MIZUNO WGCA COACHES POLL RANKINGS ANNOUNCED

CORAL SPRINGS, Florida (April 15, 2022) – The Women's Golf Coaches Association (WGCA) has announced the results of the most recent Mizuno WGCA Coaches Poll. This is the third poll of the 2022 spring season.

In Division I, Stanford University remains the unanimous No. 1 while University of Oregon holds steady at No. 2. University of South Carolina moves up one spot to No. 3, followed by Wake Forest University and San Jose State University to round out the top-five.

Dallas Baptist University unanimously takes the top spot in Division II, followed by Lynn University at No. 2. Barry University moves up two spots to No. 3, while Limestone University and Nova Southeastern University remain in the top-five, coming in at No. 4 and No. 5, respectively.

Emory University received all but two first-place votes to remain in the top spot in the Division III rankings, while Carnegie Mellon University holds steady at No. 2. Methodist University received one first-place vote and moves up one spot to No. 3, while University of Redlands and George Fox University remain in the top-five.

In NAIA, Oklahoma City University claims the top spot after receiving all but one first-place vote. Keiser University comes in at No. 2 with the remaining vote, followed by Dalton State College at No. 3.

The next Mizuno WGCA Coaches Poll will be released on Friday, May 6.

About the Women's Golf Coaches Association

The Women's Golf Coaches Association, founded in 1983, is a non-profit organization representing women's collegiate golf coaches. The WGCA was formed to encourage the playing of college golf for women in correlation with a general objective of education and in accordance with the highest tradition of intercollegiate competition. Today, the WGCA represents over 650 coaches throughout the U.S. and is dedicated to educating, promoting and recognizing both its members and the student-athletes they represent.
