefontaine, 74
- Rimacus, river, 16
- Robert, 12, 97
- Robert, abbot of Foigny (1148–1169), 68
- Robert *Anguill(u)l*a, son of Judith, 44 (chaps. 10, 11, 16)
- Robert (of Bernot), knight and brother of Gerard Hatterel, 98
- Robert Branestiaux, 140
- Robert Buhuz, 44 (chap. 15)
- Robert, butler. See Robert of Courtenay
- Robert Caneteaux, 140
- Robert, papal chancellor, 53
- Robert, chancellor of Saint-Quentin (and of count of Vermandois), 54
- Robert of Choigny, 52, 78 (laicus)?
- Robert, cleric of Homblières, 77
- Robert, conversus and procurator of Montreuil-les-Dames, 127
- Robert of Courtenay, royal butler, 117
- Robert li Creis of Fresnoy-le-Grand, brother of Loves of Méricourt, 103A
- Robert, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 33, 40
- Robert, deacon of Vicoigne, 69
- Robert, dean of Laon, 85 n. 3
- Robert, dean of Saint-Quentin, 3
- Robert of L'Epinois, 74
- Robert L'Esquier, 83
- Robert (of Essigny-le-Petit), knight, 71
- Robert of Etaves-et-Bocquiaux, 72
- Robert, sabre of Homblières, 98
- Robert Flamens of Roupy, 100A; same as Robert of Roupy?
- Robert of Fluquières, 48
- Robert li Frans of Lesdins, 109 and n. 1
- Robert of Fresnoy-le-Grand, knight and son of Gerbert Rapin, 76, 81, 98
- Robert of Gauchy, 134
- Robert (of Guise?), son of Rainer, 44 (chap. 1)
- Robert, half-brother of Escheline, 57
- Robert of Halut, brother of Oilbald Porell, 44 (chap. 1)
- Robert Hamas, censier of Morcourt, 141
- Robert of Hauteville (Altavilla), knight of Homblières, 73
- Robert, husband of Frediburg, 21
- Robert II, king of France (996–1031), son of Hugh Capet, 15 and comment, 22, 30 n. 1, 34 n. 3, p. 17
- Robert (knight of count of Vermandois). See Robert, vassal and knight of count of Vermandois
- Robert, knight (of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte), 71
- Robert, laicus, 78; same as Robert of Choigny?
- Robert (of Lanchy) and his nephew Robert, 24
- Robert Magnus, princeps of Péronne (d. 1045), 27, 28? 30 and n. 1
- Robert of Marle, brother of Guy of Coucy-le-Château and son of Erzelin of Arblincourt, 44 (chap. 12) and n. 6
- Robert, marshal of Ourscamp, 41
- Robert of Mézières-sur-Oise, brother of John, 57
- Robert, monk of Homblières, 97
- Robert, monk of Ribemont, 101

- Robert, monk of Saint-Quentin, 16
Robert li Normand, 140
Robert Paganus (knight) of Fieulaine, 71 and n. 1, 88 n. 9
Robert Parvus, 61
Robert of Péronne. See Rabold of Péronne
Robert, priest (of chapter of Laon), 68
Robert, priest of Roupy, 100A; same as Robert of Roupy?
Robert, provost of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont, 101
Robert of Roupy, 49, 50, 52, 53, 100A?
Robert of Séry-lès-Mézières, 83
Robert Sine Carne, 140
Robert of Sommette, 52
Robert, son of Doda (and Oilbald Porell), 44 (chap. 1)
Robert, son of Kamard, 72
Robert, son of Rainer of Guise, 44 (chap. 1)
Robert, subdeacon of Saint-Quentin, 9
Robert of Torigny, chronicler, 34 n. 3
Robert, treasurer of Saint-Quentin, 64 and n. 1
Robert, vassal and knight of count of Vermandois, 28, 29
Robert Venator (of Ham), 52
Robert of Villette, nephew of Simon of Essigny-le-Grand, 80
Robodomus. See Ribemont
Rocourt (ar., c., and com. Saint-Quentin), Hadulficurtis (error for: Rodulficurtis, Roucourt), 106; see also Giles of Rocourt
Roderid (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
Rodulficurtis. See Rocourt
Rodulfus. See Ralph
Rodium, Rodum. See Roeulx
Roechon. Same as Boechon?
Roeulx (Belgium, province Hainaut, ar. Soignies), Rodium, Rodum. See Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx
Rogenel, 132
Roger, 79
Roger, archdeacon (of Laon), 14
Roger Calvus (monk of Vicoigne), 85
Roger, cellarer (of Saint-Prix), 60
Roger, chancellor (of Notre-Dame of Ham), 52
Roger, chanter of Homblières, 83
Roger, famulus. See Roger, mayor
Roger of Fresnoy-le-Grand, 32
Roger, knight of count of Vermandois, 25
Roger (of Lanchy), 24
Roger Mal, son of Hildeberis, 44 (chap. 1)
Roger, mayor of Méricourt and famulus of Homblières, 30, 31
Roger, monk of Saint-Quentin, 24
Roger, provost of Homblières, 87; subdeacon, 58; monk, 41, 75
Roger, son of Doda (and Oilbald Porell), 44 (chap. 1)
Roger, son of Faluich, 78, 79?
