We are pleased to provide you this copy of Private Colleges Serving Tennessee. For 56 years, TICUA (Tennessee Independent Colleges and Universities Association) and the 34 member institutions have championed increased student access and freedom of choice in higher education. As the State moves forward with the education policy established through First to the Top and Complete College Tennessee, TICUA member institutions continue to play a crucial role in educating the State's citizenry.

Inside you will find highlights of the collective contributions of TICUA member institutions and their commitment to Tennessee's future. You will read about the many ways private not-for-profit colleges and universities work collaboratively through TICUA to deliver innovative and cost-efficient solutions to critical issues confronting higher education today. Through initiatives such as three-year baccalaureate degrees, adult degree completion programs, dual enrollment, articulation and transfer agreements, and generous institutional financial aid, TICUA member schools ensure that students are able to attend the college or university that best meets their academic, financial, and career needs.

As the State moves forward, TICUA will continue to advocate for student choice by working with our members, the State, neighboring communities, businesses, as well as students and their families. We are confident that our shared commitment to educational opportunity will positively affect the future of all Tennesseans.

Sincerely,

Claude O. Pressnell, Jr.
PRESIDENT, TICUA

CHAIR, TICUA
PRESIDENT, Trevecca Nazarene University
The Tennessee Independent Colleges and Universities Association (TICUA) has served the State, community, and its membership for 56 years. Founded in 1956 by 4 institutions, Association membership has grown to 34 private not-for-profit colleges and universities. TICUA is a strong advocate for educational opportunity and freedom of choice in higher education at the State and federal levels as well as internationally.
TICUA membership includes 31 four-year colleges and universities and 3 professional colleges. TICUA campuses and programs provide educational opportunities to 76,000 students, which is 24% of all students participating in higher education in Tennessee. TICUA institutions award 33% of degrees in the State. Students at TICUA institutions come from every county of the State and every state in the nation. TICUA member institutions attract nearly 33,000 students from other states and countries throughout the world.

In addition to their main campuses, TICUA members educate over 7,000 students at 75 off-site and satellite campus locations and more than 5,600 students in a variety of on-line educational options including several degree programs offered entirely on-line. TICUA member institutions dual-enroll over 1,000 high school students from 23 different high schools or school systems in courses for which the students received both high school and college credit.

TICUA institutions Belmont University, King College, Lipscomb University, Milligan College, Rhodes College, Sewanee: The University of the South, Trevecca Nazarene University and Union University have been nationally recognized as Colleges of Distinction. This identifies that each excels at engaging students, through great teaching and vibrant communities. Graduates of Colleges of Distinction are students who can think, write, speak, and reason well and are good citizens and responsible family members.

The students attending TICUA member institutions benefit from personal and academic enrichment opportunities through a variety of educational programs, engaging campus environments, and small-class experiences. Member institutions’ enrollments range from just over 200 to more than 12,800 students. The small class sizes of Tennessee’s private colleges and universities provide greater opportunity for faculty/staff and student interaction.

TICUA member institutions have reputations for academic excellence. Students can choose from hundreds of different majors leading to a variety of associate’s, bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degrees. Member institutions embrace a range of missions including religiously-affiliated campuses and others dedicated to education in specific professional or academic fields. Some campuses strive to serve low-income, first-generation, or adult students. A focus for undergraduate institutions is easing the transfer process for community college students. An increasing number of TICUA members have developed curricula that allow motivated students to earn a baccalaureate degree in three years.
A strong higher education system is one of the driving forces behind economic development and job growth in a state. TICUA member colleges and universities spend more than $4 billion each year in fulfilling their missions to prepare highly skilled professionals to meet the needs of Tennessee. This translates into an $8.1 billion annual economic impact on the State.

TICUA member colleges and universities also serve as one of the State’s largest employers. The campuses employ more than 30,000 faculty and staff, and their external activities sustain an additional 300,000 jobs in local communities.

