

Benefits of IKECA Kitchen Exhaust Cleaning Certification

For Employees

IKECA Certifications are objective and measurable ways of determining a general competency and knowledge in the latest industry standards and codes. Certification can benefit you in many ways, including:

- Increasing compensation
- Enhancing career mobility
- The right to use the CECS or CESI label after your name
- Elevating other industry professionals to a higher standard
- Increased recognition to employers, customers, and industry peers

For Employers

Encourage and support your employees. IKECA requires that all members have at least one employee certified as a CECS or CESI, but more and more jurisdictions are requiring certifications for every crew member on a job. Certification is an investment in your business that increases retention and helps empower your staff in many ways, including:

- Recruit and retain trained, qualified and certified employees
- Satisfy the requirements of the local authority having jurisdiction
- Carve a market differentiator based on IKECA certification
- Attract more customers

For the Public

- Helps in identifying trained, qualified and certified service providers
- Increases confidence in service providers
- Provides a process to follow in case of customer dissatisfaction