Roger, subdeacon of Homblières. See Roger, provost of Homblières
Roger, subdeacon of Saint-Quentin, 28
Rogo of Fayet, knight and brother of Simon, 48 and n. 3, 73
Rogo, son of Rainer of Roinon, 87 n. 2
Rohard of Wiège-Faty, brother of Clarembald, 47, 74, 76; same as Bruhris?
Roia. See Roye
Roiant. See William Roiant
Roinon, Roinum. See Rainer of Roinon
Romelide of Prémont, 44 (chap. 2)
Romelide, wife of Stephen then of Gerard of Le Ponchaux, 44 (chaps. 3, 7)
Rominiacum. See Remigny
Roricon, bishop of Laon (949–976), 8, 14
Rosaria, 61
Rotald, deacon of Saint-Quentin, 10
Rotgerus. See Roger
Rothard, dean of Saint-Quentin, 23 and n. 1, 28, 29
Rothard, son of Hildeberis, 44 (chap. 1)
Rothliacus, near Homblières, 16 and n. 1
Rotlan, 52
Roucourt See Rocourt
Roucy (ar. Laon, c. Neufchâtel-sur-Aisne). See Ragenold
Rougemont (ar. Laon, c. Sissonne, farm in com. Bucy-lès-Pierrepont), 132
Roumancourt, Roumaucourt. See Remaucourt
Roupy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Ruperum, Rupi, 100A; see also Gerard (of Roupy); John Cretos; John (of Roupy); Oda, domina; Robert of Roupy; Robert Flamens of Roupy
Roussiaus. See Mahius Roussiaus
Rouval, at Cerisy, 129
Rouvroy (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin), Rouverium, Rouweroy, Runereum, Ruverenum, Ruvereum, Ruverium, 48, 55, 59, 64, 82, 88, p. 13; see also Hellin, Peter Vetus of Rouvroy, William of Le Haucourt and Rouvroy

- Roye (dép. Somme, ar. Montdidier), Roya.
See Alberic of Roye, Bartholomew of Roye, Hugh of Roye, John (of Roye), Oilbald Pirell of Halut, Peter of Roye, Thomas of Roye, Wermund of Roye and Chessoy
- Rudulfus*. See Ralph
- Rufus*. See Alberic Rafus, John Rufus, Witbert Rufus
- Rumalcort*, Rumallicurtis, Rumandicurtis. See Remaucourt
- Rumeliacum*, Rumigniacum, Rumiliacum, Ruminiacensis, Ruminiciacus. See Remigny
- Rumulfiscurtis*. See Remicourt
- Runereum*. See Rouvroy
- Rupeium*, Ripi. See Roupy
- Rut*. See Philip Rut
- Rutus*. See Retheuil
- Ruverium*, Ruvereum, Ruverium. See Rouvroy
- Sacrois*. See John of Sacris
- Sains (today Sains-Richaumont: ar. Vervins), Sanctus. See Matthew of Sains
- Saint Hunegund. See Hunegund
- Saint-Amand-les-Eaux (dép. Nord, ar. Valenciennes), Amandus, Elone, Helnona, Helnonnensis, abbey, 22 and n. 1, 72 n. 1; abbots: Hugh II, abbot of Homblières; Richard (later abbot of Homblières)
- Saint-André of Le Cateau, chapter, 32, 144; abbots: Adam, Baldric, Geoffrey; dean: Eilfrid; provosts: Adelard, Baldwin; see also Aleran
- Saint André, feast of, 44 (chap. 4), 137
- Saint-Barthélemy of Noyon, abbey, 36 n. 2; abbots, 144, Absalon, Garnier
- Saint-Bertin (dép. Pas-de-Calais, ar. Saint-Omer), abbot, 144
- Saint-Christ (dép. Somme, ar. Péronne, c. Nesle), Nova villa, 27 and n. 2
- Saint-Corneille of Compiègne, abbey, 49 n. 2; dean: Odo
- Saint-Crispin of Soissons, abbot, 144
- Saint-Denis, obituaries, 1 n. 2
- Saint-Eloi. See John Hanstarum
- Saint-Eloi, abbey in Noyon, 144; see also Guibaud, abbot
- Saint-Eloi, cortisell in Fresnoy-le-Grand, 128A, 128B
- Saint-Eloi, vicus in Saint-Quentin, today rue Saint-Eloi, 122, 128D
- Saint-Etienne, altar or church in villa of Homblières, 1, 17, 37, 38, 139; feast of, 96, 128C
- Saint-Feuillien du Roeulx, Foillanus, Folliacus iuxta Rodum, Foillien, Foylien, Foyllanus de Rodio, abbey, 103A, 128A, 128B, 128D, 135; abbots, 144, Nicholas
- Saint-Fursy of Péronne, Fursemus, chapter, 36 and n. 3, 45, 53, 144, p. 13; chancellor: Gerard; deans: Hugh, Lambert; magister: Geoffrey
- Saint-Geniès, at Laon, Genesius atque Otodus, 14 and n. 1
- Saint-Germain, at Sissy, 132
- Saint-Gervais of Guise, chapter, 47, 53
- Saint-Hubert, church at Sissy, 132
- Saint Jean, feast of, 44 (chaps. 25, 26, 28, 31), 106
- Saint-Jean of Laon, abbey; abbots, 144, Baldwin, Bruno; prior: Hugh (later Hugh II, abbot of Homblières)
- Saint-Ladre, hospital in Saint-Quentin, 133
- Sainte-Marie of Soissons, abbess of, 144
- Saint-Martin, altar in Harly, 17
- Saint Martin, feast of, 44 (chap. 27), 58, 74, 104, 123, 139