Tennessee’s private colleges and universities respond to the educational, economic, and demographic changes taking place throughout the State. As higher education competes for limited resources, private institutions remain a viable option for education and training at little or no cost to the State. As need increases, TICUA member campuses stand ready to enroll nearly 5,500 additional students by the 2015-16 academic year.
In addition to the significant economic impact, private colleges and universities improve productivity and quality of life through increased levels of education for citizens across Tennessee. Many of the nearly 33,000 out-of-state and international students at TICUA member colleges and universities will remain in the State after graduation using their skills and education in local communities. Tennessee's independent colleges and universities are major contributors to the economic base of the State.

TICUA member campuses awarded more than 17,000 degrees last year – graduating more than 3,300 business and management leaders, 3,700 educators, and 3,000 health care professionals. Private institutions also awarded more than 1,600 degrees in STEM disciplines – Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math.
State and local communities benefit from an array of educational, social, recreational, and cultural activities offered by Tennessee’s private colleges and universities. Academic lectures, athletic competitions, volunteer service, and other programs enhance the community and provide many beneficial outlets to Tennesseans, including nationally and internationally recognized programs.

The education students receive at TICUA member colleges and universities prepares students for a lifetime of service. Local communities benefit directly from students’ volunteer efforts. Students attending TICUA member institutions support local reading groups for children, assist the elderly, and engage in community service for those less fortunate. Each year several TICUA member institutions are singled out for recognition of their student volunteer programs through the U.S. President’s Higher Education Community Service Awards. In 2011, 9 TICUA member campuses (Belmont University, Carson-Newman College, Free Will Baptist College, Lee University, Maryville College, Rhodes College, Tusculum College, Union University, and Vanderbilt University) received mention as part of the 2011 Honor Roll. Campus volunteer activities benefit the neighborhoods and citizens of Tennessee and strengthen relationships between the campus and the community.
A strength of Tennessee’s private colleges and universities is their preparation of health care professionals and teachers. In the past 5 years, Tennessee’s private colleges and universities have awarded over 20,000 degrees in these fields.

Students who graduate from Tennessee’s private colleges and universities settle in the State’s communities, serving and educating fellow citizens. TICUA member institutions and their students, faculty, and alumni are vital and active members of their communities.
Tennessee’s private colleges and universities prepare researchers, educators, and health care professionals to meet the future economic and social needs of the State. Students who attend private colleges and universities are among some of the best and brightest in the State, nation, and world.

PARTICIPATION

TICUA member colleges and universities educate 76,000 students – an all time high for TICUA members and part of a 10-year upward trend.

- Tennessee’s four-year private colleges and universities enroll a diverse student body - as diverse as the public four-year colleges and universities.
  - As enrollment trends shift to an even more diverse set of students, independent colleges and universities stand ready to respond. TICUA member campuses remain committed to education and training. Tennessee’s private colleges have the capacity to enroll nearly 5,500 additional students by the 2015-16 academic year.

Tennessee’s private colleges and universities offer an array of opportunities to increase access for all students.

- Private four-year institutions have embraced the Tennessee Transfer Pathway Program, easing transition for community college students to TICUA member institutions.
  - Campuses match federal scholarships to veterans through the Yellow Ribbon GI Bill allowing those who heroically served our country to attend a private college or university in the State.
  - Adult degree completion programs at independent institutions assist working adults complete a college degree in a timely fashion.
  - Some private colleges offer three-year baccalaureate degrees, saving students time and tuition dollars.
AFFORDABILITY

TICUA member institutions remain affordable and accessible to middle- and low-income students and their families.

- Historically, Tennessee students attending the State’s independent four-year colleges and universities have a lower median family income than students attending the State’s four-year public colleges and universities.
- Tuition and fees at private institutions remain 27% below the national average for private institutions.

Affordability continues to play a critical role in determining who participates in college. Nationally, low-income high school students with high academic skills fail to enroll in college at the same rate as their middle- or upper-income peers. Tennessee’s private colleges and universities support students through generous financial aid packages.

