

Disclaimer

The information contained in the Life Institute website is for general information purposes only. Whilst The LIFE Institute endeavours to keep the information up-to-date and correct, no representations or warranties of any kind are made, express or implied, about the completeness, accuracy, reliability, suitability or availability with respect to the website or the information, services, or related graphics contained on the website for any purpose. Any reliance you place on such information is therefore strictly at your own risk. In the case of discrepancy between The LIFE Institute website and the printed calendar, the website is the authoritative document and will be considered the 'source of truth'.

In no event will The LIFE Institute be liable for any loss or damage including without limitation, indirect or consequential loss or damage, or any loss or damage whatsoever arising from loss of data or profits arising out of or in connection with the use of this website.

Through this website you are able to link to other websites which are not under the control of The LIFE Institute. The LIFE Institute has no control over the nature, content and availability of those sites. The inclusion of any links does not necessarily imply a recommendation or endorsement of the views expressed within them. Every effort is made to keep the website up and running smoothly. However, The LIFE Institute takes no responsibility for and will not be liable for the website being temporarily unavailable.

Users will not use this site for any purpose or in any way which is unlawful. Every effort is made to ensure the accuracy and correctness of the information contained within this website.

Acknowledgement and Release of Liability

Members and Guests of The LIFE Institute understand that they may choose to participate in courses and activities some of which may take place on or off the campus of Ryerson University. Should they suffer any injury of any sort during the course of such activities or during activities which take place at the Ryerson University campus, they acknowledge that they may not hold The LIFE Institute or Ryerson University or any persons connected with either The LIFE Institute or Ryerson University responsible for such injury and agree to release all parties of any liability in connection therewith. If any member or guest of The LIFE Institute has any condition which may make an activity (including any meals or food which may be offered or provided) any more hazardous for them than for the average person, they undertake to bring this to the attention of the course or activity leader or moderator and accept his or her judgment as to the advisability of their participation. Anyone who fails to mention such condition or decides to continue with the course or activity whether or not being advised not to must understand that he or she does so entirely at her or his own risk, relying on his or her own judgment for this purpose. Members and guests should also note that, if any member or guest, while on an off-campus activity of The LIFE Institute, should cause damage to person or property, they are NOT relieved of liability even if the insurance of The LIFE Institute, Ryerson University, or any other person may also provide coverage.

Privacy Policy

Please also visit our Privacy Policy page establishing the type of personal information that is collected by The LIFE Institute online and how it's used and protected.

Copyright and Trademark Notices

© The LIFE Institute. All rights reserved. No part of the Site may be reproduced, modified, distributed, sold, published, broadcast, or retransmitted in any form without the prior written consent of The LIFE Institute.

The LIFE Institute brandmark is registered by The LIFE Institute. Other names, words, titles, phrases, logos, designs, graphics, icons and brandmarks displayed on the Site may constitute registered or unregistered Official marks of The LIFE Institute.

Copyright Rules for The LIFE Institute Courses

(Adapted from Ryerson University's Fair Dealing Guidelines)

Under the Fair Dealing Guidelines, educators may communicate and reproduce, in paper or electronic form, short excerpts from a copyright-protected work for the purposes of research, private study, criticism, review, news reporting, education, satire or parody copying or communicating short excerpts from a copyright-protected work under this Fair Dealing Guideline for the purpose of news reporting, criticism or review must mention the source and, if given in the source, the name of the author or creator of the work.

A copy of a short excerpt from a copyright-protected work may be provided or communicated to each student enrolled in a class or course:

- (a) as a class handout.
- (b) as a posting to a learning or course management system that is password protected or otherwise restricted to students of the university.
- (c) as part of a course pack.

A short excerpt means:

- up to 10% of a copyright-protected work (including a literary work, musical score, sound recording, and an audiovisual work).

- one chapter from a book.
- a single article from a periodical.
- an entire artistic work (including a painting, print, photograph, diagram, drawing, map, chart, and plan) from a copyright-protected work containing other artistic works.
- an entire newspaper article or page.
- an entire single poem or musical score from a copyright-protected work containing other poems or musical scores.
- an entire entry from an encyclopedia, annotated bibliography, dictionary or similar reference work provided that in each case, no more of the work is copied than is required in order to achieve the allowable purpose.

Important Considerations

It is definitely preferable to include a link to a newspaper article or other online source than to try to reproduce the document.

Course Leaders are responsible for citing the source for any excerpts or graphics that are reproduced on their course pages.

Copying or communicating multiple short excerpts from the same copyright-protected work, with the intention of copying or communicating substantially the entire work, is prohibited.

If you have any questions or concerns about copyright law please contact The LIFE Institute for further clarifications at <mailto:info@thelifeinstitute.ca>

Source:

<http://library.ryerson.ca/copyright/policies-guidelines/fair-dealing-guideline/>