- Saint-Martin of Laon, abbey, 88; abbots, 144, Garin, Gilbert, Walter
- Saint-Martin of Tournai. See Walter, abbot of Saint-Martin of Tournai
- Saint-Médard of Soissons, abbey, 12; abbots: Herbert the Elder (count of Château-Thierry), Ingeran; chancellor: Amalcuin; dean: Fulguin
- Saint-Michel-en-Thiérache (ar. Vervins, c. Hirson, com. Saint-Michel), abbey, 46, p. 3, p. 13; abbot: Amalric
- Saint-Nicolas of Arrouaise, abbey, 78, 100; abbots, 131, 144, Fulbert. See also Marères
- Saint-Nicolas, fields at Sissy, 132
- Saint-Nicolas-aux-Bois (ar. Laon, c. La Fère), de Sylva, abbey. See Gilbert, abbot of Saint-Nicolas-aux-Bois
- Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont, de Pratis, de Prato, de Ribemonte, de Ribodimonte, abbey, 73, 89, 91, 92, 92A, 94, 95, 99, 101, 102, 103, 111; abbots, 144, Richard I, Richard II, William; nuntius: Isesse; priors, 89, Herbert; provost: Robert
- Saint-Otbeuf, at Laon. See Saint-Geniès

- Saint-Pierre of Hautmont. See Mainard, abbot of Saint-Pierre of Hautmont
- Saint-Pierre of Honnecourt, abbey, 144
- Saint-Pierre of Lihons. See Drogo, prior of Saint-Pierre of Lihons
- Saint-Pierre of Reims, p. 2
- Saint-Prix, Præictus, Preictus, Projictus, abbey at Saint-Quentin, 60, 65, 79, 93; abbots, 144, p. 13, Evrard, Garin III, Gerard I, Herbert, Rainald I; cellarar: Roger; priors: Baldwin, Deodat; provost: Richard
- Saint-Quentin, Quintiniensis, Sanctus Quintinus, Sanquintinensis, 3, 9, 10, 31, 40, 53, 65, 106, 124, 128D, 132; assize of, 134; burgenses, 83, 115, 138, Matthew of Walincourt; castellans: Anselm, Baidobo, Bardello (subcastellan), Guy, Heldrad, Lambert, Ralph, p. 6; castle, 88; church of Saint-Eloi, 128D; court (royal), 128A; customs, 124; feast of, 23, 48, 86, 138; homines: Alneus, Constantius, Theobald; hospital of Saint-Ladre, 133; hospites, 53; mayor: Oilard; measure of, 43, 58, 65, 73, 74, 76, 97, 101, 110A, 115, 123, 137, 138; money of, 71, 97; provost (royal): John of Chevresis-les-Dames; vicus, 9, 44 (chap. 5: of Clastres), 122 and n. 2 (of Saint-Eloi), 124 (of Temple); villa, 124, 138; see also John le Fay; Saint-Prix; Saint-Quentin, cathedral chapter; Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île; Udo Narina; Walter, magister and physician of Saint-Quentin; Walter Oison of Saint-Quentin; Wenric Vastel; Yzembard
- Saint-Quentin, cathedral chapter, 3, 9, 10, 16, 17, 18, 23, 29, 48, 100A, 104, 124, 126 n. 4, 130, 132; abbots: see counts of Vermandois; advocates: Gauzbert, Giso, Ivo, Theobald, p. 6; canons, 55, John (magister), John of Flacy; chancellors: Alberic, Bertold, Deodat, Gombert, Guy, Hamfred, Modat (error for Deodat), Robert; chanters: Geoffrey, Rainulf, Ralph, Rambald; cloister, 104; deans, 128C, 144, Achard, Dudo, Gerard, Hugh, John, Odo, Robert, Rothard, Theudo, Varin, Werric, Wicard; didascalus: Alberic; notary: Benedict; provosts: Berengar, Fulk, Guidric, John of Chevresis-les-Dames, Peter, Thognoard, Waldin, Walter, Werric; sacristan: Crispin; treasurers: Guy, John, Robert, Simon (bishop of Noyon). See also John of Flacy
- Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, de Insula, Isle, abbey, 27 n. 2, 44 (chap. 2), 70 n. 2, 85, 87 n. 2, 98 n. 1, 132, 137; abbots, 144, Baldwin, Gerard I, Matthew, Peter; knight and provost: Wenric
- Saint-Quentin of Beauvais, abbot, 144
- Saint Remi, feast of, 15, 22, 37, 38, 39, 44 (chaps. 2, 22, 23, 25, 26, 28, 29, 31), 48, 58, 75, 76, 79, 106, 114, 128C, 135, 136, 138
- Saint-Remi of Mézières-sur-Oise, altar, 57
- Saint-Remi of Reims, abbey, 2, 8 n. 1, p. 2; abbots, 85, 91A, Henry, Hincmar, Peter, Theodoric
- Saint-Saulve, Salvius (dép. Nord, c. Valenciennes), prior of, 103
- Saint-Sauveur of Anchin, abbey, 22 n. 1, 61, 67, 68, 88; abbot: Gozuin; camerarius: Stephen; cellarar: Walbert; hospitarius: Walter; provost: Walter; treasurer: Lambert
- Saint Sebastian, feast of, 12
- Saint-Thierry of Reims, abbots, 144, Aldric
- Saint-Vaast of Arras, abbot, 144