- Approximately 90% of first-time, full-time students attending TICUA member campuses receive some form of financial aid – the majority provided by the institutions.
- Institutional aid accounts for 70% of all grant aid given to students attending private colleges and universities, followed by 16% from the State, and 14% from the federal government.
- TICUA member institutions provided more than $446 million in institutional aid to their students in 2011-12.
- 1 in 3 college students attending TICUA member institutions receive the Federal Pell Grant which targets low-income students.
- 45% of full-time students from Tennessee attending a TICUA institution receive the Pell Grant.
COMPLETION

TICUA member institutions play an important role in meeting the State’s and the Nation’s goals of increasing the number of citizens with a college degree.

- Last year, Tennessee’s private institutions awarded more than 17,000 degrees ranging from associate’s to doctoral.
- Tennessee’s private colleges and universities award more degrees than any other higher education system in the State.
- TICUA member institutions enroll 24% of students, yet award 33% of degrees.
- Students, including minority students, enrolling in TICUA member institutions are more likely to graduate in a timely manner than those who attend public colleges and universities.
- As more TICUA member institutions adopt three-year degrees, students will have the opportunity to complete their degree programs in less time.

TICUA believes that students deserve an opportunity to choose a college or university that best fits their personal, educational, and financial needs.

Students attending TICUA member colleges and universities have the opportunity to receive generous financial assistance based on financial need and academic performance. Private college and university students’ participation in State aid programs amounts to more than $74 million a year. Without State and campus aid programs, many students would not be able to attend the college or university that best meets their needs.

Students at TICUA member institutions benefit from 2 State programs in particular: the Tennessee Student Assistance Award and the Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship.

THE TENNESSEE STUDENT ASSISTANCE AWARD
The Tennessee Student Assistance Award (TSAA) provides non-payback grant assistance to qualified, low-income, high school graduates and adult learners in the State. The program gives thousands of students the opportunity to attend a private college or university. For every dollar the State spends on higher education, two cents supports students attending TICUA member institutions through the TSAA grant. This funding reaches over 4,700 private college and university students each year with an average award of $3,916.

I really appreciate the Tennessee Student Assistance Award. If I did not receive this grant, I would not be able to afford to go to college. It helps me chase after the dreams that I have longed for since a young age. It will help me achieve more than either of my parents or brothers and sisters ever did. Thank you so much for your contribution!

2010-11 TSAA Recipient
THE TENNESSEE EDUCATION LOTTERY SCHOLARSHIP

The Tennessee Education Lottery Scholarship (TELS) provides up to $4,000 for students to attend a four-year public or private institution in the State. Nearly 13,000 students attending private colleges and universities receive this merit-based scholarship. Supplemental awards are given based on high academic achievement or financial need. The TELS program has promoted college access, allowing thousands of students to realize the dream of attending the college or university that best fits their academic and personal needs.

As a freshman this past year, I was not sure how I could afford to go to school. This is mostly because my parents could not afford to help me out at all with tuition or other expenses. However, when I found out that I received the HOPE scholarship, I experienced great relief and joy! This has been a great year for me in advancing my education and that was made possible by the scholarships that I received from my great state of Tennessee. I want to thank you for the contributions made to me for a better and brighter future!

2010-11 TSAA Recipient

Thank you so much for the financial aid that I have received the past four years of my college career. It has been a wonderful blessing to my parents and me because without this scholarship, it would have been much more difficult for me to attend college. My college debt is much lower because of this scholarship, which is a major relief.

2010-11 TELS Recipient
Collaborating to Reduce Costs

ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDSHIP

The TICUA Go Green! Project is among the first collaborations of its kind in the Nation, consisting of multiple learning outcomes and initiatives geared toward increasing environmental stewardship on member campuses through the efforts of students, faculty, and staff. By working together, TICUA member institutions are able to assist one another in reducing environmental impact beyond simply meeting regulatory requirements.

