ABOUT SNMA

The Student National Medical Association mission is to support current and future underrepresented minority medical students, to address the needs of underserved communities, and to increase the number of culturally competent physicians.

SNMA plays a critical role in the pathway to medicine – from our pipeline mentoring programs to MAPS to medical school through residency, we provide opportunities for the next generation of physicians to thrive and fulfill their academic and professional goals.

SNMA represents over 7,000 premedical and medical students primarily of Black/African American descent and includes a network of 116 chapters at allopathic and osteopathic medical schools in the United States and the Caribbean and 96 chapters at undergraduate institutions across the country.
ABOUT AMEC

The Annual Medical Education Conference attracts students from all levels of medical education and is the largest annual gathering of medical students of color in the country. AMEC features a slate of workshops and programs focused on the academic and clinical success, development, and preparedness of our cohort of physicians-in-training. Our conference not only prepares premed and medical students in their journey to become socially competent and clinically excellent physicians but also provides a unique opportunity to network with students and physicians from all over the country.