- Saint-Vincent of Laon, abbey, 14 and n. 2, 47 n. 1, 88, 90; abbots, 144, Baldwin, William
- Sairi, Sairiacum. See Sérty-lès-Mézières
- Saisinulficurtis. See Senancourt
- Salceyum, fundus in Saint-Quentin, 122
- Salvius. See Saint-Saulve
- Sambre, river, 32
- Sanchoi Bordin, at Sissy, 132
- Sanctus. See Sains
- Sanquintinensis. See Saint-Quentin
- Santherolles, between Hornblières and Tilloy, 84
- Saracen, castellan of La Fère and brother of Hugh Captivus of Vendueil, 54, 59, 80 and n. 2
- Sarpa. See John Sarpa
- Satrapa. See Werric Satrapa
- Sauari. See Walter Sauari
- Saulom, at Pisieux, 126
- Saux. See Haimo of Saux
- Savi. See Savy

- Saviniacus*, 10, p. 4 n. 15
Savy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Savi, 65
Scot, husband of Escheline, 57; same as Escot?
Seboncourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Bohain-en-Vermandois), Seguncurt, Seguncurtis, Segundicurtis, Seguuncurt, 28, 37, 38, 53, 88; see also Arnold (of Seboncourt), Theodoric (of Seboncourt)
Seguncurt, Seguncurtis, Segundicurtis, Seguuncurt. See Seboncourt
Semilly, Semiliacum, suburb of Laon, 88
Senancourt (destroyed: ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Le Catelet, farm in com. Sequehart), Saisinulficurtis, 21
Senlis (dép. Oise), Silvanectensis, Sylvanectensis; bishop: Garin; castle, 15
Seraucourt-le-Grand (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Serodicurtis, 44 (chap. 30)
Seriacum. See Sérty-lès-Mézières
Serodicurtis. See Seraucourt-le-Grand
Sérty-lès-Mézières (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont), Sairi, Sairiacum, Seriaccum, 53, 88; see also John of Sérty-lès-Mézières, Robert of Sérty-lès-Mézières
Sessi, Sessiacum. See Sissy
Sigbert, canon of Noyon, 110
Siger. See Iger
Siger, monk of Ribemont, 101
Signus. See James Signus
Silvanectensis. See Senlis
Simon of Attily, knight and dominus, 83
Simon, bishop of Noyon (and Tournai) (1123–1148), 36 and nn. 1–2, 37, 40, 41, 48 and nn. 2–3, 49, 50, 52 and n. 2, 53, 55, 56, 57, 64 and n. 1, 71 n. 1, 72, 87 n. 2
Simon Burri, 132
Simon, deacon of Homblières, 41
Simon, deacon of Vicoigne, 69
Simon of Essigny-le-Grand, knight, 77? 80
Simon of Faillouël, dominus, 134
Simon (of Fayet), son of Oda and brother of Rogo, 48 and n. 3
Simon of Homblières, knight, 73; same as Simon Tuevilain
Simon laicus, 77; same as Simon Tuevilain or Simon of Essigny-le-Grand?
Simon, knight, 97; same as Simon Tuevilain?
Simon, monk of Homblières. See Simon, sub-deacon
Simon, provost of cathedral of Noyon, 48
Simon of Ribemont, knight, 47 and n. 3, 49, 50, 57, 73
Simon, son of Nevel (canon of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île), 85
Simon, subdeacon of Homblières, 70, 74; monk, 75, 82, 83
Simon Tuevilain, knight of Homblières, 73, 74 and n. 1, 77 (laicus?) 83, 84, 87, 97?
Simon of Urvillers, 87 and n. 3
Simon of Villis, 132
Sine Carne. See Robert Sine Carne
Sisiachum, Sisiacum, Sisseium. See Sissy
Sissigny (Essigny-le-Petit?). See Ralph of Sissigni
Sissy (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont), Sessi, Sessiacum, Sisiachum, Sisiacum, Sisseium, 44 (chaps. 2, 13, 14), 88, 130, 132; monsieur of, 132; see also Baldwin, cleric of Sissy; Odo of Sissy; Saint-Hubert, church; Stephen, dean of Sissy; William of Sissy
Soissons, Suessione, Suessionens, 8; abbeys: Notre-Dame, Saint-Crispin, Sainte-Marie, Saint-Médard; bishops: Abbo, Guy; lord: Milo; magister: Hugh Solesmes (dép. Nord, ar. Cambrai), Solemnis; mayor: Hugh Solinum, 106
Somme, river, Somona, Summa, 5, 6, 27, p. 4, p. 10, p. 13
Sommette (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Saint-Simon), Summeta, 52 and n. 2
Sorbeium. See Sorbi
Sorbi (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne, com. Urvillers), Sorbeium, Sorbi, 53, 80, 88
Soupir (ar. Soissons, c. Vailly-sur-Aisne), Soupeium, 46A; see also Adelaide of Soupir, Baldwin of Soupir, Guy of Soupir
Souveraine Pree, in Bernot, 98
Spiny. See L'Epinois
Stabulis. See Etaves-et-Bocquiaux
Stagnoard, priest of Saint-Quentin, 9; same as Thognoard?