TICUA member colleges and universities have participated in voluntary peer audits to better adhere to the standards of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). Through a series of training sessions, member faculty and staff from across the State have come together to learn collaboratively the process and best practices associated with implementing their environmental management system. This collaboration enables campuses to sustain the positive changes they have made for greater environmental stewardship.

Tennessee’s private colleges and universities recognize the need to work collaboratively to reduce costs, share ideas, and improve higher education statewide. To this end, TICUA offers a range of opportunities and programs in which individual campuses can work together. Through sharing of ideas, participating campuses are able to improve purchasing power, deliver services more efficiently, and reduce costs. The institutions are then able to pass savings on to their students in the form of affordable tuition and financial aid.
PROCUREMENT PROGRAMS

TICUA consolidates the purchasing power of member campuses to provide greater opportunities in purchasing select products. TICUA has developed relationships and agreements with local and national businesses that offer individual campus discounts on frequently purchased products and services. A range of more than 40 different companies offer the campuses discounts on equipment financing, safety and security protocols, instructional technology, furniture, computer equipment, and more. In 2011, member campuses spent more than $25 million through the procurement agreements offered through TICUA.

Building on state-wide success, TICUA became a founding member of the Coalition of College Cost Savings (CCCS). Operating in 28 states and representing 650 individual institutions, CCCS is comprised of a group of organizations similar to TICUA that are dedicated to helping institutions improve business processes and contain costs through collaboration. CCCS focuses on the sharing of information and resources so every institution, regardless of size, can have greater negotiating power and more effectively use their lean operating budgets. Through CCCS, TICUA member institutions have access to over 200 cost-saving agreements including a robust procurement card program.

TICUA BENEFIT CONSORTIUM

The TICUA Benefit Consortium (TBC) offers a self-funded health care plan to member campuses. The Consortium serves to increase efficiencies and consistency in the delivery of health care benefits for those employed by participating institutions. TBC is the only state-licensed, self-funded, multiple employer welfare arrangement in Tennessee. TBC also has the distinction of being the first of several such collaborative efforts across the Nation.

CONNECTING LEADERS

TICUA further supports its member campuses by offering professional development activities, meetings, and webinars for the employees of its member institutions. Regular meetings of affinity groups from each campus allow individuals to stay current in their field, to share information about best practices, and to brainstorm solutions for individual and collective campus issues. In 2011, over 600 professionals attended meetings for presidents, academic officers, administrative professionals, advancement professionals, enrollment officers, financial officers, financial aid officers, information technology officers, institutional researchers, librarians, physical plant employees, and student affairs officers. In addition to face-to-face meetings, TICUA also has focused on delivery of just-in-time training through on-line technologies. These timely trainings allow institutional employees to gain the insight and advice of nationally-renown speakers on current topics and issues without leaving campus.

PROVIDING RESOURCES

With a dynamic website, TICUA provides its member campuses with a convenient starting point to research important campus issues. The easily navigable website contains original materials, synopses of other sources, and direct links to helpful websites and white papers. Topics covered include accreditation, financial aid issues (G.I. Bill, direct lending, State scholarship programs), business continuity, and other policy and administrative issues.
TICUA member institutions’ collaborations with other education sectors, government entities, businesses, and non-profit groups allow member institutions to play an important role in State and federal policy as well as state-wide educational initiatives like First to the Top and Complete College Tennessee that directly benefit students. Through membership in organizations such as Council on Independent Colleges, Tennessee College Association, Tennessee Student Aid Alliance, Tennessee Campus Compact, and the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, TICUA is able to advocate for issues on students’ behalf, particularly concerning federal and State student aid. Additionally, TICUA’s participation in collaborative projects serves students by directly influencing their collegiate experience.

SCHOLARSHIPS

TICUA administers several scholarship programs sponsored by Tennessee businesses. These scholarships award financial assistance to deserving students. Many of these scholarships target financially needy Tennesseans who might otherwise be unable to attend college. These community scholarships assist students to attend the college or university that best fits their academic needs and career goals.