Stephen, abbot of Vicoigne, 105 n. 2
Stephen, altar of Saint-Stephen. See Saint-Etienne
Stephen, bishop of Noyon (1188–1221), 110, 111 n. 2, 112 n. 1
Stephen, bishop of Thérouanne, 1 and comment

- Stephen li Bordeaux, 140
 Stephen, brother of Evrard Calvus, 44 (chap. 7)
 Stephen, camerarius of Saint-Sauveur of Anchin, 67, 68
 Stephen, deacon of Clairefontaine, 74
 Stephen, dean of chapter of Laon (1277–1291), 130
 Stephen, dean of Sissy, 57, 73
 Stephen, feast of. See Saint-Etienne
 Stephen, knight and son of Evrard, 86
 Stephen Libret of Urvillers, rusticus, 80
Strabo. See Ralph Strabo
Suessione, Suessionensis. See Soissons
Summa. See Somme
Summetta See Sommette
Superum See Soupir
Sygeberthus See Sigbert
Sylvanectensis. See Senlis
Symon See Simon

Tailli, at Maissemy, 133
 Tanoard, priest of Saint-Quentin, 3; same as Thognoard? or Theudo?
 Tedulf, 19
 Tedzo, brother of Helvin, 44 (chap. 1)
 Temple, in Saint-Quentin, 124
Tenellis, Teneila, Tenollas. See Thenelles
Terascia See Thiérache
 Teredza, wife of John (of Mézières), 57
Testars See Rainer Testars
 Teubod, 12; same as Theudo?
 Teuderic, 19
Teuardus See Theudo
 Thenelles (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Ribemont),
 Tenellis, Teneila, Tenollas, 53, 88, 132
 Theobald, advocate of Saint-Quentin, 23, 25
 Theobald, homo of Saint-Quentin, 17
 Theobald (monk of Homblières), 63
 Theodald, knight, 1
 Theoderic, 140
 Theoderic Miles, son-in-law of Adselin of Ribemont, 44 (chap. 15)
 Theoderic, provost and archdeacon of Cambrai, 56
 Theoderic, provost of Vicoigne, 105 and n. 4
 Theodewin, cardinal bishop of (Porto e) Santa Rufina (Rome), 53
 Theodin, cardinal priest of San Vitale tit.
 Vestinacae (Rome), 88
 Theodoric, abbot of Saint-Remi of Reims (1036–1048), 27 and n. 1
 Theodoric (of Seboncourt), 28
 Theodoric, cleric of Urcel, consul, and son of conversa Matilda, 61
 Thérouanne (dép. Pas-de-Calais, ar. Saint-Omer, c. Aire-sur-la-Lys), Morinensis, Morins, bishops: Didier, Milo II, Stephen Thethold, monk of Saint-Quentin, 16; same as Theudo?
 Theudo, Theuto, Teward, priest then dean of Saint-Quentin, 3, 9, 10, 17; same as Thethold? or Teubod?
 Thiérache, Terascia, small region bounded on the north by Cambrai and Hainaut, on the east by Champagne, on the south by the Laonnois, and on the west by Vermandois, 62
 T(hierry) of Nesle, provost of Notre-Dame of Cambrai, 92B and n. 2
 Thognoard, provost of Saint-Quentin, 10, same as Stagnoard and Tannoard?
 Thomas, abbot of Homblières, 123, 124, 125, 128, p. 19
 Thomas, cardinal priest of San Vitale tit.
 Vestinacae (Rome), 53
 Thomas, cleric of Homblières, 77
 Thomas Nanemers, magister of Homblières, 141
 Thomas Noket, 132
 Thomas of Oues, 126
 Thomas of Roye, 78 and n. 2
Thumas See Thomas
 Thuret. See Antoine
 Thyaut, 132
 Tilloy (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, com. Remaucourt), Tilloie, 70 n. 2, 84
Tornacensis. See Tournai
 Tournai (Belgium, province Hainaut), Tornacenses, Tornacensium, abbey: Saint-Martin; bishops (same as bishops of Noyon until 1146), 79A, 92A, 99, Evrard, Simon, p. 15; castellan: Evrard Tours (dép. Indre-et-Loire), Turonensis, money of, 132
 Transmar, bishop of Vermandois and Noyon, 1 and comment
Trecis. See Troyes
Tiemua, 98
 Trescault (dép. Pas-de-Calais, ar. Arras, c. Bertincourt), Triscoldum See Hugh of Trescault
Triectensis. See Utrecht
Triscoldum. See Trescault
Tionchoi, Tioncoit. See Tronquoy

- Tronquoy (ar. and c. Saint-Quentin, hamlet in com. Lesdins), Tronchoi, Tioncoit, 74 n. 1, 87 n. 2, 88, 113; see also Longpont
- Trosly-Loire (ar. Laon, c. Coucy-le-Château-Auffrique), Trosli. See Walter of Trosly-Loire
- Troyes (dép. Aube). See James Pantaléon of Troyes
- Tuevilain* See Simon Tuevilain
- Tuiliers*. See Lakes Li Tuiliers
- Tusculum, 91A
- Uceon*. See Guy of Uceon
- Udo, abbot of Valledarensis (perhaps Dudo/Odo, abbot of Valsecret), 68
- Udo Narina (of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île), 85
- Ugo* See Hugh
- Ulmund of Homblières, 32
- Ulric, knight of La Fère, 26
- Urban III, pope (1185–1187), 100A, 102 and n. 1, 103 and n. 1, p. 15
- Urban IV, pope (1261–1264). See James Pantaléon of Troyes
- Urcel (ar. Laon, c. Anizy-le-Château), Ursel, Ursellum, 61 and nn. 1–2, 67, 68, 88, p. 13; see also Legard, Ralph, mayor (of Urcel)
- Uriscampum* See Ourscamp
- Ursel* See Urcel
- Ursiūo, monk of Saint-Quentin, 16
- Urvillarus, Urtvillarus*. See Urvillers
- Urvillers (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Urvilarus, Urvillarus, Urtvillaris, Urvilarus, Urviller, 33, 38, 53, 62, 88, 125, 126, 128C, 129. See also Rainer, eret; Simon of Urvillers; Stephen Lubet of Urvillers
- Utrecht, Triectensis See Evagrius
- Vadencourt (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand, hamlet in com. Maissemy), Vaudencourt, Waldencurtis, Waudencort, Windicurtis, 53, 88, 114, see also Odo of Vadencourt
- Vadulorum* See Voyaux
- Val au Caisue*, 132
- Val le Conte*, in Sissy, 132
- Val Seigneur*, in Sissy, 132
- Valerius, 19
- Valgisius, vassal of count of Vermandois, 17
- Vallebrenus*. See Alberic Walbrun
- Valledarensis* (? Valsecret). See Udo
- Vallis Ermengardis*, in Bernot, 98
- Vallis Prolli*, 88
- Vallis Sanctae Mariae*, 9
- Valsecret. See Valledarensis
- Vatelmus* See Waleran; Walter, provost of chapter of Saint-Quentin
- Valerus*. See Walter
- Varemboldus*. See Warembold
- Varmaryfons*, 60
- Varrin, dean of Saint-Quentin, 24
- Vastel*. See Wenric Vastel
- Vatelmus*. See Walter, provost of chapter of Saint-Quentin
- Vauclum subtus Avesnam*, at Pisieux, 126
- Vauclair (ar. Laon), abbey of Notre-Dame, 85 n. 3, 114 n. 1
- Vaudencourt* See Vadencourt
- Vedeniacus* See Vinay
- Vénator* See Robert Vénator
- Vendeuil (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Moy-de-l'Aisne), Vendoleum, Vendolum, 73, 128C; see also Clarembald III of Vendeuil, Hugh Captivus of Vendeuil, Saracen
- Venricus*. See Wenric
- Venter* See John Venter
- Verguier, Le (ar. Saint-Quentin, c. Vermand), Virgeum, Virgis. See Anselm of Le Verguier
- Vermand (ar. Saint-Quentin), Viromandensis, Vermandum See Notre-Dame of Vermand
- Vermandois, Vermandensis, Vermandensum, Viromandensis, Viromandensu, Viromandia, Viromandum, 132, bailli Peter of Beaumont-en-Beine, William of Hangest-en-Santerre; bishops, see Noyon, bishop; chancellor (of Saint-Quentin) Robert; countesses: Emma, Ermengarde, Gerberge; counts (and abbots of Saint-Quentin), 38 n. 1, 53, p. 3, Table II, Albert I, Albert II, Herbert II, Herbert III, Herbert IV, Otto, Ralph; domestici, servi and servientes of counts; Constantius, Evrard Calvus, Haymeric, Herbert, Ingelbert, Odo, Olibald Porell, Walter (pedagogus), knights and vassals of counts: Amacharius, Amalric, Anselm, Anser, Arpadius, Baidalo, Budo, Clement, Drogo, Dudo, Eilbert of Florennes, Erchembold, Freudo, Fulk, Gauzbert, Geoffrey, Gerard, Gerbert, Gerold, Goteran, Grarver, Heszelin, Ingeran Oisun? Ivo, John, Mona-