COLLEGEFORTN.ORG

The CollegeforTN.org website offers access to information and applications for Tennessee’s colleges and universities. CollegeforTN.org gives colleges and universities the opportunity to reach out to students on local, regional, and national levels. CollegeforTN.org provides an interactive, easy-to-use web-based medium used by students and their families to plan for college, select a campus, and submit applications. Nearly 180,000 admission applications have been submitted through the site since 2005. A partnership with State colleges and universities, community K-12 school districts, and TICUA member campuses, CollegeforTN.org is a one-stop site to explore postsecondary education options.
HEALTHY AND SAFE CAMPUSES
As a founding member of the Coalition of Healthy and Safe Campus Communities (CHASCo), TICUA works with this public-private partnership including Tennessee’s higher education institutions, government agencies, and other non-profit organizations to implement evidence-based, environmental strategies to reduce under-age drinking, high-risk drinking, drug use, and associated violence on Tennessee’s campuses. Employees of CHASCo member institutions participate in training and research to ensure that students have a safe and healthy environment in which to live and learn as they pursue their academic goals. CHASCo, an administrative unit of TICUA, is funded entirely through grants from federal and State agencies like the Tennessee Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Services.

STUDENT ENGAGEMENT
To engage more fully with individual students, TICUA has served as a practicum site for graduate students in education and public policy. These students have produced original research, which has informed campus policy and procedure development as well as public policy discussions. Currently students are examining the recruitment and retention of Hispanic students and financial aid as a retention tool. During the legislative session, TICUA hosts undergraduate students at the Tennessee Legislative Plaza providing students an opportunity to follow the creation of education policy.

TICUA- Community College Transfer Articulation
TICUA member institutions are collaborating with the State on the Tennessee Transfer Pathways Project and in early 2012 will announce specific Pathways that will be accepted, further facilitating community college graduates to seamlessly enroll in bachelor level programs at private colleges without loss of time or credits.

TICUA member institutions actively recruit transfer students from the State’s community colleges. In fall of 2011 over 1,200 students transferred to TICUA member institutions from the State’s community colleges. To enhance transfer, many private colleges and universities offer financial aid specifically for non-traditional and transfer students.

MEMBERSHIP
Limited to independent, non-profit, regionally-accredited colleges and universities in Tennessee.

TAX STATUS
Tax exempt charitable organization under federal and state laws. All contributions are tax deductible in accordance with Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Service code.

FISCAL YEAR
January 1 to December 31

MANAGEMENT
Governed by a Board of Directors comprised of member college presidents and corporate leaders.
The 31 four-year college and university and 3 professional school members of TICUA enroll more than 76,000 students.

PERSONAL

Student-to-faculty ratios are lower at private colleges and universities than at State institutions.

The majority of expenditures at private institutions goes for instruction and academic support, student services, and scholarships.

INVOLVED

In 2010-11, Tennessee’s private colleges and universities have an economic impact estimated at more than $8.1 billion.

TICUA institutions are nationally recognized student volunteer programs.

TICUA member colleges and universities serve as one of the State’s largest employers, employing more than 30,000 faculty and staff. Their external activities sustain an additional 301,000 jobs in local communities.

FLEXIBLE

Private colleges and universities are located in every section of the State and in settings that range from urban to rural areas.

In the fall of 2011, over 1,200 community college students transferred to TICUA member institutions.

DIVERSE

57% of students attending member institutions are Tennessee residents. TICUA member colleges and universities enroll students from every county in the State.

Historically, the median family income of students attending one of the State’s four-year private colleges or universities is less than the median family income of students attending one of the State’s four-year public colleges and universities.

Over a quarter of the undergraduate students attending TICUA member colleges and universities are minority students.

Non-traditional students (age 25 or older) comprise 19% of the undergraduate enrollment at TICUA member institutions.

AFFORDABLE

Tennessee Student Assistance Award (TSAA) grant reaches over 4,700 low-income students a year at an average award amount of about $3,900.

Approximately 90% of first-time, full-time students attending TICUA member institutions receive some form of financial aid – the majority of which comes from the private institutions’ own resources.

In, 2011-12, nearly 13,000 students attending TICUA institutions receive the TELS award of $4,000.

In 2011-12 one-third of all undergraduate students (18,920) attending TICUA member institutions receive the Federal Pell Grant award. The average yearly award amount for these students is $4,459.

Undergraduate tuition and fees at TICUA member colleges and universities average 27% less than the national average to attend a private college or university.

SUCCESSFUL

TICUA institutions award more than 17,000 degrees – more than any other sector in the State.

Students who earn bachelor’s degrees are able to do so sooner at four-year private colleges and universities than at State institutions. Finishing faster helps students at private institutions avoid extra years of tuition and begin their careers earlier.

Bethel University is steeped in the heritage of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and it creates opportunities for learners in a Christian environment. In 2009, it transitioned from a college to a university. A group of colleges comprise Bethel, each meeting very specific student needs. The College of Liberal Arts offers the traditional experience from the residential campus in McKenzie. A number of innovative endeavors include the Renaissance Performing Arts program offering performance-based scholarships and unique athletic opportunities like shooting, inline hockey, and bass fishing that connect Bethel to a growing, diverse group of student athletes. The College of Professional Studies offers a bachelor’s degree for working adults through both face-to-face and online experiences from campuses across Tennessee. The College of Criminal Justice offers highly-specialized, online courses that prepare students for careers in criminal justice. The College of Health Sciences offers a bachelor of science in nursing and a master of science in physician assistant studies. Both programs are fully accredited by their respective accrediting agencies. The College of Education offers the master of arts in education through both face-to-face and online learning platforms. The College of Graduate Studies offers the MBA and the master of arts in conflict resolution. The College of Religious Studies is the newest college and is currently being developed.

A Tennessee Baptist Convention-affiliated liberal arts college, Carson-Newman has been cited by Newsweek magazine as the national leader in community service and second among America's "Most Service-Minded Schools." Other accolades have been presented by U.S. News & World Report, Forbes and Princeton Review.

With a vision to be "the Christ-Centered, liberal arts-based college of choice in the Southeast for education and service," C-N is intentionally Christian, academically rigorous, student-focused, and future-minded. Carson-Newman offers a solid foundation for personal and spiritual development by helping students reach their full potential as educated citizens and worldwide servant leaders. To that end, C-N's halls are filled with dedicated scholar-mentors who imbue their students with knowledge and faith, and who instill in them critical thinking that will serve them throughout their lives.

Cumberland University

The mission of Cumberland University is to provide a contemporary liberal arts education to students seeking a high-quality, personalized college experience, which will allow them to not only have a successful and productive career, but to thrive intellectually, professionally, personally, and spiritually for a lifetime. Cumberland University has a long and rich history, stretching back nearly 170 years. But Cumberland's focus is not on its past, it's on the future. It's not about the governors who've attended – it's about helping students govern their lives. It's not about the glorious names of the past – it's about naming students' futures. Cumberland is dedicated to doing the little things well, and that's the biggest and most powerful difference.

Cumberland's small size means more time devoted to students. Cumberland is big on student success and devoted to the smallest details to equip students to succeed in tomorrow's marketplace. So think small. Big things await students at Cumberland University.

Lane College, located on a scenic 53-acre campus in Jackson, TN and founded by Bishop Isaac Lane, a former slave, is proud to be one of the nation’s oldest historically black colleges and the first four-year institution established by the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church. Historically committed to a small nurturing setting, the Lane College Strategic Plan reaffirms a commitment to the doctrines of access, opportunity, quality, and affordability for minority and low-income high school graduates. U.S. News & World Report ranked Lane College 4th under the section, “Least Debt: National Liberal Arts Colleges,” acknowledging that graduates of Lane College owe less for student loans than all but three similar institutions. The U.S. Department of Education listed Lane College as one of the few “Private, not for profit, 4-year or above institutions with Lowest Net Prices.” With several buildings listed on the National Registry of Historic places, the beautifully landscaped campus was selected as one of the five most beautiful HBCU campuses in the nation. The College provides a wide variety of activities and campus events that encourage social, cultural, and spiritual growth. Through its liberal arts curriculum, Lane College prepares traditional and non-traditional students to assume meaningful positions or pursue graduate studies. Lane College guides students through programs of intellectual experiences that help them to identify and develop their Power of Potential*.