- charius, Nevel, Odo, Olbert, Otrad, Ralph, Robert, Roger, Valgisius, Waldric, Wibert; money of, 83; pagan, 2, 5, 7, 8, 9, 11, 12, 15, 28; provost: Droard of Pinon; seneschals, 134, Alberic of Roye, Giles I, John, Rainer I of Fonsommes, Rainer II Bigos
- Verona, Italy, 100, 102, 103
- Verricus.* See Werric
- Veskenesse.* See Helvis li Veskenesse
- Vetula.* See Peter Vetula of Rouvroy
- Vetus.* See Odo Vetus of Bony
- Vicoigne (dép. Nord, ar. Valenciennes, c. Saint-Amand-les-Eaux, com. Raismes), Casa Dei, Viconiensis, abbey, 69, 70, 82, 85, 105, 108, 112; abbots of Notre-Dame: Arnold, Gerald, Stephen; priors: Baldwin, Joscelin, Peter; provost: Theoderic; subpriors: Nicholas, Ralph, Walbert
- Viconiensis.* See Vicoigne
- Vido* See Guy
- Vilain.* See Gerard li Vilain
- Vileselva.* See Villeselva
- Vilete, Vilette.* See Villette
- Villa Sylva.* See Villeselva
- Villanus, cardinal priest of S. Stefano in Celiomonte (Rome), 53
- Villare*, 88
- Villeir.* See Villers-Carbonel
- Villemoncel, 88
- Villeneuve.* See Saint-Christ
- Villers-Carbonel (dép. Somme, ar. and c. Péronne), Villeir. See John of Villers-Carbonel
- Villeselva (dép. Oise, ar. Compiègne, c. Guiscard), Villa Sylva, Vileselva, Villeselva, priory of Notre-Dame, 63; priors, 144, William
- Villette, Vilete, Vilette, area in Laon near abbey of Saint-Vincent? See Robert of Villette
- Villicus.* See Wenric Villicus
- Villis.* See Simon of Villis
- Vinay (dép. Marne, ar. and c. Epernay), Vendeniacus, 19
- Vinbertus.* See Wibert
- Vir, Bartholomew of. See Bartholomew, bishop of Laon
- Virgeium, Virgiis.* See Le Verguier
- Viromandia, Viromandensis.* See Notre-Dame of Vermand, Vermandois
- Vitellius, cardinal deacon of SS. Sergio e Bacca (Rome), 88
- Viterbo, Viterbium, Italy, 53
- Vivian of Méricourt, 32
- Vivian of Morcourt, 113; same as Vivian of Remaucourt
- Vivian of Remaucourt, knight, 115 and nn. 2–3; same as Vivian of Morcourt
- Voyaux (ar. Laon, c. La Fère, farm in com. Mennensis), Vadolorum, 41
- Walbert, canon of Noyon, 72
- Walbert, cellarer (of Saint-Sauveur of Anchin), 67, 68
- Walbert, subprior of Vicoigne, 85
- Walbrun.* See Alberic Walbrun
- Walcherus.* See Walter
- Waldencurtis.* See Vadencourt
- Waldin (Baldwin?), provost of Saint-Quentin, 3
- Waldo of Etaves-et-Bocquiaux, 44 (chap. 2)
- Waldric. See also Wildric
- Waldric, knight of count of Vermandois, 25
- Waleran, abbot of Homblières, 23 nn. 1 and 3, 24 and n. 1, 25 and n. 1, 26 and n. 1, 27 and n. 1, 28, 30, 44 (chap. 20), p. 6, p. 8, p. 17
- Walerit, nephew of Evrard of Deuillet, 52
- Waleus, mayor of villa of Homblières, 97; probably same as Walter, mayor
- Walincourt (dép. Nord, ar. Cambrai, c. Clary), Wallaincort. See Matthew of Walincourt
- Wallo, knight and his son Wallo, 7, 12? p. 6
- Waltelmus.* See Walter
- Walter, abbot of Saint-Martin of Laon, 61
- Walter, abbot of Saint-Martin of Tournai (1141–1159/1160), 67, 68 and n. 3, 69, 70
- Walter (of Saint-Maurice) I, bishop of Laon, (1151–1155), 68
- Walter II, bishop of Laon (1155–1174), 85 n. 3, 92 and n. 1, 92A, p. 14
- Walter Cœus of Homblières, brother of Clarembald, 49, 83, 98
- Walter Coquus of Homblières, 44 (chap. 21)
- Walter, deacon of Cambrai, 56
- Walter, deacon of Vicoigne, 69
- Walter, dean of cathedral of Laon, 68
- Walter, faber of Homblières, 83
- Walter of Fouilloy, 52
- Walter of Ham. See Gerard Walter of Ham
- Walter of Honnecourt, knight, 131 n. 1

- Walter, hospitarius of Anchin, 67, 68
 Walter Lecatif, knight and nephew of Geoffrey of Condren, 80
 Walter, magister and physician of Saint-Quentin, 124
 Walter of Marcy, knight of Homblières, 84, 87
 Walter, mayor of villa of Homblières, 83, 96; probably same as Waleus, mayor
 Walter of Méricourt, 128A, 128B
 Walter, monk of Homblières, 41; see also Walter, provost of Homblières
 Walter Oison (or Oson) of Saint Quentin, knight and uncle of Adam Palevir, 51 and n. 2, 53, 88
 Walter, pedagogus of Count Herbert IV of Vermandois, 30
 Walter Peluchel of Avesnes, 56
 Walter, physician of Saint-Quentin, 124
 Walter of Pontru, 140
 Walter, priest (of Saint-Sauveur of Anchin), 67, 68
 Walter, priest of Saint-Quentin, 29
 Walter, provost (of Saint-Sauveur of Anchin), 67, 68
 Walter, provost of Homblières, 65, 71, 87; monk, 41
 Walter, provost of chapter of Saint-Quentin, 20, 21, 23, 31
 Walter Sauari, 97
 Walter, subdeacon of Cambrai, 56
 Walter, subdeacon of Clairefontaine, 74
 Walter, treasurer of Noyon, 37
 Walter of Trosly-Loire, 63
Walteranus. See Waleran
Walzelinus. See Wazelin
Wandelgeir, 82
 Wandelmer, canon of Saint-Quentin, 20, 21; same as Warembold?