Founded in 1950, MTSA is the only regionally accredited institution in the Nation with a facility dedicated exclusively to the training of Nurse Anesthetists and is one of the largest schools of nurse anesthesia in the nation. MTSA provides graduate education in both academic and clinical areas to qualified registered nurses holding a baccalaureate degree. Graduates are eligible to take the certification examination to become Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetists (CRNA) and are qualified to teach anesthesia-related subjects and to assist in the preparation of the next generation of anesthesia providers. MTSA is accredited by the Council on Accreditation of Nurse Anesthesia Educational Programs, a specialized accrediting body recognized by both the U.S. Department of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). The school also is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, and the Tennessee Board of Nursing. The motto of the school is “Reflecting Christ in Anesthesia Education.”

For more than 150 years, Tennessee Wesleyan College has provided its students with an exceptional education and the opportunity to learn, serve, lead, and believe as they build the foundation of their futures. The College offers 35 majors in the traditional liberal arts as well as a number of professional and pre-professional programs and prides itself on providing an academic environment in which students are fully engaged in their education and are intellectually challenged. A student-to-faculty ratio of 15:1 allows faculty to get to know each student as an individual; and students and professors develop strong bonds that extend outside the classroom and beyond graduation. Tennessee Wesleyan encourages involvement in a wide variety of student activities, clubs, and organizations—both on- and off-campus—that provide opportunities for students to explore new interests and develop as leaders. In addition to its main campus in Athens, Wesleyan maintains a site in Knoxville, providing classroom facilities for evening degree programs in business administration and the Fort-Sanders Nursing Department.

Tusculum College is Tennessee's oldest and perhaps most innovative college. A Presbyterian Church (USA) affiliated college founded in 1794, Tusculum College is one of only three colleges in the United States following a "focused calendar" course system. Students take one course at a time in successive 3.5 week blocks, with each semester consisting of four blocks. Tusculum College awards baccalaureate degrees and the Master of Arts degree in education and organizational management. Tusculum College's emphasis on the Civic Arts is a marked distinction, with a curriculum designed to help students become effective citizens who possess the practical wisdom needed to participate in a democratic society. The core curriculum, known as the Commons program, strives to give students an intellectual common ground and develop students’ skills to be engaged learners in both the classroom and community. The College prepares students to be engaged in their communities and to know how to effectively achieve the common good and justice in a global context. For non-traditional students, Tusculum offers customized degree programs through its Graduate and Professional Studies Division offered at the Greeneville Campus, as well as at the College's Knoxville Regional Center Campus, and off-site centers in the Tri-Cities and in Morristown.

Watkins College of Art, Design & Film is a four-year baccalaureate college offering a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Film, Fine Art, Graphic Design, Interior Design, and Photography, a Bachelor of Arts in Art, and a Professional Certificate in Film. The faculty and staff are committed to a learning-centered environment that challenges students to engage the mind, train the eye, and cultivate talent and skill into an active realization of creative potential. Established in 1885 as a community-based learning institution, Watkins became a baccalaureate college in 1997. It continues to shape and positively influence the cultural horizon and economy of our community through art, design, and film instruction in an academic setting, as well as through the year-round Community Education program for youth, teens and adults and free gallery exhibitions, artist lecture series and film screenings. Watkins’ 13-acre lakeside campus, just minutes from downtown Nashville, includes a 60,000-square-foot academic building, boardwalk, and two residence halls.