Warcasui. See Odo Warcasui
 Warchain, Warchian (knight of Homblières), 57, 71
 Warembold, canon of Saint-Quentin, 17, 18
Warinus. See Garin
 Warner (canon of Laon), 14
Waszelinus. See Wazelin
Wauchierus, Wauquier. See Walter
Waudencourt. See Vadencourt
 Wautiers Lingnoles of Homblières, priest of Houdin, 136
 Wazelin of Chauny, 27, 30
 Wazelin of Méchambre, knight, 86
 Wenric. See also Werric
 Wenric of Fieulaine, knight, 101
 Wenric, knight and provost of Saint-Quentin-en-l'Île, 80
 Wenric Vastel (of Saint-Quentin), knight, 80, 87 and n. 2
 Wenric Villicus, nephew of Wenric Vastel, 87 n. 2
 Wermund of Roye and Chessoy, knight and brother of Alberic of Roye, 49 n. 2
 Werric. See also Wenric
 Werric, dean of Saint-Quentin, 48 n. 2
 Werric of Moy-de-l'Aisne, 98 n. 1
 Werric Satrapa, knight, 34 n. 3, 35, p. 9
 Wiard of Moy-de-l'Aisne (Moyri), 134
 Wibald of Dury, 52
 Wibert. See also Wilbert, Witbert
 Wibert (canon of Laon), 14
 Wibert, vassal of count of Vermandois, 23; same as Witbert Rufus?
 Wiburgis li Plaidenesse, 140
 Wicard of Benay, 81, 88; same as Wicard of Morecourt
 Wicard of Bernot, knight, 44 (chap. 21)? 46A, 73; same as Wicard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte
 Wicard, dean of Saint-Quentin, 10
 Wicard (of Essigny-le-Petit?), knight, 71; same as Wicard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte?
 Wicard, laicus, 77; same as Wicard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte?
 Wicard of Origny-Sainte-Benoîte, knight and brother of Evrard, 47, 66, 71? 77 (laicus)? same as Wicard of Bernot
 Wicard Senior of Morcourt, knight, 81; same as Wicard of Benay
 Wishard. See Wicard
Wida. See Guy
 Wiège-Faty (ar Vervins, c. Sains-Richaumont), Cisneum (error for Gisneum), Fasticum, Fastis, Cisnea, Gisniacum, 44 (chap. 15) and n. 7, 47, 53; see also Clarembald of Wiège-Faty, Rohard of Wiège-Faty
 Wisfred, priest of Saint-Quentin, 10
 Wilard, monk of Homblières, 96, 101
 Wilbert, chaplain (of Noyon), 48
 Wilbert (monk of Homblières), 65
 Wildric (of Fieulaine), son of Guy Senex, 44 (chap. 12)
 Wildric Hauari, 43

- Willemus, Willermus.* See William
- William, abbot of Notre-Dame of Homblières, 143, p. 20
- William, abbot of Saint-Nicolas-des-Prés of Ribemont (1139–1147), 47
- William, abbot of Saint-Vincent of Laon (1153–1156), 68 and n. 1
- William of Benay, son of Wicard Senior of Morcourt, 81
- William Calvus (notary of Anchin), 67
- William, deacon (of Anchin), 67, 68
- William, deacon of Cambrai, 56
- William (of Essigny-le-Grand), knight and brother of Simon, 80
- William li Grenetier, magister of Homblières, 141
- William of Hangest-en-Santerre, baillius of Vermandois, 134
- William of Le Haucourt and Rouvroy, dominus, 134
- William of Jumièges, historian, 34 n. 3
- William, monk of Homblières, 97
- William, prior of Notre-Dame of Villeselve, 63
- William Roiant, 44 (chap. 2)
- William of Sissy, 57
- William, subdeacon of Vicoigne, 69
- Windicurtis.* See Vadencourt
- Winemar (monk of Saint-Amand), 22
- Wion.* See Guy
- Wistace, maistre, 132
- Witbert (canon of Laon), 14
- Witbert of Essigny-le-Petit, villicus, 71
- Witbert Rufus, 44 (chap. 10); same as Wibert, vassal?
- Witbert, son of Frediburg and Robert, 21
- Wulhelmus.* See William
- Ymar.* See Imar
- Ivo.* See Ivo
- Yzembard, goldsmith of Saint-Quentin, 124